ROOSEVELT ENDS TOUR OF KANSAS

Plunges Into Active Day on Missouri Side of Kaw River.

Will Spend About Ten Hours Riding and Talking in Kansas City.

Program Is Changed on Last Night Before His Arrival.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—Col. Roosevelt ended his Kansas invasion with an address in Kansas City, Kan., shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, and then crossed the Kaw river to plunge into an active day on the Missouri side.

The ex-president's train arrived at Argentine, Kan., from Lawrence at 10:30. The colonel was taken by motor to the place where he spoke, and after a short address was rushed back to his train and brought to the union depot here. A giant crowd was on hand to greet the colonel upon his arrival at the station. As this is the only point at which his train is to stop in Missouri on his present trip, thousands of people from all parts of Missouri and the southwest journeyed here to greet him.

Every hotel was jammed with visitors last night, and the streets and the streets along which the parade was to pass were lined with people.

Visit County Fair.
The colonel's stay here is to be brief. (Continued on page 13, third column.)

NEEDHAM WILL OPPOSE CANNON

Congressman Makes Declaration in Letter to Committee Chairman.

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 1.—Congressman J. C. Needham, in a letter to a Chairman of the committee on the House of Representatives, announces that in the event of his re-election he will not vote for Cannon for speaker of the house.

"I have no personal feeling against Speaker Cannon," said Mr. Needham, "but I sincerely believe that it is to the best interests of the country that a change in the speakership be made."

SON IS BORN TO
B. CLARKE HYDE

Convicted Poisoner Is Allowed to Go to See His Heir.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—The long-expected birth of a child to Mrs. B. Clarke Hyde, whose husband is under life sentence in prison for the murder by poisoning of Thomas H. Swope, occurred at 9:50 o'clock this morning. Dr. Hyde was not at the bedside when the child, a boy, was born, but arrived at the Hyde home two hours later, escorted by deputy marshals.

EXPECT FIGHT ON STATE WIDE PLANK

Georgia Democrats Hold State Convention at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—The Democratic state convention met here today under about 2,000 delegates in attendance. The adoption of a platform was the principal business scheduled. The convention also will nominate formally the state candidates who were chosen in last week's primary, including Hoke Smith for governor.

HEAVY RAIN ALL THROUGH KANSAS

Corn Crop May Be Saved By Downpour After the Drouth.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 1.—Kansas was flooded today by a rain which began early this morning. The railroads report that the downpour extended from the Eastern to the Western boundaries of the state. In some sections late showers were falling for moisture and shocks lasted nearly an hour. The disturbance was computed to be 5,800

TEXAS REPUBLICANS' CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR

J. O. TERRELL.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 1.—J. O. Terrell of San Antonio, Tex., was nominated at the recent Republican state convention for governor at Dallas. Mr. Terrell was born in Kaufman county, Tex., on April 6, 1856.

REBELLION IN ISLANDS

Ex-Governor of Nueva Vizcaya Province Heads Uprising.

Manila, Sept. 1.—An uprising against the government is reported in the province of Nueva Vizcaya. A constabulary force is hurrying to the scene and a battle is expected hourly.

The rebel movement is headed by Simeon Mandac, former governor of the province of Ilocos Norte, who has long been a fugitive from justice.

Mandac occupies Solano, northwest of the center of Nueva Vizcaya and about 400 inhabitants. A constabulary force of about 100 men is hurrying to the scene and a battle is expected hourly. The rebel movement is headed by Simeon Mandac, former governor of the province of Ilocos Norte, who has long been a fugitive from justice.

Surprise at Washington.
Washington, Sept. 1.—The reported disturbance in the province of Nueva Vizcaya comes as a surprise to the officials of the bureau of Insular Affairs and the other officers of the war department. No general disquiet in this wild, sparsely settled province, however, is believed to be warranted.

LAST DATES FOR ALASKAN MAIL

Arrangements for Final Dispatches This Season Are Made.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—Arrangements for the final dispatch of the season of mail of all classes into Alaska were completed yesterday. The last dispatches for Fairbanks, Tinnian and other points in the interior of Alaska will be made from Seattle by way of Skagway, Sept. 3. The last dispatches for Fairbanks, Tinnian and other points in the interior of Alaska will be made from Seattle by way of Skagway, Sept. 3.

NEBRASKA TO TRY THE OREGON PLAN

Primary Results Indicate That Course Whichever Party Leads.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 1.—The result of the canvass of the votes of the recent primary elections on the part of the legislature shows that the Oregon plan will be almost certainly adopted in the election of a United States senator to succeed Senator Burkett, regardless of the political complexion of the next legislature. Of the Democrats, 24 of the 34 candidates for the senate and 13 of the 100 candidates for the house are signers of "Statement No. 1," while on the Republican side 13 senatorial candidates and 47 legislative aspirants have taken the same pledge.

Violent Earthquake Recorded.
London, Sept. 1.—A violent earthquake was recorded by British seismographs at 1 o'clock this morning. The shocks lasted nearly an hour. The disturbance was computed to be 5,800

SUMS UP IN BROWNE CASE

Wayman Makes His Argument Before Chicago Jury.

Keeley Is Held in Bail of $10,000 on Perjury Charge.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The last witness in the trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, charged with bribing Representative White to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator, gave his testimony in Judge Kersten's court today, and State's Attorney Wayman began the summing up for the prosecution. The indictment voted by the grand jury yesterday against P. H. Keeley, a Browne witness, was returned in court today and bond fixed at $10,000. The bill charges perjury. He testified for Browne, declaring that he had been ordered by the state's attorney to "bribe Beckemeyer right," and that the latter, who was one of the Democratic representatives who voted for Lorimer, with drink. He said that Beckemeyer was intoxicated when he confessed to receiving $1,000 for voting for Lorimer.

WOULD BE GOVERNOR OF THE BADGER STATE

CAPT. W. M. LEWIS
OF Racine, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—Capt. William Mitchell Lewis of Racine wants to be the next governor of Wisconsin. He has never been in politics before and is an unknown quantity. He is at the head of a $100,000 concern, and says that he will spend his last dollar if necessary to drive liquor interests out of politics in Wisconsin. He is a Republican.

CANDIDATE DROWNS IN THE FOX RIVER

Frank T. Tucker's Body Is Recovered at Oshkosh, Wis.

Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 1.—The body of Frank T. Tucker, assistant attorney general of the state of Wisconsin and candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general at the primaries to be held Tuesday next, was fished from the Fox river here this morning. It is believed that he fell into the river during the night while making his way to a train.

The tender of the Light street bridge heard a cry and splash about 4:30 this morning, and on investigation found Tucker's satchel and hat on the bridge walk. Dragging of the river is in progress.

Say Health Had Failed.
Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—State officials and friends of Frank T. Tucker say that Tucker's health had given away since a stay in the light hospital that stamped on envelopes from the state department had been used to carry his campaign literature about the state.

BONANZA FARMER DEAD.

George N. Smith, the Well-Known North Dakotan, Is Killed.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to the Herald.)—George N. Smith, a pioneer president and bonanza farmer of this Cass county, dropped dead late yesterday afternoon. The deceased was a former member of the state legislature and a well-known breeder of livestock and seed grain.

TELLS ABOUT ROCK ISLAND

Melcher Is Examined at Rate Hearing in Chicago.

Attorneys in Heated Clash; Shippers May Be Asked About Profits.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—F. O. Melcher, second vice president of the Rock Island system, questioned by W. F. Dickinson, attorney for the road, said at the interstate commerce commission hearing today that estimates of wage increases to which he testified yesterday were substantially correct. From 1906 to 1910, he said, the increase was $1,451,800 as based on an estimate of the increase granted organized labor. This does not include such advances as have been made to the clerical force. Improvements of roadbed, widening of tracks and other improvements declared, were demanded by the public and constituted a serious item of expense. He cited a report of the board of railway commissioners of Iowa "that not enough money is set apart by the railroads for improving roadbeds."

Replacing old rails with new, Mr. Melcher declared, constitutes another heavy expense.

Resolving of Rates.
"When the Rock Island replaces an eighty-pound rail with one of 100 pounds," he said, "a charge of $1.134 (Continued on page 11, fourth column.)"

BLAMES MAYOR FOR THE LYNCHING

Sheriff and Chief of Police of Newark, Ohio, Also Held at Fault.

Newark, Ohio, Sept. 1.—In a final report made today the Licking county grand jury places the responsibility for the lynching of "dry" Detective Carl Etherington on July 8 on the then mayor of Newark, the sheriff of Licking county and chief of police of Newark, all of whom have since resigned or been deposed.

A total of fifty-eight indictments was returned by the grand jury in the twenty-seven days of its sitting, all in connection with the lynching.

BROOKLYN ALMOST HALF AS BIG AGAIN

Washington, Sept. 1.—The population of Brooklyn, N. Y., is 1,634,351, an increase of 467,600, or 40.3 per cent, as compared with 1,166,752 in 1900.

NEW PRESIDENT OF NICARAGUAN REPUBLIC

GEN. JUAN J. ESTRADA.

NICARAGUAN SIGNS GOOD

Rival Parties Are Working Together to Build Up Government.

Troops Have Been Paid Off and Estrada Is in Power.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Co-operation between the Conservatives and Liberals in Nicaragua in the organization of a stable government is regarded by officials here as the most hopeful sign of improved conditions in that republic shown in several years. According to the best information here, nearly all of Estrada's appointments since he came into power at Managua have been in the Conservative ranks.

Estrada Is President.
Managua, Sept. 1.—Gradually order is being brought out of the chaos that has prevailed since the outbreak of the recent revolution. Gen. Juan J. Estrada, the provisional president, was publicly inaugurated Tuesday in the hall of congress. The troops have been paid off and mustered out and tranquillity reigns.

The popularity of the new president is shown by the fact that a large number of prominent persons in the provinces have come to Managua personally to extend to him their felicitations, while the people of Granada have presented him with a gold laurel wreath.

Men in the Cabinet.
By mutual agreement, Gen. Luis Mena will assume the portfolio of minister of war in the new cabinet, replacing Gen. Tomas Mascara. Salvador Lescana has been appointed treasurer.

SAY GENERAL TAX THEORY HAS FAILED

Members of Committee Make Report at Meeting in Milwaukee.

Property Maps and Classification Are Urged By One Section.

Railroad Assessments Are Discussed By the Delegates.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.—That the failure of the general property tax is due to the inherent defects of the theory is the conclusion of the committee on the causes of the failure of such tax after a year's investigation, the report being made to the International Tax association convention today.

The committee on uniform classification of real estate reported that a fair and accurate assessment of real estate will be promoted by the adoption of tax maps and the classification of real estate as presented in the report of the committee on uniform listing of real estate. The latter committee in its report favored the listing of real property under the two heads of value of land and "value of improvements," and that the rule of listing real property values in New York city is best adapted for securing an equitable assessment.

"Round table" discussion followed the committee reports.

NEW YORK MAY HAVE 4,563,604

Gain of 32 Per Cent Is Forecasted for the Metropolis.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Following its announcement of the population of Brooklyn today, the census bureau will tonight make a statement of the population of Greater New York as developed by the recent census. New York's position as the second city of the world, but to cause it almost a pinch rivalry with London. In 1901 the population of London was 6,881,372. It is estimated that it now exceeds seven and a half million. Of the foreign capital in Paris comes next with a total in 1906 of 2,763,393, and Berlin follows with 2,040,148.

TALK OF WATER AS AID TO COMMERCE

More Discussions Held at Meeting at Providence, R. I.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 1.—The importance of waterways as an aid to commerce was the chief topic of discussion today at the second day's meeting of the Atlantic Deepwater Waterway association. At the forenoon session, over which Anthony Higgins, former United States senator from Delaware, presided, two governors and two government officials gave addresses.

SALMON PACK FOR YEAR IS ENDED

Coast Men Say There Is Not Enough to Supply the Demand.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—Final count of the salmon pack on Puget Sound for the 1910 season, which ended August 31, shows an output of 222,107 cases. Last year, which was a "fat" season, more than a million cases were packed. The Fraser river sockeye salmon pack this season aggregated approximately 1,000,000 cases, although the exact count has not yet been announced.

The demand for 1910 canned salmon is unprecedented and even at the highest prices ever asked by packers practically every order is placed subsequent to opening prices. A prominent salmon packer stated yesterday that the pack of 1910 would not supply the United States.

PROSPERITY REFLECTED

Bank Clearings for August Show Increase of $4,000,000.

General Growth of Business Alone Accounts for the Increase.

Duluth is prosperous. This fact is made apparent by the bank clearings for August. Last year the business community of Duluth congratulated itself fervently on the measure of prosperity that the city enjoyed. As compared with August of last year the bank clearings for the August just past show an increase of almost $4,000,000.

The figures for the two months are: 1909, $10,440,131.82; 1910, $14,779,018.94.

There is no unusual condition apparent in the business world to account for this remarkable increase in the volume of money handled. It may be that the increase is accounted for in part by the earliness of the grain crop. Receipts at the head of the Lakes have been a bit ahead of time, as compared with other years, but that in itself cannot be said to explain the condition.

Business has been good all year. Shipping has prospered, but not so greatly that this industry has had a vital influence. Ore shipments have been extremely heavy in the past month, but that fact has no particular bearing on the situation.

The natural conclusion of business men is that the condition is explained simply by a general condition of prosperity that is benefiting all lines of business and industry.

Minnesota and the Northwest in general enjoys the prosperity so noticeable here.

Visits Nauheim and Walks About—Has Coffee at Cafe.

Nauheim, Sept. 1.—Emperor Nicholas and visited this resort of baths in the most democratic fashion. His majesty left his automobile outside the town and walked in, accompanied by two attendants, as the party passed through the streets large crowds gathered and hailed the emperor, who returned their salutations. He visited various objects of interest and later had coffee at a public cafe. From the cafe the emperor returned to where the motor car was waiting and was driven back to Frerking.

While here the Russian monarch exhibited not the least nervousness, though he probably the first time in some years that he had come so closely and freely in contact with the public.

SUPERIOR MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING

Engineer of Steamer Earling Slips From Plank While Going Aboard.

George Baker, third engineer on the steamer Earling lying at the Allouez ore docks, met death by drowning about 5 o'clock last evening, when he slipped from the plankway leading from the boat to dock No. 1.

Baker had been returning to the boat after a few hours off. Two companions, who were some distance behind him, saw him fall, but before they were able to render assistance, Baker drowned. The body was recovered shortly after the accident.

The body is held at the Le Sage undertaking establishment awaiting funeral arrangements. He is thought to have relatives in Cleveland.

George H. Crosby Buys Cuyuna Range Tract for Mining Purposes.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Lindbergh was notified today that H. F. Pierce of Bay City, Mich., that he had accepted the terms of the water and light franchise for Crosby and that work will begin at once.

George H. Crosby today paid Louis Carlson $15,000 cash for seventy acres of his homestead just east of Crosby for iron mining. No development work has been done. This will give an idea of iron land values around Crosby which is booming steadily.

Contracts for ten new houses in Crosby will be let within a week.

OBITUARY

Michael G. Tonn, a pioneer merchant, is dead at Spearfish, S. D., aged 73 years; heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Tonn in his younger days was connected with steamboating on the Mississippi and fought through the Civil war with the First Colorado cavalry.

Richard Underwood, lumberman and farmer, is dead at Menominee, Mich. Mr. Underwood was one of the pioneers of Menominee.

Charles Epper, formerly a pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, in the American Association, is dead in Philadelphia of Bright's disease, aged 42 years.

Maj. J. Monroe Taylor, author of a number of books on dogs and considered a national authority on that subject, died in Rutherford, N. C., Sept. 1. He was born in Lexington, Ky., in 1835, and he served in the Civil war.

First White Slaver Sent to Stillwater

In the session of 1909, the State Legislature passed a new law. It was aimed at the "white slave" trade. That fall a certain farmer's daughter left home and went to Bayfield to find work. She was young, and of course, hopeful of the future. She found a place in a restaurant. The wages were small, but the place was decent and she was happy. She made friends. Among them were a man and a woman, who apparently took a deep interest in her welfare. They told her they were going to Cass Lake and start hotel and they wanted her to go with them. She was to wait on table and have a big raise in wages. Of course, she jumped at the chance. Then they introduced her to a man who was going along to act as manager. About a week later the four came to Duluth on their way to Cass Lake, and here, that night, the "manager" accomplished his ruin. The next day she found that the hotel business was a fake—that they were going to an immoral resort. She refused to go further, and the couple took practically all her clothes and left the city. The manager, still pretending to care for her, stayed here but only to drag her from depth to depth. She was ashamed to write home. She was ashamed to tell her friends. She simply gave up hope and drifted. And then the authorities learned of it, and Mr. Norton brought the new law into action for the first time in the history of the state. The child couple could not be found, but the "manager" was prosecuted and sent to state prison for the limit. In an editorial of Aug. 27, 1910, THE HERALD said: "Study the candidates. Find out all you can about them. Judge them impartially and with a view solely to the service you expect them to give, and vote accordingly."

That hits the nail squarely on the head. This has been Mr. Norton's plan throughout this campaign. Efficiency of service should be the only issue. If you judge on that ground, you will have to vote for John H. Norton.

SUCCESSOR TO DEAN ARRIVES

Brown McDonald Is Inspector in Charge of Immigration Office.

Brown McDonald arrived in Duluth from Montreal yesterday and this morning assumed his duties as inspector in charge of the local immigration office, having been appointed to that position to fill the position formerly held by W. H. Dean.

Mr. McDonald has been law clerk and inspector in the commission's office in Montreal for some months, and prior to that was in the immigration service in the state of Washington and in Arizona. His family accompanied him here.

Inspector Snawn, who was temporarily in charge of the office here, has returned to his post at Washington. No inspector to work under Mr. McDonald succeeding George W. Moore, has yet been appointed. An appointment to fill the vacancy is expected to be made soon.

WILL APPOINT NEW ASSESSOR

Mayor Will Name Successor to Rakowsky Next Week.

Mayor Cullum will appoint a new city assessor next week to succeed the present incumbent, Charles L. Rakowsky, now candidate for the county auditorship.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the appointment. The present upheaval of the last assessment has attracted much attention and the new man will undoubtedly have a big job on his hands. Demands are being made for a complete revaluation of the city, which will be difficult. No one has been able to learn definitely who will get the appointment. There are several candidates in the field, but which one will land the "plum" is problematical. Mayor Cullum will not commit himself on the subject.

A $400 Kimball piano is yours if you read the instructions on page 6.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP. James J. Hill, discussing public ownership at a dinner in New York, said: "I fear that with public ownership we would be worse served. Take the case of France. France makes her own mistakes and such mistakes. A Frenchman was once arrested at his lodgings. A lot of smuggled foreign watches—the duty on foreign watches is the prohibitive one of a cent per watch—had been found in his trunk. The judge said to the man: 'Foreign watches have been discovered in your possession. What have you to say for yourself, miscreant?' 'Please, your honor,' stammered the prisoner, 'it is true I use foreign watches, but only to light our own government ones with.'

IN A CLASS BY ITSELF

Duluth Will Surpass Other Cities of Country in Building Records.

Mark Established in August Will Probably Stand for Many Years.

Duluth will stand head and shoulders above other cities of the United States when the comparative reports of the building records for August are published.

Not another municipality in the country will show the immense total which will follow the name of Duluth on the list. For the records of the building inspector's office show the big sum of $10,197,140 for the last month.

The big figures are due to the $10,000,000 permit which was issued to the Minnesota Steel company, Aug. 24, for the forty-eight buildings which will compose the initial units of the steel plant now being constructed at New Duluth. The balance is the local building throughout the city. During the month 153 permits were issued, as compared with 125 a year ago. Most of them were for small jobs, ranging from $100 to $1,000. The second largest was that taken out by the Traders Land company for the garage on West First street, between Third and Fourth avenues.

Were it not for the big steel company's permit, the totals of August would be far below those for the same month a year ago, when the total was $233,793.

The steel plant permit is the biggest which has ever been issued in Duluth and will probably stand as a shining mark for years to come, if not forever. It is also the biggest permit which has been issued in this state, and as far as can be learned it takes the record this side of Chicago.

The issuance of the permit has had a stimulating effect upon the local realty market. The movement has been more lively and industries from inside and outside have been numerous. This was followed by the American company, giving the $1,000,000 coal dock to be erected at West Duluth by the Carnegie Dock & Fuel company, giving the already active market an additional stimulus which has been extremely pleasing to the business men.

HEINZE ADMITS HE IS MARRIED

Faces Suit for $25,000 in Bonds By Mrs. French.

New York, Sept. 1.—At a dinner given last night at the Waldorf-Astoria, Fritz Augustus Heinze, the millionaire copper man, announced his marriage yesterday to Mrs. Bernice Golden Henderson, who for many years has been a personal friend of his. The announcement was made in the service of Washington and in Arizona. His family accompanied him here.

Inspector Snawn, who was temporarily in charge of the office here, has returned to his post at Washington. No inspector to work under Mr. McDonald succeeding George W. Moore, has yet been appointed. An appointment to fill the vacancy is expected to be made soon.

BOY IS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

James Whalen Answers to Petit Larceny Instead of Grand Larceny.

James Whalen will spend the next sixty days in jail. After the time he served he will be out of his Duluth trouble.

James is the lad who broke his parole on his feet as a bobcat. He was brought in before Judge Dibel this morning to answer to the charge and it was found that he was charged with petit larceny instead of grand larceny. Judge Dibel immediately sentenced him to sixty days at the county jail.

Whalen has had quite a long drawn out case of it and it is likely that he will think before he toys with watches that do not belong to him in the future.

He arrived in the city "broke" after a trip up the lakes on one of the freighters and being "up against it," as he put it, he "hit" at the request of an older and more experienced companion, two watches.

He comes from a good family at Saginaw, Mich., and the authorities here are being as light as possible on him so that he may have a chance to change his ways.

Corset Demonstration

LAST TWO DAYS:

IT'S positive pleasure to print such good corset news. Miss Grieves says she would like to fit and talk with all confirmed Redfern wearers in the two days that remain.

There are points important to explain about the new fashion lines for the coming season—else she wouldn't be here.

More women have come and gone in the past four days than ever attended a demonstration at this store before!

Because the whalebone ribbed Redfern is the most Parisque of all American Corsets it requires to be primarily fitted by a corsetiere—if you would reap the full measure of comfort and style from your new autumn gown.

But two days remain to avail yourself of the services (which are free, by the way) of this New York corset expert.

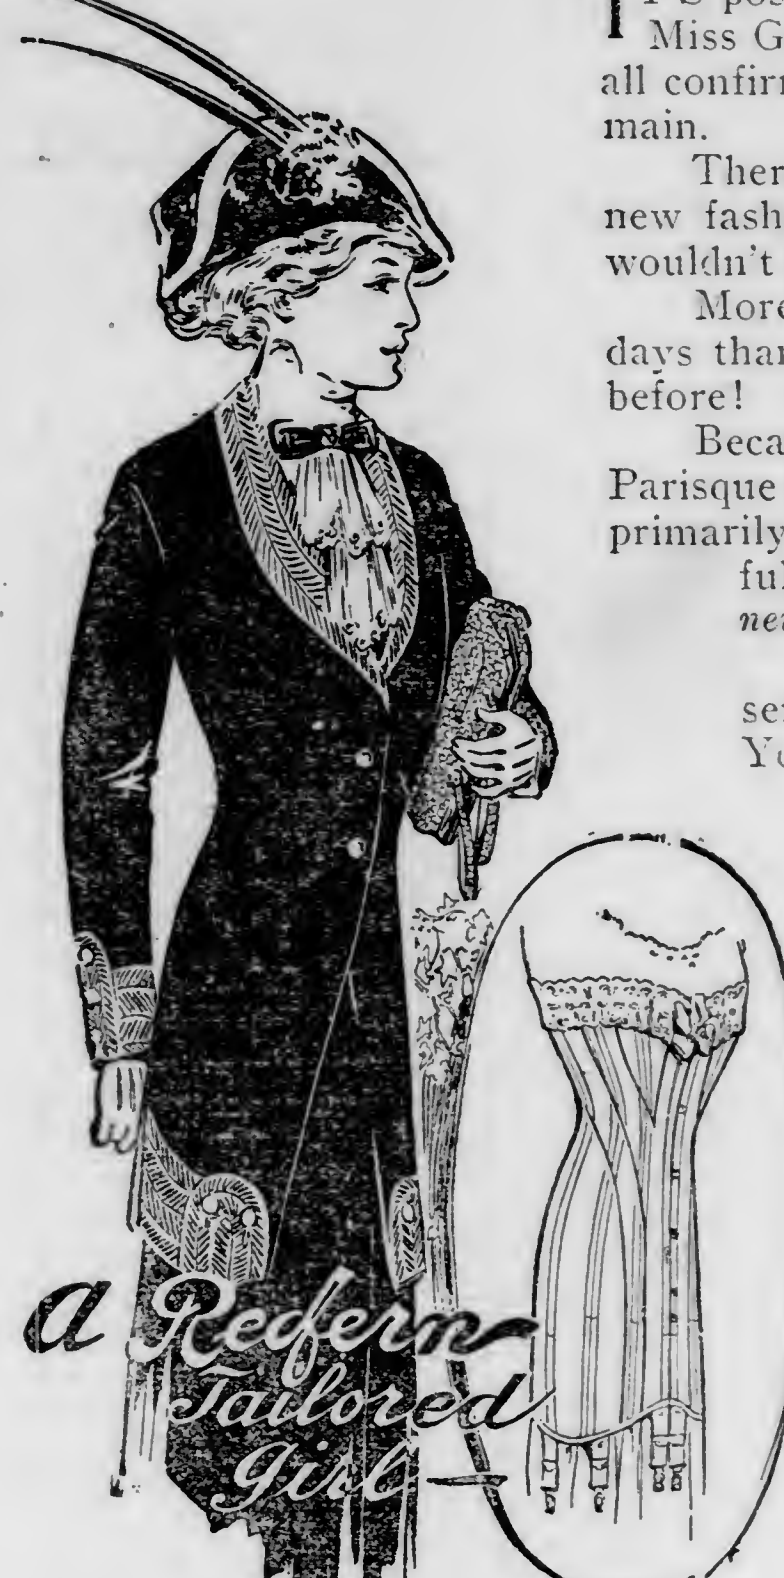

The morning will be the best time to come; or just call up Melrose 2201 or Zenith 185 and make an appointment with her.

* Anyway be sure to come—won't you?

LIVE WONDERS.

Chicago News: "I haven't much use for a phenomenon," remarked the sporty blacksmith, when the old livery man had finished reading an able article in a pink newspaper. "This paper says that a wonderful athlete has been discovered over in Missouri. He's as big as a house, as strong as a grizzly bear and as quick on his feet as a bobcat. Some of the sports think he's a genuine discovery and he's being trained for the purpose of whipping Jack Johnson and bringing the heavyweight championship back to the justly celebrated white race."

"If he ever does go up against Jack Johnson that sole and gifted colored gentleman will knock the top of his head off and never sweat a hair doing it. He may be a real phenomenon in his way, but he didn't get into the business early enough."

"I once knew a female phenomenon," observed the sporty agent. "She was a girl about 15 years old, and she had a voice that would make the wall paper curl up. She had a lot of warrens and brothers and sisters, and they were firmly convinced that their gifted Imogene was to be the world's greatest prima donna. Her father used to come over to my house with a lot of newspaper clippings and other documents showing the fabulous sums that great artists got for their performances. He firmly believed that Imogene would be drawing $1,000 a night in a few years."

"I felt sorry for him and for the whole tribe, for there wasn't any more music in that girl than there was in a piece of tin. She simply had a lung power and could yell louder than anybody else in the neighborhood, and that was all. If you hinted anything of that sort to the old man or to her brothers they'd get mad and peel their coats and want to scrap."

these unfortunate people that Imogene was the poorest excuse for a musical prodigy in this country. She made her first public appearance in a neighboring city, and the people shrieked with laughter. She was a calliope in disguise. There was nothing human in that voice of hers. At first the people just laughed at her, but after a while they became impatient and peevish, and the boquets they began throwing at her were composed largely of heads of cabbage. The last time I saw Imogene she was shooting biscuits in a railway hash foundry."

"The phenomenon business is pretty badly overworked," said the horse doctor, "but it has great possibilities if a man understands the game. I used to live in a town out West where the people were absurdly healthy all the year round. The two doctors seldom had a whack at a real disease. The community was healthier than usual one summer when a medical phenomenon came to town."

"He called himself the wizard of the West and the Hercules of healing, and it was all. He drove into town in a circus chariot, behind four white horses, and took up his abode in a tent as gorgeous as anything you read about in that Lalla Rookh poem. He sent out a veiled prophet with a megaphone, and the veiled prophet announced all over the town that the wizard of the West would begin a campaign of healing at once. He would diagnose your disease by looking at you, and cure the disease by making a few mystic passes and muttering an incantation."

"It was really a scandal the way the people fell for that fake. There was a procession headed for that tent all day long. The wizard wore a black robe covered with red symbols, and he had long whiskers and a sepulchral voice. He would look at a visitor and say: 'The left ventricle of your heart is out of whack, my friend. Behold, I cure it in the twinkling of an eye, with the aid of the shade of Aesculapius. Kindly cough up $20 to the grand keeper of the vanguard as you go out.'

"Everybody in town developed a dangerous disease and everybody was promptly cured and everybody coughed up $20. Oh, yes, there are great possibilities in the phenomenon business."

"Phone your wants to The Herald. Phone numbers 324. Results are sure."

AGITATE FOR MORE POLICE

Increased Activity Revives the Demand for More Adequate Protection.

Patrolman Frank Shannon Will Take Place of Peterson as Jailer.

Patrolman Frank Shannon, for the past five years an officer on the downtown police force, will replace Jailer Oscar Peterson of the West Duluth station, who will go back on the "beat."

Peterson will fill the vacancy by the removal of Officer Broutelle to a "beat" at New Duluth. The change will take effect tomorrow.

It is expected that the announcement of the change will again renew the agitation for additional men on the West Duluth force as there is a strong feeling, especially among the patrolmen, that the force is somewhat handicapped by a shortage of men.

Only ten men are now included in the department. When West Duluth was a village there was a force of twenty-two men.

Jailers or station men, of whom there are two, are obliged to work on 12-hour shifts. It is argued that there should be another man for station duty so that the work could be arranged in 8-hour shifts. The duties of the jailer also include those of the patrol wagon conductor and telephone operator.

Oscar Peterson, who will be returned to the "beat," has been a member of the West Duluth force for the past four years and has a good record. It is thought that should the department get an additional man, Peterson may be returned to the station. Officer Charles Stahl is day jailer at the station.

In addition to the two station men and jailers, and Lieut. Charles Wilcox, in charge, there are Sergt. Bradley and six men to cover the beats for the twenty-four hours. Since the recent murder at New Duluth, Officer Broutelle has been assigned to that territory, and his place has now been filled.

Near-riots in the foreign settlements at West Duluth from time to time have been largely instrumental in bringing the matter before the residents of West Duluth, who strongly favor enlarging the force.

According to Lieut. Wilcox, there has been twice as much activity within the past five months of this year, as there was in the same months of 1909. There has been no corresponding increase, however, in the number of men employed in the department.

During the past month, West Duluth police have kept busy. Thirty-four arrests were made. Of this number, over half, or eighteen, were for drunkenness. Three persons were taken in low charged with assault in the third degree, three arrested for using profane language, and three were taken in custody for allowing cattle to run at large.

Prisoners were also booked up, one on each of the following charges: selling intoxicants on the Sabbath, selling adulterated food, furnishing liquor to minors, cruelty to animals, committing a public nuisance, exposure of person, and obstructing the street.

MORTON SHAFT TO BE FINISHED SOON

Another Hibbing Property Expected to Be in Operation in November.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The concrete shaft being sunk at the Morton mine, west of Hibbing, by the New York Foundation company, will be completed some time in November. The concrete shaft is about 200 feet deep and will be a square. The work of sinking the shaft has been in progress for more than a year, owing to the difficulties found in the sinking of the shaft.

The Morton mine is owned by the New York Foundation company. Most of the material which will be used to erect the superstructure is here and will be completed and the mine in full operation. It is expected that about 200 men will be employed.

It is expected that the new steel bridge on first avenue will be ready for traffic in about ten days. Work is being pushed on the new bridge, but the road will not be ready for some time yet, and the present road east of Hibbing will continue to be used for a month or more.

EVELETH MAN IS WOUNDED IN THIGH

Shot During a Scuffle and Party Who Does the Shooting Escapes.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Francis Delvisho, an Italian, a Payal miner in a serious condition as a result of a quarrel with Frederick Perno, who shot him in the thigh during a scuffle at a Drake boarding house recently. Perno has escaped and no clue to his whereabouts has been secured by the range police who are searching for him.

The shooting grew out of a discussion between the two men relative to their mining abilities. Perno, who began scuffling with Delvisho, became heated and drew his revolver and fired, wounding Delvisho in the thigh. Delvisho escaped in the excitement.

ALLEGED M'PHEE THREATENED LIFE

Ashland Man Is Arrested at Hibbing on Serious Charge.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Lavelle, proprietor of the Palace hotel here, yesterday afternoon procured the arrest of Neal McPhee of Ashland, Wis., on the charge of threatening his life. Lavelle claims that he received a letter from McPhee last week, in which the latter threatened to kill him and his family and demanding money. McPhee did not take the matter seriously, but yesterday when McPhee came here and registered at Lavelle's hotel, the latter became alarmed and procured the arrest of McPhee on the charge of threatening his life.

The affair will be tried in the courts.

STANDS IN WATER TO ESCAPE FIRE

Brother of Duluth Woman Has Narrow Escape in Idaho Forests.

By standing up to his neck in a stream of water for a period of nearly twelve hours with a blanket over his head, George Laving, formerly of this city, and brother to Mrs. W. D. Dyer, escaped death during the recent forest fires which swept over the state of Idaho.

Laving was one of three survivors out of seven who spent the night in a creek. They held wet blankets over their heads as the fires approached. At last the blaze leaped over them and but three out of the entire party were left to tell the story. The three who did escape have been ill ever since as a result of the frightful experience, the exhaustion and the anxiety of not knowing what minute their lives would be snuffed out.

When the flames approached them, the three who were saved crouched behind a large rock and the flames divided and went around them.

Mrs. Dyer has had a letter from her brother telling of his escape and the terrible experience. The letter also told of the narrow escape of a young woman relative of the Dyer who left the town of St. Joe, Idaho, by means of a handcar which later collided with a train on a bridge, leaving the refugees uninjured. They had left the city as the fire approached. When they went back to St. Joe they found their homes burned to the ground.

ALL YOU HAVE TO DO—Look at the Above Picture and Read This Advertisement Carefully.

WE WANT GOOD EXPRESSIONS FOR ADVERTISING OUR NEW STORE AND BUSINESS.

HOW TO START: Take a postal card or a separate sheet of paper the same size and write in the English language, a sentence of not more than ten words, complimentary to our business. For instance, reference can be made to our reputation, our business standing, the progress we have made since opening our Duluth store, the advantages of the "Korby One-Price Selling Plan," the saving of middlemen's profits by dealing direct with the Factory Distributors of the World's Most Popular and Artistic Pianos—THE KIMBALL—the makes of pianos we sell, the added styling of cost of high rents; the manner in which we have dealt with our friends and patrons in former contests; our success in reliable up-to-date advertising; the fact we never lose our temper and attack dealers or agents in the name of business.

THE RULES: All answers must be received at our Duluth office not later than 6 o'clock Sept. 12, 1910. Replies can be sent in on postal cards, mailed in envelopes or left in person at our office, at the option of the contestant.

No employee of this company, or any other piano house, allowed to enter this contest. Only one reply allowed from each family, and only one answer from each contestant. In event of a tie for any prize in this contest, prizes of equal value will be given. Sentences of copy will be considered.

This contest shall be determined by three disinterested judges, solely in accordance with the conditions named in this advertisement, and the decision of the judges will be final and irrevocable. Every contestant must agree to abide by the decision of the judges.

THE JUDGES: Will be three well known business men of this city.

THE PRIZES: The person sending in the best sentence, according to the rules of this contest, will receive the $400 Kimball Piano, Free.

All other contestants sending in good replies to this contest, according to the rules, will receive purchasing checks ranging in value from $15 to $75, according to the judges' estimate as to comparative standing of the contestant.

These purchasing checks are good for whatever amount they call for, as discount from regular factory price of any new Kimball Piano or Player Piano, if purchased at our Duluth store, on or before Oct. 22, 1910.

Only one check accepted on the same piano. Credit checks cannot be applied as part payment on any purchase made prior to Sept. 12, 1910.

IS KILLED BY THE SHOCK

Albert Schultz Strikes on Feet But Concussion of the Brain Results.

Albert Schultz of this city was killed Tuesday at the training school at Red Wing as the result of an accidental fall. He was in the left of the barn and in some manner slipped through the chute to the cow barn below. He struck squarely on his feet on the cement floor. The fall caused concussion of the brain, causing his death in a short time.

It was not thought at first that he was seriously hurt, but when he began to get worse he was rushed to the city hospital. The body reached the city hospital and was taken to Crawford's undertaking rooms. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning and interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

The full arrangements have not been completed. Schultz was 19 years of age, and lived with relatives on Fourteenth street. He was cousin of Albert Schultz, who was killed accidentally, on the incline last winter.

RECEPTION FOR YOST.

Joliet Church to Bid Farewell to Pastor Coming to Duluth.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. and Mrs. Robert Yost and an Donald, who are visiting relatives in Ohio and who have been at Winona Lake, are expected to return to Joliet.

The members of the Central Presbyterian church are planning a reception for a farewell reception to be given in the parlors of the church tomorrow evening and was taken to Crawford's undertaking rooms. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning and interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

The full arrangements have not been completed. Schultz was 19 years of age, and lived with relatives on Fourteenth street. He was cousin of Albert Schultz, who was killed accidentally, on the incline last winter.

BUYS BIG FARM.

James McCall Will Have Home in Southern Minnesota.

The celebrated Rahilly farm of 1,200 acres, owned by Hon. A. H. Rahilly, was sold today to his son-in-law, James McCall of Duluth for $100,000. This is one of the most magnificent farms in Minnesota. The improvements cost $40,000.

Mr. Rahilly has had a number of tempting offers for this farm, but considered it to be a family matter. He will move to his city residence at Lake City and attend to his other business.

Mr. Rahilly was born in Ireland in 1832, came to America in 1848 with his family.

NORTH DAKOTAN IS STRUCK DOWN

Killed By Lightning, Leaves Wife of Only Five Months.

Michigan, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Inzell, residing six miles from here, was struck by lightning and instantly killed last night. Inzell had been in the barn and during a full in the storm went to the house. He was struck in the kitchen when the bolt crashed into the house. He leaves a wife of five months. None of the other members of the family was injured.

THE HEART OF THE ROCKIES.

The mountains that form the backbone of the continent are not a single line of ridges, as is commonly supposed, but are many long and rugged ranges and groups of rough uplands that are widely separated, and have among them frequent great pastoral valleys. It has been demonstrated that well-brewed beer, such as Golden Grain Belt beer, is brewed upon the same general basis, one of the great railroad problems would be solved; but no theory should be advanced as a summer beverage for the people, until it has been first considered the equity of the results which follow it.

In discussing the subject of railroads as taxpayers, T. A. Polleys of St. Paul said that in most of the states of this country it is probable railroads will long continue to be taxed upon the assessed value of their property, rather than directly upon their earnings. Gross or net. The most practical course for all students of the question, he contended, is to speak of railroads chiefly toward the betterment of the existing system of ad valorem taxation of railroads.

SAY GENERAL TAX THEORY HAS FAILED

Roads as taxpayers, occupied the attention of the delegates. R. S. Shields, a member of the state tax commission of Michigan, in speaking of railroads, said that if some method could be devised and applied whereby all railroads, and more especially interstate railroads, could be taxed upon the same general basis, one of the great railroad problems would be solved; but no theory should be advanced as a summer beverage for the people, until it has been first considered the equity of the results which follow it.

CRESCENT VIEW PARK NOW READY FOR SALE--GATEWAY COMPLETED

Mob of Banner-Bearing Boys Announce Opening on Streets This Morning.

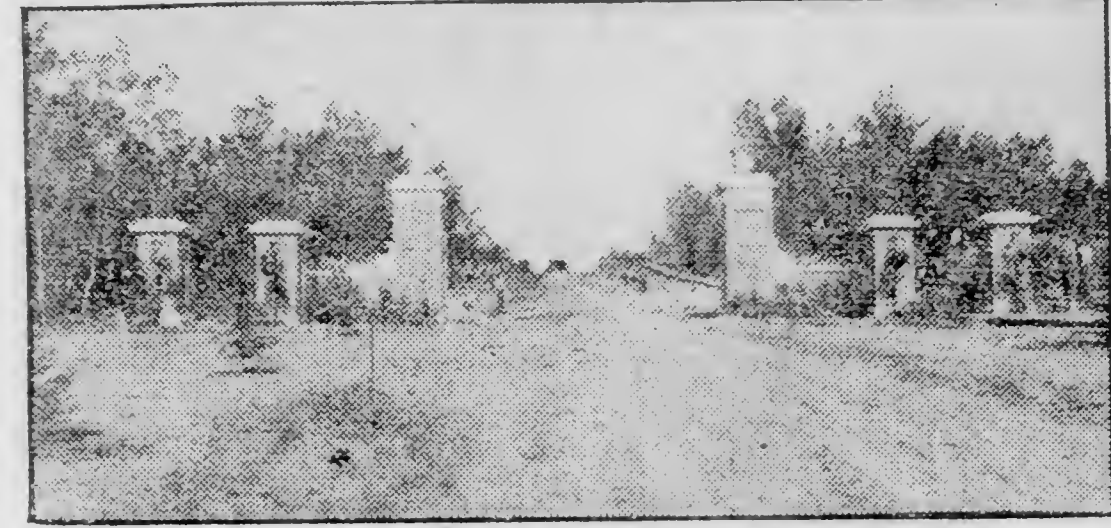

The completion of the massive brick gateway at Thirty-sixth avenue east, at the entrance to Crescent View Park, was the signal for a tremendous activity among investors this morning.

Selling became active first thing this morning, but the greatest activity is anticipated for the afternoon.

Crescent View Park should soon become the finest residence part of the city, not only because of its location between the Golf grounds and the Country club and Congdon Park; but because of the high-class of property and of the people who are purchasing there.

The small army of workmen is still busy clearing up the grounds, but the park is already in fairly good shape.

A novel feature of the opening sale this morning, was the appearance on the streets of a small army of boys carrying four-sided signs, covered with suggestions as to the advisability of getting out and buying a site quick.

COMPLETED ENTRANCE TO CRESCENT VIEW PARK.

The army was headed by a tally-ho from the seat of which the strains of a cornet drew the attention of the amused people to the novel sight.

JACKSON McPHERSON DISCLOSES REAL IDENTITY

Says His Name Is James Smith and He Is an Englishman.

Has Spent Several Years in the English Secret Service.

Up in the county jail this morning, Jackson McPherson, convicted of the murder of Otto Frey, disclosed his real identity for the first time this morning, to a Herald reporter, and told in brief outline, the story of his life.

Jackson McPherson's real name is Smith—James Smith.

He has been a common seaman; he has been in the English secret service, he has held positions of trust and confidence; he has been an ordinary workman, and he has been in practically every civilized country.

He has been around the world a number of times; has visited nearly every port of importance in the world, and he can describe the locations of buildings on both this and the other side of the Atlantic. As hard as that attorney tried to bring out incidents of his life at the time of the trial, they were unnecessary.

He has tried to keep his past life covered up as much as possible, as he claims that he wishes to keep his family in ignorance of the trouble in which he now finds himself. "I am in deep now," he says, "and I might as well tell it all so that they can do all they can for me."

All this and more was learned at the county jail this morning when he was in a talkative mood and seemed to wish to unfold himself of things he had kept to himself ever since he was first arrested for the murder of Otto Frey, on board the steamer North Wind of the Mutual Transit company line during September of last year.

At the time of the trial he was convicted of murder in the second degree and only a few days ago he was denied a new trial by Judge Bishop of the district court. He expects money to carry the case to the supreme court.

A Romantic Life.

McPherson or Smith's life reads like a romance.

In the first place, "Jack," as he is familiarly called about the jail, ran away from home at the age of 16, because he had had some trouble in school in England. The trouble was only such as every school boy has at some time in his life. It looked big to him then and he decided to run away. He came to the United States and worked at different things for two years. He then went back to England.

His father, who was an official in the English secret service department of the English government, obtained a position for him and for some years he remained in the employ of the British government. It was his duty to go to places to which he was assigned and obtain possession of plans, drawings, charts, maps or any other data that might be of use to the English war department. Sometimes he even had to steal the material that he was sent after.

While in England he met, fell in love with, and finally married an English girl. He says that this was the great change in his life. He was devoted and happy until after only a short period she died with the birth of their child, a girl. His daughter is now grown up and is teaching school in Calgary, he says.

He could not, however, bear to remain in England and once more he set out to see the world and forget his troubles. America looked big enough to lose himself in and to America he came.

In American Navy.

He found a place in the "American navy" and served in it four years and a number of months. While in the navy he visited nearly every port in the world. He was mixed up as a witness in a case at Malta and he figured in many other affairs that were exciting. He wanted excitement—he craved it. He wanted it that he might forget his own troubles—and he found it.

When his time was up he found that he had a longing to get back to English soil and back to England he went. Again he entered the service but found that he could not remain where once he had been so happy.

Again he came to the United States and determined to see all Uncle Sam's country. The trip on which his trouble happened, was his first this far West.

He says that even though he had freedom there is but little to live for now and he has all but given up hope of ever getting out of his present trouble.

He choked as he told his story this morning and his eyes were just a bit misty as he spoke of "her." "What a man's life will lead him to," he remarked. He was asked for more details of his early life and his marriage, but he said: "What is the use? I have been a great many years trying to forget. Why bring all that up again? It is all fresh in my memory. But it is the only real story and I want it all to myself."

McPherson or Smith's confinement has told on him. He is not the great, strong, robust, healthy looking man he was at the time of the trial some time ago. He is thin and is so crippled with rheumatism that he can get around but very little. He no longer wears a mustache and his shoulders are more rounded than they were. He looks the part of a man who is wasting away and he says himself that he has but a few years to live at best.

The term "bowery tough" seems to eat itself into his system and he talks about it constantly. He says it is unjust as he likes to consider himself a gentleman.

IN BEST PART OF AMERICA

Business Conditions Here Are Better Than In East, Says John Pantone.

"We are in the best part of America today," declared John Pantone, who has just returned after a month's absence in the Eastern markets.

"New York is quiet and the hotel and cafe proprietors are disgraced. Thousands of Western buyers are in the markets, but they keep busy selecting merchandise and leave for their different homes as soon as possible. The West is prosperous; crops are good; prices are satisfactory; and the people happy, while in the East wild extravagance has visited many homes; politics has upset calculations, and the railroad and garment workers' strikes have brought about a bad business condition."

Mayor Gaynor and ex-President Roosevelt are very much in the public mind at present and much anxiety is manifested over the outcome of this fall's elections. The garment workers' strike was settled this morning, but many makers have shut down for the year and will make no effort to make up anything for this season. We were very fortunate in our buying and will show larger and more complete stocks than ever before.

"Business has been very good with us and the month just closed will show the largest August trade made in our history."

New goods are coming in now by every boat and freight. We will have the new hosiery, skirts, turbans, hats and everything demanded by fashion, including the latest New York and Atlantic City craze—the fuzzy white poodle dog that takes the place of the teddy bear."

STRIKE SITUATION IN SPAIN, ALARMING

Men at Bilbao Are in Ugly Mood--Trouble Is Spreading.

Bilbao, Spain, Sept. 1.—The strike situation is alarming. The funds of the men have been exhausted and the strikers are in an ugly mood. Collisions with the police, gendarmes and strike-breakers are constantly occurring.

Dock employees who are on strike have issued an appeal to their foreign colleagues asking the latter to refuse to handle merchandise intended for shipment here.

Troops are being concentrated and a cordon of soldiers has been thrown about the city to prevent the entry of strikers from other districts.

Strike Is Spreading.

Saragossa, Spain, Sept. 1.—Twenty-two workmen's organizations today declared a general strike in sympathy with the strike at Bilbao.

May Declare State of Siege.

Madrid, Spain, Sept. 1.—In view of the strike rioting reported from Bilbao the government is considering the matter of declaring that city in a state of siege.

WISCONSIN STUDENTS
FAILED TO TRAP ASAHI.

Innumerable efforts have been made to trap "The Great Asahi," who is appearing at the Orpheum this week in a most remarkable exhibition of magic and mystery feats, but probably the most persistent was the campaign of the students of the University of Wisconsin, when Asahi appeared at Madison last winter.

On the opening night of his performance there was a large attendance of students, who, in a great measure, support the theater there, and Asahi's feats caused no little comment, especially the trick he performs of allowing his thumbs to be tied together, and then in plain view of the audience passing his hands around a pole, so that his arms, without apparently in any way disturbing the laniage about his thumbs. The students puzzled over the trick for one night, and the next night they returned in force, armed with umbrellas.

When Asahi began to do his trick with the usual pole furnished by the property man, the students insisted that he use it. Asahi consented, and performed his trick with an umbrella borrowed from one of the students.

The next night they returned with a long pole, about two inches in diameter, and when Asahi went down into the audience to have his thumbs tied together, they put an extra knot in the handkerchief and then produced the pole from under the seats, requesting that he use it. Asahi complied, and the trick was just as successfully performed as on the previous nights. The students admitted they were beaten, and gave the pole to Asahi for use in other cities.

It is the pole he now carries with him. The Madison boys who put up the game, attended every performance given during the week, in an attempt to discover the secret of the trick, but they were unable to do so, and finally had to admit defeat.

Asahi's manager himself, claims to be in complete ignorance of how the trick is done. He admits knowing the solution of the fountain riddle, but solemnly asserts that he cannot tell how Asahi gets his hands around the pole, although he has been with the solemn taciturn Jap for two years.

The greatest crisis in a woman's life is when first she becomes a mother. All the physical strength of her nature is demanded at such times, and it is necessary that her system be thoroughly prepared for the event, in order that her health be preserved for future years. Mother's Friend is woman's safest reliance; it is a medicine for external use, composed of oils and other ingredients which assist nature in all necessary physical changes of the system. Its regular use before the coming of baby prepares the muscles and tendons for the unusual strain, aids in expanding the skin and flesh fibres, and strengthens all the membranes and tissues. Mother's Friend lessens the pain and danger at the crisis, and leaves the mother in such healthful condition that her recovery is always rapid and natural. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. "At the White Horse Tavern," is an adaptation from the German, "At the White Horse Tavern," and the fun is fast and furious. William Jossey will be given opportunity to display his ability as a character comedian, also his versatility for the stage is justly different from Strongheart.

One of the most interesting scenes in "At the White Horse Tavern," is the climax of the first act, which will be continued throughout the week with a matinee Saturday.

The Pierce Players will close their highly successful engagement at the Lyceum Saturday night and will open in Superior Sunday with an entirely new repertoire before starting again for another country.

LOVERS OF MINSTRELSY FLOCK TO THE BIJOU.

Duluthians who cling with fond memories to the days when McElish, Johnson and Slavin, George Primrose, William H. Van, and other minstrel men were headliners in the amusement business, did not flock to the Bijou this week to see and hear Billy Van, who held a place in the front rank of black-face comedians in the halcyon days of minstrelsy. He is the same Billy Van who delighted thousands of Americans with his song and antics in the early days and later, when he was principal comedian with William H. West's minstrel troupe, the greatest of his kind ever to tour the country. He is delighting thousands yet, for even in the less favorable surroundings of the vaudeville stage he retains the inimitable ability to gain laughs and applause which gave him the distinction he won in minstrel work. He is of the old school, and those of the old school can appreciate him best, but the later generation, whose memory of minstrelsy is hazy and gained while it was receding from popularity, can get from him much of the entertainment that was the principal amusement of thousands in former years.

Election Money.

Franklin, Pa., Sept. 1.—Expressing the belief that he is near the borderland of another country and the fear that he may not even survive to tell his story in court, Joseph C. Sibley, who last week resigned as Republican candidate for congress in the Twenty-eighth district and was the next day arrested on a charge of conspiracy to bribe, corrupt and defraud the voters of Warren county, last night issued a statement relative to his candidacy and his $42,500 election expense account. He says that he should not be able to testify in court, he wants his friends to know the truth.

Mr. Sibley says he left the disbursement of money to his private secretary owing to ill health, and not until the day of filing his expense account, was he aware that he had spent more than $20,000. But it will be shown, Mr. Sibley declares, that every cent was spent in conformity with the law.

THREE BIND SHERIFF AND ESCAPE; RECAPTURED.

Onawa, Iowa, Sept. 1.—A sensational jail delivery was made yesterday when Sheriff Edwin Rawlins was assaulted by three prisoners named McBride, Barker and Williams, held for burglary. The sheriff was beaten into insubordination. He was then gagged, his hands tied behind his back, and then tied to a cot. The prisoners then made their escape. After several hours chase by posse, the prisoners were captured and returned to jail.

ALL SOLD TO SATISFY SOUTH DAKOTA CLAIMS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—The franchises, rights and book accounts and real and personal property of the Safety Banking and Trust company of this city were sold for $30 yesterday at a United States marshal's sale to satisfy judgment against the bank in favor of the Keystone Bank of Rapid City, S. D., and Alfred S. Schemm, an attorney representing the holders of the judgment, which

HAD PSORIASIS FOR TEN YEARS

Itching and Burning Terrible. Appearance Worse. Had Specialists and X-Ray, with Some Success, Others without Relief. Used Cuticura. In 4 Days Relieved. Inside of 2 Weeks Cured.

"I had been suffering with psoriasis for a period of ten years. It would disappear occasionally for a year or so and then return in worse form than before. The last attack came on a little over a year ago, and by early summer had covered me all over. The itching and burning were terrible, and my appearance was worse. I had tried different specialists and had had the X-rays used on me, sometimes with some success and at others without relief. In the early fall of 1909 I was induced to try the Cuticura treatment, by a party who had heard of a remarkable cure it had made, and I confess that I started in, not only without faith, but with every prejudice against it. In four days I was relieved of the inconvenience, and inside of two weeks cured, except for a slight discoloration of the skin, which wore off in a few weeks. I subsequently saw my friend Mr. — who had the same trouble. When he had heard of a remarkable cure it had made, and I confess that I started in, not only without faith, but with every prejudice against it. NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Young Men's McKnight Club Meets and Hears Talk by Congressional Candidate—How the Contest is Viewed Outside the District—C. H. Warner is Given a Warm Send Off as a Candidate for the House—Boyle Continues to Gain Support.

The Young Men's McKnight club met last evening in Stearns hall, with about thirty members present. The club has been organized to boost the candidacy of Alexander G. McKnight for congress and is expected to take an active part in the primary campaign. Among the speakers at the meeting were Mr. McKnight, Charles F. Malinck, of Moose Lake, editor of the Statesman, and Mr. Morgan, former city attorney.

Mr. McKnight said that he has been falsely accused of being a stalking horse for the Dewey and Roosevelt candidates. He said that he had been elected to the club by the members and that he was not a candidate for the house.

ner known that a good deal of interest is being taken in his own district, and the general opinion seems to be at home and abroad that there is little likelihood of his defeat.

The range papers are devoting a lot of space to the senatorial contest, some of them boosting Vail and some of them ardently supporting Boyle. The Duluth papers are just as enthusiastic in their support of Boyle.

In the Forty-ninth district the result is that range people are having their attention called to the fact that they have a chance to get a virile, up-and-coming representative in the state senate. In West Duluth sentiment is said to be crystallizing rapidly in favor of Mr. Boyle. The Eveleth man's friends are active, in a quiet way, and are presenting their arguments with an enthusiasm that makes votes.

Several men who have been on the range in the last few days say that the Vail support is mostly surface sentiment, and that when the primaries roll around many of the men who now are ardently talking for Vail will vote for Boyle, having admitted as much to the said range visitors and residents.

However, the situation cannot be clearly defined at this stage of the game, but it certainly is beyond dispute that Boyle is making big gains.

Four Republicans are fighting for the senatorial nomination in the Fifty-ninth district. They are James Johnston of Bertha, who has been senator for one term; Rudolph Lee, editor of the Lone Prairie Leader and a strenuous advocate of county option; J. J. Courtright of Staples, and I. J. Courtright of Staples, who is alone among the candidates in his county option views. He has been endorsed by the Fifty-ninth district.

BAR ASSOCIATION IN ROUTINE WORK

Paper on the Career of Abraham Lincoln Is Read.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 1.—The only routine business of today's session, the closing day of the American Bar association, was a paper on the career of a country lawyer, Abraham Lincoln, by Charles W. Moores of Indianapolis, and the nomination and election of officers. These were followed by discussion of the report of the special committee upon the conferring of the degree of LL. D. and of the special committee on standard rules for admission to the bar.

James. You want to make him out a liar," asked the court.

"No, but I want to know what he knows."

Mr. Melcher declared:

"I have only given the general causes which contribute to the total. I am not an accountant nor a financier. Our accounts are in the figures you want and is here to produce them."

May Quit Shippers.

A suggestion has been made that the railroads now on the defensive might change their tactics and seek to compete with shippers who oppose the advance in freight rates to declare how much they profit on the different commodities under consideration. A request from Attorney F. J. Norton, counsel for the Santa Fe, for the names of the different associations of shippers represented at the hearing that he might question certain of the shippers, gave color to reports that shippers would be asked about their profits.

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Vanish in Five Minutes.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapiesin and realize not only immediate but lasting relief. This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas, no heartburn, flatulency or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating griping, dizziness or intestinal headache. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

THE TRUE TEST
Tried in Duluth, It Has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Duluth. Kidney sufferers can hardly say for stronger proof than the following:

H. G. Hibbe, 1123 Woodland avenue, Duluth, Minn., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble, brought on I believe by constant driving and exposure to all kinds of weather. Severe pains in the small of my back made stooping or lifting difficult and every cold I caught seemed to be in my kidneys, aggravating my complaint. I was also subject to headaches and the kidney secretions often became highly colored and irregular in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have not had a symptom of my trouble since."

The above statement was given on Oct. 20, 1904 and on Nov. 20, Mr. Hibbe added: "Since using Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago I have had no need of a kidney remedy. I willingly confirm all I have previously said about this preparation, as I know it is very effective in cases of kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Great Northern.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Police authorities in the northern section of the state, and especially those having jurisdiction over the territory lying between Grand Forks and Devils Lake, on the Great Northern, are taking active steps towards bringing about the disruption of what appears to be an organized band of thieves, preying upon innocent victims in different towns. A series of four boxcar robberies, one proving fatal, together with several attempted holdups, constitute the work of the toughs up to the present time, but a single arrest for any of these offenses has been made yet.

In the attempted holdup at Lakota, the would-be raiders overlooked a splendid opportunity of securing the cash haul. Winnetka, Car. Wyatt, extinguished the lights by throwing a lamp to the floor, he made an attempt to take behind a safe. In so doing he struck his head against the corner of the safe and was rendered unconscious. The men on the outside, who had commanded Wyatt to open the door, took shot at him, but they were afraid to advance into the darkness, fearing that Wyatt might have a revolver, so they left. All this time Wyatt was lying helpless on the floor of the office.

No Clue to the Thugs.
There does not seem to be a clue as yet that would tend to help the officers identify the thugs. From the point where the bullet was fired into the Lakota depot it would appear that the man who used the revolver was exceptionally tall. The operator was unable to see their faces.

The same condition existed in the attempted holdup at McCauley, where San Loucas disrupted their plans. It was too dark to be able to gain a look at their faces and give the officials any description.

The Great Northern Railroad company will send a number of special men into the district soon to attempt to break up the gang.

Meeting to Be Held at Bottineau, N. D., to Consider Matter.

Bottineau, N. D., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—On a date that has not yet been decided, a meeting will be held at Bottineau, N. D., to consider the matter of the construction of a state road through the Turtle mountain district which will be considered. This meeting will be held at Bottineau, N. D., and it is to be held in accordance with a decision made at the recent convention held in this city.

When the general convention is held at Bottineau, N. D., it is expected that the state legislative assembly, asking that an appropriation be made for the construction of the road which would go through a district where the land is almost worthless.

The cost of such a road as contemplated is too great for the people in this section to bear, and that is the reason they are going before the legislature with this proposition.

It is estimated that the increase in valuation of land lying in the Turtle mountain region by reason of the construction of such a road would be approximately $500,000.

Crookston Court Judge Dismisses Charge of Not Stopping Automobile.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—In municipal court yesterday afternoon, Dr. Anderson of Cambridge, Minn., was acquitted of having refused to stop his automobile and a petition asking that the office be re-established again is now pending.

Capistrano's horse ran away, a time throwing his wife and two children out of the buggy. Dr. Anderson was making an automobile trip to Canada accompanied by his wife, his sister and his sister-in-law, and Deputy Sheriff Kelly at that time chased him to the Canadian boundary. Capistrano had the number of the physician's automobile and by this he was located in Cambridge and Deputy Sheriff Kelly arrested him there and arrived with him in Crookston yesterday morning.

Dr. Anderson and the three women were positively given to him. Kelly hailed the auto that it was stopped and that the engine was stopped as well, but that the horse and driver were driven past the stationary machine and jumped the ditch. Kelly also swore that Capistrano had used fearful language and that for this reason Dr. Anderson refused to give him a ride in the city. Capistrano and his wife swore Gossman dismissed the case after hearing the evidence.

Young People's Organization of Islepeping Has Meet.

Islepeping, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Young People's Society of the Swedish Lutheran church of the Islepeping district, which has just held a meeting at Iron Mountain, elected the following officers:

President, Rev. Oscar Sandahl, Marquette; vice president, Rev. E. Rosander, Crystal Falls; secretary, Herbert Anderson, Iron Mountain; treasurer, Miss Olga Grand, Islepeping. The next annual meeting will be held at Crystal Falls.

HISTORIC RANCH SOLD.

Custer Trail Ranch Where Gen.
Custer Once Camped.

Medora, N. D., Sept. 1.—Charles Gunkel of Arthur, N. D., has purchased the old Custer Trail ranch, located on the Little Missouri river, four miles south of Medora. This is one of the old land marks of the county. Gen. Custer, while en route to the Little Big Horn in 1876, camped on the ground where the ranch is located for several days.

A ranch was located here afterwards by A. C. Huldekooper. The Eaton Bros. managed this for some years, when it was abandoned for several years. In 1891 it was again occupied by the Eaton brothers and was for years known all over the West as "the dude ranch," and as such obtained wide celebrity.

In 1904 it was purchased by George Donaldson of Minneapolis and operated for some years as a summer hotel. Persons from all over the world have been visitors at the ranch.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. C. Sloane, until recently manager of the Calumet gas works, accompanied by his family, left Tuesday evening for Crookston, Minn., where Mr. Sloane takes charge of a large gas plant there.

Mr. Sloane was instrumental in securing and managing the local gas plant, and his work here has been much appreciated. His decision to leave Calumet is generally regretted by his numerous friends and business associates.

YOUNG FORGER SENTENCED.

Claimed to Be Senator Tillman's Son and Secured Coin.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 1.—William A. Kaphen, who pleaded guilty to the charge of passing forged checks, was sentenced to five years in the state reformatory in Green Bay in municipal court here.

It was alleged that Kaphen impersonated Capt. Benjamin J. Tillman, U. S. A., when the crime was committed.

He was sent to the reformatory instead of the state prison in Waupun because he was under age. He is 20 years old.

THREE YOUNG VICTIMS OF CARELESS SHOOTING.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 1.—Falling with a gun in his hands, Hugh Willard, aged 14, was instantly killed near the town of Willard, S. D., by the bullet of his father, D. E. Willard, who was hunting for a deer.

The boy was playing on the ranch of his father, when the accident occurred. The weapon sent a bullet through the boy's heart.

Two Minnesota Boys Killed.
Marquette, Minn., Sept. 1.—The 14-year-old son of Frank Laurich of Minnesota, was killed by a bullet fired by a hunter on the property of the Laurichs.

The boy was playing on the property of the Laurichs, when the accident occurred. The bullet passed through the boy's heart.

DETROIT MAN SECURES HIS CHILD IN BISMARCK.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 1.—Mr. Holgrove of Detroit, Minn., was arrested here Tuesday for having kidnapped a child.

He had been in custody of the child for some time, and he was seeking to obtain custody of the child.

BIG CUTTING CONTRACT IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wick O'Connell & Company, the Houghton contractors, have just closed a contract with Mike Vanderhorst, Mich., to cut 40,000,000 feet of pine timber in the woods of Northern Minnesota near the Canadian line.

REJECT DITCHING PLAN.

Clay County Drainage Board Turns Down the Scheme.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The petition for the establishment of a ditch No. 27, which was considered here Tuesday at a meeting of the drainage board, was refused on the ground that the cost of its establishment would be greater than the benefits that might accrue.

Ditch No. 24 in reality is only eight miles long, but it would affect four different townships. This ditch it run would have drained Talley lake and seven low places along its route.

The farmers claim it would precipitate an enormous amount of water upon the flats, with no adequate outlet. However, it was the plan to use Talley lake as a reservoir, and Engineer A. H. Hopenan stated that there would have been care of all the spring water until later in the year, when it could have been let out.

A recent meeting of the drainage board there was a tie vote on the establishment of this ditch. On the ballot taken there were two affirmative votes cast and three negative.

FERGUS FALLS MAN'S AUTOMOBILE BURNS.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Webster was the victim of an automobile accident Tuesday night, which cost him one of his front autos in this section.

While riding with one of his friends he was suddenly caught in a fire from leaking gasoline and before the fire could be extinguished the machine was completely consumed.

Only a short time before his sister, Annie Webster, had been driving about town with several women friends. If the fire had occurred then, it is probable that some one or more would have been seriously, if not fatally injured.

SPECIAL AGENT EXONERATED FOR KILLING C. P. WELSH.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—The coroner's jury which investigated the killing of C. P. Welsh, the discharged special agent of the Great Northern railway by Chief Special Agent A. G. Ray, in the Great Northern office here, returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Ray, who had been released in police court on his own recognizance, was discharged by the coroner.

MONTANA MAN TO START DUCK FARM.

Marquette, Wis., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state duck farm venture is a duck farm, which has been started by Robert Stevenson, an attorney of Duluth, Minn., who owns property on Breakwater Island and in the vicinity of the Great Northern building.

Stevenson will be a money-maker, but will employ a man to run it while he follows his profession in Duluth.

NO SPRING SHOOTING INCREASES DUCK FAMILY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 1.—Abolishment of spring shooting of ducks in North Dakota, which is provided under the state law, has been very helpful in maintaining the duck family this year. The season has been exceptionally full.

The ducks and many have perished because of the lack of water. Spring shooting has been permitted, and many more would have been killed at that time.

HITS BANDIT WITH ROCK

Colorado Midland Engineer
Kills Train Robber Who Shot Him.

Bold Attempt at Holdup Near Divide Ends in Fatal Fight.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 2.—In a desperate attempt to hold up west-bound Colorado Midland train No. 3 four miles west of Divide early this morning, an unknown bandit was instantly killed by a rock thrown by Engineer Frank Stewart after the bandit had shot the engineer in the leg. Two young men who were found near the scene of the holdup are held for investigation as to their complicity in the railway holdup. One of them was slightly wounded in the head by a bullet. Their names are not known. The highwayman crawled over the tender as the train slowed up to meet the eastbound train. As he stopped the train Stewart turned to see his freeman, Paul Bachman, standing with his hands above his head and heard the robber say:

"Up with your hands, or I'll blow off your head."

The robber then forced both men to leave the engine and marched them before him to the express car.

"When we got to the express car," said Stewart, "my freeman dashed up."

INSURE AGAINST RAINY HOLIDAYS

New Form of Policy Is Offered by Concern in England.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Insurance covering almost every happening in England—such as the death of the sovereign, climatic conditions affecting the success of a pageant, horse shows, agricultural fairs—has of late been broadened in scope, and now a new form of policy has been introduced, enabling persons whose holidays have been marred by rain to obtain monetary compensation.

Consul General John L. Griffiths of London reports that underwriters are prepared to insure against one-tenth of an inch of rain falling on more than two days a week at any town on the east and south coasts of England.

Upon the payment of $1.52, he says, a policy will be issued for ten days, which it is agreed to pay the person insured at the rate of $2.43 per day in excess of two wet days. If higher compensation is desired, a proportionately higher premium is charged.

LEPER LIVING

Negress Has Been There
Seven Years—Married in the Meantime.

New York, Sept. 2.—A negro woman with an advanced case of leprosy has been living in New York for more than seven years, associating constantly with people of her own race. The nature of her ailment did not become known until late last night, when she applied at Bellevue hospital for treatment.

The doctors at once diagnosed her ailment as one of the worst cases of leprosy which has come to their attention. They declared that she could live but a short time.

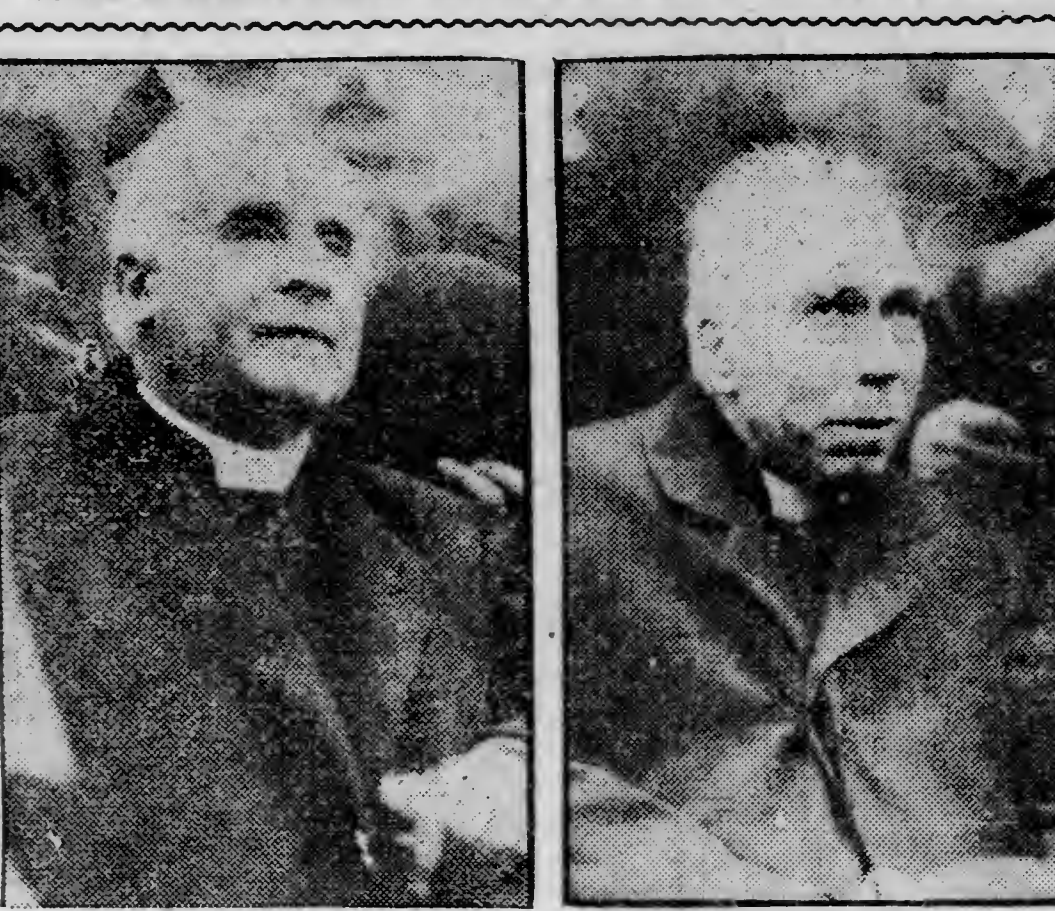

The woman told the doctors that she had come to New York from the West Indies, where she had been married and was sick then. Five years ago she married and a year later her only child, a son, was born.

WRIGHTS MAY SURPRISE THEM

Brothers Are Thought to Have Something "Up Their Sleeves."

Boston, Mass., Sept. 2.—All the bustle and activity of an aeroplane factory were apparent early today on the Harvard aviation field at Atlantic, where the nine days aerobline contests of the first Harvard-Boston Aero meet will open tomorrow. Under the long tented hangars, the mechanics and pilots of the Wright brothers, Glenn Curtiss, Clifford B. Harnum, Augustus Post, and many others, were picking planes, tightening wires and levers in preparation for the flights of tomorrow.

Intense interest is manifested in the showing of the Wright and Curtiss types of machines. It is believed that the Wrights have a surprise in store for the aviators of the world, as well as the spectators at Atlantic. In the new model biplane which Brookings will use, beginning tomorrow, Secret flights have been made and it is claimed that Wilbur Wright is elated at the performances and it is not improbable that he may be seen in the chassis himself before the meet is over, contending against Mr. Curtiss, who has declared that he will make his last flights aloft at the Boston meet.

Health Officers Hold Two

Lusitania and San Giovanni Examined and Given Medical O. K.

New York, Sept. 2.—Because of a case of serious illness on the liner Lusitania, from Liverpool, and a death on the steamer San Giovanni during her voyage here from Naples and Palermo, both steamers were detained at quarantine on their arrival last night, and this morning the vessels were held for several hours while thorough examinations by the health officers were being completed.

The examination of the Lusitania was completed first. It convinced the authorities that there was no danger of cholera infection from the vessel, and her release was ordered shortly after 9 o'clock by Health Officer Doty, the steamer leaving quarantine for her pier at 9:25 o'clock.

Extraordinary precautions against infection have been taken by the health officers of the port, since the appearance of cholera on the European continent. Bacteriological examinations were deemed necessary on both vessels.

Inspect all Steamers.
The investigation in the case of the San Giovanni was equally satisfactory after the usual inspection. That steamer was also released and left quarantine for her pier.

Dr. Doty said that he did not intend to confine his activities in guarding against cholera to those ports adjacent to infected centers, but would make a general investigation in the case of all passenger steamers from Europe, as experience has proved that persons infected to any seaport and that thus all lines may bring persons from infected districts.

St. Paul Committee Has Arranged Program for the President.

He Will Review the Labor Day Parade and Talk at the State Fair.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The official program for the entertainment of President Taft on Monday of next week in connection with the National Conservation congress has been completed.

President Taft is scheduled to arrive in St. Paul over the Chicago & North-western railway at 9 a. m. Monday. Accompanied by Governor Eberhart and the local reception committee, President Taft, under the escort of four troops of Fort Snelling cavalry and the local national guard companies, will be conducted to a reviewing stand near the postoffice building, where he will review the Labor day parade. After the parade he will go to the Auditorium, where, at 10 o'clock, he will deliver his address to the Conservation congress.

At noon the president will have luncheon at the Saint Paul hotel, attended by Governor Eberhart, and President B. N. Baker of the Conservation congress as host.

See the State Fair.
At 2:30 o'clock the president will be driven in an automobile to the Minnesota state fair grounds, where, under military escort, he will proceed to the grandstand, where he will make another address.

From the fair grounds the president will be taken to the Madison hotel, Minneapolis, for a dinner to be tendered him by Minneapolis citizens. At 8:15 o'clock the president will board his car for the return trip to the East.

LITTLE GIRL SLAYS SISTER

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jennie Chisholm, aged 10 years, accidentally shot and killed Lillian Chisholm, her 4-year-old sister, this morning at the family home three miles from here.

A .22-caliber rifle loaded with a special bullet was the principal in the accident. The children were playing with it, while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chisholm were out of the house.

Attorney Forrest Begins His Argument in Bribery Trial.

Tells Jury Not to Believe Either White, Link or Beckemeyer.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Attorney W. S. Forrest today began argument for the defense in the trial of Lee O'Neill Browne.

"Our defense is not technical," said Mr. Forrest. "We aver that Browne did not make an agreement to buy Representative White's vote for William Lorimer, and that Browne never paid any bribe to White. I ask you gentlemen to dismiss White's evidence and give it no consideration. There is no doubt that White's evidence is sufficient to convict if you believe it, but you cannot believe it."

Taking up the testimony of Representative Link and Beckemeyer, who, like White, testified to receiving money after voting for Lorimer, Mr. Forrest asked the jury's careful consideration of the evidence with respect to motive.

The indictment charging perjury against George F. Glass, a street car motorman, was returned in court today.

The special grand jury, it is reported, (Continued on page 6, fifth column.)

Allan Company and Canadian Pacific Both Will Build Steamers.

London, Sept. 2.—The plans of the Allan steamship company for the improvement of its Canadian service provide for the construction of three turbine steamships each 700 feet in length, registering 20,000 tons and having a speed of twenty-two knots an hour.

It appears that the existing agreement between the Allan line and the Canadian Pacific Railroad company for carrying the mails will not be renewed, and the Allan people propose to have their new ships ready in 1912, when the mail contract expires, so that they will be in a position to carry all the trans-Atlantic mail in their own vessels.

It is stated that the Canadian Pacific will also increase its fleet by two fast liners.

Roosevelt Spends the Day in Omaha—Meets Not-ables.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 2.—Entering Omaha early today without any special demonstration by the people of the town, Col. Theodore Roosevelt was escorted quietly to the Omaha club, where breakfast was served to a small company. Among those who breakfasted with the colonel were Senators Burkett and Brown of Nebraska.

Senator Dolliver of Iowa, former Representative John L. Kennedy, Victor Roosevelt, Republican national committeeman; Gen. F. A. Smith, in command of the Department of the Missouri; Postmaster E. F. Thomas; Charles H. Pickens, G. W. Wattles, C. M. Wilhelm and other drake.

When the colonel's train reached St. Joseph, Mo., at 12:40 this morning, there were continued calls for a speech from a large crowd of men who had gathered at the station. But Col. Roosevelt was asleep and did not respond to the calls. As it is in relation, the crowd began cheering for President Taft.

Shallenger and Dahlman.
After the breakfast Governor Shallenger and Maxon, chairman of Omaha called on Col. Roosevelt.

It was announced that the "colonel" would likely not leave Omaha until about noon, when he would go to the Omaha Club for an informal luncheon, to which 400 guests have been invited.

A telegram was received by the committee on arrangements from Congressman E. W. Martin of South Dakota, asking that places be reserved for him and Seth Bullock, United States marshal.

Delegates to Arbitration Conference Consider Time
Not Yet Ripe.

Brussels, Sept. 2.—The Interparliamentary Union for the Promotion of International Arbitration, which conference closed yesterday, avoided direct action upon Secretary Knox's proposition to confer the powers of a court of arbitration justice upon the national prize court because the convention creating the latter on Oct. 18, 1907, has not yet been ratified.

Instead, the conference unanimously adopted a resolution which, rendering homage to the sentiments which inspired the American proposition, simply urged the powers to ratify promptly the treaty "independently of any question concerning the organization of a permanent court of arbitration."

The resolution introduced by Congressman Richard Bartholdt of Missouri, chairman of the American delegation, instructing each national delegation to urge its respective parliament to pass resolutions in favor of The Hague conference in 1915, was adopted.

Alaska - Pacific Company's Boat in Dangerous Position on Rocks.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 2.—The Alaska-Pacific Steamship company's 1,800-ton steel steamer Watson went aground on the reef off Weadhead Island, near Neah Bay, shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and now lies in a dangerous position on the rocks. Although there was a heavy sea, the sea was comparatively calm and all of the ninety-two passengers aboard the vessel, which was bound from Seattle to San Francisco and Los Angeles, were taken ashore in the small boats unharmed.

The passengers are safely camped on the rugged little island awaiting the arrival of rescuers who are hurrying toward them.

As soon as the vessel struck, Capt. Griffin ordered out the lifeboats and in a short time the sailors were taking the passengers ashore.

Pierce of the Rock Island Invites F. B. James to Come "Outside."

Disorder Develops in Hearing on Freight Rate Increase.

Shippers Want to Find Out About Road's Capitalization.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The tense strain of the railway rate hearing developed today, in the midst of which Attorney E. B. Pierce of the Rock Island and called Attorney F. B. James, representing Cincinnati shippers, a liar. Mr. Pierce added that if Mr. James was not satisfied the matter could be continued "outside."

Comptroller Noy of the Rock Island was undergoing cross-examination by Attorney James. The latter declared that in one of the tables introduced by Mr. Noy yesterday the total freight operating expenses had been left out, while both sets of figures appeared in a similar table.

"Why were those figures left out?" demanded Mr. James.

Witness answered that the omission was undoubtedly accidental.

Mr. James expressed a contrary opinion, availing that he suspected an ulterior motive. Mr. Pierce at this point, jumped to his feet and shouted:

"That is your opinion, you are a liar!"

"Meet Him Outside."
"That won't do at all, gentlemen," interposed Examiner Brown, with many raps of his gavel.

Above the din Mr. Pierce cried:

"We will not stand such insinuations. We are here fairly and squarely, and if the attorney is not satisfied I will meet him outside."

At this there were hisses from the shippers and handclappings from the railroad contingent.

Attorney Clifford Thorne, representing the American National Livestock association, insisted today that officers of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company be subpoenaed to testify concerning the capitalization of the stock of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

London, Sept. 2.—Lockout notices were posted at all the Federated shipyards at noon today advising the members of the Boilermakers' society that their services would be dispensed with after today. Fifty thousand men are directly affected.

The trouble is due to a strike yesterday of the riveters employed at the Walker shipyard at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The employers hold that this constituted a breach of the agreement between the owners and workmen and declare that those locked out will not be allowed to resume work until the Boilermakers' society guarantees a fulfillment of the terms of the national agreement for the prevention of strikes and lockouts.

Hamburg, Sept. 2.—The trial of F. Hildebrandt, financial editor of the Hamburg Fremdenblatt, on a charge of libel brought by Dr. Oskar Rupert, director of the German Vacuum Oil company, opened today. Hildebrandt intimated that Rupert was guilty of bribery and also that his company had juggled its books and so reduced its taxes.

Following the publication of these accusations, Rupert challenged the editor to a duel, but the latter refused to fight, both on legal grounds and, as he declared, for the sake of truth, as he desired that the truth or falsity of his charges be determined in an open court of law.

RAILROADS

SOUTH SHORE IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Member of Michigan State
Railroad Commission Lauds
Road's Condition.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—George W. Dickinson of the state railway commission was in Marquette this week in the course of the annual inspection of the railroads of the upper peninsula. Mr. Dickinson has just completed an inspection of the South Shore railway and went over the Lake Superior & Ishpeming, Marquette & Southeastern and Munising railways yesterday.

"The South Shore is in the best shape this year that it has been since I have been a member of the commission, and it has always been one of the best managed roads in the state," declared Mr. Dickinson. "This railroad with good reason boasts of never having killed a passenger. This excellent record is not the result of good luck, in my opinion, but of careful management. The men at the head of the South Shore are experienced, practically and theoretically, in every phase of railroad building and operation, and it is their attention to detail that has brought the road up to its present excellent condition."

Upper Peninsula Roads Best.

"Upper peninsula roads usually come in for less criticism from the commission than those below the straits, and we have been especially pleased with conditions as found on this trip. The South Shore has a very good roadbed,

In spite of the forest fires of the past summer, to fight which many of the section men have had to leave their regular work. New ties are put in as fast as they are needed and everything is in first-class shape, while the right-of-way of the South Shore is without question the cleanest in Michigan. The whole length of the line, the weeds are kept cut down and the space on both sides of the track is free from undergrowth, while the yards and switches are in commendably neat and serviceable condition."

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break-downs. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to your health. If you are weak or run down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters, the matchless tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters. Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. See at all druggists."

BOULEVARD
CHRISTENED

The Old Name of Duluth's Famous Driveway Is Revived.

The Herald Prize of $10 Is Awarded to Miss Ada
White.

The park board has formally christened the boulevard, deciding to resurrect the old title chosen many years ago and which had been forgotten by all who had ever heard of it. The official name hereafter will be "Rogers Boulevard," in honor of Col. W. K. Rogers, who superintended the work of construction after he had planned the road and had paid funds from the city treasury for the execution of his ideas. The board members felt that this name was not properly descriptive, but believed the word "boulevard" was too widely recognized in Duluth to change it.

The prize of $10 for suggesting a name for the boulevard which was offered by The Herald has been awarded to Ada White of 323 First avenue east, and a check for that amount has been mailed to her. White a dozen contestants used the name of Col. Rogers in connection with other words, her suggestion, "Rogers Boulevard," was the first to arrive. Her letter was No. 334. Nearly 2,000 names were submitted. While the boulevard had been known as "Boulevard," "Rogers Boulevard," "Rogers Road" and various other names with Col. Rogers name attached, it had not been generally recognized as having a name. Believing that "Boulevard" was not appropriate and that none of the other names was prominently identified with the famous road, The Herald took up F. A. Patrick's suggestion to give the boulevard a name that would be generally recognized. The result is "Rogers Boulevard."

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Clarence B. Miller apparently refuses to become interested in the Congressional campaign in the Eighth district. Alex McKnight is at it hammer and tongs—mostly in the latter.

At a conservation for even the stenographer in McKnight headquarters has a hammer handy. Congressmen Miller is in St. Paul just now and will stay there to attend the conservation congress. Mr. McKnight remains in Duluth to watch the McKnight campaign. Neither side of the Republican primary fight understands the other and for that reason it is a certainty that both sides are going to be a whole lot surprised when the votes are counted.

Incidentally, McKnight, who has been around a bit more than his Miller, is supposed to estimate Judge Jacques' strength at about the right gauge. He hasn't said so, but it is reported he believes the real fight will come after the primaries. He isn't at all doubtful as to the outcome of the first fight and also he believes he can beat the Judge in November. In the Miller camp, the situation is not comprehended. If the words that are spoken there are accurate representations of the thoughts that are there, it is not.

Alex McKnight spoke at Grand Rapids last evening in a "large and enthusiastic meeting." The talk lasted about forty-five minutes and was a good one. McKnight makes a speech at Grand Rapids. McKnight was his subject and his marks constituted an oratorical riot, from the point of view of a conservative. McKnight has the valuable distinction of being introduced by A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the state experimental farm at Grand Rapids, who told the audience that McKnight was all right and a good insurgent.

Then, to make it stronger, he said McKnight is a friend of the farmer. McKnight told the audience, if it turns out, he went from Grand Rapids to that border place and a meeting is scheduled there.

L. A. Sulove, candidate for the house in the Forty-ninth district, is making a quiet campaign for the Republican nomination, assisted by a host of friends who desire to see him elected and had a good deal to do with his decision to become a candidate.

In the Forty-ninth district, McKnight has every reason to believe that he will be nominated. There are two or three recent candidates for the Republican nomination and it is figured that they will split the vote so badly that McKnight will emerge from the conflict with the biggest vote in the district.

Judge C. W. Stanton, prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, says, relative to the action of Thomas Reed, who died late Wednesday in St. Paul as a candidate on the Republican ticket for the judgeship: "I have assurances of my election, the only point of interest to my friends is that I will be how large a plurality. I think, myself, that it will be not less than 2,000."

RELIEF WORK SHOULD BE PERMANENT, SAYS JACKSON

Cleveland's Superintendent of Charities Gives Some Advice to Duluth.

Should Avoid "Long-Haired Men and Short-Haired Women."

James F. Jackson, general superintendent of charities and corrections in Cleveland, Ohio, is in Duluth for a few days on business. He is well known in Duluth and all through the state, having been a resident of Minnesota for many years and prominent in charity work in this section.

Mr. Jackson entered the work in 1892 as secretary of the Associated Charities of St. Paul. In 1895 he went with the state board of charities, which later became the state board of control. In 1901 he went to New York as assistant secretary of the Charitable Organizations society, where he remained for about two years. After a short time reorganizing the Associated Charities in Minneapolis, he went to Cleveland as secretary of the Associated Charities, which position he held for six years up to the first of this year, when he accepted his present position, a city official.

Mr. Jackson was informed that the Associated Charities was only recently organized in Duluth and has not yet definitely settled in its work. He was greatly interested in the fact and, speaking on Associated Charities in general, said:

"When I hear of the organization of an Associated Charities, I hope that the management will be in the hands of a board, the majority of the members of which will be men and at least a quarter of them business men. No considerable part of the board should belong to any one profession. One great trouble with charity movements has been that they have fallen into the hands of long-haired men and short-haired women. An Associated Charities should be the expression of the best charitable sentiment of the community and should be distinctly constructive in all its aims. Therefore, it needs the support of all the ablest men in the community. Ordinarily, it does not receive adequate financial support to enable it to conduct its work on the same business basis which makes a business house successful. So, securing a secretary, an Associated Charities should insist on a high grade man and should pay the price for such a man. The pay for charity workers is lower than the same type of ability can command in any other profession. That is because of the newness of the profession of philanthropy."

"The Associated Charities should merit the backing and support of business men, society women and clergy and, if it merits that support, it should receive it."

Woodland was thrown into throes of excitement about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the sight of three bears tearing up the lawns in front of the residence of W. A. McGonagle and J. L. Washburn.

The great, shaggy creatures had ambled into the fashionable suburb from the nearby woods. Scores of men, women and boys were attracted to the scene and things began to get interesting at once. The bears didn't know what to make of the miscellaneous throng which came hurrying at them from all directions. Two of them decided that they preferred the peaceful solitude of the forest and waddled out of sight into the brush.

The third, which was quite a bit smaller than his companions, sought safety in the boughs of a neighboring tree. He got away from the forest temporarily, but his indiscretion cost him his life. Young Tommy Wilson, 9 years old, was the cause of his downfall. Ever since he was "knee-deep" in grasshoppers, Tommy has been reveling in the delights of a gun. The cans and divers other objects have been riddled with his unerring aim. So

BEARS PAY CITY VISIT

9-Year-Old Woodland Boy Bags One With His Rifle.

Woodland was thrown into throes of excitement about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the sight of three bears tearing up the lawns in front of the residence of W. A. McGonagle and J. L. Washburn.

The great, shaggy creatures had ambled into the fashionable suburb from the nearby woods. Scores of men, women and boys were attracted to the scene and things began to get interesting at once. The bears didn't know what to make of the miscellaneous throng which came hurrying at them from all directions. Two of them decided that they preferred the peaceful solitude of the forest and waddled out of sight into the brush.

The third, which was quite a bit smaller than his companions, sought safety in the boughs of a neighboring tree. He got away from the forest temporarily, but his indiscretion cost him his life. Young Tommy Wilson, 9 years old, was the cause of his downfall. Ever since he was "knee-deep" in grasshoppers, Tommy has been reveling in the delights of a gun. The cans and divers other objects have been riddled with his unerring aim. So Tommy was called to the rescue with his trusty rifle and true eye. As he stepped into the leafy retreat he circled sagaciously about until he saw his prey. He was attracted by the gleam of the gun. Raising his weapon he carefully sighted it upon the animal's nose. One shot was sufficient. The leader fell heavily to the ground. Tommy's companion followed him. He did it with one shot. His cup of happiness is full to overflowing and he is getting a most of hero worship of which he never dreamed. Incidentally he replenished his treasury, selling the carcass to the Hunter's Park butcher shop.

Proud fathers of youthful aspirants to fame, are now getting little peace. All young America in the suburb is after a gun. Father is having visions of an existence of wonderful ease laid out to him. He will not have to chop any more wood; he will not have to

Will be used AS HOME FOR BOYS

The building formerly occupied by Sacred Heart Institute at the corner of Third avenue east and Third street, will be used by the Sisters of St. Benedict as a home for boys attending Catholic schools. There will be accommodations for about fifty. Only boys between the ages of 7 and 14 years will be taken in.

The day school conducted by the sisters will this year be at the Cathedral school and the boarding school will be at Villa Schoenstien. At the institute, musical instruction will be given as formerly.

The sisters are also considering using the old St. James' orphanage building at the West end as a maternity hospital. The building was St. Mary's hospital before the present hospital was erected, and it is admirably arranged for the purpose for which the sisters contemplate using it.

MARINE BUSINESS FOR INDEPENDENTS

Reports From the Lower Lakes Are More Optimistic.

At last reports from the lower lake ports, and particularly Cleveland, there are more cargoes for the independent boats in sight than there has been at any time the present season.

Reports from down the lakes have been of a most pessimistic nature for the past two months or more. They could see little good in the business situation on the lakes, even predicting that more vessels would be forced into retirement. Therefore, the statement from this source that there is some business in sight for the wild carriers may be greeted as conservative to say the least.

Reports from Cleveland state that the contract vessels have all the ore tonnage contracted for that they can handle and that with an increase in the business during the present month, it is very likely that the independent carriers will get some business, and also that some of the boats expected at the present time for lack of business, will be placed in service.

Coal shipments by rail are expected to begin the present month. This will result in a heavy shipment from the rather crowded docks at the head of the lakes. With this movement it is expected that the present month will show a very heavy up-lake movement of coal.

THE EASTBOUND BUSINESS BETTER

At the present time the package freight business is the heaviest of the season. The increase in business is due to the growth of the east-bound business during the month of August. During the early part of the season there was very little package freight moving between the head of the lakes and the lower lake ports. At the present time there is a fair amount of general merchandise being moved down the lakes, as well as a large amount of general merchandise.

During August the Duluth package freight agents report an increase of approximately 25 per cent on the east-bound package freight movement, and the west-bound package freight movement has held up fairly well the entire season, with the exception of a slight falling off in the latter part of July.

NEW COAL DOCK AT SHEBOYGAN COMPLETED.

The new dock of the Reiss Coal company at Sheboygan, Wis., has been completed, adding to the coal docks in the chain of lakes. The new dock will take the place of the company's dock that was destroyed by fire last March. Half a million tons of coal can be stored at this dock, and it is estimated that 1,200 tons of coal an hour can be loaded by the modern machinery of the new dock. The new dock is equipped with four Meade-Morrison elevators, with three chutes, and the new dock will be operating at full capacity the second week of this month.

VESSEL TONNAGE FALLS OFF DURING JULY.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Because of a restriction in the supply of vessel tonnage, commercial movements between domestic ports on the Great Lakes in July were considerably less than during the preceding month, according to the bureau of statistics. The total July shipments, 12,789,155 tons, were 6 per cent below the record total for June. The monthly total, however, was about 400,000 net tons in excess of the corresponding month last year.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The Women's Council held an interesting meeting this morning at the library, in spite of the small attendance due the sudden downpour.

The following motion was put before the council and laid on the table until the next meeting: Every organization represented in the council shall pay into the treasury annually 10 cents per capita of its active membership; except that no organization shall be required to pay more than $8. Members at large shall pay annual dues of $1 each.

The committee on playgrounds had very little to report, as the funds have been too low to provide supervisors without which the grounds become a public nuisance.

Mrs. Matter gave a detailed report on the successful work done by Miss Gaumnitz in domestic science classes during the summer. The enrollment was ninety-five and the regular attendance fifty-nine. A great deal of good seems to have been derived from these instructions by the girls who have attended, Mrs. Matter reported.

Mrs. Barrows gave an interesting talk on Mrs. Carolyn Bartlett Crane's work, saying that Mrs. Crane had only been known as a municipal expert since eight years ago, when she first had a medal pronounced legal. Mrs. Crane leaves her home town, Kalamazoo only two months of the year and does not come as a modulator, but to arouse the public conscience, Mrs. Barrows said.

WOODWARD-McDONALD

Duluth People Guests at St. Cloud Wedding.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 1.—(Special to The Herald).—At 10 o'clock this morning, at the Cathedral, the marriage of Ruth Woodward and Albert A. McDonald took place. Rev. Leo Gans, D. D., officiating. The bride was given in rich brocade French crepe, the material for which was sent by her mother from Paris. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses.

After the ceremony the bride party drove to the home of the groom's parents, where a reception followed from 11 to 12 o'clock. The home was tastefully decorated with potted plants, ferns and evergreens. Light refreshments were served. The dining room being in charge of Mrs. Charles W. McDonald. The guests included Mrs. R. A. Smith and Mrs. C. W. Conley of St. Paul; Mrs. Fred Schipf of this city; and a number of the members of the Alpha Phi society of Minneapolis, of which the bride is a member. The presents to the bride were numerous and valuable.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. McDonald of Duluth; Mrs. Robert A. Smith (sister of the bride), and Mrs. C. W. Conley of St. Paul; Mrs. E. M. Field, Minneapolis; Miss Stephanie Field, Miss Don Blaisdell, Miss Lillian McMillan, Miss Della Hawes, and Mrs. Louis Collins, Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald left on the afternoon train for St. Paul from where they will go to Duluth, and thence around the lake. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McDonald, editor of the St. Cloud Times, a graduate of the St. Cloud normal school and of the Michigan university. The bride is now engaged in the practice of law with a firm in Detroit, Mich., where they will make their future home. The bride is the daughter of the late Charles H. Woodward. She is also a great-granddaughter of Governor and Mrs. Willis A. Gorman, Minnesota's territorial governor, and is a grand daughter of Charles P. Frank who placed the St. Cloud normal school in the city, and his wife, who will leave for Port Meyers, Fla., where they will be at the wedding.

Keeping House Alone

By CARA REESE.

It is not as satisfactory after all as you thought it would be, this thing of keeping house by yourself. At first, the delectable moments of anticipation for the quinquennial now has come since the house has gone traveling, the eagerness with which the trunk was packed, the shawl straps buckled, the bags and wraps piled into portable compress, the final clearance and the windup on the relation platform, the sigh of relief, all this but yesterday.

There seems to be nothing but an eternity of time, reproach and desolation in the empty dwelling. Such a long time between meals and nothing but a savory taste. There is the tiny wagon in the corner, the rattled kites on the ladder, the "stuffed" beasts, the armless, headless and legless in play things, the cat's paw and the mouse, the evidence of hurried flight and all the troubles and castles left for the solitary. Indeed, there is small satisfaction in loneliness, purchased at the price of absence of dear ones even though such anticipated peace were gladly courted beforehand. The peace and isolation of this lonely, temporary existence come only in the appreciation of the change of scene for those who have departed and an inward content possibly due to the quietude and the wholesome spirit of sacrifice. The wife who has left her home, her tenants, the boys and girls, the baby and the bustling mother is a house that smites a sole occupant at every turn and corner. It is not merely a house divided and ready to fall, but a house defenseless, dreary and uncan-

The very doorbell rung by the stranger, or the ring of the telephone, send shivers from cellar to garret. The undisturbed peace of chairs, tables, cushions and draperies are more suggestive of a peaceful retreat than the very stillness where erstwhile all has been chatter and commotion is disquieting and the solitariness disturbing. It was better always to move into a new house built for one than to reign supreme in a deserted mansion where recently all was life and the hum and buzz of the domestic hive. It is one thing to sit solitary and alone in the midst of a neglected household, as some experiences possibly might chronicle, but it is far worse predicament usually to be left alone with a phantom family.

That is, the equipment, the furniture, the personal accessories which are strewn through the apartments bring back the "presences" almost literally, except for actual substance. There is really a ghost in this house, that it is not always a wise policy to leave the house when the owners have departed never to return. It is better to start anew and begin life over with new surroundings and associations. Or, if temporary, it might be wise to shut up the house or disengage the rooms and live on the porch roof or in the chimney.

Lore of the Kitchen

A Good Luncheon Dish.

An appetizing dish for luncheon or supper: Half a pound of calves' liver, fried two or three times in butter, fried; two onions of medium size, sliced; two tomatoes, uncooked; half a small boiled sweet potato, four ounces of bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of parsley, half a teaspoonful of sage, salt and pepper to taste. Put liver, bread crumbs, tomatoes through a mincing machine, then mix with the sweet potato, together in a basin with two table-spoons of butter and an egg. Make into shape of sausage, put into grease-proof paper and cloth and steam gently for half an hour, turning the contents carefully over from time to time.

Banana and Orange Salad.

Peel six bananas and cut them in slices, also two Chautauque oranges, first moving pith and peel; save all the juice that escapes during process. Place the fruit in a bowl, sprinkle sugar over and add a squeeze of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of brandy, one of curacao, and one of orange juice. Leave the fruit in the bowl for three-quarters of an hour. Equally tasty hot or cold.

Boiled Beef Root.

Cut into fancy shapes, make a pretty garnish for boiled corn and fowl.

Small Pies.

Small pies which require constant re-making are no economy. Far better is it to make up a good size that will last several hours without pinking. More heat is given out and less coal consumed.

Mint Sauce.

Mint sauce can be had at any season of the year. It is made by taking the best, the leaves are chopped small, placed in pickle jars, covered with vinegar and closely corked. When required for use, the mint is taken from the jar and the vinegar is strained through a cloth, to which a little powdered sugar has been added. By keeping the chopped mint in vinegar both colors and flavor are retained, so that it is impossible to tell the difference between the mint and the vinegar.

Hints for the Boudoir

By MILDRED WYCKOFF.

The Muff of Roses.

The ancient axiom with regard to a woman's toilette, "Bien gantée bien chaussee," has practically ceased to hold good. Fashionable women no longer believe in the necessity of covering their hands. Outdoor life, tennis, golf, rowing and motoring have given the sun tan of health to hands won't be so fragile, and fashionable women rather like it.

For afternoon functions, for the theater, and for such occasions as weddings, the muff of roses is carried. These new muffs are as large as the pillows of fur used during the winter. They are a charming addition to the toilette, and their perfume has made theaters, concert and lecture halls fragrant. Individual taste dictates the selection of the roses used. One lady recently carried a pillow of deep blue, some of these almost black in their intensity. In the center a large white rose nestled. Glowing pink blossoms are often used, such a variety as the La France being in high favor. Muffs of any variety, in fact, are freely used. They are merely stung on the left arm, the hand had written to his mother, but he tore this letter up also. "I'll surely surprise them when I get there," said he to himself. Hawley lingered in Seattle. That was the jumping off place at the edge of the Alaskan wilderness, and it was the first civilized post reached on the way home. Consequently Hawley lingered to enjoy a few days of real life before he moved on to the north.

In a big, ornate gambling house, as elaborate as a palace, he watched men come and go. Suddenly he met one of his old Yukon friends. They drank together. "Have you tried to beat the game down here, pal?" asked Hawley's friend. "No, I've got a little girl at home who is waiting for me and my pile," said Hawley.

Later at night, after they had drunk more, they played. The next day they still played. Buoyed up with the whiskey, reckless from excitement, they sat at the tables until the dawn of the session overpowered them, and they were both penniless.

A week later Hawley dropped from the train at Greenville. He was poor as he was when he left, nearly two years before. All the way from Seattle to Greenville he had suffered mental tortures of the most acute agony.

He had decided that he would make a clean breast of his sinful recklessness. He would implore Mary's forgiveness. He would promise her never to touch another card if she would take him back to her—if she would marry him.

Hawley walked slowly down the street. There was a woman turning into the gate with a dog on a leash. She looked familiar to Hawley, and with a gasp of astonishment he recognized Mary.

"Why, Mary," he cried, holding out his hand. "I am Mary no longer," said she quietly. "I am now Mrs. Bottles."

THE DOCTOR'S ADVICE

A Cure for Warts.

To get rid of warts try the following: Boil one ounce of salicylic acid fifteen grains, cod liver oil three-quarter strength two drachms. Rub this on daily for three or four days, and when the wart comes off a small sore will be left. It should be dressed with boric ointment.

Stimulant and Heart Tonic.

A good stimulant and heart tonic for weak heart action is: Sugar, 30 grains, 3 drachms, tinct. digitalis and

MOHAWK LEADS AT ATHLETICS

Town Named For Indian Tribe Excels at Cricket and Baseball.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mohawk, the metropolis of Keweenaw county, north of Calumet, has clinched the championships of the Copper country district at cricket and baseball.

There is no professional baseball in Northern Michigan this year. At Calumet, Palmsville and Mahwah of the Copper Country league have been tied for first place a greater part of the season. Mohawk leads by two games. Mohawk leads Houghton by a few points in the Copper Country Baseball league.

Mohawk also won the hockey championship this year. Mohawk is entering an association football team in the Copper Country Association Football league that looks like a winner.

Evans Is Three Up.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Evans was 3 up on the first nine holes of the morning round in the finals of the Western open golf championship.

Cards: Evans—Out: 535, 543, 555—40. Cards: Simpson—Out: 447, 554, 545—44.

Magnates in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—President Thomas J. Lynch of the National League; John T. Brush, owner of the New York Nationals; and Frank Farrell, owner of the New York Americans, are in this city today presumably to discuss the season's operations between the two New York clubs. It was reported early that a meeting would be held in the office of Dan B. Johnson, president of the American League.

WILL ENFORCE BANK LAW.

Comptroller's Approval Will Be Required for Reserve Banks.

Washington, Sept. 2.—National banks in large cities which wish to act as reserve agents for banks in smaller places must hereafter be approved by the comptroller of the currency. That is a provisional law, but it is the intention of the treasury department to see to its strict enforcement.

Will Go to Madison.

Miss Ethel McCullough, who recently resigned as city librarian to take a position at the University of Pennsylvania, will sever her connection with the local institution tomorrow and Monday will leave for Madison.

SUPERIOR

DISCHARGED OFFICER SUES

Begins Action to Force Police Board to Show Cause for Release.

Carl Halberg, a discharged patrolman of the Superior police force, started an action in superior court to compel the police and fire commission to produce the evidence, which resulted in his discharge some time ago. Halberg claims that at the time the matter came up, that there were no charges preferred against him and that he was not given a chance to defend himself. He asserts that he was not given a "square deal."

M'GOVERN IN SUPERIOR.

Gubernatorial Candidate Says Campaign Is Not a Personal One.

Francis E. McGovern, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, who spoke at the Sons of Norway evening lecture, declared that the present campaign was not a personal one, but that it involved another issue, the contest between youth and the people.

"Money is pouring in from all over the state to defeat Bob La Follette," said the speaker, "and his candidacy is the most important issue in the campaign."

He scored William Mitchell Lewis, one of the opposition candidates for the Republican nomination, for the level of expenditure of money in advertising his campaign and stated that county option was not an issue in this campaign and could wait.

OHIO FURNACE MAN SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR CITY.

Thomas Powell, who is in charge of a large blast furnace of the A. M. Byers Steel company of Youngstown, Ohio, and who is a visitor in Superior, is much interested in the steel plant to be built in the St. Louis river. Powell believes in the future of Superior and will erect a two-story brick structure for business purposes on Tower avenue between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets.

LABOR BUREAU FINDS EMPLOYMENT FOR 2,000.

Nearly 2,000 men and women were furnished employment during the past two months at the state free employment bureau branch in Superior, according to the report of William J. O'Rourke, superintendent. The report shows the number to be 1,894, 1,771 of which were men. The number is an increase of 642 over that of the Milwaukee office for the same length of time. A scarcity of women for general housework is noticeable.

Officers Elected.

The Building Trades assembly has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: James Barry, of the plumbers' union, president; H. P. Starkey, of the carpenters, vice president; Frank Schultz, of the painters, secretary; and H. M. Anderson, of the dock carpenters, financial secretary. Trustees: Joseph Campbell, of the sheet metal workers; Jack Campbell, of the plumbers and H. Wolf, of the bricklayers. The treasurer will be elected later.

Hearing Sept. 6.

The city and the railways interested in the Belknap street viaduct project will send attorneys to the state railroad commission at Madison Sept. 6 to argue what share, if any, of the cost of the viaduct extension the city will be obliged to pay.

The case of the Superior Orling club against the railways for damages sustained to its property will also be argued at this time.

Will Go to Madison.

Miss Ethel McCullough, who recently resigned as city librarian to take a position at the University of Pennsylvania, will sever her connection with the local institution tomorrow and Monday will leave for Madison.

Children's School Shoes That Fit Well, Look Well & Wear Well

And best of all—many people say they save money in buying shoes here. We believe they do.

We believe that no other house is trying so hard to give such shoe satisfaction as we are.

Some factories can't make shoes for us because they are not particular enough. When we sell a pair of shoes we expect them to give satisfaction. If not, we want to hear of it.

LITTLE THINGS.

Chicago News: "You never can tell what's going to happen at an election," remarked the old Meador after moistening his parched throat with a bit of ice and a drink of water, and adjusting his chair to his satisfaction. "A man thinks he has the opposition beaten by several city blocks, and hasn't a care on his mind until the returns come in, and he finds that he is mutilated beyond recognition. He can't realize that the land-scape flew up and hit him. And when he does realize it he goes hunting around to find that some little peyayunish thing has put him out of business."

"There was a primary election in our state the other day and in my county a man named Clarence Tolliver was a candidate for county attorney. He came to me early in the game to ask 'why hadn't I told him that he had to reorganize his name and place it on a sound commercial basis if he hoped for success. He thought I was joking. I couldn't convince him that the matter was important.'"

"The voters have too much common sense to line up against a man for such a reason as the way he adjusts his name," said the young man. "He showed me documents that testified to his high character as a man and a lawyer, but I told him they would not do."

"The voters in this part of the country simply won't vote for a man who parts his name in the wrong place," said I. "they'll associate you in their minds with J. Pierpont Morgan and F. Augustus Holmes, and a lot of other money barons and copper kings and when they go to the polls they'll make a horrible example of you."

"He thought I was in my dotage and made a really wonderful campaign, talking to big crowds at every meeting in the county. A few days before the election he came to me and told me that he had everything wrapped up and sealed and ready for delivery. My opponent, said he, 'had a hypnotist to convince him that he was in the race.'"

"I replied, 'but your name will kill you.' And it did. The voters simply spread him out flat and used him for a doormat. Since then he has had his name reorganized and his name now appears as James C. Tolliver and when he goes forth to deliver his name for his country in the future he'll have better luck."

After the election two years ago old Judge Pembroke came to me almost broken-hearted and asked if it could explain his defeat for congress. Apparently there was every reason why he should have been elected. He was on the winning side and every other man advanced his views was a loser but the judge was turned down. His record was above reproach. He really

IS SECOND TO LONDON

Greater New York's Population Is Announced By the Census Bureau.

Increase of 38.7 Per Cent Is Shown for the Last Ten Years.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Greater New York has a population of 4,766,882, under the thirteenth decennial census, according to figures issued by the Bureau of the Census today. This makes New York the second largest city in the world and as large as any two foreign cities except London. Since 1900 the population of the metropolis has increased by 1,822,581, or 38.7 per cent, as compared with 3,944,301 under the last census.

The Borough of Bronx showed the greatest increase in the greater city, Queens, Brooklyn, Richmond and Manhattan following next in order. The figures for these boroughs, together with the increases, are as follows: Bronx, 1,312,826, an increase of 230,473, or 11.3 per cent; an increase of 131,042, or 8.6 per cent; Brooklyn, 1,634,351, an increase of 467,769, or 10.1 per cent; Richmond, 85,959, an increase of 18,948, or 22.3 per cent; Manhattan, 2,331,642, an increase of 451,449, or 20 per cent.

New York city contains only 164,649 fewer people than the combined fourteen cities of more than 200,000, the population of which has already been announced, namely: Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Detroit, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Washington, Indianapolis, Jersey City, Kansas City, Providence, St. Paul and Denver. The aggregate population of the cities named is given as 4,931,532.

Comparison of Cities.
New York, Sept. 2.—While New York city, according to the English census returns of 1901, is still 2,662,887 souls behind London, the census of 1908 shows that the city of the world is so far ahead of the other great cities of the globe that there is little likelihood of any of them catching her in many decades. The census population to be 4,766,882, as against 6,581,372 in 1901. That New York's growth is slow is shown by the fact that in eight years London's increase was 1,822,581, while that of New York for ten years was 1,822,581.

Paris, according to the census of 1906, was the third largest city in the world, with a population of 2,763,293, while Tokyo, under the census of 1908, was fourth with 2,186,079. Berlin in 1905 had a population of 2,040,145.

Missouri Valley Medical Society Meeting Brings Out Radical Statements.

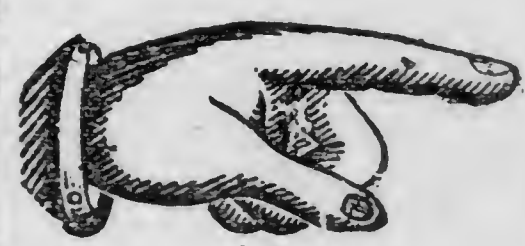

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Sept. 2.—The opening session of the Missouri Valley Medical society here today brought out some radical assertions on medical ethics, among them being a declaration by Dr. L. A. Merriam of Omaha that there was no scientific proof to support the practice of vaccination, and he proclaimed his disbelief in the operation. Dr. George Howard Hodge of Kansas City, who introduced the idea with much fervor and expressed the hope that the press of the

PLAN TO FIGHT CLOSING ORDER

Northern Minnesota Men Plan Contest Against Uncle Sam's Methods.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of a conference held here yesterday of business men from the villages and cities in the so-called Indian country affected by the federal methods of dealing with the liquor question, a committee will be sent to Washington. This committee will be empowered to proceed along such lines as may be decided upon to present the officials at Washington with information that it is hoped will result in revoking some of the orders that have recently been issued, prohibiting the traffic in liquor to the greater portion of Minnesota.

Richmond, Va., was named as the convention city for October, 1911.

COURT OF DOMESTIC RELATION IS OPENED.

New York, Sept. 2.—"I now declare court of domestic relations open. Call the first case." With so much and no more formality did the first court in this state specifically established to deal with cases of abandonment, open yesterday. The court will not listen to sound testimony and petty bickerings, but it will make a genuine attempt to effect reconciliation.

Fat Folks Stifle in Hot Weather

Is it any wonder that the fat people stifle in the hot weather? They are jammed full of fat on the inside. The lungs demand great quantities of air each breath or beat of the heart, so that the oxygen in the air can purify the blood and send it back to the body to maintain strength and vitality. Most people do not use one-half the capacity of the lungs, which are nothing more or less than great balloons, which, when they are not inflated with air, lie flat. The fat that crowds the lungs reduces the capacity of the lungs to take in air you will see what an awful time the blood and body has of getting its oxygen or vitality. The reason of this fat is that the digestive machinery of most people does not work right. Marmola Tablets, that have created such favorable comment among physicians and fat people for their wonderful reductions in so short a time, stop the body from making fat. They are harmless and reduce fat at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces per day. You do not need diet or exercise and you may eat when and what you will. The beauty of Marmola Tablets is not alone their ability to reduce fat, but they leave no wrinkles or flabbiness on the skin after the fat goes away. They are sold by all druggists, price 75 cts., or you may write the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

HOKE SMITH BOOMED FOR PRESIDENT IN 1912.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 2.—Former Governor Hoke Smith "came back" politically yesterday when he was nominated for governor of Georgia and in desired for the presidency of the United States in 1912 by the State Democratic convention here. He was nominated for governor with 233 votes against 78 for Joseph M. Brown, the present governor, the balloting being under the county unit system.

Smith's speech accepting the nomination, Mr. Smith made a plea for assistance in the conservation of natural resources and the improvement of the children of the state.

ASKS DAMAGES FROM REALTY MEN

Thomas Jefferson, a Negro, Claims Land Agents Refused His Money.

Claiming that the Lake View Home company refused to accept money from him as payment for land he had already paid a small amount down on, Thomas Jefferson, a negro, yesterday filed an action in district court in which he asks several hundreds of dollars as damages.

Jackson claims that he visited the land sale and picking out the lots, paid the agent on the ground the sum of $1, which was all that was required at that time.

He states that when he went to the company's office to pay the next payment his money was refused. He was told that he would be required to build a house costing a certain amount within a few months. This he refused to do, as he claims there are no building restrictions.

Since that time the land has been sold to other parties, he claims. The trees and shrubs have been removed and he asks damages.

SUMMER WAS UNUSUALLY HOT

Spring Months Were Warmer and Later Months Sultry in Duluth.

The year 1910 has been unusually warm and dry, according to a report just issued by Forecaster H. W. Richardson.

The report shows that the weather was more than usually warm in the early months of spring and unusually hot weather was experienced in June and July. These months were also very dry.

The deficiency in precipitation at the end of August for the year is 8.95 inches. The average for the month just past is but 2.41, while the average for the month for the last forty years was slightly more, than the average rainfall, reducing the deficiency to 7.54 inches.

In the month of June the deficiency was over 10 inches below the average for the month. In July there was a deficiency of 4.4 inches. There were ten clear days during August, eleven partly cloudy, and one cloudy and ten on which some rain fell.

Light frost was reported on Aug. 24. This was the first frost since June 5.

The figures show that as a whole

S.S.S. CURES S.S.S. BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison is the most powerful and destructive of all blood disorders. It corrupts and vitiates the entire circulation and festers itself in the most hateful and loathsome symptoms, such as ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, and even sores and ulcers on different parts of the body. The poison causes the hair and eyebrows to fall out, and sometimes the finger nails come off and the entire glandular system is attacked. No medicine can cure Contagious Blood Poison which does not rid the circulation of every particle of the insidious virus. The least taint left in the blood will break out afresh, when treatment is left off. S.S.S. is the real and certain cure; it goes into the blood and by removing every particle of the poison, and adding rich, healthy qualities to the circulation, forever cures this powerful disease. All who suffer with Contagious Blood Poison may cure themselves in the privacy of their own homes by using S.S.S., and following instructions contained in our Home Treatment Book, which which we will send, together with any medical advice desired, free to all who write.

RAISING OF THE MAINE

Capt. Ray T. Lewis Has a Plan That He Believes Practicable.

Considers Scheme Presented to President Would Be Too Expensive.

Capt. Ray T. Lewis does not believe that the scheme presented to President Taft for raising the battleship Maine is practicable, while it would be very expensive. He has a plan of his own, based upon a careful examination of the position of the wreck, which he is confident could be carried out very easily and at less than the estimate made by the government engineers. Discussing the subject today, Capt. Lewis said:

"At the last session of congress an appropriation of $250,000 was made for the raising of the battleship Maine, the sinking of which in Havana harbor twelve years ago, was the immediate cause of the commencement of the war with Spain. The last few days I have noticed that some man has presented a scheme to President Taft to do this work, which I have read with much interest but do not approve of. It may be possible that it could be done by the way he has it planned out, but still I think it would be extremely expensive and very difficult to get at the work, which I believe could be done in a more simple and better way."

"I have been in Havana quite a number of times in recent years. I have often seen a boat pulled around the battleship. I have given it much thought and have read everything that has come across in regard to it. The engineer corps of the United States army stated that $250,000 appropriated by congress would not be sufficient to do this work and estimates that the cost would be nearer $500,000."

"It is certainly a disgrace to the United States government to allow the wreck of the Maine to remain in the best part of the anchorage ground in Havana harbor for all these years, and so far nothing has been done towards removing it. She now lies about 1,500 feet from the Cuban shore and as her position is a menace and causes much inconvenience to the shipping of that part of the harbor, I should think that the United States government would have it removed. But it seems to be the demand of the government that the Maine should be raised and placed in the bottom of the harbor, or by a Spanish or Cuban torpedo, or from an internal explosion."

"I was talking with the purser of the Morgan Line steamer Louisiana, who said that when the accident occurred he was probably the nearest to the ship. He said that at 9:30 o'clock in the evening when the explosion took place and there were two reports, so one in Havana believes that the ship was blown up by the Spanish or Cuban torpedo. "See now lies in about thirty-five feet of water and the bottom is very soft. She sank so deep that very little of her is exposed above the water and the exposed portion is so twisted up that it is almost in solution. Small boats can sail right over the top of the wreck. It is almost impossible for the raising of the ship intact so that she could be destroyed by machine cutters and torn to pieces by machinery."

"Now, my idea would be to drive about four rows of pilings, probably from seventy to eighty feet long, so they would go well through the mud around her. They should be driven close together, then supported by riprap rock around the bottom of the piling and made tight by bags of cement or other material. I figure this would take about 1,100 or 1,200 feet of piling, which would have to be strengthened in order to bear the pressure of the water, thus practically making a cofferdam. When this had been done the water could be pumped out and the ship removed, and the ship would then be exposed for examination. Probably she could be so patched up and made watertight that she could be again floated and taken wherever the government might wish to take her. "The rise and fall of the tide in Havana harbor is very little, only about two feet. Probably at the time the ship was sunk, all the compartments were open, which would prevent any possibility of her being raised. The way I have stated is the only way the ship can be raised. It is the condition she is actually in, and I believe it could be done for less than $500,000, the estimate of the United States government engineers. After her removal the piling could be taken out and all the rock moved by dredges so as to make the harbor as it was originally."

"I hope to live to see this thing done, because I have taken much interest in it and sure I have suggested would accomplish the work. The recent ideas that have been presented to President Taft are all wrong."

MAGNETS MUNCH IN COMPANY

Billions of Dollars Represented at Affair Given By Senator Aldrich.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 2.—Senator Nelson W. Aldrich entertained J. P. Morgan and the other members of the Goosberry Island club a luncheon the other day, at which more wealth was represented than at any gathering so far, except the one in the memory of the oldest resident of the summer cottage colony. The tramp represent will run into the millions when the great power of Mr. Morgan is considered. The present was worth less than $10,000,000. The Goosberry club is the most exclusive organization in the country and the wealthiest man for man, in the world. It was only recently that Mr. Morgan and Senator Aldrich became members, and they were respectively 14 and 15 on the rolls. The senator came down from Washington the morning on board his yacht O-Wo-Ia and anchored near the Gosport. He went immediately to the yacht of Mr. Morgan and conferred there for an hour with Mr. Morgan. Afterward the three went to Goosberry Island. Present at the luncheon, which was an old-fashioned Rhode Island shore dinner, were George B. DeForest, Robert C. Brady, John D. Rockefeller, G. Reelker, Oliver H. Jennings, Edward J. Berwind, Elihu Root, Senator George F. Vreeland, Edmund Curley, James J. Van Alen and Edward J. Henson.

JUDGE SEES NO HARM. In the Pulling of Money From Stockings by Women.

New York, Sept. 2.—Judge Brady, who heard the application of the excise commission to revoke the license of Norman Selby, better known as Kid McCoy, remarked, after he had heard the testimony of Henry George, a special agent, that the more pulling of money in her own stocking by a woman was not evidence that the cafe conducted by Kid McCoy was disorderly. The court remarked that only the other day he saw a woman resort to her stocking in a street car while paying her fare. "Neither the pulling of money from a cigarette smoking by women is in itself evidence of a disorderly place," he said, "and I have no understanding that some of the best hotels set aside rooms where women are permitted to smoke. The witness having told of seeing a woman putting a dollar bill in her stocking, admitted on cross examination that he had given her the money." The court remarked that it seemed to him that the state's money could be put to better use.

AUTHORESS ASKS DAMAGES. Publisher Made It Appear She Translated Bad Stories.

New York, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Florence Crewe-Jones, English authoress, has brought suit for $10,000 against Publisher James LeMont Perkins. She admitted that she translated De Maupassant's "As Strong as Death" for his press. The reason she wants the $10,000 is that she says Perkins put her name on the title page of the book so as to make the public believe that she translated all the other De Maupassant stories, whereas she never did translate but, she said, even send the book to my friends, because they would think it awful of me. I have even got an injunction against Perkins to restrain him from selling any more of those books.

WEALTHY WIDOWS ARE IN A RECEPITIVE MOOD.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 2.—Widows, grass and sod, representing an aggregate fortune of about $300,000,000, all eligible for remarriage, some anxious for the chance and others merely in a receptive mood, are congregated in Newport.

The town has recently been dubbed "Widowville," and the name is likely to stick through the present season. A great number ofachelors, etc., are said to be headed this way. Among this number are said to be a job lot of dukes.

Some of the less desirable, it is understood, will be put under the hammer within the month. The auctioneers will continue well into the fall.

NERVY EMMA CLICK. Captures Chicken Thief and Holds Him for Police.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Emma Click proved herself a brave woman today when she captured Ray Swishhelm, an alleged chicken thief, and held him until the police arrived, declining assistance from several men who were attracted by Swishhelm's struggles to free himself. Mrs. Click says sixty of her chickens have disappeared in the past two weeks.

She discovered a trap set near her home and she played detective. She caught Swishhelm, who is a young giant, in the act of taking a chicken out of the trap, and she grabbed him.

JUMPS FROM THIRD STORY AND INSTANTLY KILLED.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 2.—David S. Murray, former general manager of the Bell Telephone company for Utah, Montana and Idaho, jumped from the third story of the Deseret building. His skull was crushed and death was instantaneous. Recently his wife filed suit for divorce against him, and this, taken in connection with financial troubles, is given as the cause for suicide.

IS REAPING ITS REWARD

Wise Policy of Conservation Has Made Millions For Minnesota.

Natural Resources Promise Fabulous Trust Fund in the Future.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—Under a St. Paul state line the Indianapolis News publishes the following from its staff correspondent, James P. Hornaday:

Minnesota was the pioneer state in conserving her natural resources. The state is now reaping its reward. The auditor of state is the custodian of a permanent trust fund which now aggregates $26,977,222.14, of which $21,902,717.37 is a permanent school fund, $1,418,798.97 a permanent university fund, $2,441,597.87 an internal improvement fund and $1,581,255.29 a swamp land fund. The natural resources are so administered as to promise a fabulous trust fund in the future.

The total estimated income from iron ore royalties on all state school, university and swamp lands now leased is $2,000,000.

The state's good fortune is due to the fact that at the right time her servants acted with wisdom and foresight. It has always been the policy of the federal government to hold its public domain in trust for the people; to pass it out to the people as fast as settlers demanded it at what amounted practically to nothing in return. Most of the states adopted the same policy. The maximum price at which the federal government and most of the states disposed of their public lands was $1.25 an acre.

The official figures show that the cost of administering the federal lands is greater than the amounts received from the lands.

At no time did the federal government ever think seriously of creating a trust fund through the administration of the public domain, nor was it ever proposed to make the public domain help pay the running expenses of the government. Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa, situated much as is Minnesota, followed the federal policy of selling off their public lands at a nominal price, and with the lands went the timber and minerals.

What Minnesota Received.

Minnesota received from national government when the state was organized much valuable land, land wooded and rich in minerals, though the fact that minerals abounded in such abundance was not known at that time.

In 1861, when Alexander Ramsey was governor, there occurred a great fight as to how the state's public domain should be administered. Governor Ramsey sold the state's public domain to its grants from congress and eventually built up a great trust fund for the benefit of generations to come. The question was whether the Ramsey idea, or what had come to be known as the Wisconsin idea, should prevail. The Wisconsin idea was, of course, to put the public domain on the market at $1.25 an acre, "for the benefit of the people."

Under the legislation enacted the lands were not to be sold for less than $2 an acre. As for the pine lands, the timber and the land were to be sold separately. The effect of the legislation was to take the public lands of Minnesota off the market.

Remained Off the Market.

With the surrounding states and the federal government selling land at $1.25 an acre, timber and minerals included, there would naturally be no demand for the Minnesota lands. The state's lands remained off the market and what a fortunate thing for the state that they did. From three 49-acre tracts of swamp land the state has obtained more money than the states of Wisconsin and Michigan combined have obtained from the whole of their public domain.

One iron ore mine along, with only two forks explored, has shown up to this time 15,592,143 tons of ore.

But to go back to Governor Ramsey and his policy. Neither the governor nor the men who followed his leadership had any knowledge in 1861 that there was much iron ore on the public lands.

The chief concern of the conservationists of that day was with respect to getting real value out of the timber and out of the lands. It became the policy of the state that the timber should be sold off only as fast as was necessary for the good of the state. Not until this timber was sold was this land offered for any purpose. As far back as twenty-five years ago this state had large areas of cut-over land that had not been asked for for any purpose. You couldn't have given the land away," said S. G. Iversen, state auditor.

Iron Ore Is Discovered.

Then came the discovery of iron ore in paying quantities on the cut-over land. At once there was a rush to buy the land. Here again a wise policy prevailed. Public servants stepped in and saved the day. W. V. Braden, state auditor, who was in 1889—held that while he had the right to sell the cut-over land, he did not have the right to sell the ore. He insisted, and won his point, that in every sale of public land the ore should be reserved for the state. A weak or thoughtless man might have held that the ore went with the land. So Iversen saved the state in 1889 just as Ramsey had saved it in 1861.

Following the interpretation of the public domain law by Braden, a law was passed providing for the leasing of the state's ore-bearing lands on the basis of $25 a ton for the state for the ore taken out. That law was passed in 1889. The leases run for fifty years. The number of mineral leases in force today is 276; the number of acres covered by leases, 24,926. Eighty-three 40-acre tracts out of a total of 506 "forties" have so far been developed in mines.

The iron ore tonnage listed by the state tax commission on the eighty-three "forties" under development is 14,765,911 tons. As this estimate is supplied by the lessees as a basis for taxation, it is conceded to be much too low. The total estimated income from iron ore royalties is $200,000,000. Since the ore-producing state lands were put on the royalty basis the royalties have aggregated $1,391,825.56. The state is only just now beginning to reap the real harvest.

Much Public Land Sold.

Of course, the state has sold a vast amount of public land for its agricultural purposes. It did not sell this land as $1.25 an acre, but got what it was actually worth. Nevada did it disregard the rule that the ore deposits should be reserved for the state; the public timber was always sold separately from the land. The $21,902,717.37 now held in trust as a permanent school fund has come from the following sources:

Sale of land, $12,725,398.42.

Amounts paid on forfeitures, right of way, etc., $195,306.42.

Sales of timber, $2,055,690.73.

Mineral limits and leases, $277,505.77.

Royalty on iron ore, $1,891,825.86.

Profit on sale of bonds, $361,569.94.

Of this vast sum of money only about $100,000 is in the state treasury at this time. It is nearly all invested in state bonds bearing 3 and 4 per cent interest.

The state university, which gets a small per cent from the iron ore royalties, has so far had $22,333.55 from that source. The money goes into the university's endowment fund, which, as a result of the sales of land, sales of timber, etc., now aggregates $1,165,788.97.

Some persons outside of Minnesota, who have heard a little of the wonderful object lesson in conservation exhibited here, have got the impression that the money derived from the administration of the natural resources goes into the state treasury for use for current expenses. It does not and it is well that it does not. The money goes into the permanent trust fund. It is the use of the money that counts. The generations that are to come. The state treasury is "flush" but not as a result of the conservation policy.

In 1903, the legislature increased the tax on the gross earnings of the railroads from 3 to 4 per cent. Some of the roads pleaded that they had charters fixing the tax for one year, but they went to law over the question. Last spring the supreme court of the United States sustained the state, and the railroads paid $800,000 into the treasury at one time.

Finding itself $1,200,000 better off than one year before, the state finance board cut the personal property tax in two. At one time it thought of abolishing the tax for one year, but prudence dictated the action that has been taken. So it was the winning of the tax cases and not the policy with respect to natural resources that saved the state from the cut in the rate of taxation.

S. G. Iversen, the auditor of state—a man that has been connected with the administration of the state's natural resources for twenty-five years—says the federal government should by all means be getting more out of the natural resources on the land.

"If the state of Minnesota can do what it has done," said he, "what great things the federal government might do. Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa have about as much land in the matter of land grant as did the state of Minnesota. They followed the old federal policy of selling the land at a nominal price regardless of what was on it or under it."

Let's see what has happened. We have a permanent school fund already of over $21,000,000. Michigan has a school fund of $1,270,411.92. Wisconsin a fund of $3,723,599.12 and Iowa a school fund of $4,778,019.46. Of course, our good fortune is due to the discovery of iron ore on the state's lands. But it is a lesson in conservation, that led the state to hold its public lands at what they were really worth, and that led to a policy under which the timber and the iron ore deposits could not be sold along with the land."

CONDITION OF FEDERAL TREASURY IS GIVEN.

Washington, Sept. 2.—With an increase of $3,373,325 in the public debt and a total deficit of $17,371,468.08, the United States treasury closed the second month of the fiscal year on an even keel, all circumstances considered, with a working balance of $30,836,072.22 on hand and the general fund down to $89,523,207.53. The increase in the public debt was largely due to an excess of national bank deposits over redemptions.

MINOT AFTER NORMAL.

Campaign Will Be Started to Secure Such an Institution.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A short campaign to illustrate the needs of the northwestern section of the state in the way of normal school facilities will be conducted by Minot in favor of the passage of the amendment to the constitution providing for the new institution in Minot. Figures will be given out to show that number of teachers employed in the northwestern counties and the distances they are separated from schools of higher education. The closest schools are at Mayville and Grand Forks, a distance of practically 200 miles. Minot is very hopeful of securing the passage of the amendment.

WITHDRAWALS CHARGES.

Chamlee Asks Permission of the Bar Association.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 2.—George W. Chamlee, who presented a petition to the American Bar association said to contain charges against Joseph H. Choate of New York, asked leave yesterday to withdraw the petition. The convention came to a close with a banquet.

In an address by F. A. Farrar of New Orleans, the new president of the association, severely criticized former President Roosevelt for his policy of nationalism.

Unfounded, Choate Says.

Stockbridge, Mass., Sept. 2.—Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, on being informed that George W. Chamlee had asked leave to withdraw his petition for consideration of the American Bar association of charges made against Mr. Choate by John H. Watts of New York, said: "The charges of John H. Watts against me are absolutely unfounded."

ST. PAUL BLIND PIGGER GETS WORKHOUSE SENTENCE.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty days in the workhouse without the option of a fine was the sentence imposed by Judge Finehout yesterday on J. J. Gould, 2160 University avenue, who was found guilty of selling liquor without a license at his confectionery store in the Midway.

Laurenson, 615 Glendale avenue, testified that on Aug. 22 he had bought a flask of whisky at Gould's store, and had afterwards handed it over to Policeman Frank McEldar. The officer corroborated his testimony.

PROCTOR WINS THIRD GAME

Takes Deciding Contest From West Duluth Commercial Club.

Proctor slipped it over on West Duluth, 3 to 1, yesterday afternoon in the third of a series of baseball games between the Commercial club and won the series. The game was played on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds. West Duluth won the first game a few weeks ago, but the return contest at Proctor went to the Proctorites. Yesterday's contest was the "rubber."

The game yesterday was lost to Proctor in the seventh frame when the men from over the hill registered two runs. Larson did much duty for the West Duluthians, and pitched good ball. His support, however, was ragged at times. Brenan pitched for the Proctor bunch.

The line-up:

MAY LOSE SIGHT FROM EXPLOSION

Laborer Returns to Examine Delayed Blast; Knocked Senseless.

Abo Karbonen, 22 years old, laborer, residing at 110 North Sixty-fifth avenue west, lost the sight of one eye and possibly that of the other, and had his face, arms and chest badly lacerated as a result of a dynamite explosion yesterday at Dakota street, West Duluth.

He was one of a gang of men, employed in laying water mains. In the vicinity it was found necessary to do much blasting. Karbonen, who was a fuse and when it did not discharge after the usual time returned to see what was the matter.

As he approached it, the explosion knocked him unconscious. He was picked up and taken to St. Luke's hospital. He will recover.

Karbonen is unmarried.

CLUB WILL BE REPRESENTED

West Duluth Will Send Delegates to St. Paul Congress.

It is expected that at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening, a complete list of the delegates to the conservation congress at St. Paul next week will be made out. Three men, P. H. Martin, Andrew Myles and H. C. Brown are the official representatives of the club at the meeting, but several other business men are planning on attending.

At the meeting this evening, it is also expected that a committee will be appointed to investigate and report to the club on the condition of bridges at West Duluth. The club has begun an agitation to have some of the structures replaced and others repaired.

COSTLY BLAZE IN IRON WORKS

Fire Does $15,000 Damage to the West Duluth Plant.

Damage amounting from $15,000 to $20,000 resulted from a fire, which was discovered about 6:30 o'clock on the roof over the blacksmith shop and foundry of the National Iron works, at the foot of Ramsey street.

Department No. 8 from West Duluth and some of the uptown departments made a run to the fire, which was confined to the blacksmith shop and the foundry. The pattern room and tool room were not damaged much. This morning, another blaze broke out and the hose wagon from No. 8 extinguished it.

The second blaze is thought to have resulted from a spark which had been smoldering in the tin covered roof during the night. The cause of the first blaze is not known.

Officials of the company say that despite the fact that the plant was damaged, it will not be closed down for repairs. In a few weeks the new equipment will replace that which was damaged.

WELCOME NEW PASTOR.

Reception Will Be Given for Rev. Matt Effelstrom.

Rev. Matt Effelstrom of Worcester, Mass., who was extended a call to the pastorate of the Ebenezer Finnish Baptist church at West Duluth has arrived in the city. A welcome reception will be held for him this evening in the church, Fifty-second avenue west and paper, which hereafter, will be published in Duluth. It is the official organ of the Finnish Baptist churches of America. The first edition to be printed here will appear about Sept. 15.

West Duluth was made the headquarters of the Finnish Mission Post, a monthly

Heretofore, the paper has been published at Worcester, Mass., but since West Duluth was made the headquarters of the national society it will be put out here.

Mr. Effelstrom is a forceful speaker among his countrymen. He will deliver his first sermon as pastor of the new church next Sunday. Last year, Mr. Effelstrom was president of the national society.

FUNERAL OF E. FILIATRAULT.

A large number of former friends attended the funeral of E. Filiatrault, which took place this morning from St. James Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west, to Calvary cemetery.

Rev. Father Bexley said the mass, with Rev. Father Robere as deacon and Rev. Father Lynch as sub-deacon. After the service, Rev. Father Lynch preached an eloquent and impressive sermon.

Mr. Filiatrault lived in West Duluth for the past twenty-three years and was one of the pioneers of Southern Minnesota.

Advocates Tax Bureau.

President Foote Tells Plan at the Meeting in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—The establishment of a central office to consist of a number of bureaus and the establishment of a statistical bureau that should keep in touch with all new enactments of tax laws and new projects, was advocated in the annual report of President Allen R. Foote of the International Tax association convention at the closing session today.

The bureau, President Foote said, should be in a position to advise on any project affecting taxation, with a view to assisting tax officials in any state.

All the old officers were re-elected, with the exception that A. J. Matheson, treasurer of Ontario, was elected vice president for the Dominion of Canada, to succeed A. P. McNab of Regina.

E. F. Noel of Mississippi was added to the executive committee.

A committee to investigate the subject of a practicable substitute for the present tax on personal property is provided for in a resolution adopted by the convention. Another resolution gave it as the sense of the convention that a uniform method of taxing the domestic premium receipts of all companies, foreign and domestic, engaged in insuring lives, should be adopted in the several states of the union, but that the convention make no recommendation as to the rate.

Winona at Winnetka.

(BY BRUCE.)

The battle to place Red Wing in the league race is a stern one, as can be gained from the game of yesterday, the Sox and the Malloy Indians battling for eleven rounds, the contest being called a tie at the end of the eleventh inning.

Though both teams are down in the race, the series that started yesterday promises to be one of the most interesting of the season. Both teams are playing well, and both are able to play to the limit. The Sox, who are the favorites, have an excellent chance to win the series, while the Indians, who are the underdogs, have a chance to win the series.

Six pitchers were used in the game of yesterday, and each pitcher was treated in a rather disheartening manner by the hitters of the other team. The Sox pitchers were particularly hard on the Indians, while the Indians pitchers were particularly hard on the Sox. The game was a close one, with the Sox leading 3-2 at the end of the ninth inning, but the Indians tied the game in the tenth inning.

The Indians were the first to score, getting a run in the first inning. The Sox then tied the game in the second inning. The game was a close one, with the Sox leading 3-2 at the end of the ninth inning, but the Indians tied the game in the tenth inning.

CUBS HAVE GREAT UTILITY MAN IN HEINIE ZIMMERMAN

ZIMMERMAN OF THE CUBS.

The Cubs have a great utility man in Heinie Zimmerman, who just now is subbing for Steinbrenner at third base. Zimmerman is particularly strong batter, but is rather weak on ground balls. There is a chance that Heinie will get a regular berth in the outfield. This depends on whether Chance decides to become a bench manager and put Hoffman on first base.

of Duluth and the White Sox and Superior.

This changing of the schedule would work to the benefit of all the teams interested. The longer series between the White Sox and Superior would appeal to the fans here, while a series of games between Rochester and Red Wing would be more interesting to the fans in the southern part of the state than a series with the two teams from the Head of the Lakes.

The local management has to look to the financial end of the game. These men are somewhat out of pocket at the present time, and naturally should be given the support of the league officials in attempting to arrange the last few games so that there will be a greater financial return.

There is a great amount of rivalry between Duluth and Superior. As the teams stand, Duluth has won the majority of games of those played in the series between the two clubs. Most of the fans in these parts believe the Sox can defeat Superior more often than the O'Brien team can humble the Sox.

It is this opinion that promises to make the closing series between the two teams the best attended of the entire season.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WILL LOOK INTO DITCH

District Judge and Others to Inspect Northwestern State Project.

Feasibility of Building Through Three Counties Will Be Considered.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. G. Schroeder and W. F. Johnson of Bemidji joined Judge Grindeland and County Attorney W. J. Brown at Warren this morning and drove from that place east to view Judicial Ditch No. 11, which runs through portions of Marshall, Red Lake and Beltrami counties. Messrs. Schroeder and Johnson will make an effort to ascertain whether or not the land which would be drained by a proposed ditch would warrant the construction of the ditch. The cost of the ditch would be borne by the state, but the land would be assessed for the cost of the ditch. The cost will be assessed against the land, but if the land is not desirable it is not sold, the lands will have to be paid by the state until the revenue from the assessment against the land is available. All the government land will be assessed, but none of this can be collected until the homesteaders have proved up.

THREE GREEKS UNDER ARREST

Caught at Larimore, N. D., on Suspicion of Being Implicated in Crimes.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—With three of the prisoners identified as the men who attacked Sam Loucas in his shack at McCanna on Tuesday night, the Grand Forks county officials believe that the three successful steps in the breaking up of the gang of thugs working in this district have been taken. The men are Greeks, and were arrested by Chief of Police Richard Fadden at Larimore, two of them being captured at Larimore, while the other was arrested in Grand Forks. The men are also being held, but his connection with the affair is not entirely clear. Not only are the prisoners held to be responsible for the McCanna robbery, but it is believed that they also have been mixed up in the several other recent similar affairs in this section.

BURNING OF BRUSH STARTS BIG FIRE

Red Lake Lumber Company Is Heavy Loser in Hubbard County.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forest fires have destroyed more than 1,000,000 feet of logs, the property of the Red River Lumber company, at Thorpe, in Hubbard county. It is claimed that the fire was started by an employee who was seeking an "easy way" in which to get rid of brush. He was arrested and taken to Akeley for a preliminary hearing. There is considerable extension of fires, as the forests are dry, and the smoldering fires need close attention, and this can not be given them because of the withdrawal of all special fire rangers, because of the exhaustion of the state appropriation to guard the forests.

ROCHESTER SCHOOL BURNS.

Defective Flue Causes Disastrous Fire Thursday Afternoon.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 2.—Starting at five o'clock, a fire broke out in the Rochester Central school building. A short time previous to the discovery of the fire the janitor of the building had built a trial fire in the furnace with some old papers and a piece of kerosene. The old high school building has just been torn down to make way for a new one, and it was with difficulty that the board of education was able to provide accommodations for the high school students for this year.

IRON RIVER BURGLARY.

Fitzpatrick & Richards' Store Entered, Goods and Cash Taken.

Iron River, Wis., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Burglars broke into the Fitzpatrick & Richards store of Fitzpatrick & Richards here last night and got away with some clothing, underwear and shoes. The store also took $5 in cash from the money drawer. They entered the place through a back window. There does not appear to be any clue.

SHEEP RAISING AS RESULT OF DRY SEASON.

Michigan, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the raising of sheep will become a prominent factor in the farming industry in certain portions of the northern part of the state is a direct result of the fact that the past season has been an exceptional dry one. It has been made apparent through information coming from several districts that sheep raising is being taken up by a large number of farmers. LIGHTNING FIRES BARN.

Three Horses Also Cremated in Polk County Fire.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday afternoon, during a terrific electrical storm north-east of Crookston, in Tabor township, the big new barn of Mike Oshinski, west of Crookston, was completely destroyed by lightning and burned to the ground. Three horses were cremated and a large quantity of hay and oats, harness, destroyed. The loss was about $4,000, half covered by insurance.

SLAUGHTER BIG BEAR.

Erskine People Take After Bruin, Bringing Animal Down.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Without the aid of R. D. Nease, a merchant of Erskine, a bear about a foot and a half high, was shot and taken to a grove. A. O. C. Foster, S. P. Jorgenson and P. H. Rindahl, all business men of Erskine, and two boys, Roy Wade and Albert Berg, the men who were taken to the grove, killed the bear. The bear weighed nearly 500 pounds, and the two boys routed out a badger, a coon which young Berg shot and killed. Bears are getting more numerous every day in this section.

FIANCEE DETAINED.

Isanti County Young Man Hastens to Rescue of Sweetheart.

Isanti, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hans Hanson, a young man who has been employed in this neighborhood for several months, left for Boston, Mass., a few evenings ago in response to a telegram stating that his fiancée had been detained by the immigration authorities and would be returned to Sweden if Mr. Hanson failed to reach Boston immediately and marry the young lady. He is now probably returning to Isanti county with his bride.

PART OF FARM SINKS.

Strange Phenomenon Visits Place Near Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Without the slightest warning, several acres of land on the old Chabot farm a mile west of the city, on the bank of the Red Lake river, sank last Sunday night. The land did not sink into the river, only moved towards it about five feet, and leaving a great fissure four feet deep between the rest of the farm and the millions of tons of dirt which dropped. The strip which dropped is about forty rods long and thirty rods wide in the widest place. It is believed that the land sank because of the heavy rain which fell on the farm, and the water which had been in the ground for some time, and the land was forced under the river bed. The land sank in a very strange manner, and the water which had been in the ground for some time, and the land was forced under the river bed.

BOY GORED BY BULL.

Animal's Lack of Horn Probably All That Saved Youth.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herman Eckhoff, a boy living near Clear Lake, has been brought to a local hospital to receive treatment after being gored by a bull. Eckhoff was out with the cows, and although he had noticed that the bull was acting queerly, he did not pay much attention until he had entered the pasture and gone several rods. The bull then turned upon him and charged, and Eckhoff turned and ran, but the bull overtook him and knocked him down. Fortunately the animal's horns had been cut off and it was unable to toss the boy, but it broke his right leg and his collar bone. The boy's father saw what was happening and rushed to the rescue, but the bull succeeded in driving the boy's head into the ground, and the boy's body was badly bruised.

ANOTHER "SOONER" FINED.

North Dakota Negro Could Not Wait for Hunting Season.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 2.—Game Warden Fred Carstensen caused the arrest of William Bond, a colored man employed on the Apple Creek farm of A. G. Daventon, charged with the violation of the game law. Bond was brought before Judge Pierce and after pleading guilty was fined $10 and $10 costs, and went on his way a poorer and a wiser man. It appears that Sunday afternoon Bond went out to get a few chickens and was seen by the game warden.

REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

Houghton Forest Ranger Back From West Tells of Disaster.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Edwards of Houghton has returned from Montana, where he is employed by the government in the United States forest ranger service. Mr. Edwards says that the reports of the fire disasters in the West have been considerably exaggerated upon by the press. That they are considerable there is no doubt, but the returns from the fire-visited districts have been embellished to enhance the news value. He says that the employment agencies and the campers are considerably to blame for starting the fires. Mr. Edwards was located in that portion of Montana near Missoula and he says that the fire was not so disastrous as in other states, but the timber destroyed thereabouts is very valuable.

EAST GRAND FORKS DEEPLY INTERESTED.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports that East Grand Forks is liable to be placed in the "dry" territory through the action of the federal government, has created a great deal of interest among the owners of the forty-eight saloons. Alleged shipments of liquor from the city into the restricted ter-

MAN WHO MAKES WONDERFUL CURES WITH BAKE OVEN

Loughney & Loughney, though located in Seattle less than four years, have established a phenomenal practice and have acquired an enviable reputation for the efficiency of their cures from Michigan in the East to California in the South; in fact, patients have traveled from these places to obtain the benefits of Loughney's treatments.

It is a well known fact that the curative powers of heat are really wonderful. The trouble has always been to obtain some method that will heat sufficiently hot to purify the system and cure disease without endangering life. Loughney & Loughney's bake ovens are wonderful, and the marvelous cures effected by the use of these appliances in electricity, including the remarkable Rogers tubercular light, another appliance used by them and is very effective for treating tuberculosis, blood disorders and rheumatic affections.

Loughney & Loughney give free consultation to all who call on them. They will tell you what your ailments are without asking you a single question. If they can cure you they will take your case; if not, they will tell you so. Their hours are from 8 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.; Sundays, 9 to 12 o'clock.

DULUTH GETS SOAKING RAIN

Duluth awoke this morning to find a good soaking rain falling and it continued all morning almost without cessation. At times, it amounted only to a drizzle, but at other times the showers reached the proportion of a heavy downpour.

There is a touch of fall in the rain, which has not the warm, gentle touch of summer. The continued dry weather has been a menace to the forests and the rain is welcome.

ADVANCES IN PRODUCE

Decreased Supply Causes Higher Prices for Dairy Products.

Potatoes Are Cheaper and Tone in Greenstuff Market Is Firm.

Nearly all dairy products except dairy butter and some descriptions of cheese advanced in price this week and there was a fine tone in green goods. Potatoes were cheaper.

Fresh eggs advanced to 22 cents a dozen from 21 cents and eggs in cartons gained 1 cent a dozen from 22 cents. Receipts decreased in the last few days and the slump in arrivals was of more serious consequence than if circumstances had been normal. The decrease in receipts came after several weeks of comparatively small supplies of fresh eggs. The market had plenty of orders and a scarcity of eggs which caused dealers to advance prices. At the increased values eggs moved freely and more supplies could have been used. It was not necessary to advance quotations sufficiently high to call out spring storage supplies which are not available except at a price several cents higher than the prevailing values, as the cost of the storage eggs was from 2 to 3 cents higher than the present price for fresh eggs.

Receipts of creamery butter decreased and receivers advanced prices for this description. The consumptive demand favored creamery brands. The Elgin quotations on fancy creamery butter were advanced last week but other markets were slow to follow the lead and the upturn in fancy creamery butter here and elsewhere was delayed. The price of fancy creamery was advanced 1 cent to 31 cents a pound. Dairy butter was exceedingly weak and sold on terms of 2 cents, being quoted at 22 cents a pound. Packing butter is only one cent cheaper. Buyers have been curtailing purchases in dairy brands and the supply has been large.

The potato market was weaker as supplies increased. Prices declined a bushel to 85 cents. Jersey sweet potatoes were quoted at $5 a barrel, the price which was obtained last week for Virginia sweets.

Fancy full cream cheese sold at 17 cents and block Swiss was stronger at 21 cents, gaining 1 cent. Finest cheese advanced from 9 to 10 cents. Supplies of all descriptions of cheese are relatively small and the demand is good.

Watermelons were slightly easier. Receipts were moderately heavy this week. The cooler weather has caused a slump in the consumptive demand. Missouri melons are selling at 30¢/35¢. The average offering last week was firm around 35 cents. The market is struggling with the weight of heavy offerings and the handicap of a decreased demand.

Cranberries appeared on the market this week and are selling at $2 a bushel. Trade in fruits was impeded by the uneven quality of offerings. Some of the southern cranberries consisted of poor, small, unevenly packed fruit which were disposed of quickly at low prices. On the other hand choice fruits found a ready outlet and brought high and satisfactory values.

Cooler weather helped the green vegetable trade and business materially improved. Receipts from the outside were fairly liberal, but home grown stock was given preference by most buyers. The city's trade in vegetables and green goods showed few changes in prices. Peas and beans are slightly firmer and prices for the new crop of raisins have been boosted.

LYCEUM—Pierce Players in "The White Horse Tavern." Advanced vaudeville.

THE RAIN FAILED TO MATERIALIZE

But "At the White Horse Tavern" Proves Enjoyable Nevertheless.

The H. E. Pierce & Co. Associate Players last night presented "At the White Horse Tavern," a comedy adapted from the German. A good crowd greeted the company, which has become popular in Duluth.

The rainstorm at the end of the first act, the big scenic feature of the production, became sidetracked last night and Mr. Jossey held his giant umbrella and waited in vain for rain until the curtain fell. He explained in his curtain speech after the second act that somebody had stepped on the rain, but that it wouldn't matter. There were flashes of lightning and peals of thunder last night and Mr. Jossey promised that there would be real rain at every other performance.

However, there were evidences of the storm without the rain and the audience was not deeply disappointed. The play itself has a number of good comedy situations and Mr. Jossey succeeded in getting "across" with the character of the eccentric German. The part is so entirely different from those he has taken formerly here that the audience was not prepared for such an entirely successful interpretation of it. Mr. Jossey again showed his versatility by proving that he is an excellent comedian as well as a capable actor of heavier parts.

The role of Madam Josepha is something different for Miss Blanche Douglas also, but she acquitted herself creditably. The company is well cast and the play is adequately presented.

"At the White Horse Tavern" will be presented tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night, after which the Pierce Players will leave for another tour of the Copper & Iron circuit.

"THE GEORGE COHAN OF VADEVILLE."

Gus Edwards is called by many "the George Cohan of vaudeville." There is always some novelty to the vaudeville acts produced by Edwards and he has the Cohan faculty of getting pretty girls and live chorus men for his acts. The Edwards acts are all musical sketches and he has more chorus girls and men in his employ than the average comic opera producer. He has at least half a dozen turns now on the various vaudeville circuits and each employs from six to twelve in the chorus.

There are twelve, six men and six women, in "Night Birds," the act which is featured on the Orpheum bill this week. The company is headed by Miss Nellie Brewster, who has an exceptionally good voice for an actress and singer outside of grand opera.

The novelty introduced by Edwards in this act is the number in the turn. The drop curtain used shows a telegram sent to a number of swallows seated on it. The members of the chorus poke their heads through holes in the drop and the heads of the birds should appear, and a suit of her vigilance, she having gained information of a prairie chicken dinner which he gave to a number of friends.

MINOT WOMAN TO LOOK AFTER GAME

Mrs. C. H. Parker, North Dakota Diana, to Watch for Lawbreakers.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of its women officials Minot will take a front rank. Recently it had a woman census taker who was repeatedly taken for a book agent and now it is a woman game warden.

Mrs. C. H. Parker, an enthusiastic hunter and one of the best trap shooters in the state, has been honored with such an appointment at the hands of the state warden and she is taking active interest in the enforcement of the law. A prominent business man, it is claimed, is soon to be arrested for a violation of the game laws, having gained information of a prairie chicken dinner which he gave to a number of friends.

CROSBY TO HAVE MANY NEW HOMES

Lively Cuyuna Range Community Is Rapidly Forging to the Front.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—This growing village of the Cuyuna range will be a city of fine homes if the plans proposed are carried out. George H. Crosby of Duluth, the founder of the town bearing his name, is planning to build a splendid summer home on Serpentine lake, one-half mile from the town, and to build a number of smaller homes in the section.

Mr. Crosby bought for the purpose the seventy-acre homestead of Louis Carlson, paying $15,000. The location is ideal and there are many fine trees and meadows. The building site, lovely meadows and fertile fields.

This section of Crosby is restricted to substantial homes with ample grounds. One of Mr. Crosby's nearest neighbors will be Dr. J. J. Sewell, physician of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, whose fine residence on the lake shore is nearly completed. Dr. Sewell's automobile garage, with concrete floor, is already completed. Adjoining Dr. Sewell's home, Dr. J. J. Sewell is building a hospital of concrete on Second avenue south near Second street.

Work has been begun upon seventeen dwellings in the Rogers-Brown Ore company in its mining location adjoining Crosby on the north.

Crosby is full of strangers who fill the hotels nightly. A fourth hotel is to be built.

GREAT AEROPLANE FLIGHTS AT FAIR.

Of the many "Kings of the Air," who have been winning fame lately through their daring ascensions, the names of Wright Brothers and Glenn Curtiss, both Americans, are still pre-eminent. These two are head and shoulders above their rivals, and their machines have stood the tests of skill and endurance where others have failed. The aeroplanes of Wright Brothers and Curtiss are built on different models, each having its admirers and enthusiasts who argue the virtues of their favorite with the same ardor that many a man praises his pet automobile.

The state fair attendants this year will have ample opportunities to decide for themselves. The Wright Brothers and Curtiss companies and the state fair officials, and their aeroplanes shall show actual demonstrations of unquestioned success both in altitude and in speed.

As the wind is a highly important factor in the work of these machines, the hour has been set at 5 o'clock each day, after the races, when the aeroplanes will be on duty. They will be quieter and more favorable. There will be ascensions by Wright Brothers and Curtiss aeroplanes on every day of the fair and the hour will be especially popular because there will be no other attractions on the fair grounds to interfere.

FARMING WITH MACHINERY.
Clay County Farmer Uses Gasoline Engine to Run Binders.

Moorehead, Minn., Sept. 2.—W. J. Bodkin, who farms a tract of land near Georgetown, has made successful trials with a gasoline engine in the running of binders and plows. With a Hart-Parr engine he cut his grain. Four binders following each other, being connected by the patent hitch. The trial was satisfactory in every way and is no longer an experiment. Hereafter all cutting will be done by means of gasoline power on his farm.

Mr. Bodkin is now operating his plow in two twelve-hour shifts. His son, Henry, and George Parra handle the day shift and Henry Murray and Teddy Hanson the night shift. They operate eight plows and turn over forty acres during the twenty-four hours.

Any farmer can figure out the number of horses and men that would be required to perform that amount of labor. The saving in horseflesh is very apparent, and the expense for fuel is but 27 cents per acre. Unrefined kerosene oil is used, at 9 cents per gallon, and it requires three gallons to the acre.

Drop in at Kenney & Anker's and see the new fall styles they're showing in Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes for men.

BELIEVES VICTIM DEAD.

Accused Assailant of Wisconsin Girl Makes Confession.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 2.—Amelio Carlson, alleged to have made a murderous assault early in July upon Mrs. Salvator Gargaro, then Miss Anna Montefusco, because she refused to marry him, has been arrested in Portland, Ore. He is being held until Sheriff J. R. Johnson can go to Portland to bring him back to Cumberland.

It is said that Carlson has confessed to the Portland authorities to having murdered the girl, he apparently not knowing that the young woman recovered and was married to Gargaro in less than two weeks after the alleged attack.

Carlson is alleged to have attacked the girl when she was on her way from her home to Cumberland to make preparations for her marriage to Gargaro, and when she positively refused his attentions to have shot her several times and gashed her badly with a razor.

Miss Montefusco, though badly injured, refused to postpone her wedding.

WAR BEGUN BY FOND DU LAC

Up-River Amateur Farmers First in Field With Exhibits.

Issue Challenge to Spade Welders of Woodland and Lakeside.

Fond du Lac farmers are preparing to make Duluth sit up and take notice. Woodland and Lakeside Park agriculturists will also please pay attention.

The welders of the spade and the putters of the obnoxious weed from the far Western suburb will have a display of their products in a large show window on Superior street between Fourth and Fifth avenues west. To say that it is an "eye-opener" is putting it mildly, which observation will be appreciated at par value by those who have been fortunate enough to have seen some of the gardens at Fond du Lac.

The primary purpose is to educate those who will be so unfortunate as to be unable to attend the big state fair at the Twin Cities. Of course, the farmers from Woodland and Lakeside Park will be allowed a glance if they so desire. In the interests of their agricultural education.

The bulk of display is being put in the window today by several of the Fond du Lac farmers, most of whom have the droning rain before day-light this morning to harvest their stuff. They explained that they set up at dawn every day, so that the early hours didn't inconvenience them. And their enthusiasm was so great that they didn't pay any attention to J. Pluvius, whom they accuse of having conspired with the farmers from the eastern part of town to dampen their ardor.

Among the farmers who will contribute to the exhibit are Judge W. L. Windley, Judge Frank Guthrie, Cameron Hewitt and George Stevens. Each of them has a fine garden. Between themselves they have difficulty in agreeing which is the finest, but forgetting all differences they stand united in declaring that taken all together they are superior to any gardens inside the corporate limits.

WANTS DIVORCE ON GROUNDS OF DRUNKENNESS.

On grounds of habitual drunkenness and cruel and inhuman treatment, Maudie C. Garner, 29 years old, began suit in district court this morning for a divorce from her husband, John C. Garner, 26 years old.

While they were living in Duluth in 1909, there are no children. She asks the use of her maiden name in addition to an absolute divorce. The complaint in the action was filed this morning with the clerk of the district court.

MILK INSPECTOR FINISHES TESTS

Samples of Dirty Milk Will Be Sent to Dairy-men.

Grant E. Owens, milk inspector, has about completed testing samples of milk shipped in by outside dairymen to ascertain whether or not there is dirt in the milk.

Part of the tests show that the milk contains considerable sediment, but the majority of them are better than had been expected. Out of ten-gallon cans but the slightest specks have been discernible.

The samples containing the sediment have been carefully preserved and will be sent back to the dairymen in order that they may see for themselves just what the results of the tests were. The object of the department is to educate the dairymen. At a later date other similar tests will be made, and if no improvement is shown, legal steps will be taken to compel them to have their milk free from dirt.

CAN DISPOSE OF THE BONDS

Park Board Has Plans for Placing the Proposed Issue.

Arrangements have already been made by the finance committee of the park board to place the $50,000 worth of bonds which the board has asked the council to authorize.

The authorization of the issue has already come before the councilmen in the shape of an ordinance which had its first reading last week. It is expected that the ordinance will come up for its second reading Tuesday night. The board has considerable desirable property selected which it desires to purchase. The members believe it should be secured at this time, before the prices become any higher.

RED CROSS WILL PAY THE BILLS

Will Care for Men Injured Fighting Fires in the Far Northwest.

Washington, Sept. 2.—After a conference with the forestry service officials today the officers of the American Red Cross announced that it would pay the hospital expenses of the government employees injured in fighting the forest fires in the Far Northwest. It is estimated that the total bill will amount to about $10,000, which will be paid out of the contingent fund of the Red Cross.

Had it not been for the decision on the part of the Red Cross the employees would not only have lost their wages during the time of their confinement in the hospitals, but would have been required to pay their own hospital expenses, as no government funds were available for those purposes.

BEMIDJI TO CELEBRATE COMING OF THE SOO.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Soo trains on the new Soo line connection for a Winnipeg to Chicago route will be in operation in this territory Oct. 1, although no attempt will be made to run through trains for at least a year.

The construction crew is now eleven miles north of Bemidji. If the present rate of progress is maintained rails will be laid here no later than Saturday of next week.

The business men of Bemidji are to celebrate the event of the new line by a public reception in honor of high Soo officials who are to come here in the near future.

Consumers Attention!

We are renovating our store and are getting ready to do a legitimate retail business in connection with our wholesale orders. Our aim is to build up a business that will enable the working people of this city and surrounding towns to receive the goods that interest them at the lowest possible cost. We are the order of the day—it is bound to supplant competition in business, and the evils that result from it. We buy and sell for Cash in order to give the Consumers the benefits of our close buying—we expect them to appreciate this in the long run. We cannot afford to deliver less than 45 worth of goods to any one place because we aim to keep our expenses within reasonable limits. We hope you will appreciate this. We are working in direct opposition to all other business interests in this city—because we are the ONE and ONLY store in this city that aims to turn ALL profits of the business back into the pockets of our customers. You need NOT be a shareholder to buy from us.

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL HAVE BIGGEST PARADE IN HISTORY

Duluth Unions Will Demonstrate Their Strength Monday Morning.

Celebration of Labor's Holiday Will Begin at 10 o'clock.

W. E. McEwen Will Be the Speaker at Fairmont Park Gathering.

Duluth will begin its Labor day celebration at 10 o'clock Monday morning. At that hour the largest labor procession ever formed in the Zenith City will move down Superior street from Second avenue east. It will march to English avenue west, where it will disband.

Plans have been under way for some time to make the showing the largest in the history of organized labor in the city, and those in charge say that their efforts will not be in vain. Every union, large and small, will have its members in line.

There will be three bands in line, and the city councilmen in carriages will also be in the procession. Charles Turner will be chief marshal of the day, and he will be assisted by J. H. Powers and E. A. Rickard. Both the "Women's" and the "Ladies" label leagues will be in line, although they are separated in the parade by the garment workers, who will walk between the two organizations.

The first division of the parade will form on First street between Fourth and Fifth avenues west. The second

SUICIDE ENDS DOCTORS' PUZZLE

Girl Who Slept for Days Drinks Turpentine and Poison Tablets.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—Clara Kontner, the principal in one of the most mysterious cases the police and medical men of Pittsburg have ever attempted to solve, died in the Ohio Valley general hospital early today from the effects of drinking half a pint of turpentine, in which was dissolved 200 grains of bichloride of mercury. The poisonous draught was taken Sunday by the girl, who told the hospital attendants she "was tired of life."

Clara Kontner left her home near Shousestown two years ago. That was the last seen of her by friends or relatives for weeks. One morning, long after search had ceased, she was found in bed in her home, unconscious. For days she lay in a stupor, physicians being unable to arouse her. Finally she was awakened when a friend suggested making a sudden and sharp noise at her bedside. The girl's identity was not established at the hospital until late yesterday.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—Sixteen members of the crew of the British steamer West Point have been rescued at sea by the steamer Devonian, due here from Liverpool on Monday.

The West Point, which was bound from Glasgow for Charleston, S. C., caught fire at sea and afterwards foundered. The news of the loss of the West Point and the rescue of her crew was received here by wireless.

SAY MISS ELKINS IS SURELY ENGAGED

Rumors Predict Announcement Next Month and Wedding in February.

Paris, Sept. 3.—Miss Katherine Elkins and Mrs. R. S. R. Hitt returned to Paris from London today. Circumstantial stories, published here as well as in Rome, are to the effect that Miss Elkins and the duke of the Abruzzi will be married in February, the opposition of Dowager Queen Margherita having been abandoned. According to these reports the announcement of the engagement will be made in October. The duchess of Aosta is represented as still opposing the union.

WINNIPEG IS ALARMED

Fear Minnesota Power Company Will Divert Too Much Water.

Appeal to International Commission—No Cause for Worry, Says Attorney.

Winnipeg is alarmed for the safety of its electric power supply since the Minnesota Power & Canal company has been granted the right to divert water from the Birch lake basin at the Rainy river watershed into the St. Louis river.

Winnipeg's plant is at Poin du Bois, and according to an article published in the Manitoba capital this plant might be seriously jeopardized by the diversion of water in the Birch lake basin. An appeal has been made to the international waterways commission to have the grant held up until investigation can be made. The article says:

"The amount of water which the Minnesota Power & Canal company is given the privilege to divert is 600 cubic feet per second. The work to be done every effort will be made to postpone the work by the southern company. The Birch lake basin is within Minnesota, but is fed by the Rainy and Winnipeg rivers."

"That genuine alarm was felt by the announcement was evidenced by the speedy action of the board in notifying the international commission and until the estimates of the engineers is received every effort will be made to postpone the work by the southern company. The Birch lake basin is within Minnesota, but is fed by the Rainy and Winnipeg rivers."

"The Canadian was badly alarmed, as the diversion of water contemplated by the plan of the company would amount to less than 2 per cent of the water of the lake to the north. It was quite sure the Winnipeg authorities will be satisfied that no harm will be done to their plant."

GLADYS KERENS BRIDE IN LONDON

Daughter of Ambassador to Austria Weds Philadelphia Man.

London, Sept. 3.—Miss Gladys Kerens of St. Louis, youngest daughter of Richard C. Kerens, American ambassador at Vienna, and George Hamilton Colket of Philadelphia, son of the late George H. Colket, were married at noon today in the Church of St. John the Evangelist at Herts, Gyl in Sussex. Only members of the two families were present. These included Ambassador and Mrs. Kerens who arrived from the Austrian capital last night. Father Bert officiated. Miss Mary Dudley Kenna, a niece of the bride, was bridesmaid, and C. Stevenson Hulbert of Philadelphia best man.

A wedding breakfast was served at The Rocks, Bours Head, Sussex, the country house of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dudley Kenna.

CITY GROWTH IS EXPENSIVE

Prof. Marsh Says It Is Big Factor in High Cost of Living.

Distance Between Centers of Production and Consumption Too Great.

New York, Sept. 3.—That the remarkable increase in the population of the big cities of the country, shown by the thirteenth census, is one of the leading causes of the prevailing high cost of living, is the declaration of Prof. Benjamin Clarke Marsh, secretary of the committee on congestion of population in New York.

"We will have to stop land speculation and eliminate the cost of transit," says Mr. Marsh in a statement on the subject. "If we wish to reduce the high cost of living, for they are two fundamental matters which make life expensive for urban dwellers."

"While the census returns show that Detroit is the leader in rapid growth of big cities in this country, several of the boroughs in New York have exceeded Detroit. The Bronx, for instance, has increased its population nearly twice as rapidly as Detroit."

"This phenomenal jump has increased the cost of living, because we have concentrated in cities, particularly large cities, persons who could and should provide for themselves on a farm."

Who Pays the Freight. Then, again, our centers of production are enormous distances from our centers of consumption. We have in New York city, roughly speaking, one-eighth of the total population of the country. The raw material for the goods we produce is shipped here from all parts of the country, and then shipped back again. Somebody pays the freight, and it is the consumer in the long run.

Another point is that we are housing the poor unconsciously. Land used for tenement dwelling houses in certain parts of New York is worth $13 a square foot upwards. If we could distribute factories and population so that toilers could walk to their work, New York could cut out $10,000,000 a year in car fares and still provide better housing than is provided today, and also save billions of hours' time."

RAIDING LONDON BUCKET SHOPS

Police Are Stirred to Action By Revelations in Courts.

London, Sept. 3.—Stirred to action by revelations made at recent court cases, the city police today started a brisk campaign against the bucket-shops. The latter sprang up like mushrooms in the vicinity of the stock exchange during the rubber boom and complaints from the public of loaded dice methods were followed by the issuance by the authorities of the search warrants.

BIG AERIAL MEET OPENS

Englishman Is First to Fly in Boston-Harvard Events.

Frenchman's Trip to Bordeaux in Biplane is Finished.

Atlantic, Mass., Sept. 3.—Under ideal conditions and perfect aviation weather, the Boston-Harvard Aero meet of ten days was opened today with a list of events which were participated in by some of the best known aviators in this country and Europe.

Claude Grahame White of England, who has announced his intentions of going after every prize, made the first flight of the day. It was an unofficial one in which Grahame White circled the field three times at a height of about 100 feet. The distance was six miles and his time was announced at 7 minutes, 7.8 seconds.

Frenchman Ends Flight. Bordeaux, Sept. 3.—M. Bisouvel arrived at noon from Angouleme, completing the final stage of his biplane flight of 666 miles from Paris to Bordeaux. He made the trip with but four stops, his time being 7:05:54. On the last leg he maintained an hourly speed average of 54 miles.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE STRIKE

Columbus Traction Trouble to Undergo an Investigation.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 3.—Attorney General U. S. Denman, who has been instructed by Governor Judson Harmon to take up a grand jury inquiry of the Columbus street car strike, said this morning that he would arrive in Columbus Tuesday to commence the investigation. His findings will be placed before the grand jury, which convenes Sept. 19.

Mr. Denman refused to discuss the governor's letter.

Ex-President Leaves Omaha a Full-Fledged Knight of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Sioux Falls Is Ready to Give Him a Hearty Welcome.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 3.—Theodore Roosevelt resumed his tour through the West early today. He left at 8:05 o'clock for Sioux Falls, after a breakfast at the Omaha club with the Roosevelt reception committee. He will stop at Sioux City on his way north.

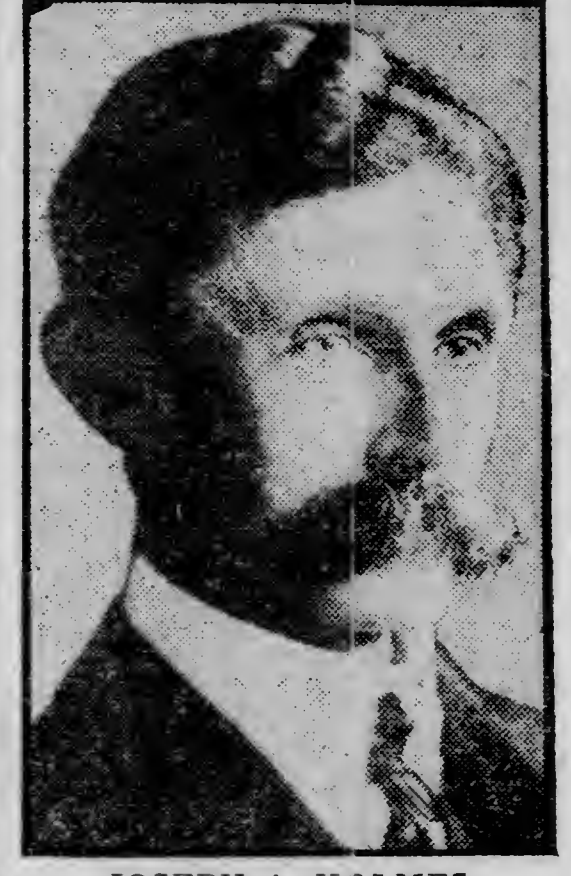

Col. Roosevelt was made a member of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben last night and attended a smoker at the "Den," the home of the knights. Two initiates, dressed to resemble Speaker Cannon and Senator La Follette, were placed on trial before the court of Ak-Sar-Ben for some crime the nature of which was not set forth. Their counsel defended them so eloquently that they were acquitted. He wrung the hearts of the jury by depicting "Cannon" as a man who stood pat on the burning deck, whence pretty nearly all but him had fled.

Sentenced Them Both. "La Follette" was represented as the friend of the corporations, because, when they were sorely bothered with the task of counting all their money, he used things so that they wouldn't have so much money to count. The jury unanimously acquitted them. "Cannon" had passed a roll of stage money into the jury box. The court said the defendants having been acquitted, it was his painful duty to en-

NEW RECORD IN IMPORTS

All Previous Years Are Beat- en By That Ending July 31.

Customs Receipts Are $17-000,000 Bigger Than the Year Before.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Uncle Sam's import trade under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law during the past year was a record-breaker, according to the government's statistical experts. Under this law, during the twelve months ending July 31 last, imports aggregated $1,562,600,000 came into the United States. Of this vast total $794,600,000 was listed as dutiable, while $768,000,000 entered free of duty. Although it was the first year of the Payne-Aldrich law, it eclipsed all former records under the Dingley, Wilson and McKinley laws. Until the Payne-Aldrich law became effective Aug. 1, 1909, the banner year of the previous eleven years had been 1907, when the Dingley act, an aggregate of $1,456,000,000 of imports was recorded.

Excess of $17,000,000. Customs receipts during the past year amounted to $2,730,000,000, which was more than $17,000,000 in excess of the previous year under the Dingley act. The customs receipts during each of the eleven years preceding 1910 showed a much less encouraging record, except in 1904 and 1907, when the customs receipts exceeded that year's total. During the past year March showed larger customs receipts than any other month during that period, with a total of $33,700,000.

ALEX. G. McKNIGHT

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS, EIGHTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Mr. McKnight has a splendid record as a public official. During his service in the council in Duluth he stood squarely for the public interests. He was not afraid to make enemies when he was convinced he was right. The same purpose will guide him in Congress. He says he will not vote for Cannon and that he will not do so even if the petty patronage usually given to congressmen is withheld. Mr. McKnight is a thoroughly Progressive Republican. He is so by nature and not for campaign purposes only.

The Pipestone Star, published in Mr. McKnight's old home, predicts that if he is elected "he will make a splendid record for HONEST and ABLE SERVICE."

—Mohammed.BUILDING A CITY.

Quite the most spectacular rise among American cities that the federal census has shown is that of Detroit, which increased its population 63 per cent from 1900 to 1910, and jumped over several rivals to a new place in the comparative list of cities.

The way the feat was accomplished is a valuable lesson to every aspiring city, to Duluth no less than to any other.

What made Detroit grow? Automobile manufacturing. How did Detroit gain the lead as an automobile manufacturing center? By deliberately and aggressively going out after the business.

If Detroit had sat back half asleep, and let the automobile manufacturing business gravitate wherever it inclined, its population might have increased, but not in any such proportion as to make its gain notable.

But Detroit went out after business and got it, and with it got many new pay rolls and thousands of well-paid, well-employed, contented and prosperous citizens.

What Detroit could do, another city can do. It is merely a matter of determination and aggressiveness.

Says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "There was no reason why Detroit should have become the automobile center. It simply grabbed the business. If 38,000 Detroit workmen are now employed by automobile factories, and 12,000 more by manufacturers of motor accessories, it is due merely to the determination of the city that it was going to manufacture something. This business, with its astonishing rapidity of growth, was the inspiration of all the others. Every one decided to branch out. The stove factories built additions, and rushed for business. Little machine shops grew into engine works. The car plant decided to do more business there. Through the central commercial organization general encouragement was given. The idea was to boom everything. Everything was boomed."

One city stands still because its people are sitting still. Another city goes ahead because its people are pushers. Still another city, with marvelous advantages coupled with rather languid efforts toward self-help, grows satisfactorily, but not so much as it might. We won't mention examples of the first kind of city. Detroit is a conspicuous example of the second kind of city. We fear that Duluth is an example of the third kind of city.

It is true that some cities have hustled mightily without large results, but that is no argument against hustling. Perhaps there was something fundamentally wrong with these cities that made them undesirable as sites for new enterprises. Very likely there were disadvantages that would have kept them back still more if they hadn't hustled.

Anyway, hustling is good for a city. It shows that the hustlers have faith in it themselves. Faith in the home community is common enough; but this is a conspicuous case where faith without works is vanity.

CHARITY.

James F. Jackson, charity expert, told The Herald last night that "charity is not a question of enabling people to live until tomorrow; it is a question of improving the condition of the individual and of the community."

That's the true modern doctrine of charity. Temporary relief, while often necessary, is in itself merely an aggravation of the disease. It tends to confirm the poor in pauperism. Scientific charity seeks out the causes of poverty and tries to remedy the conditions that create it. While administering temporary relief to ward off starvation, it also extends a helping hand in the endeavor to place dependents on their feet and to make them self-supporting. Its efforts are preventive, as well as palliative.

A MATTER OF GRADES.

A local citizen writes to The Herald asking why it would not be a good plan to suggest to those who are laying out new additions and divisions that they give some attention to the matter of street grades and the grades of approaches, especially as many of these new subdivisions are on the hillsides.

No reason occurs to us why it would not be a good plan to make this suggestion, for it seems to have sound reasoning back of it.

Says this citizen: "In the matter of grades, isn't it time that we Duluth people considered the expediency of laying out our streets in such a way as to induce traffic, and cannot we learn some lessons from other cities that teach us that the most valuable property is the property most easily approached, witness the high prices prevailing for properties on Third avenue west, as compared with property on the steeper avenues. Naples is situated like Duluth, and yet all attention there is given to easy grades. It is too late now to change the existing streets and avenues of our city, but surely there is no excuse for repeating the mistakes of the past in the plans of the future. Some of the new additions to the town are showing a lamentable neglect as to the matter of approaches by easy grades, which apart from the hardship on all transportation interests, must necessarily work toward the lessening of the ultimate desirability and value of the properties. It is before these approaches are built up that these mistakes should be rectified, and what is an easy matter now will probably be next to impossibility in ten years. It is a matter of vital importance that some of these glaring mistakes which must be apparent to the most casual observer should be corrected now."

It seems reasonable enough. Property that is approached by an easy grade is unquestionably more desirable, and therefore more salable and more valuable, than property that is approached by steep grades. In a city of hills it is not always possible to provide easy approaches, yet there is usually some choice in the matter, and it sounds like good business policy to arrange the approaches so that they shall take the gentlest slopes possible. In many communities, older than Duluth, large areas have been excavated to provide for easy grades. In Seattle, it should be remembered, the city is spending a vast amount of money in leveling hills already built upon, and therefore far more difficult to handle than they would have been before building began.

There appears to be nothing the city can do about this matter. It rests largely with the judgment of those who plan new additions. Some of those who have recently put on new divisions have considered this side of the problem, and have made the approaches to their property as easy as possible. They showed wisdom in so doing, and since property easily approached is so evidently more valuable than property that is approached with difficulty, their example may wisely be followed by others.

THE MEASURE OF WAGES.

The real measure of wages is not their size, but their purchasing power.

When a dollar a day will provide the family with its daily needs and leave a balance against rainy days and old age, a dollar a day is good wages.

When three dollars a day will not suffice to meet the pressing needs of the family, when prices are so high that this sum will not keep the worker's family in decent comfort, then three dollars a day is poor wages.

Wages have increased in this country since 1896, but the cost of living has increased so much faster, thanks to tariff taxes and the greed of monopolies, that wages that would have looked large fourteen years ago are really inadequate today.

Plenty of people overlook this important fact that the measure of wages is not their amount but their purchasing power. A dollar that will buy only four pounds of meat is not so good a dollar as that which will buy six pounds of meat.

This is illustrated vividly by an article in the September McClure's magazine in which Dr. Henry Smith Williams shows, among other things, that there was a time when 8 cents a day was good wages.

Says he: "There was a time when a workman in England received 8 cents a day as an ordinary wage, when skilled artisans commanded 12 cents a day, and when women worked in the fields at such tasks as reaping straw, hoeing, planting beans, and washing sheep, for 2 cents a day; and a wise student of the subject has expressed the opinion that the British workman of that day was better off than he has ever been since."

"That sounds paradoxical. But the explanation is this: The workman who sold his services for 8 cents a day could buy good beef or mutton for 1½ cents a pound; wheat cost him, on the average, only 18 cents a bushel. He could get board for from 12 to 16 cents a week. The pay he would receive for fifteen weeks' service would suffice to purchase a supply of suitable foodstuffs, according to the standard of his time (consisting of wheat, malt and oatmeal), to furnish his family for an entire year."

"Under these circumstances 8 cents a day—increased to 12 cents in harvest time—was a fair wage, and 'times were good' for the average workman."

It is a good deal of nuisance, in a way, to have wages expressed in terms of money. Money is such a fluctuating commodity that a day's wages that may be satisfactory one year may be wholly inadequate another year. If there were some way of expressing payment for labor in terms of the necessities of life, it would be much simpler. One's idea of a dollar is likely to be that of a stationary, fixed value, no matter whether its purchasing power is great or small. Yet it is very clear that a dollar that will buy only four pounds of meat is a smaller dollar than that which buys six pounds, and that what may be good wages in times of low prices becomes very poor wages when the advance in prices outstrips the advance in pay.

IS WOMAN SUFFRAGE DESTRUCTION?

Molly Elliot Seawell, a capable and successful author, contributes to the current Atlantic Monthly an exhaustive argument against woman suffrage. If she had argued for woman suffrage, instead of against it, and used such poor logic and such lame reasoning as she does in this article, she would have provided a far better case against votes for women than she does.

Her points are three: First, that voting is not a natural right, but a privilege which can be withheld, on which point she quotes Senator Root, somewhat unhappily since he is one of the nation's foremost defenders of the privileged classes; second, that no electorate ever has existed or ever can exist which cannot execute its own laws; third, that no voter has ever claimed, or ever can claim, maintenance from another voter.

The first point, though much used by reactionaries everywhere, is monstrous and unthinkable. Voting a privilege? By whom is the "privilege" extended? Who, except by usurpation, has the right to limit democracy? There is no earthly power higher than the will of the people. All else is usurpation, from the kingship down to man's monopoly of the ballot, that is maintained only by force.

It is easy to imagine how the idea grew that the franchise is a privilege to be granted or withheld.

A king, with the swords of the barons at his throat, conceded to them a share in the government. "But I yield it as a privilege," he said, "not as a right." Later, when the privileged classes grew powerful and threatened revolt, the king and barons were forced to yield a share in the government to them; "not as a right, but as a privilege." When the disinherited, unprivileged classes grew dangerous, kings, barons and proprietors grudgingly yielded a share of the government to them, not in a spirit of justice but in a spirit of fear. Thus has democracy grown, and man, the builder and creator, has slowly come into his own. When he gained the ballot he gained a right, not a privilege; for none below God existed who had a right to limit the power of humanity except by the right of might.

Miss Seawell argues her second point, that women could not execute their own laws, on the theory of physical weakness. They could not force their way to the polls against opposition, and they are not physically strong enough to enforce the laws they may make. That presupposes society's inability to preserve order at the polls. It is a false premise, false logic and false conclusion. Her rule, worked out logically, would disfranchise every man who, however great his mental powers, is not physically strong enough to be a policeman. Not all men are fitted to be bullies or policemen; many men are as little fitted for such work as are most women. But that is no argument against votes for women, any more than it is an argument against votes for men not fitted to go on the police force to enforce laws. Men fitted to do the work of executing laws would continue to execute them even though women voted. Perhaps some women would prove themselves physically fit to be policemen, but that wouldn't be necessary.

Her third argument, that women can't vote because they owe their maintenance to men, is absurdly wrong. The relation of husband and wife is not always that of provider and dependent. The woman does her share, and few earn their maintenance more than do most wives. The idea that women, if they gained the ballot, would have to give up their property rights and cease asking men to earn livings for them is ridiculous.

The fact is that William Dean Howells was right when he said: "I have heard many appeals against woman suffrage, but I never have heard any arguments against it."

MINNESOTA'S CONSERVATION POLICY.

Last evening The Herald printed a dispatch from St. Paul published by the Indianapolis News, in which a correspondent praised the wisdom of Minnesota in holding its natural resources for the benefit of all the people, and told about some of the rich fruits of this policy.

Editorially The News says: "Such conservation, such are the fruits of conservation. The state's development has not been arrested by the holding of the land out of the market. There has been enough timber for all. The mines have been developed. In short, Minnesota has prospered in every way. The state is fully abreast of its neighbors. Conservation has been found to be not inconsistent with reasonable use. And it has been found that use does not involve waste. * * *

Surely Minnesota should serve as an object lesson. We commend the experience of Minnesota to any who may be doubtful as to the wisdom of the policy conservation."

It's all true. Minnesota's policy has been wise and fruitful. Her example may well be profitable to the nation, and may well confound those who hold that conservation means denying anything that is fair to the present generation.

If there is doubt anywhere it is about the policy of holding back the land. It was wise to hold it back, perhaps, until it was needed and while government homesteads were available. Now, however, the state's chief aim should be to get its arable land into the hands of tillers of the soil. The price received for it is not so important as the wealth that will come from its cultivation and from the taxes its new owners will pay into state and local treasuries. It was wise to hold it a generation ago. To hold it longer is folly.

ROGERS BOULEVARD.

Though we agree heartily with the park board that the name "Rogers boulevard" is not adequately descriptive or attractive, the board's refusal to change the name that everybody had forgotten for sixteen years is taken as final, for the present at least, and the prize of $10 has been awarded to the lady who first sent in the name that has been chosen.

Digging up an old and forgotten name isn't quite the same as picking a new one, but there are sentimental reasons for the board's action, even though it still leaves the "boulevard" without a name that will attract attention to it from abroad. It is well to honor Col. W. K. Rogers, who made this splendid driveway possible, though perhaps it would have been quite as well to give his name to the heights which the driveway borders, and which appears to have no name at present.

If the discussion has attracted attention to the park system, and created new interest in its development, it has been worth while, and that seems to be the case.

THE STATE FAIR.

Minnesota's state fair is always the greatest show of the kind in the country, and this year, speaking accurately and not at all with the press agent's license, it promises to be the best and greatest in the history of the state.

The fair itself, without any adventitious aid, is well worth seeing, and in every department it will be stronger than ever before. In past years, though agriculture is the state's chief source of wealth, the department of agriculture has been comparatively a minor feature. This year, thanks to the industry and enterprise of C. P. Craig of Duluth, who has it in charge, it will be one of the leading features. Incidentally, St. Louis county has an exhibit at the state fair that is worth going to see for itself.

And if all the regular attractions, with many new ones of a kindred nature, are not enough, this year the fair boasts the president of the United States and the only living ex-president as attractions, together with many lesser luminaries called there by the conservation congress.

The fair promises to be a vast credit to the state, and here's hoping it has good weather and a record-breaking attendance.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 100 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SUGGESTIONOF TAX PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In view of the discussion on the matter of taxes, I beg to request, Mr. Editor, that you insert the following in the columns of your valuable paper.

I believe that the personal property assessment should be abolished, because it distributes the burden of taxation unevenly, being heaviest on those least able to pay. In place of this and the present system of real estate taxation, I would substitute a tax on land based on what the property was capable of supporting, the ability to support being based on the earning power of buildings in a given district, that is to say, on the value of the property. This would equalize the burden of taxation instead of penalizing a man for putting up improvements. It would make owners of vacant property improve it in order to make a profit, and carry its burden of taxation, instead of being a burden on the community. It would prevent speculation by parties buying vacant property and holding it until the surrounding property has been improved, and thus increasing the value of the vacant property at the expense of others. Finally, it would have a tendency to centralize a growing city instead of spreading out over long stretches of territory, thus saving the cost of maintaining this city is due to the fact that there are long stretches of vacant territory through which improved streets, water and gas mains, and other public utilities are maintained at the expense of the general taxpayer.

As an example of the present system of taxation, one lot in the above block has been improved, and its assessed value will be taxed $6,350. Another lot in the same block, of the same size and capable of producing equally as much, has not been improved, and its assessed value will be taxed $1,700. The lots are the same size and capable of producing equally as much, and should be assessed the same. Under this method the kind of structure would make no difference. The tax would be the same. In connection with this system, an income tax must be levied, the operation of which is best understood by the following example:

Under the suggested method I buy one lot and erect on it my residence, which yields to me a saving of $500 a year in rentals. The adjoining owner has lots on which he has erected a building that returns a yearly revenue of $100. He has also a vacant lot, as much as I on the land tax revenue will be assessed four times as much on his income, or other words, if I pay a total tax of $150 on a basis of 10 per cent of my income, he will pay a total tax of $600 on a basis of 10 per cent of his income. The flat owner would pay four times as much or $600, instead of $150 land tax and $450 income tax.

It is apparent that such a system would absolutely equalize the burden of taxation between all parties in proportion to their holdings and incomes, and must eventually be the one that will supersede the present system of annual taxes.

WHY PROHIBITIONDOES NOT PROHIBIT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an editorial last Tuesday you called attention to the fact that the prohibition territory by local county or state laws, and the increase in the amount of liquor consumed, both brewed and distilled. Your conclusion is that "either considerable liquor is being used in dry territory, or the people of that territory are gazing at a prodigious and alarming rate."

The conclusion is of course correct. And the hills are hard to climb; I know the feet get bruised and sore, and it takes hours of time. I know the burden's heavy—Oh, you needn't tempt to say! But just keep a-plodding onward—For the road'll turn some day! I know that homesick feeling. And the acle you hear do play! I know your heart is breaking. By the bravely stilled moan.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALKThe Things That Come to Us All.

An intimate friend of Phillips Brooks told me that toward the end of his life an occasional period of depression disturbed the usually serene and hopeful spirit of the great preacher. "Was it," I asked, "due to any doubt on his part concerning the foundations of his 'Christian faith'?" "Not that," was the reply, "but Phillips Brooks was human and could not help being somewhat affected by the things that come to us all."

"The things that come to us all." What a multitude of experiences those six little words cover! They suggest the glory and the shadow of human life. The common burden, how great it is, how inescapable!

Physical frailty involving for all of us more or less of weariness, illness and at last the dissolution of body and spirit is a source of anxiety and pain. And when it affects those near and dear to us, it is a source of grief and sorrow. These precious ties of earth are fleeting. They may break at any moment. One may reach old age himself but ere he is three score and ten, he rides in many funeral processions and often outlives those whose presence was sweeter than that of life.

But if the death of those near and dear to us is a source of grief and sorrow, it is also a source of joy and comfort. The immortal part of us yields its own peace and joy to the souls of those who have passed on. The things that come to us to bear it sometimes think the hardest is self-satisfaction, the sense of having ourselves only partially under control, the consciousness of falling so far below our ideals, the weakness of our wills, our vacillation, irresolution, the futility of our endeavors, the burr-like qualities of little faults and failings, the wrong things done and the good things left undone. Who of us facing fairly himself, is not at times almost overwhelmed with penitence and remorse?

Another thing that comes to us all is the friction involved in human relationship. It is not always easy for us to live with those whom we love and it is probably quite as hard for those who love us to live with us. As for puzzle of death, the best of things that come to us are those with whom we have to live or work more or less of our lives. But here again we want to turn to the effect we are having upon them.

Over and above all these causes of spiritual disquiet is the impenetrability of the universe, the silence of the heavens, the mystery of disaster, the puzzle of death, the question that cannot be completely answered, the doubts that come and go and some agonizing.

These are some of the things that come to us all. Mark that last word! It is not a list of things that come to us, but a list of things that we must face. It is not altogether better instead of wishing we were not here, to realize that we are here, and in the light of the Christian revelation, make the things that come to us all stepping stones to the heights of character.

There were scams in North Carolina, willing to rob their mother in this behalf, and they met in Richmond, Va., conspiring to do the infamy. Josephus Daniels heard of it, and in a furious editorial he bludgeoned the scoundrels into submission. The federal judge hailed him out and assessed a fine of $2,000 for contempt. Josephus, however, in a court, damned himself. If he

AT THE THEATERS

THE COMING WEEK AT THE THEATERS.

LYCEUM—Sunday and Monday, "The Witching Hour"; Wednesday and Thursday, "The Cow and the Moon"; Friday and Saturday, "The Awakening of Helena Richie".
NEW ORPHEUM—New Vaudeville Bill.
BIJOU—New Vaudeville Bill.
ORPHEUM and LYRIC—The Latest Motion Pictures.

The dramatic season is on in full swing, and next week Duluthians will have an opportunity of witnessing the first of the Shubert bookings at the Lyceum.

Mrs. Pliske really opened the season at the Lyceum two weeks ago, but she is still booked by Klaw & Erlanger. This was one of the so-called trust attractions that held over, and played the Lyceum by a peculiar combination of circumstances. Next week's bookings, however, bear the Shubert brand. "The Witching Hour" is well known by reputation here having been freely discussed in the illustrated monthly magazines. "The Cow and the Moon" is a musical extravaganza of the type of "The Evil Eye," only claimed to be on a little higher plane. Margaret Anglin is also known by reputation, as is her play, "The Awakening of Helena Richie."

There is no question but that the Shuberts have a wealth of attractions to offer the public this winter. The only trouble seems to be in getting the huge machinery of the circuit in working order. For instance, the bookings made all been made when Henry W. Savage switched over to the independents and asked for time. He had to be given it, and fat city time, too. Then all the work had to be done over again. All has been confusion in the booking office, and order is just beginning to evolve itself out of chaos. Few of the managers know what they are going to get, more than a few weeks ahead. But the Shuberts have the goods if they can deliver them.

The Pierce Players closed their engagement at the Lyceum tonight, and they will begin another tour of the Copper country. They played to fairly good business during their three weeks in Duluth, and the three productions were much better than those of the average stock company, and a credit to the managers and owners.

The Orpheum fully maintained the pace set by the opening bill, in its bill last week. The performance as a whole was probably superior to the opening week's program, and the patronage showed that it was appreciated. The theater was sold out every night in the week, and the matinees drew well-filled houses.

The tubid drama, or vaudeville sketch, is beginning to drop its apologetic air, and assume more the proportions of real drama. The sketches being presented this year are more pretentious than ever and some of them have genuine dramatic merit. It will be interesting to see how closely "The Code Book" at the Orpheum next week, approaches real drama. It has created more discussion than almost any recent vaudeville sketch, and is presented by two most capable stars and a supporting company.

The Bijou announces this week that in future its program will consist of six numbers instead of five, and the shows will open on Sunday night instead of Monday.

Duluth is not the first city where Sullivan & Considine have fought the Orpheum people, and they evidently do not intend to allow any of their well-earned patronage here to get away if they can help it. The stereotypes are the ones who will profit by such rivalry and their attitude toward this little vaudeville war is "go

"THE AWAKENING OF HELENA RICHIE."

Margaret Anglin's engagement at the Lyceum of two nights and a matinee will begin on Friday, Sept. 3, when she will make her first appearance here. Miss Anglin has been around the world playing in Australia and New Zealand, where she achieved high honors for her wonderful art. "The Awakening of Helena Richie," her new play, has recently concluded a successful run of many months in New York and elsewhere after successful seasons in Chicago and Boston. The play, as has already been announced, is a dramatic version of Margaret Deland's novel of the same name and has been made for the stage by Charlotte Thompson, a successful young Californian playwright. Critics in New York and elsewhere are agreed that as Helena Richie, Miss Anglin has found a role eminently suited to her splendid dramatic qualities, and that it is her finest achievement, not exceeding her well remembered and remarkable acting in "Zola," "Mrs. Dane's Defense," and "The Great Divide." The heroine is surely worthy of the actress' great ability and a welcome for congratulation that Miss Anglin finds in Helena a better opportunity for her comedy powers than she enjoyed in the above mentioned productions.

At the Orpheum Next Week.

The story of the play is identical with the salient points in the novel the dominating situation of which is in Helena's profoundly stirring confession of her life's history to Dr. Lavender, the old clergyman of Mrs. Deland's creation. The action takes place in a village in Western Pennsylvania and the gossip thereof play a prominent part in the unfolding of the heroine's peace and happiness. Miss Thompson is credited with having skillfully preserved the author's intentions and those who are familiar with the book should have little cause to regret the turning of it into a stage play.

The play is in four acts and there are two scenes, one of which is in Helena's parlor and the other is in her old-world garden. Miss Anglin personally cast and directed the production, aided by Mrs. Deland, who is now for the first time laying one of her stories out on the stage. Great pains would seem to have been exercised in securing proper types of actors to represent the quaint characters and Miss Anglin's efforts in that direction have met with cordial approval. The supporting company includes Howard Hull, John J. Crahan, Walter Howe, Halbert Brown, Eugene Shakespeare, Raymond Hackett, Gertrude Swiggert and Sally Williams.

"THE WITCHING HOUR" COMING TO DULUTH.

The most scholarly and distinguished of American critics, William Winter, has declared that the greatest American play of this decade is "The Witching Hour," in which John Mason and a distinguished company will appear at the Lyceum Sunday and Monday, with a Labor day matinee. The story of this fascinating play is as follows: The scene of the play is laid in Louisville, Ky., and Washington. Jack Brookfield is a professional gambler, having become very wealthy through his playing, though he has the reputation of always making money. He is married to a woman he loves has refused to marry him because of his profession, and on the night when the play opens he asks her, now a widow with a son of 21 to take up the old romance and conclude the story. They are interrupted by the appearance of Judge Prentice, the district court, who comes to look at a Corot that is in the picture collection of Brookfield. The judge answers several questions that Brookfield is thinking of asking. "If you pick answers often like that," asks the gambler.

And then the judge proceeds to explain that telepathy is an accepted scientific fact, all of which is news to Brookfield, who now muses on his own ability to win at cards. The act concluded with the murder of a drunken man by young Whipple, who has inherited aversion for a cat's eye pin, and is unable to restrain himself when the drunken man pushes it in front of his face.

In the second act the library of Judge Prentice is shown. Young Whipple has been tried for murder and found guilty, and the case is set before the supreme court on a constitutional point. Brookfield and his sweetheart, who is there, is the guilty boy, come to the judge to remind him that years before he had fought a duel with a man over his very same cat's eye aversion, and the girl involved in the case was the grandmother of young Whipple.

The third act is back in Kentucky and the second trial of the boy has been completed. The judge has given his testimony and the jury is out. The prosecuting attorney has been unusually bitter against the boy, for they had both been suitors for the hand of Brookfield's niece. The gambler is now thoroughly convinced of the fact of telepathy and hypnosis, and realizing that with his ability there is no such thing as a "square game" for him, has closed up his business. He is sitting alone, trying to influence by telepathy the mind of one juror, who he thinks is susceptible to his thought. Under Judge Prentice's direction he has had published in the newspapers the fact that the prosecuting attorney was responsible for the killing of Sevel, the governor-elect of Kentucky.

"What is the game?" asks a dubious fellow gambler. And Brookfield replies that if he can show the people of Kentucky the despicable character of the prosecuting attorney, his bitter prosecution of the boy will have no effect on the jury. And when he is told that the jury is not allowed to read the newspapers he replies that it is impossible for 200,000 people to think a thing and any twelve men in that community not be influenced by that thought.

There is a round of applause on this that would indicate that telepathy is accepted, even in New York first night audiences. The boy is acquitted. The prosecuting attorney is jeered out of court, comes rushing in to Brookfield and places a revolver against his breast. "You can't shoot that gun," says Brookfield, calmly looking him in the

"THE COW AND THE MOON" A MUSICAL EXTRAVAGANZA.

Charles A. Sellon who created a favorable impression as Happy in "The Cat and the Fiddle" will be seen here at the Lyceum in a continuation of this character in a new musical extravaganza, "The Cow and the Moon." He is duplicating his success and further establishing himself as a comedian of sterling worth. Hans and Mike still assist him together with the beautiful Geni. The new characters include: Great Domo, the ruler of the moon; Patolena, an operatic star, with whom Domo falls in love; Albert, true and fearless; Rosa the Cuban; Innocence, the maid who never saw a man; Tropolis, the wise man of the Rock; Pickelton, the general of the Man in the Moon's army; the moon demon; and Moon Beam; and Molly, the sacred cow, together with thirty-five other characters of more or less importance, but who all help in the action of the piece.

The scenes, some sixteen in number, include as a starter a quiet domestic scene in little old rural Notmichville, in Indiana, where Domo comes to seek his moon bride. Securing her, all depart on their trip to the moon, coming in a Pullman palace sleeping car, where many ludicrous and funny situations take place. The next shows the train as it approaches apparently many miles away and gradually coming nearer, first as a little speck on the horizon, and gradually growing larger and larger until the locomotive rumbles down to the footlights, a huge, panting, snorting engine head on. All go to sleep and the next scene shows "Happy" and "Innocence" in the Forest of Dreams, walking in their sleep. The Maids of the Mist appear and many startling and pleasing novelties. Next the Japanese palace of the idol, with its wonderful Far East sunset and prismatic colors, then the race through the mountains of Tibet in automobiles 11,000 miles a minute never touching the ground, reaching the great fire crater and the wise man of the rock. Counsel is taken and the trip continued. Refreshments are served at the Oriental restaurant, which is said to be one of the funniest scenes ever depicted on a stage. A visit is made to an Oriental bazaar and thence to the palace of the sacred cow, Molly, whence all aviate to the moon, where all things are settled, the good fairly restored and all ends happily.

It can readily be seen that a tremendous amount of scenery is needed to display these gorgeous effects. A large company is required for the many characters involved. For the numerous musical numbers a chorus of much charm and beauty is promised.

Mr. Sellon has a strong cast of extravaganza players including Florence Wills, Hazel Rice, Jean Croker, Clarence Sterling, Jack Blair, Harry Allen and many others.

The dates here are Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 7 and 8 at the Lyceum.

"The Code Book," a dramatic playlet, which has been a genuine sensation in the East for years past, will be the feature of the Orpheum bill next week, opening with the Sunday matinee.

"The Code Book" will probably be one of the most pretentious offerings in the sketch line, that Duluth will see this winter. It is claimed to have genuine dramatic merit, being a well rounded playlet instead of the ordinary fragmentary sketch. It is a playlet of military life, by De Witt Kaplan and Herbert Walter. Two of the four actors who comprise the cast are of more than ordinary prominence in their profession. Charles Pitt Hammond, who enacts the hero's role of "The Man," a cashiered English officer and wearer of the Victoria cross, who by a domestic tragedy has been made a wanderer on the face of the earth, and who is stage manager of the piece, is a native born Englishman, who during seven years of professional life in America has won no small distinction as a leading man. His American debut was a highly successful one, as a member of Miss Henrietta Crossman's company under the management of David Belasco, playing in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," in which charming play he created the character of Lord Verney, which he played commendably for three years, two of these with Miss Crossman and one with Miss Bertha Garland. He next played a season as leading man for Miss Amelia Bingham, the following year joining Miss Ethel Barrymore with whom he played for two seasons. Allen Atwell, who plays the part of "The servant" in "The Code Book," is one of California's native sons. He is a son of the late Judge A. J. Atwell, and a graduate of the University of California. Like Mr. Hammond, he too made his debut in the Belasco's auspices, playing first with "The Rose of the Rancho." He gradually gravitated toward character parts and in "Paid in Full," he gave a faithful portrayal of a Japanese servant in "The Code Book," he plays a similar part. His characterization is claimed to be so perfect that many refuse to believe it is an impersonation.

"The Code Book" is one of the most widely discussed of modern playlets, and if it carries out the record made in other cities, it will prove one of the big hits of the season. Miss Irene Howley is taking a vaudeville tour after a series of successes in musical comedy. She recently appeared in the support of "Dramatic Successes" in Havana, and with Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town," two of the most notable New York successes. She is referred to as the Harrison Fisher Girl, having posed for a series of that artist's popular pastels. Her vaudeville turn consists of what she calls "Singing Fun songs."

"The Continental Waiter," is the title of the amusing juggling and acrobatic act presented by Spisziel Brothers & Company. The original idea was conceived by Frank Spisziel while in Europe seven years ago, while watching the antics of a Bohemian waiter in a restaurant in Vienna. The waiter was new at the business, and he lasted but one evening, the value of the property destroyed exceeding the receipts of the cafe. But it gave Mr. Spisziel the idea for his act, which is one of the most noted eccentric acrobatic acts on the vaudeville stage.

Harry Fontelle and Viola Vallorio present a neat and amusing conversation act with songs and dances. Miss Valerie was recently with Richard Carle in "The Spring Chicken," and before that, with Rogers and Mrs. Fontelle is also a graduate of the musical comedy ranks.

Valentine and Dooley are making their initial appearance in the United States, over the Orpheum circuit. The act was imported from South America by Martin Beck. They perform many difficult feats on bicycle, and the act is interspersed with comedy. They were great favorites in Chili, Brazil, and other South American countries.

Iclmore & Farrell have a novel theatrical act. They present an amusing rehearsal scene. The bare stage is used for the setting for the act, and they

Miss Irene Howley is taking a vaudeville tour after a series of successes in musical comedy. She recently appeared in the support of "Dramatic Successes" in Havana, and with Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town," two of the most notable New York successes. She is referred to as the Harrison Fisher Girl, having posed for a series of that artist's popular pastels. Her vaudeville turn consists of what she calls "Singing Fun songs."

"The Continental Waiter," is the title of the amusing juggling and acrobatic act presented by Spisziel Brothers & Company. The original idea was conceived by Frank Spisziel while in Europe seven years ago, while watching the antics of a Bohemian waiter in a restaurant in Vienna. The waiter was new at the business, and he lasted but one evening, the value of the property destroyed exceeding the receipts of the cafe. But it gave Mr. Spisziel the idea for his act, which is one of the most noted eccentric acrobatic acts on the vaudeville stage.

Harry Fontelle and Viola Vallorio present a neat and amusing conversation act with songs and dances. Miss Valerie was recently with Richard Carle in "The Spring Chicken," and before that, with Rogers and Mrs. Fontelle is also a graduate of the musical comedy ranks.

Valentine and Dooley are making their initial appearance in the United States, over the Orpheum circuit. The act was imported from South America by Martin Beck. They perform many difficult feats on bicycle, and the act is interspersed with comedy. They were great favorites in Chili, Brazil, and other South American countries.

Iclmore & Farrell have a novel theatrical act. They present an amusing rehearsal scene. The bare stage is used for the setting for the act, and they

EVANS, JR., THE WINNER

Has Distinction of Being the First Amateur to Win
Open Tournament.

Defeats George Simpson, the Professional, 6 Up and 5 to Play.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Charles Evans, Jr., of the Edgewater Golf club of Chicago, yesterday achieved the honor of being the first amateur to win an open tournament in this country. In the 36-hole final for the Western open championship at the Beverly Country club he defeated George Simpson, the professional of the La Grange Country Club of Chicago, 6 up and 5 to play. Three years ago Simpson won the amateur championship of Scotland, and the match yesterday was a triumph for the young American golfer who is considered to have a fine chance of winning the national amateur event at the coming year.

Evans' victory netted him the championship gold medal and $200, which he will have to receive in late. He also won $25 in prize for low score in the qualifying round. Simpson received $100, and the second prize, $50, went to the winner of the consolation tournament in the afternoon. Evans missed a putt on the first green and that was the only hole Simpson was able to win in the first nine.

On six successive greens, the professional took only one putt, but so fine was Evans' short game that these putts only netted the La Grange golfer a few holes. Evans took the seventh hole—45 yards—in 34, making the hole with two perfect shots and a 10-foot putt on the ninth green. Evans had hole 34 and he was 4 up at the twenty-seventh hole.

A two at the twelfth and a three at the thirteenth gave Evans the match 6 to 5.

LONG SERIES WITH RED SOX

Duluth and Superior Will Close Season With Nine Games.

Beginning tomorrow Duluth and Superior will start a nine-game series which will settle the question of supremacy between the two teams and will also bring to a close the 1910 season of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league. Red Wing and Rochester will leave the head of the Lakes at the conclusion of the two double-headers this afternoon. Red Wing will meet the Sox in two games at Athletic park, while the Sox will play at Superior. The schedule was changed to conform with the wishes of the local management and also the wishes of the Superior club owners. The trip to Rochester and Red Wing would have simply Red Wing at Duluth—two games. Rochester at Superior—two games. Eau Claire at La Crosse. Wausau at Winona.

EAU CLAIRE HAS EASY TIME WITH LA CROSSE.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eau Claire had little difficulty in winning yesterday. Byers being wild and the Outcasts making four errors behind him. After the second inning the Outcasts could do nothing with the batters of Morrow. The local team won only two during the remainder of the game. Score: R. H. E. Eau Claire 10, La Crosse 2. Batters—Morrow and Denard; Byers and Wals.

PIRATES DEFEAT WAUSAU IN EXTRA INNING GAME.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Winona won a close and exciting game over Wausau yesterday. Practically clinching its hold on second place. Winona got off in the first inning with a pair of errors on the part of Winona enabled the Jacks to take the lead in the third and fourth innings. The Pirates tied up the game in the eighth and won out in the eleventh inning in error and two singles. Lakoff was dickered in no eighth in favor of Fennell. Score: R. H. E. Wausau 10, Pirates 2. Batters—Lakoff, Fennell and Johnson; Wagner and Stark.

WARSHIP RIVALRY

Written for The Herald By E. J. Edwards ("Holland.")

(Copyright, 1910, by E. J. Edwards.)

Five years hence—should the predictions of those who profess to know all about it be verified—all America, and more especially the United States, will be adrift with enthusiasm over the completion of the Panama canal. Indeed, despite the dismal croakings of those who maintained that it could never be built at all and the almost equally discouraging theories of those who argued that its building would require more than one generation of stupendous effort, sufficient progress has been made to warrant fully the belief that, barring accident or unforeseen difficulty, the celebration of the completion of this great oceanic waterway may be scheduled for the year 1915.

Already there are numerous well-known Americans who have sounded the note of preparation. Thus far the popular idea seems to have settled on a single monster jubilation to be held in some great center of population, and not on a general national jollification. When the time comes for the selection of such a point "the friendly rivalry of cities" will begin indeed. Between the two Portlands which dominate our Northeastern and Northwestern coasts there will be many a municipal heartache when the decision is announced.

In the meantime certain zealous promoters of civic greatness are already in the field. For the most part they hail from the Pacific and Gulf coasts, and because they are such staunch believers in the justice of their cause they have come into the competition with abundant strength. There is not a man among them who is not convinced that to his particular section or city belongs the glory of this national demonstration at the opening of the Panama canal. And, firm in this belief, they are scattering subscriptions for huge exposition funds and making plans to appeal to the government for the usual additional financial support.

Small though it is when compared with the other cities already in the fore in the fight for the Panama canal exposition, San Diego has two ardent champions, and none of its rivals can boast of exposition promoters whose names are better known.

These are John D. Spreckels, who is given his father's name, and John D. Spreckels, whose father made the family name as familiar in the marts of trade the world over as the Grant name is universally familiar in the profession of war.

U. S. Grant, Boomer for San Diego. U. S. Grant, who, in his father's lifetime, signed himself "U. S. Grant, Jr.," but who has been commonly known by the family nickname of "Buck," has been a resident of San Diego for seven years. During that period he has taken such an active interest in the welfare of the city in particular, and of all California in general, that at one time it was seriously planned to nominate him as his party's candidate for United States senator, and twice he has been a presidential elector-at-large and a delegate-at-large to the national convention of the Republican party. Even since his removal to San Diego he has identified himself with the business growth of the community, and he has recently been among those who financed the construction in his home city of one of the largest hotels on the Pacific coast. Just as this hotel is one of the show places of the city, so also is Mr. Grant's home, which the public persists admiringly in designating as a palace to strangers within the city's gates. Much like his father in temperament, Mr. Grant works quietly and unobtrusively, but nevertheless he is heart and soul in the fight for San Diego as the site of the great governmental endowed Panama canal exposition, and his fellow townsmen feel that with this son of the great Civil War general on their side they have a great asset over their rivals.

Mr. Grant's career actually began in 1876, following his graduation from the Columbia Law school in that year, though previously he had been his father's secretary when the general was president. The son began the practice of law in New York city, serving for a time as assistant United States district attorney. When he was tempted into that most unfortunate private banking partnership by Ferdinand Ward which caused the financial ruin of his father and himself, although father and son were absolutely clear of the slightest responsibility for the unbusinesslike conduct of Ward, who, convicted of felony, spent seven years in state's prison at Sing Sing. Today, however, thanks to his business sagacity, Mr. Grant does not have to worry about the question of income and outgo; and in addition, his wife, the daughter of the late Senator Chaffee of Colorado, is very wealthy in her own name. She practices Grant were married in 1880, four years before the Ferdinand Ward disaster occurred.

Mr. Grant is an enthusiastic Californian, yet he and his family spend a part of each year upon a beautiful farm in Westchester county, New York, a farm which adjoins the one upon which the late D. O. Mills, who made his millions in trade and banking in California, lived. Mr. Grant spends much time among his books. He is a great reader of modern literature and is as familiar, perhaps, with the best work done by the writers of today as any man of his years, which now number fifty-eight. With his cigar—for he is an inveterate smoker—as was his father—and with the best of modern novels upon his table, as companions, Mr. Grant frequently reads far into the night. Not a few of his days when he is in the East are spent quietly in the reading rooms of the Union League club, in New York city.

A Fateful Yachting Trip. That John D. Spreckels has es-posed the cause of San Diego with all the energy which he is accustomed to put into his gigantic commercial enterprises has probably done more to put substance into the San Diego campaign than any other single step taken by that community. Mr. Spreckels is determined that California shall secure the exposition prize, and he is in favor of San Diego as the location especially designed by Providence for the event. For a quarter of a century he has found time to devote himself largely to the development of San Diego and a reputed to have invested $1,000,000 annually in its improvement during that period. His holdings there today, with his associates and individually, are enormous, covering about all of the public utilities and close corporations. His San Diego residence is one of the show places not only of the Pacific coast, but of the entire continent. New York's "Millionaire" tower, in Fifth avenue, has nothing to compare with it, not even excepting the great stone palace of former Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, or the Carnegie mansion, dooryard and fence. All of these enterprises and the residence have resulted from a yachting cruise that incidentally took Mr. Spreckels into San Diego harbor over a quarter of a century ago, when he was the big man in Pacific coast yachting circles. He promptly fell in love with the harbor in this little city on the moon beach, and ever since then his millions have been poured out for its development.

The eldest of the sons of the late Claus Spreckels, who came over from Hanover in the middle of the last century and developed the Hawaiian sugar industry, John D. Spreckels has long been dominant in Pacific coast commercial affairs. At the present time he is the leading spirit in more than a dozen of the major marketing agencies on the coast, and the ships that fly his flag would form a fleet greater in point of tonnage than that of any power on the globe.

Naturally, with so many interests to him, after he has had numerous interesting experiences relating to business, he has not been able to devote them all occurred recently in San Diego. A mass meeting, called to levy higher taxes on some of his property, was suddenly stamped in the opposite direction and was being cheered by Mr. Spreckels's name and voting him a subsidy in recognition of his services. Up to date he has not called on the city treasurer for his cash present, nor is he likely to do so, for even in this age of multimillionaires he is one of the richest men in America.

Mr. Spreckels is fond of recalling his early days and is especially inclined to relate humorous anecdotes in which his father figured. That sturdy old Hanoverian was a warm admirer of American institutions, with the single exception of the schools. According to his son, the old gentleman's distaste for the American system of education was the result of a visit he once paid to an academy in Oakland, Cal., at which his eldest son was a pupil. He entered the classroom in English grammar and was given a seat on the platform beside the teacher, a young man of 17—was on his feet engaged in conjugating the verb "to love" in its various moods and senses. He was making something of a mess of it, and his father's entrance upset him so completely that he lost his place. The teacher was obliged to prompt him frequently.

As soon as the recitation was over and Claus and his son were outside the door the old man began to vent his disapproval. "Yohann," he said excitedly, "I like me not a leetle bit dose tam loab business. You will go by dot school no more. You will go by Hanover. Hanover has no tam loab business."

So John was hustled off to the Hanover polytechnic, where he remained several years. There, too, Adolf, his father, was a warm admirer of American institutions, with the single exception of the schools. According to his son, the old gentleman's distaste for the American system of education was the result of a visit he once paid to an academy in Oakland, Cal., at which his eldest son was a pupil. He entered the classroom in English grammar and was given a seat on the platform beside the teacher, a young man of 17—was on his feet engaged in conjugating the verb "to love" in its various moods and senses. He was making something of a mess of it, and his father's entrance upset him so completely that he lost his place. The teacher was obliged to prompt him frequently.

James Norris Gillett, present chief executive of the Golden State, has his propaganda for San Francisco in good working order. Since his recent vigorous determination to free his state from the odium of the Jeffries-Johnson fight encounter this big, virile executive has been busy in the front with stunts as gigantic as those made by him when he was a lumberman in the redwood forests of the back country. "Big Jim" Gillett the lumberjack, Humboldt county called him then, and he has carried that decidedly pebbled appellation into the executive chamber. Not only has he shown any disposition to rid himself of it, but actually seems inclined to cherish it.

Unmusical as it is, "Big Jim" is no misnomer. Although he is no longer the "Big Jim" of the lumber camps, a rollicking giant in buckskins and cowhides, Governor Gillett is of towering stature, with a bulk sufficient to justify the term "Big." Were all the governors of American commonwealths ranged on a platform he would stand in no danger of being overshadowed, but would probably overtop them all. It was a lumberman that Governor Gillett developed his giant-like physique. But even as he was doing this he was stirred to more ambitious effort, so that he swung an ax only to announce to his friends in the redwood forests that he had made up his mind to become a lawyer, and a good one at that. Considering the time and pains he had taken to make a lumberman, it evoked no unfavorable comment; his friends of the redwoods had long since learned—some of them through sad experience—that "Big Jim" would mean even if he had to prove it by the use of his knotted muscles.

He had barely hung out his shingle, a few years later, when he was retained to defend a cowboy who was to appear in the case of a sensational case arising from the fencing in of the government domain in the state of California. The case had blood among rival cattle barons and resulted in a trial engagement, the cowboy taking up arms at the call of their respective bosses, after the fashion of the knights of the middle ages. There was loss of life and the affair created a good deal of excitement, the press associations spreading the details over the country.

Lawyer Gillett won his case and likewise a wide reputation as a criminal lawyer. He was published far and wide, and his homely and forceful oratory made a deep impression. It turned out to be the virtual turning point in a successful career. He turned out to be devoted himself exclusively to the practice of his profession, accumulating a modest fortune. Then he went into politics and became state senator in 1887. Subsequently he was member of the Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth congresses, and in 1907 was the successful Republican candidate for governor.

Governor Gillett's Senatorial Allies. In Frank Putnam Flint, the Golden State's broad-shouldered junior United States senator, Governor Gillett has a powerful coworker. In behalf of San Francisco, to which city the senator went as a boy of 7 from Reading, Mass., and began his career as a telegraph messenger. Senator Flint has stated that he is determined that the exposition shall be held in his state, and though he will retire from the senate at the end of his present term, the fact that he knows the ropes at Washington and is intimately acquainted with the congressional leaders will make San Francisco in good stead when it comes to the final show down before congress. The senator, personally, is of the sort that stirs interest in whatever he undertakes. He is not in this connection with the typical frontiersman about him. His manner is that of a diplomat and he is one of the best groomed men at the national capital. Without suggesting any lack of business by dot school no more. You will go by Hanover. Hanover has no tam loab business."

Senator Flint's profit-sharing ideas are noteworthy, and if adopted broadly would bring about a revolution in the business side of domestic life that would cost him dearly. He is a man of much costly and bitter litigation. Although he does not speak of it in public, he is a man of much costly and bitter litigation. Although he does not speak of it in public, he is a man of much costly and bitter litigation. Although he does not speak of it in public, he is a man of much costly and bitter litigation.

The Governor Who Was a Lumberman. Of one whit discouraged by the fact that Mr. Spreckels, whose commercial interests in San Francisco are enormous, is against that city as the site for the Panama Canal exposition, timidate and results in an immense increase in personal interest. The arrest of the negro who had done the shooting and the remainder of the posse followed shortly, and Mr. Ransdell was called in to defend them against the charge of murder in his closing address to the jury he brought out the point that the body in the same, and then went on to declare that no harm had been done to kill the man in the first place, since he was feeling from justice, and in the second place, if the victim's blood had not been secretly buried, the posse would never have been prosecuted—making thus a strong and successful plea from Biblical story.

Southern Bidders for the Celebration. The Californian workers are not without powerful rivals in their effort to secure national approval and co-operation in the celebration project. One of the most active of these, quiet he is going about it in a quiet way, is Congressman Joseph Ransdell, who believes that his state of Louisiana stands a fair chance to hook the prize when the New Orleans state, he believes, has the belief on the fact that the interior of the state is a vast expanse of waterways, and that the completion of the great inter-oceanic canal practically at the mouth of America's greatest river. It may be expected that when the opportunity arrives, Governor Ransdell will be prepared to support his contention with a long array of facts.

This quiet mannered and scholarly Southern petitioner for national favor in the matter of the celebration has been president of the rivers and harbors congress since 1907, and has been an authority in everything that pertains to the subject. He is one of the most prominent men in the Pelican state, known far and wide as a cotton grower who has devoted much of his life to the improvement of the cotton growing industry in the South.

Although he has never attended a hanging and detests the law which compels a magistrate to hang a man, Mr. Ransdell has sent five men to the gallows. Whenever he speaks of these episodes in his managerial experience he lowers his voice and looks serious.

The first case was that of a negro preacher known as "Elder George," who was an authority in everything that pertains to the subject. He is one of the most prominent men in the Pelican state, known far and wide as a cotton grower who has devoted much of his life to the improvement of the cotton growing industry in the South.

He and a friend were out fishing one day near their home when they heard lead cries coming from the direction of some negro quarters some distance away. Running thither, they found a dead man lying on the ground, but no trace of the murderer. In time the incident slipped from Mr. Ransdell's mind, but a few years later it vividly came back to him when "Elder George" was placed on trial before him as judge. The prisoner pretended insanity, but was caught "playing possum" and convicted of murder in the first degree, making it incumbent upon Judge Ransdell to pass sentence of death upon him. Before he was hanged, the negro confessed his guilt, but to this day Mr. Ransdell cannot speak of his first hanging case without a shudder.

Mr. Ransdell is allied with the wit, wisdom and superstitions of the negroes, and one of his strongest experiences in this connection deals with Moses and the Bible.

It appears that a white constable had four negroes assisting him in making an arrest. The men were after a constable and a spot dead in a clock at night. Sudden fear of being charged with murder overcame the constable and his black assistants, and a run was scedded on then and there. The negro who had shot the fleeing lawbreaker, also a negro, was forced to take the corpse on his shoulders and pack it a mile and a half to a swamp. Then all of the posse took an oath of secrecy as they stood over the body of the dead negro and buried him.

All went well for several days. Then the negro who had done the fatal deed took his wife into his confidence, and it wasn't long after that before the whole community, for miles around, up unreservedly to the business of exploiting the advantages of their respective cities for the canal exposition prize are D. C. Collier of San Diego, and Charles C. Moore of San Francisco. Neither is now nationally famous; yet should San Diego get the coveted prize, the name of D. C. Collier will become widely known. And should San Francisco triumph, that fortune is in store for Mr. Moore.

Both are representative of the younger element of the Pacific coast; they'd dare to undertake anything. When San Francisco was talking about holding the Portola celebration, a matter of history since last autumn, somebody suggested that foreign nations should be represented at the exposition with battleships. Young Mr. Moore promptly volunteered to go abroad and secure a fleet of floating fortresses from Holland, England, France, Germany and Italy. And the astonishing part of the business is that he got the fleet by as nice an exhibition of American nerve and bluff as was ever described in the pages of a popular Western life novel.

D. C. Collier's gambler's preference for chance a distaste for anything conservative is well known in his home state. He comes honestly by his love for speculation, for his father, a hunter, was of the same temperament and was the same in his home state. He comes honestly by his love for speculation, for his father, a hunter, was of the same temperament and was the same in his home state.

San Diego has become accustomed to well understood by those who have not had a chance to study him at close range. Recently he walked into his club, went up to a well-known New York multimillionaire who happened to be present and with a slap on the back that was not precisely a love touch exclaimed: "You damned old fossil, wake up and do something to prove you have a right to live!"

San Diego, San Francisco, New Orleans—these are the three cities that are now leading in the Panama canal celebration exposition contest. Watch one will get the prize? And which set the tone to win will ultimately be made happy by Uncle Sam and public opinion?

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SWINGS AX ON VICTIM

Great Northern Section Hand Makes Murderous Attack on Enemy.

He Hits Sleeping Man on Head With Ax and Nearly Kills Him.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with assault with intent to do murder, Francisco Galato was brought to Grand Forks last night from Larimore and lodged in the county jail.

Yesterday morning in a Great Northern section house at Kempton, he assaulted a fellow countryman, Carl Baratti, almost killing him. A hand ax was used in the attack which occurred while Baratti was asleep in his bunk.

For about a week the two men had been on bad terms, and the night before the assault they exchanged a few words of an uncompromising nature. Baratti and Galato were sleeping in adjoining rooms and at about 4 o'clock in the morning, Galato got into his adversary's room. Galato was sleeping with a blanket slightly drawn over his head, and the blow by Galato was so vicious that a portion of the covering was driven into the wound inflicted.

There was an instant uproar among the tailors in the house and Galato was taken to the hospital at Northwood. An examination of Baratti's injuries show that he has one cut in the back of the head which slightly penetrates the brain. It is about three inches long. He also has a bad gash in the abdomen and another in the leg. The other two cuts are of a minor nature. Baratti has only been in the United States about five months. Galato comes from Chicago.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A per capita investment in three years is the remarkable record that Grand Forks has just established. Not all of the work has been completed, but by the time the last of it will be finished this fall, the city will have made more than a million dollars in improvements.

In municipal improvements this year up to date these improvements have cost $1,000,000. In the past year the city has expended $1,000,000 in improvements. The total amount will be $1,000,000. The city has expended $1,000,000 in improvements. The total amount will be $1,000,000.

First Progressive.
Pinchot Says La Follette Is Pioneer in Movement.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.—That Senator La Follette was the pioneer in the progressive movement; that he was the first public man so far as the country was concerned, who laid down the lines along which the great water power problem, the first problem of conservation to-day, must be settled, were sentiments voiced by Gifford Pinchot here last night, when he spoke in the interest of the renomination of Senator La Follette.

"It has been made clear that the special interests are about to take refuge behind the states' rights doctrine against national conservation," said Mr. Pinchot. "Senator La Follette has made his deeds square with his words as one of the strongest supporters of national action for conservation within the national sphere."

LARGER COLLEGE WORK.
Head of Jamestown Institution to Enlarge Its Scope.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Organizing a so-called advisory council of seventy-five prominent business men representative of practically every section of the state, President E. H. Kroeger of the Jamestown college, is laying the preliminary steps for the extension of the work of the college along lines entirely new and with the purpose in view of making the institution one of the great religious schools of higher learning in the Northwest. This advisory council, the membership roll of which contains names of many of the state's most prominent men, will form an integral part of the college, and will be organized as being one of the most important actions in connection with the rehabilitation of the college.

Jamestown college is the school of the Presbyterians in North Dakota. It employs the distinction of being the oldest organized college in the state, having been founded in 1858. The college is the state university and other similar schools were brought into being.

CLAY COUNTY PICNIC.
One of the Most Novel Outings Held Last Thursday.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most novel picnics ever held in Clay county was enjoyed Thursday in Baumgardner grove, old settlers, new settlers, three Sunday schools, in all about 400 people enjoying themselves.

Twenty states and four foreign countries were represented. Speeches were made by representatives of the state, Senator Peterson, Attorney C. S. Marden, Rev. Satchaw and Rev. T. F. Hannaman. A splendid program of recitations and songs was rendered. Numerous candidates for county office were present to assist in the entertainment.

GRAND FORKS MUST BOIL DRINKING WATER.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Continuing boiling the water is the warning issued by Dr. G. F. Ruediger, director of the state public health laboratory, to the plant consumers of Grand Forks.

It is the board of health's opinion that the water has not been satisfactorily repaired, said Dr. Ruediger, "and the city must therefore not use it as it is supplied. Utmost precaution should be used by all water users of the city against the possibilities of illness from the use of the water in its present form."

DULUTH TO LEAD COUNTRY IN BUILDING FOR AUGUST

Steel Plant Permit Gives City Available Place in List.

When the people of other cities in the United States see the total of $10,197,140 as the estimated cost of building for which permits were issued in Duluth during August, they will be less than human if they don't gasp. Duluthians expected it, but to people who do not realize the total will be astounding for Duluth will stand far above the other cities when the figures are compiled.

Of course, the steel plant called for an exceptional permit, but it is an addition of $10,000,000 in buildings to the property in Duluth, and as such has a rightful place in the comparative figures.

The number of permits issued during August was 152, compared with 125 in August last year, when the total amount covered by the permits was $29,700. Exceeding the steel plant permit, August would show a falling off this year, despite the greater number of permits issued, most of the permits being for work estimated to cost from $100 to $1,000.

Although all are hopeful, there is a difference of opinion among architects as to the outlook for building this fall. Some kinds of building material are lower in price now than they were last spring, while some are on the increase. Taken together, it is probable that the average is about the same as it was in the spring, and that was considered high. It is said, however, that materials and labor are as low now as they will ever be, and builders are urging people contemplating new buildings not to delay.

There are new buildings for investment in prospect, although it is expected that there will be a rush of residence building during the fall and early winter. The activity in the real estate market in the sale of residence lots will undoubtedly be reflected soon in building circles. The man who owns a lot with the intention of erecting a house on it ultimately is never satisfied until the house is built. Many people now buying lots on the installment plan will have houses erected as soon as possible, in order that they may have the benefit of living on their property.

Most of the architects are busy with residences and small business buildings. The interest which might be expected to build for investment are holding off, probably until the congressional election is over. They fear that the election may cause unsettled conditions in the business world and they want to be prepared against any tightening up in the money situation.

Architects and builders are not complaining on the past summer. While few buildings of great size or cost have been erected, residences, apartment houses and other small buildings have been erected in great number all through the city and they have served to keep both architects and building contractors busy.

Austin Terryberry is preparing plans for a two-story frame flat building to be erected for John Nord on Third street near Twenty-third avenue west. It will cost about $4,000.

Mr. Terryberry will receive bids next week on a residence for Ed Lowe. It will be erected on Fifth street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east and will be thoroughly modern. It will cost about $2,000.

Mr. Terryberry is taking bids on the remodeling of a building owned by H. H. Phelps at Eighteenth avenue west and Michigan street.

Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan are preparing plans for a fine residence to be erected at Virginia, Minn., for L. M. Osborne. The same firm has let the contract for Jesse A. Bradley's residence to Richard Harrison. The home will be erected at the corner of Twenty-third avenue east and Sixth street.

Otto Johnson was awarded the contract yesterday for a new residence to be erected for L. S. Loch on the lower side of Superior street between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east. It will be of brick and stucco, will include every improvement and will cost about $5,000. J. J. Wangerstein is the architect.

Kelly & Lignell will have plans out next week for the rebuilding of a building owned by Ribenack Bros. on the lower side of Superior street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. A new building was recently erected on the site, but it was found that the remodeled building facing Superior street will be practically a new structure when the work is complete.

The contract will be let next week for the plumbing and heating in Andrew Nelson's new residence.

William Fawcett has been awarded the general contract for the new school at Moose Lake, for which plans were prepared by Kelly & Lignell.

W. A. Hunt & Co. are preparing plans for a new store and flat to be erected for Edward Strange at Lakeside. Mr. Strange will occupy the engine building. It will be two stories in height and of brick.

P. M. Olsen is preparing plans for a residence to be erected for Powell M.

Grady on the lower side of Sixth street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues east. It will cost about $6,500.

Mr. Olsen has prepared plans for a residence to be erected for the Highland Park Improvement company at Highland Park. It will cost about $3,500.

Mr. Olsen is also preparing plans for a residence to be erected by the Lakeside Land company at Lakeside for H. P. Demmes. It will cost about $4,500.

BROADENING SCOPE OF REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

Plan to Be Substituted to Members at Meeting Tuesday.

Exchange May Centralize Listings to Facilitate Transfers of Property.

If the Duluth Real Estate Exchange at its meeting next Tuesday adopts the plan of reorganization which will be submitted to it by the committee appointed some time ago to consider the broadening of the scope of the exchange, prominent members believe it will be stepping out of its swaddling clothes and entering on the work which is justification for its existence.

The committee, which consists of James L. Cronwell, J. H. Eddy and N. J. Eddison, submitted a partial report at the August meeting of the exchange, but no action was taken pending the application of the report by the working out of details.

The plan is to make the exchange a real exchange instead of a club of real estate men as it has been in the past. The committee will propose a plan along the lines of the board of stock exchange and other bodies dealing in commodities or investments. The committee believes that the exchange should be a central office, where listings may be made and members of the exchange may deal with one another.

The object of the plan is to insure facility in the transfer of real estate and to get the combined efforts of the entire exchange behind any piece of property listed with any member of the exchange.

POPULARITY OF CONCRETE

Material Is Put to Many Uses in All Countries By Builders.

It would be impossible to enumerate all of the purposes for which concrete can be utilized. What has been done in Europe is one indication, but in America the variety of work which can be done with it is far greater. It has been said that we have reached the age of concrete, but at present we are only beginning in the use of this material, and no one can tell what uses it will be used ten years hence. Already, in building construction, it has been largely depended upon in the erection of factories of various kinds.

The use of concrete in supports of various kinds, either with or without steel reinforcement, is shown in the many types of bridges which are now being constructed of concrete and steel, instead of the metal skeleton which came with the era of the rail building. The use of concrete for storing heavy material is indicated by the construction of grain elevators at different points along the Great Lakes, since the material has such a lateral pressure resistance. Warehouses which must sustain great weight are also being constructed not merely with concrete walls, but concrete framework, and the floors themselves may be of the same material.

RATE HEARING IS ADJOURNED

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The freight rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission examiners, in which the railroads operating in Western territory are seeking to justify a proposed increase in freight rates on certain commodities, adjourned here today to Sept. 19, when the remainder of the railroads will put in testimony.

property of the kind wanted on his books, may go to the exchange and point out to his client every piece of property listed for sale in that section of the city, with the prices placed on them by the owners and such other information as he may desire in regard to improvements, etc.

Under the plan, time would be saved in selling, in buying and the dealers would be able to handle a greater volume of business in a given time. The public would receive the benefit of the concerted selling power of the exchange for every listing made. The exchange would be financed by the charging of a fee to the dealer for the listing.

The plan calls for a uniform and exclusive listing contract, something that has long been needed in Duluth. There is no definite plan of listing now. One piece of property may be listed with any number of dealers and no one will probably care to put forth much effort in attempting to sell it, for the sale may swing to one of the other firms with which it is listed before any deal can be made.

The uniform listing contract would call for the listing of a piece of property with one firm exclusively for a given time and the exchange would see that the listings could not be duplicated. Under that plan a dealer would know that any efforts he might make to sell the property would result in a commission to himself in the event of the sale of the property.

If the exchange listing plan is adopted, it may be extended to rental listings also, which many members of the exchange would be a boon to the housing market. Public agents would list their places for rent with the exchange and a man wanting to rent a house, a flat, an office or a store in any part of the city could readily be informed by the exchange as to the possibilities.

Members of the exchange look with favor on the plan as a whole and they are inclined to favor it, probably with modifications. The plan for investigation before listing will probably be explained in detail by the committee, only a large impression of what the plan will demand in that respect having been given out. The investigation will probably be for the determination merely of whether the proposition is feasible, not whether the exchange is justified in the opinion of the owners of the worth of his property. The committee of the exchange committee will report Tuesday on the matter of securing a publicity man to act for the exchange in advertising Duluth. The real estate men believe that they should be prime movers in securing industries for the city, for while they are interested in the growth of the city and the development of its industrial life for the prosperity of the whole city, the real estate men are interested in the industries which will be more direct and immediate to them than to any other class of business.

Other important matters will come before the exchange Tuesday and the meeting is expected to be one of the greatest in the history of the exchange.

WIFE OF JUDGE IN BROWNE TRIAL DIES

Mrs. Kersten's Death Will Delay Famous Bribery Case.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Mrs. George Kersten, wife of the judge presiding over the trial of ex-Judge Browne, died at the Kersten summer home at Twin Lakes, Wis., today. Arguments in the case of Browne, charged with bribery, were postponed today, and may not resume until after the funeral. Before leaving for Twin Lakes in the automobile Judge Kersten consulted with the authorities of the state, and the priority of another judge being secured pending his own return to the bench.

LEGAL NOTICES

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF FOREIGN WILL.

In the matter of the estate of Henry Stroeter, Decedent. Motor Line DIVISION

The Rain Last Saturday and the bad weather Sunday kept many of you from looking over this property, so we have a few good lots left.

THIS MEANS YOU!

Look over every suburban property offered, then let us show you what we have. We have all the advantages offered by any and none of the drawbacks.

Small cash payment secures your lot—$10.00 per month pays for it. No taxes or interest until 1913. Torrens certificate with every lot—10 per cent discount for cash. Ten per cent rebate if you build within one year.

Our salesmen will be on the ground all day Sunday and Monday. We will be glad to show you what we have, or call us up and we will take you out any day.

Why Not Own Your Home?

We Will Lend You the Money at 5% SIMPLE INTEREST.

Money invested in house rent receipts is a poor investment, and one that you will never derive any future benefits from. Anybody can pay rent, but it takes energy, economy and determination to own a home. We will lend you the money to buy, build, improve homes or lift mortgages anywhere in the Union. For each $1,000.00 borrowed, you pay us $7.50 per month, together with 5 per cent interest on yearly balances; giving you 10 1/2 years in which to repay loan, with the privilege of taking up all notes or as many as you wish at any time, and by so doing you would get a discount of the 5 per cent interest on all notes taken up before maturity. We allow six months' grace in case of adverse circumstances. Now why do you pay rent when our plan will enable you to own a home with the money you spend for rent?

On receipt of this coupon, properly filled out, we will mail you full particulars in regard to our method of loaning money, or, better still, come to our office and let us explain to you our liberal proposition in detail.

PUBLIC IS APPEASING ITS LAND HUNGER IN DULUTH

Rush for Residence Lots in New Additions Gives Impetus.

New Coal Dock Means Much to West Duluth's Future.

Announcement is made today of the sale of a piece of superior street property for over $100,000. West Duluth came to the front with the announcement of plans of the Carnegie Luck & Fuel company for the erection of a dock costing about $750,000; real estate dealers report that the public is afflicted with land hunger and is taking the proper steps to appease it, and the realty market is looking up.

Coming immediately after the issuing of the $10,000,000 permit for the steel plant, the coal dock announcement was gratifying news to those interested in the development of West Duluth—and every public spirited citizen should be gratified that the coming industrial greatness of that taken up, the city means prosperity for the entire city.

West Duluth is destined to be the industrial center of the city. It cannot escape its destiny. The way to front in the central part of the city is all taken up, while there is much water front property to be had. During the time of the docks, there is no room for great manufacturing plants near the business part of the city, where the hills approach on the water front, but West Duluth has a wide expanse of land suitable for adequate railway connections for any manufacturing plant.

Under those conditions, the incoming industrial plant must look to West Duluth for its site and West Duluth now has the sites to offer. When the land in West Duluth is taken up, which will not be far in the future at the rate at which it is going, industrial enterprises with excellent water front and railway connection factors.

A short time ago the Hanna Coal company purchased a site and announced plans for the erection of a coal dock to cost $500,000 or more. It is said the Canadian Northern has already closed deals for the site for its elevators and docks at the foot of Ramsey street and Park-ninth avenue. Other enterprises are looking toward West Duluth for locations. They will employ many men, pay out large sums each month in wages, bring in merchants and professional men and increase the business and practice respectively of those who are already in the city.

The industrial regeneration of West Duluth is no dream.

The rush for residence sites continues to gain impetus and the real estate firms are rushing with applications for lots. During the time of the new addition, crowds visited every new addition in the city. There were numerous sales under the easy payment system. Few people visit the new additions out of mere curiosity. There is a set purpose in their visits and even if they do not buy when they visit an addition, they are there to estimate and compare with the other additions and they will make a purchase at one place or another.

The people who have adopted the easy payment plan of selling property are delighted with the working out of it. People who would never be able to save enough to buy a lot and pay for it outright are getting into the market for lots and homes of their own, which is a condition that reflects prosperity on the city and activity on the real estate market.

The sale of lots this year will have the effect of stimulating building next season and builders are already looking forward to a rush of residence building unprecedented in the history of the city. The additions going on the market range from the unrestricted up to those in which the restrictions are so exacting that only the wealthy can comply with them. There is room for all to get into the market and from the proportions of the demand all are getting in.

There are sales advertised for today and tomorrow at Crescent View Park, Motor Line division, Highland and other places. Hundreds have visited the property during the past few weeks and Prindle & Co. have had an unprecedented demand for reservations. They freely predict that they will sell all the lots before the opening of a like number of lots.

H. Graves & Co. have had a steady sale of lots at Motor Line division and the movement is constantly increasing. All day today and tomorrow lots being disposed of in a very short time. There will be another sale tomorrow and tomorrow and C. P. Craig & Co. look for a repetition of the success which attended that two weeks ago.

Whitney Wall & Co. report a good demand for lots at Idlewild and E. W. Markell says that lots in the Grayson division are going fast. Lakeview and Lester Park are receiving their share of the attention from lot hunters and out at West Duluth, lots in Schoun Park and Haslewood addition are selling rapidly. Lots in the new addition on the eighth and ninth streets are also being sold.

The sale of lots at Highland two weeks ago was a spectacular one, 100 lots being disposed of in a very short time. There will be another sale tomorrow and tomorrow and C. P. Craig & Co. look for a repetition of the success which attended that two weeks ago.

Whitney Wall & Co. also has an additional lot at the same place, and he is receiving a number of inquiries for lots in it.

PEOPLE SHY AT OLD BUILDINGS

Desirable Tenants Want Only Modern Apartments in Cities.

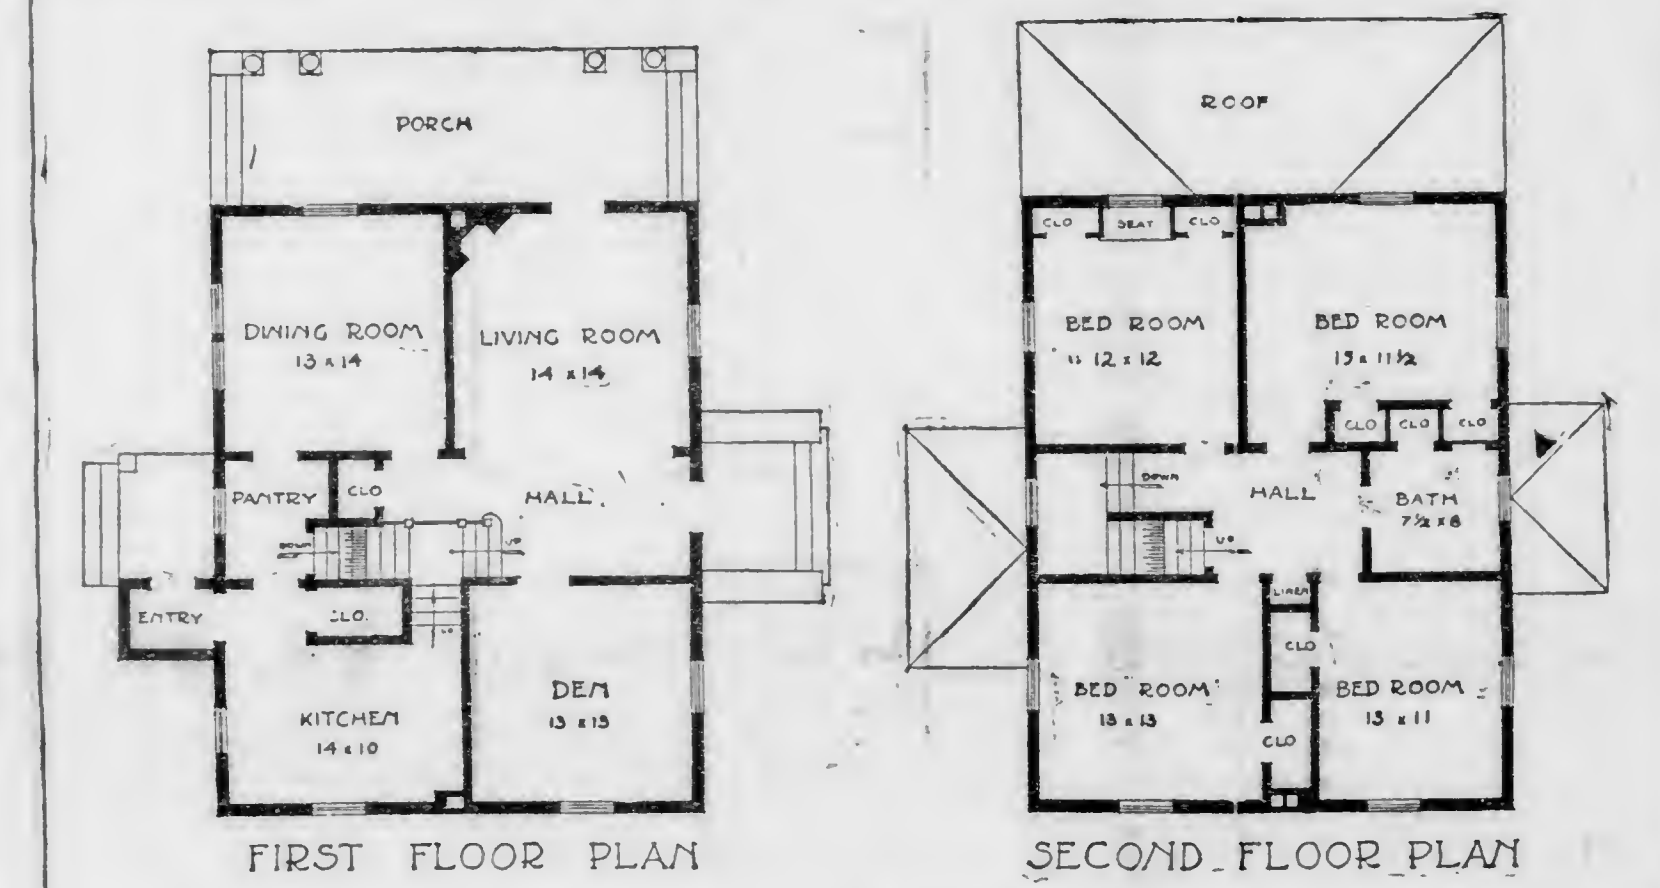

Owners of apartment houses and dwellings which have been allowed to deteriorate and those having for rent out-of-date structures lacking modern conveniences will have fewer chances to fill them with desirable tenants this fall unless they take speedy steps to put the buildings into a proper state of repair and renovate the old structures as to provide them with at least a portion of the conveniences demanded by tenants nowadays.

It is impossible to estimate offhand the value of the apartment and dwelling houses, but it is safe to say that the desirable locations are being snapped up rapidly, as the fall rental season has begun early. Living quarters presenting an attractive appearance and containing the comforts and conveniences dear to the housekeeper are in great demand.

Of all the vacancies last spring it is safe to say that a large part were undesirable houses or apartments that no longer commanded attention from tenants on account of their condition or lack of conveniences.

Several years ago it was possible to charge a tenant good rent for a house that possessed few conveniences. Houses were more scarce and the land-

FIREPROOF HOUSE WHICH WOULD COST $7,500 TO BUILD IN DULUTH

The above sketch shows a design suitable for a fireproof house. The walls are unbroken except by square-headed window and door openings. The walls and floors will be built by hollow tile with reinforced concrete beams and lintels over openings except the basement walls which will be in concrete, faced above grade to the level of the first floor with brick. The walls above the first floor will be finished in rough cast stucco and the roof will be covered with asbestos shingles.

The first floor shows living room, den, dining room and kitchen with pantry. French casement windows lead from the living room to a large porch. The second-floor plan shows four good sized and roomy bedrooms with closets and bathroom. The attic will contain three bedrooms which will be well worth the cost of finishing.

The kitchen and pantry will be finished in birch, the dining room and den in oak and the living room, hall and bedrooms in colonial style in keeping with the exterior. The floors will be of maple.

The above house, inclusive of plumbing and heating, will cost in Duluth and vicinity the sum of $7,500. ANTHONY PUCK & HOLSTEAD, ARCHITECTS.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS PAGE

When Polly Saved the Silver.

BY MAUD WALKER.

FLORA and Billy came home one day, happy as happy could be. They had been spending the day with some friends in the country, and when they ran into their mother's room, Billy cried out: "Soy, Maamma, what do you think? We are to have a parrot!"

"Yes, Maamma, a fine talking parrot," declared Flora excitedly.

Mrs. James laid aside her book and asked for particulars. "Come, tell me about the prospective bird," she said. But a look of uncertainty was in her eyes.

"Why," explained Billy, "you know Mr. Davis has a cousin visiting him from a South American Republic, and he—the cousin, whose name is Mr. Zaney—brought with him three fine parrots, each a great talker, for Mr. Zaney has spent much time in teaching them how to speak. Well, Mr. and Mrs. Davis told Flora and me today that we are more than welcome to one of the parrots, for they saw how much we wanted one. And they don't want but two—one for Stella and one for David, you know."

Flora and Billy had been visiting at the home of the above-mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Davis, for Stella and David Davis were their closest friends.

"Oh, isn't that just splendid," cried Flora, addressing her mother. But Mrs. Davis said rather reluctantly: "But, my dears, we don't want a parrot—here in town. They are such noisy birds. Why, one could keep the whole neighborhood awake in the early morning. I'm afraid, my children, that you'll have to explain to good Mr. and Mrs. Davis that while you are most grateful for the proffered parrot, you are obliged, for good reasons, to forego the pleasure of accepting him. They will understand why one cannot have a parrot in town, especially when

"I'll see to that," said Billy, kissing his mother for half-giving her consent to their having the parrot. "And I'm sure Papa will say 'yes.'"

That evening at the supper table the matter of the parrot was talked over. At first Mr. James shook his head. "No, sonny," he said to Billy, who had asked him about the bird. "A parrot is a great nuisance. He is loud and ungovernable."

"But a parrot is the cutest, just the outest thing in the world," said Flora. "And you'd just love this one if you could see him and hear him talk, daddy."

Mrs. James looked as if about to yield, and her glance at her husband caused him to say: "Well, bring him in if you think you can manage him so as to have no complaints from the neighbors. But, if he becomes too bothersome, well, you must be reconciled to parting from him. We will explain it that way to good Mr. and Mrs. Davis."

"Oh, thank you, papa," said Billy. "Yes, thank you, papa, dear," added Flora, running to her father's side and hugging and kissing him warmly. "You're the bestest daddy in the world."

"But he's made so by the bestest mother," said Billy, rising and hugging his mother affectionately. "Remember, it's mamma's glance behind the throne that makes the king of the James realm so easily brought to terms."

Then they all laughed and the meal was completed in the usual happy manner, for the four James—father, mother, son and daughter—were the best of comrades.

The very next day Billy took a big basket and went out to the farm of Mr. Davis. He got the parrot and came home victoriously. "Isn't he a dandy?" he asked of his mother as he placed the fine fellow on a perch that had been bought that morning by Flora.

"Yes, he's a nice parrot," agreed Mrs. James. "I suppose he is too much frightened by his new surroundings to talk for a few days. But he'll soon become acquainted with us."

But hardly had Mrs. James said this when Mr. Parrot called out in a lusty voice: "Hello, there! What you after?" Of course, Mrs. James and the children laughed merrily at the new arrival, whom they decided to call by the name of "Dandy."

And all that afternoon the neighbors' children were coming in to get acquainted with Dandy. "Isn't he just too cute for anything?" said Lily Travers, one of Flora's girl chums.

"Oh, he's a perfect darling," said Nellie Bryant, another of Flora's "best friends."

And all the neighbors declared Dandy would not get them in the least, even though he did get to talking of early mornings. The first night of Dandy's stay in the James' house it was decided that he should be left in the kitchen, as that part of the house was the farthest removed from the sleeping rooms and the fellow's early talking would not wake the

A Fishing Party.

AN INTERESTING GAME FOR EVENING.

DECORATE the room with nets and fishing rods and send the invitations on fish-shaped cards, with a funny picture in water colors on the head part of the card. When the guests have arrived pass programs containing the following questions. The answers are to be well-known inhabitants of the water. The prizes may be fish-shaped boxes, filled with choice bonbons, or pretty fish plates, with hand-painted fish as decoration. The supper table should be covered with green ferns, with a bowl of gold fish in the center. Also serve several fish dishes, such, for instance, as deviled crabs and lobster salad and oysters in any style, when in season. Clams are always palatable and appetizing.

1. A favorite color. (Salmon.)
2. The name of a country road. (Pike.)
3. Part of a soldier's equipment. (Sword.)
4. An animal companion of old maid. (Cat.)
5. A domestic animal and part of the human body. (Sheepskin.)
6. Part of the solar system. (Sun.)
7. Those who fall in battle. (Weak.)
8. Something we want on griddle cakes. (Butter.)
9. A favorite Scotch fish. (Herring.)
10. Collect on delivery. (C. O. D.)
11. A favorite color with many. (Blue.)
12. The name of a Northern lake. (Trout.)
13. Part of a bird cage. (Perch.)
14. That which a swindling man is often called. (Snake.)
15. A creature much discussed in theology. (Whale.)
16. One who is proverbially close-mouthed. (Clam.)

The answers are written on the programs while at table, and are then collected by the hostess and handed to someone, who will compare them with a card on which the correct answers are written. To the guest who has the greatest number of correct answers the first prize is awarded, and to the one losing second another prize is presented, while he or she who has the fewest correct answers will receive the "lucky" or "consolation" prize.

Our Puzzle Corner

DIAGONAL.
This diagonal contains six words of six letters each. If the words are rightly guessed and written one below another their diagonal letters, beginning with the upper left-hand letter and ending with the lower right-hand letter, will spell something one wears in the winter. The cross-words are: 1. A place where vegetables are grown. 2. The oldest of several children. 3. A blossom. 4. Places where bodies are buried. 5. A supplication. 6. Small fruit.

PRIMAL ACROSTIC.
This acrostic contains seven words of four letters each. If the words are rightly guessed and written one below another their initial letters will spell that which is worn by an actor. The cross-words are: 1. The lusty sound one hears in the barnyard of early mornings. 2. Where bread and cake are baked. 3. Part of a rose. 4. A melody. 5. Garden vases for vines and flowers. Something of which bread is made. 7. Sin.

HAPPYVILLE.

A FINE old place is Happyville;
There nice, good children are;
A place where joy and fun abound
And ne'er cross words to mar
The blessed sweetness of the town
Where all do smile and never frown.

It is a place where evil folk
Can't even bear to enter,
For well they know that Happyville
For Goodness is the center;
That Happiness and Truth and Love
Are there reflected from Above.

If any little children wish
To Happyville to go,
They surely must not take a frown
Or pout with them, you know;
For if they should they'd not get in,
For Happyville's no place for Sin.

Winter Home of Deer.

THE winter home of the American red deer is very interesting. When the snow begins to fly the leader of the herd guides them to some sheltered spot where food is plentiful. Here, as the snow falls, they pack it down, tramping out a considerable space, while about them the snow mounts higher and higher, until they cannot get out if they would. From the main opening, or "yard," as it is called, tramped out paths lead to the nearby trees and shrubbery, which supply them with food.

NEWSBOY PAT AND HIS REWARD.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

PATRICK DANDY had never known what it meant to have a good home. He had been born in the slums of New York city, and when but three years old his father had met with a fatal accident while working in a street tunnel, and was carried from the scene of accident to the Charity Hospital, from there to the cemetery.

And then came the "rag of war" for poor little widower Dandy, mother of Patrick, commonly known as Pat. And until Pat was seven years old the loving little mother kept him in school by the labor of her hands. Then her health began to fail and she was obliged to send Pat on the street to sell papers, for she could no longer fight the battle of life alone.

So the two worked together, Pat and the little mother, till Pat reached 12 years of age. One evening, after a day of intense heat, when the great city seemed on fire, Pat's mother was carried from the box factory, where she worked, to the same Charity Hospital where her husband had breathed his last. And there, too, the poor overworked widow passed from the battle of life, and Pat stood alone beside the plain black coffin in which the city buried her.

Then little Patrick knew what it meant to be on the streets, for he could not pay the rent for the one room in which he and his mother had lived since the father's death. Till that sad day they had known the comforts of a two-room apartment, and had at least not wanted to leave their home. But Pat's paper business did not bring in enough profit to pay room rent and coal bills and the price of food. So on the third day after his mother's death, Pat, broken-hearted and alone, sold to a second-hand dealer the few household furnishings, his mother's only possessions, and with the paltry dollars they brought, stepped out to face the world.

Consciousness returned and she asked of Pat what had happened.

ache for hours afterward from contact with the officer's club.

So on the fourth night after his mother's death Pat wandered to the outskirts of the city where some of the venient lots, filled with great boulders and occasional trees, gave him sweet security from the ever-fiercer "cop."

And there Pat crept into a nook and slept the sleep of the weary and over-fatigued child. And when he awoke in the morning a bird was singing right over his head. The city far below him he saw twinkling lights, and the sun was sending signals of his approach in the form of long brilliant yellow rays which shot far into the heart of Pat lay still and listened to the bird's song and watched the sun's approach. Then, awaking to the realities of life, he arose and wondered where he would find his breakfast. His papers would be ready for him, but he must go away into the very heart of the city to get them. And then would follow the mad rush to sell them. How he hated the thought of the city noise and heat on this beautiful morning after the rest of the night's peace. Then an idea came to him. He would leave the city—go away, anywhere, so as to be outside its noise, heat, misery.

He turned his face toward the Hudson River, with a stone's throw of where he had slept through the night. And across the broad, turbulent stream, he could see the iron-like sides of the Palisades. Ah, to go over there! To wander on and on through the deep forest which seemed to cover the land there loomed above the rocky banks of the river. Never had Pat seen the country. His life had been spent in after this fatal hour but one might sleep there. And Pat knew that he could not walk all day and sit up all night, and then if he dared to fall asleep sitting on a bench he was in danger of dropping into a reclining posture. Then, beware, a strong wind came a "cop" and poor Pat's feet would quickly decided. He would not bother about breakfast. He could find something to eat "over in Jersey." So he hurried down the river, reaching the pier just as a ferry boat was about to put out. He was soon on deck, standing by the rail and looking into the rolling waters beneath him. Oh, how glorious to feel this free air! A quarter of the city where gaunt want and crime and misery and hate and fear hovered over all there. There, where the "cops" stood guard to take him to Coney Island, but the day had been a failure, for both Pat and the mother went hungry all day, not having the price of a meal in any road. It led him up a steep hill, beyond the Palisades and into a farming country.

After walking for about an hour Pat became very tired and sat down beside the road to rest. Small towns were scattered round him, seeming to spring up from among the green trees. Sitting there, he began to make some plan for the future, for he couldn't live on "fresh air" and "country scenes" alone. He decided he must get to work in some way. Well, he would wait—

But at the moment along came an automobile, speeding over the road. When within a short distance of Pat the machine "skidded" and was thrown across the road, striking with heavy force against a huge tree. The occupants, a chauffeur and a lady and a little boy, about Pat's own size, were thrown to the ground. Pat ran quickly to where the three persons lay, seemingly dead, for all were stunned to unconsciousness. Pat stooped beside the lady. She was white and stiff. Then he ran to a small pond that glistened a hundred feet away and filled his hat from it. This he dashed over the lady's face.

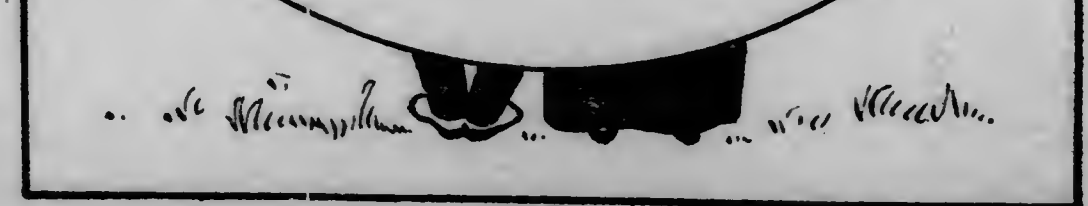

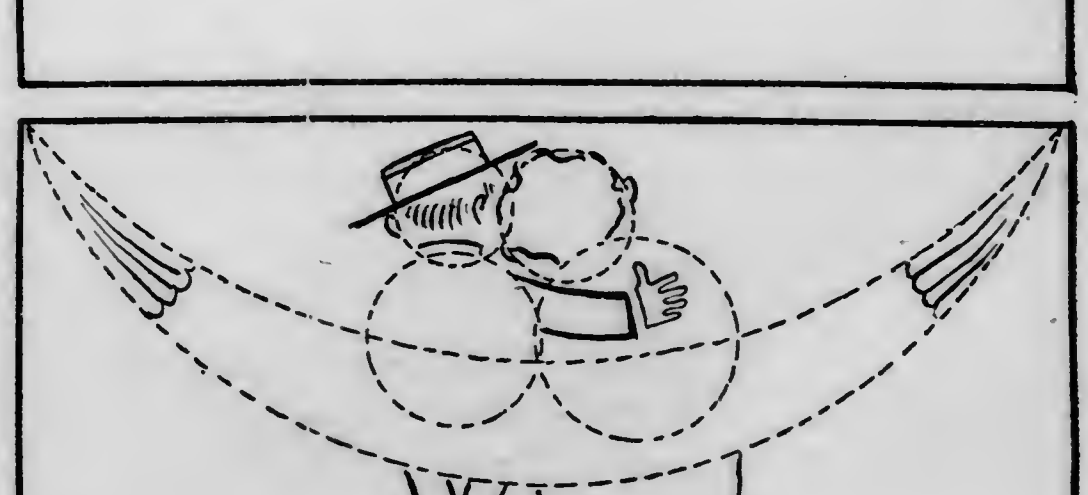

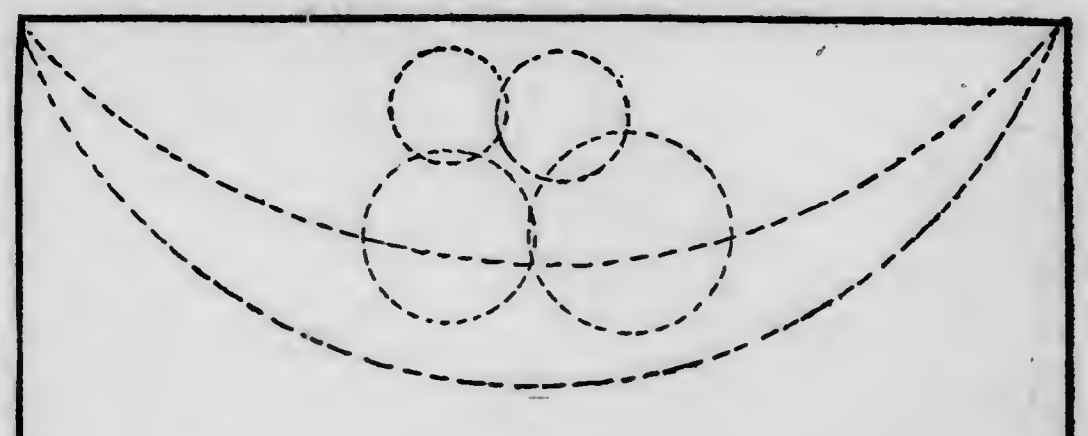

Pat was rewarded by seeing the lady open her eyes. Then she sat up and looked at Pat. "Consciousness returned," she asked of Pat what had happened. Pat explained what had occurred. Then the lady turned her attention to the child, who was beginning to move about. The chauffeur regained consciousness and got to his feet, staggering a bit, a drunken man. But Pat was relieved to find that none of the three persons was badly hurt; they were merely jolted up a bit and had been stunned from the severe fall to the hard ground.

BOLD WORK BY THIEVES

Automobile Owned By Lee Farmer Taken From His Garage.

Cash and Jewelry Stolen From Desk at Public Library.

Two bold thefts were reported last night. The automobile of Lee Farmer was taken from his garage at 1932 East First street, and a hand bag containing $9 in cash and some valuable jewelry was taken from the public library.

The hand bag was the property of one of the assistants at the library. She had left it in a drawer of the desk in the reference room. It was taken when she stepped out for a few minutes by an unknown thief. She states that she values the jewelry for her associations rather than their intrinsic worth, and that the person who took the hand bag is welcome to the money, if the jewelry are restored to her.

The automobile was stolen some time last night. It is thought that it was taken about 10 o'clock, as an auto was heard leaving the garage at that time. But Mr. Farmer thinks that it was a neighbor using his own car, paid no attention to it. The machine is a small Buick, with a blue body and a black gear. The state number is 7927.

A Duluth Toilet Article. Every lady who desires to keep up her toilet with propriety and in the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling, and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Goussard's Original Beauty Leaves. This has a variety of toilet articles of exquisitely perfumed powder leaves, which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed, and is far superior to a powder puff, as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, root and grease from the face, imparting a cool, delicate bloom to the complexion. It is sold where on receipt of 5 cents in stamps or coin.

INVENTS NEW ENGINE.

Richard Russell Will Try Out New Product in Superior.

A gasoline traction engine, which is being made by the Northwestern Boiler works of Duluth for Richard Russell of Superior, an inventor, will be given a tryout next week. The new engine is said to be lighter and superior in many ways to other engines now in use in Western grain fields for plowing. A patent has been secured and a company organized to promote the product. The name is the Superior Traction company, with P. J. E. Kistrand, president; W. L. Hallan, vice president; F. R. Crumpton, secretary; treasurer. Others interested are S. L. Ferrin and Frank Hayes.

FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Double Bill Scheduled for Hislop Park in Duluth-Superior League.

At Hislop park tomorrow afternoon, a double bill championship meet will be pulled off settling the question as to which team will get away with the pennant of the Duluth-Superior baseball league. The Oak Halls of Duluth will clash with the Binghamtons in the event that each team takes a game the third exhibition will be played at a later date on the Duluth grounds.

The Northern Brewery baseball team left this afternoon for Gordon, where tomorrow a double bill will be played.

JUDGE VINI PUT ON SUPREME COURT BENCH.

Judge A. J. Vini of the Eleventh judicial district of Wisconsin was yesterday appointed to the Wisconsin supreme court bench by Governor Joseph R. Folger. Judge Vini, who recently resigned to practice law in Milwaukee, will serve for a term of four years, beginning in January, 1912, and an election for the full term of ten years will be held next April.

$35,000 Is Pledged.

Already $35,000 has been pledged and an equal amount is in sight for the Wisconsin Development association, which has for its purpose the bringing in of a better class of settlers and farmers into the state. State immigration Agent W. D. Campbell, who is behind the movement, was in the city yesterday and spoke enthusiastically of the progress that was being made throughout the state.

Rushing New Patrol.

The new auto patrol of the Superior police department will be in use some time next month. It was recently ordered and the machine is being rushed out of the factory. It will be of the latest designed high power automobiles, the metal parts exposed to be nickel plated and the machine made as attractive as possible.

Receipts Are $1,724.40.

According to the report of Judge Parker of the municipal court, the receipts of that tribunal for the month of August outside of fees and other court charges were $1,724.40. The amount was yesterday turned over to the proper officials.

VALUATION OF HUMAN LIFE

What Fifty Widows Got—Sums Paid at Cherry Mine Disaster—How the Family Fares in Ordinary Accidents.

By S. C. Kingsley.

Superintendent United Charities of Chicago.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

A torch carelessly exposed and a bale of hay, on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13, 1909, caused one of the most dramatic mine disasters in industrial history, and cost the lives of Andrew Miller, 257 fellow workmen. Thrilling rescue by a hero band of men, who finally perished in an act of supreme sacrifice, sealing the shaft in the presence of an indelibly pathetic group of women and children; the recovery of revolting human shapes, the rescue of twenty-one men buried alive for eight days—all this for weeks kept the press pulsing with stories of the timest of human interest. This publicity acted with compelling effect upon the employer, company, giving public city councils and the state legislature. In this the women and children of Andrew Miller and his fellow victims were most fortunate. These men died a congenial death in a disaster that was dramatic, thrilling, spectacular.

One year before this disaster, an ambulance backed up to No. 11 Bond street, the home of Mrs. Miller. She was in the ambulance. He was a worker in a steel mill and he was injured in handling hot metal. An accident occurred in which he was burned, received injuries which resulted in his death. The only newspaper mention of Mrs. Miller's case was a three-line statement in a list of accidents. The company settled for $500 and promised permanent employment to her husband. She went to work, and her inadequate earnings were supplemented by charitable relief.

The circumstances of Mrs. Miller's misfortune, and the contrast between the fatal accidents of which information was obtained through charitable organizations in one of the largest cities of the country.

WALKER ON THE METAL

Boston Writer Anticipates Reduction in Surplus Copper Supply.

Walker's Copper Letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial Says:

"The copper market is comparatively quiet and, if anything, a shade easier. Lake is 12½ to 13 cents and electrolytic is 12½ to 12½ cents a pound. The hurry of new buying three weeks ago cleaned up all the copper most of the leading producers are in a position to sell just now, and greatly reduced stocks of others. At present there is no copper pressing for sale. Though consumers doubtless have been making up their minds to buy, they have not in any instance, so far as can be learned, exceeded their requirements for October and a part of November. Many of them will have to buy more copper immediately. The talk of large existing surplus and the prospective entrance of a number of new producers into the field soon after the first of the year are preventing consumers from becoming over bullish on the metal situation. They are still limiting their purchases to their nearby requirements, and probably will continue to do so for some time to come.

"It is now anticipated that the copper producers' figures for the month of August will show a considerable decrease in the American surplus accumulation of metal. Indications are that August exports exceeded those of July by nearly 12,000,000 pounds. Domestic deliveries also have been much larger. A very considerable portion of the copper recently purchased by consumers will be delivered during September and October, and the effect of the revival of trade confidence, therefore, will continue to be reflected in the producers' statements for two or three months to come.

"Notwithstanding the generally pessimistic view with which business conditions in this country are regarded, the domestic consumption of copper has been larger this year than ever before in the history of the trade. Deliveries to American consumers in 1909 were at the rate of about $8,000,000 pounds monthly. So far this year they have averaged 65,500,000 pounds monthly, an increase of approximately 5,000,000 pounds a month, or 60,000,000 pounds for the year. There is now good reason for the belief that this increased volume of domestic consumption will be maintained throughout the remaining four months.

"It has been ascertained definitely that our domestic deliveries represent copper that is actually going into consumption. The proof was supplied by the fact that the output of refinery output in July, due to unprecedented hot weather, was 78 deg. the hottest July since the weather bureau was organized. The refiners found it impossible to run the furnaces which cast the metal into the various merchantable shapes. A representative of one of the largest electric refineries says:

"We found ourselves unable to make prompt deliveries of wire bars, cakes and ingots, and in every instance we promptly received most urgent requests from the consumers to forward the metal immediately. Some of them declared that they would be obliged to shut down their factories unless they received the metal within a few days. This complaint was so unanimous as to satisfy me beyond question that domestic consumers are not carrying any supplies, but are buying on the hand-to-mouth principle. This fact, in view of the very heavy domestic deliveries during the past seven months, proves conclusively that 1910 will be the banner year of copper consumption. In 1906 and 1907, when the price of copper went to 26 cents, domestic consumption was probably 70 per cent smaller than it is now.

"The foreign consumption of copper is showing a more rapid growth than our own. Leading shippers now returning from abroad express the opinion that the whole world is again entering upon a period of great industrial progress and expansion. Representatives of the large electrical manufacturing companies say that while there is a minimum of new railway construction they are doing a larger volume of business than ever before, the most important item being electric equipment. Manufacturing, mining and transportation enterprises are seeking cheaper power, and the equipment of materials with electric plants is the solution of their problem. This development is and will continue an important factor in the copper metal trade.

"The effect of the current curtailment of production will not show itself fully in the refinery output until November, but meanwhile there should be a gradual falling off in the quantities to be presented monthly by the producers' associations. It is possible that an increase of production may be shown in the August figures, which will appear next week, because of the fact that the July decrease was abnormal. Hot weather alone caused a shrinkage of about 10 per cent in the refinery output last month, and there was no reason to expect it to make up for it in August.

"Taken as a whole the metal situation is greatly improved. Production is being curtailed, while consumption is increasing. The price of the metal may not advance much immediately. It is practically certain that it will not decline.

WHERE ARE THE HATS OF YESTERDAY?

Where did you lose that hat?

Or haven't you lost it, perchance?

The weather bureau says that the closed season, and it brought up the question as to what becomes of the hats of yesterday. No one sees the old hats about as much as the old year, and if he did gather 'em up, the storage charges on them between now and sweet spring would eat as large a whole in the profits as the rats would in the hats.

Expensive straws are carefully stored against the need of their resurrection, of course, but there are no men who do not wear expensive straws. What becomes of them, these garden-variety straws, is a puzzling question. Maybe they're converted into breakfast food!

MAY BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Next Week's Enrollment Will Show Whether It Is Needed.

Residents of Oneota Asking for a New Building There.

Whether or not the board of education will provide for the erection of a new school building at Oneota in the next tax levy will depend much on the attendance at the school, Ely and Oneota schools this semester, according to L. A. Barnes, a West Duluth member of the board.

If the schools in this vicinity are over-crowded, it will naturally follow, according to Mr. Barnes, that a new building will be erected, in which case the board will probably provide for a new building to cost between $50,000 and $70,000 in the tax levy which will be made up next month.

A site for the new school was purchased this summer at the corner of Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, the purchase being provided for in the bond issue this spring, which also covered the expense connected with the building of the new manual training school up town.

The erection of the manual school last year and its occupancy this fall will not affect the situation any as the building to the west of the community, which has been clamoring for a new school.

The school board did not build the proposed addition to the Oneota school and it is expected that this building will be over the year. The present conditions little children are compelled to walk long distances to school.

FIVE ALLEGED BLIND PIGGERS

Police Make a Raid on New Duluth Establishments.

Five alleged violators of the liquor laws at New Duluth were arrested this morning charged with keeping unlicensed saloons.

Fred Motchcock and Paul Bosko each pleaded guilty. Motchcock was fined $15 or thirty days and the latter was given $50 and costs.

Three others, Harry Korke, Philip Pinchot and Stanke Ovesonson, pleaded not guilty and their cases were adjourned until Dec. 10.

WHO OWNS THE PUMPKIN?
Pumpkin pie time at West Duluth has suggested a friendly discussion over the ownership of a certain pumpkin.

It all came about because a vine in the garden of C. Salter, superintendent of the postal station at West Duluth, on North Central, was growing so large and spreading over to his neighbor's property.

A few feet over for one evening, a large pumpkin was developed. The vegetable is a large one and suggests a suspicious array of pumpkin pies to both Mr. Salter and his neighbor.

The question now arises as to whether the owner of the ground on which the pumpkin now flourishes, or Mr. Salter, is entitled to it.

THROWS BRICK THROUGH WINDOW.
Peter Peterson threw a brick through a window of the grocery store of J. E. Foubister, Grant avenue, yesterday afternoon and wound up in police court this morning, where he was fined $25 and costs of thirty days. He was arrested late yesterday by Officer George Monahan.

BITTEN FOUR TIMES BY THE SAME DOG.

NEW SCHOOL TO BE OPENED

Christian Brothers' High School Will Occupy New Building.

About 1,200 Children Will Attend Catholic Educational Institutions.

The Catholic parochial schools of the city will open Tuesday morning with 1,200 children in attendance. The schools are the Christian Brothers' high school, the Cathedral high school, St. Anthony de Padua, St. Mary's, St. Clement's and St. Jean Baptist.

The beautiful new Christian Brothers' high school at the southwest corner of Second avenue west and Fourth street will be opened for the first time Tuesday morning.

It was erected at a cost of about $65,000 by the Sacred Heart Cathedral parish and is a fine addition to the group of buildings at that corner.

The Christian Brothers' high school have been in Duluth for three years conducting the Cathedral high school for boys on the opposite corner to the new building. Only two high school grades have been taught formerly, but an additional grade will be taught this year and a class will be graduated in 1912.

The new high school is completely equipped and the course will be thorough and complete. The school includes a gymnasium with a complete equipment.

The girls' high school, formerly conducted at the Sacred Heart Institute, Third avenue east and Third street, will this year occupy the quarters vacated by the boys in the Cathedral high school. Both Catholic high schools will have complete courses.

Grade schools for boys and girls will be conducted in the two Cathedral schools and the other parochial schools. Bishop McGlocklin is head of the schools of the diocese and the parish priest is superintendent of the schools in his parish.

John Pelupessu, who is in the divorce proceedings against his wife Sophie, has in his complaint that she deserted him and another child.

DULUTH TAKES A "DAY OFF" TO PAY TRIBUTE TO ORGANIZED LABOR

Stirring Address By W. E. McEwen, Feature of Day's Exercises.

Thousands of Workmen March in Line Through City's Streets.

Threatening Weather Fails to Put Damper on the Celebration.

SOME McEWENISMS.

We hear a great deal in our modern labor literature of industrial slavery, but there is another slavery just as bad as the laborer and that is party slavery.

Of all God's creatures in Minnesota, the working men receive the least attention. We pay $24,000 a year to protect cows and horses and only $34,500 to protect human lives.

Extorting money from the wages of labor without the consent of the laborer is not a crime in Minnesota. The extortion law in this state was not framed to help the laborer.

How can there be economic justice if the thing that labor produces is sold by capital at a monopoly price, and the wages of labor are fixed under a competitive system?

We levy a tax on the products of foreign labor, but throw down the gates completely to the foreign laborer.

The waterwork of the Twentieth century is brotherhood. It is coming and when it does business of every kind will be based on reason and conducted solely with reference to universal welfare.

The climax to Duluth's tribute to organized labor came this afternoon, following the other events of the day, when in a fitting, stirring and patriotic address, William E. McEwen brought cheers from the huge crowd at Fairmount park with his terse sayings and his summing up of the labor question.

The most notable speaker in the state of Minnesota had a message to deliver and he delivered it in his own forceful and convincing manner. He stirred the patriotism that lay deep in the breasts of all by his words and made many new friends for the cause he represented.

Today is the one day in the year that the union man turns out to show his fellow workers that he is with them in the struggle for better wages and better conditions. Thousands of loyal workers were here this morning and evening, thousands more cheered them on their march.

The day was cloudy and while it was rather too cool for picnic, many were on the early cars with lunch baskets bound for Fairmount park, where the general picnic and celebration of the day took place.

Early in the morning the streets were lined with people. The parade was not scheduled to start until 10 o'clock, but long before that hour messages of welcome were being sent to the streets.

It was a splendid demonstration and the people are proud of their laboring men and women and again as the unions in line were cheered by the assembled multitude.

All Men Closed.

All the stores along Superior street were closed and only those whose work keeps them busy every day of the year, were on the job. Even with these men such as conductors and motormen, an effort had been made to let them have a part of the day. It is the one day in the year that nearly everyone is off work.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the parade started its march along Superior street. The union men marched west and then east on the other side of the street to Second avenue east, where the line of march was broken and after a short meeting at the labor day officials at the Kalamazoo hall, everybody went to Fairmount park.

The parade was the best ever. It was the largest. More men were in line than ever before, showing that in Duluth, at least, the workers evidently believe with the motto of nearly every

Ballinger Probe Men in Session

Committee Meets in Minneapolis and Adjourns to Tuesday Morning.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ballinger congressional investigation committee held its first session here today since the hearings in Washington. Seven of the twelve members constituting the committee were present, and another, Senator Parcell of North Dakota, was expected later in the day.

Immediately after being called to order, an adjournment was taken until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The committee then left for St. Paul to attend the conservation congress and the luncheon for President Taft. They also will be in the city at the reception to Col. Roosevelt tomorrow.

The members who have arrived for the consideration of a report on the controversy are: Senator Nelson, chairman, and Senators Sutherland of Utah and Fletcher of Florida, and Representatives McCall, Madison, James and Graham.

Calumet Man Drowns in Lake

Kohn Kalp Loses His Life While Boating on Superior.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kohn Kalp, 64 years old, a well-known resident of Calumet, while boating in Lake Superior, four miles from here, was drowned yesterday afternoon.

Woman Prevents Burglary.

Sheldon, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Firing four shots through the windows at a man who attempted to gain an entrance to the store at Anselm, this county, Mrs. A. A. Krueger successfully frustrated an attempted burglary, although she failed to bring the fellow down.

WISCONSIN'S FIGHT OVER

Candidates in Primary Elections All Feel Confident.

Crownhart Predicts That La Follette Will Win Two to One.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—Political managers of the various candidates seeking nomination at tomorrow's primary elections spent today in giving final instructions to the various workers throughout the state.

Charles W. Crownhart, who has been managing Senator La Follette's campaign, feels confident that his candidate will sweep the state 2 to 1, while W. C. Cowling, who has been directing the affairs of Samuel A. Cook, the candidate of the regulars, says he is satisfied with the outlook.

The manager of E. J. Fairchild, the anti-county option Republican candidate for governor and who is looked upon as a candidate of the anti-La Follette wing of the party, also the manager of Francis E. McGovern, county option, and William Mitchell Lewis, county option, claim that their candidates will win.

Betting.

The betting around town on various blackboard would indicate that the judgment of professional bettors is that the contest will be close between these three candidates.

The heads of the Democratic, Social-Democratic and Prohibition tickets have no opposition.

The congressional contest would seem of after the nomination of near all the present Republican congressmen with the possible exception of Stanford in the Fifth district, against whom the insurgents have put up a desperate campaign.

The nomination for congress in place of Welles, Democrat, is a three-cornered fight and promises to be closely contested. The other Democratic tickets with the exception of the Fifth district have but one nominee.

ROOSEVELT IS IN FARGO

Ex-President to Make Labor Day Address in That City.

Will Go Next to St. Paul to Talk to Conservationists.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—Fargo's Labor day celebration delegations arrived this morning and before most of the city was up people began to come into town from the adjoining territory. They came on trains, on foot, in carriages and on horseback. A dozen special trains were scheduled to arrive here during the morning.

Great preparations had been made for today's celebration. The streets are decorated with flags and bunting and pictures of Col. Roosevelt. At Island park a stand has been built to hold 1,500 persons, but 3,500 persons would be able to get into the natural amphitheater in which the stand is built and hear what Col. Roosevelt has to say.

Lay College Cornerstone.

The program of the day's events called for Col. Roosevelt's first appearance at Fargo college at the laying of the cornerstone of the library building and to make a short speech. The parade was next, with the labor organizations of the city at the head. They were followed by sixty automobiles, with Col. Roosevelt in the first one.

Among the others to ride in the parade were: Lieutenant Governor R. E. (Continued on page 10, seventh column.)

MEET TO BOOST COURT NOMINEES

Pre-Election Gathering Is Held at Fargo, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting was held here Sunday afternoon in the interests of Supreme Court Justices McKelvie and Ellsworth and Attorney Cooley of Grand Forks. Six candidates were nominated at the primaries for the three positions. The supreme bench and certain nominees are District Judges Goss of Minot and Burke of Valley City and Attorney Anderson of Devils Lake.

RUDE JOLT FOR CUPID

James Dare Meets Wife in Morning; Married in Afternoon.

Is Arrested the Following Day on Bigamy Charge.

Love's dream was short lived for James A. Dare and Catherine Collins. Meeting for the first time Friday morning, they were married in the afternoon by Judge Middlecott at the courthouse.

Saturday afternoon Dare was thrown in jail on complaint of Mary Dare, who asserts that she is still his legal wife and charges him with bigamy.

"Don't you think that No. 2 'is still the only girl in the world for me. I love her above all others.' And he alleged that Mrs. Dare No. 2 continues to think that he is all right, coming to the station to see him frequently. She was there for a long time yesterday and was back again for over an hour this forenoon."

"I don't think that you entered the bonds of matrimony on rather short acquaintance," wife No. 2 was asked this morning as she sat talking to Dare at headquarters.

"Well, you can never tell anything about a man until you marry him; you don't know him until then," she retorted with spirit.

"I had that kind of experience before," she concluded. "I went with one fellow four years once and he turned out to be the worst kind of a sneak."

"Yes," chimed in Dare, "and I went with my first wife five years before I

CHIEF POINTS IN PRESIDENT TAFT'S CONSERVATION SPEECH

There is no crying need for amending the present laws regarding purely agricultural lands.

The federal government should not aid in the drainage of state land.

Present rules governing the ownership and disposition of mineral lands should not be changed. (Mineral lands are defined as "those bearing metals, or what are called metalliferous minerals.")

Congress should amend the laws so as to permit the enlargement of the national forest reserve in the Far Western states.

Each state should enforce proper forestry methods in the forest areas within its boundaries and owned by private parties.

Better fire protection should be provided for the national forests.

Coal mining rights under the new homestead law should be leased instead of being sold outright.

Alaska coal land laws are badly in need of amendment. Those coal areas should be opened under the lease system.

Oil, gas and phosphorus should be conserved through operation of production under the lease system.

New laws are needed to regulate the control of water-power sites. The question of state or federal ownership will be placed before congress for solution.

Withdrawal of federal land for conservation purposes must be followed by intelligent and effective measures for development in the interests of both the present and the future.

DAY AND LYNCH TO MEET JOHN LIND

Will Confer With Him Regarding Candidacy for Governor.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is generally believed here that Frank A. Day, chairman of the Democratic state committee, and Fred B. Lynch, national committeeman, who left last evening for the West, will meet John Lind at some town in Nebraska, on his return from the Southwest, and will confer with him regarding his candidacy for governor.

At the office of Mr. Lynch, it is denied that he has gone on this mission, but the knowing ones are convinced that it is the object of his trip in company with Mr. Day. It is expected they will return about Thursday of this week.

Ruptured Blood Vessel.

Sanborn, N. D., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suffering a rupture of a blood vessel while he was engaged in making a small repair on a thrashing engine, Frank Stalcup of Monroe, Wis., died a short time later. He was bending over in a peculiar position at the time and when he tried to straighten up, he found that he had a bad strain in his back. This rapidly became worse until death occurred.

COUP BY PINCHOT

Formation of National Commission Regarded in That Light.

Stories of "Packed" Delegations Pass in Convention Hall.

PRESIDENT PRAISES WORK OF ROOSEVELT FOR SAVING RESOURCES.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—With an address by the president of the United States in which he gave unstinted praise to the men who are recognized leaders in the work in this country for the conservation of natural resources, but in which he nevertheless took issue with them on some of the details of that work, and with prospects of a bitter fight on the floor of the convention over the principles of state and federal control of the natural resources, the Second National Conservation congress opened its sessions in the Auditorium here at 10 o'clock this morning.

President Taft's address was listened to the more attentively because it was understood that he had spent more time on its preparation than has been put on any other speech he has made since his inauguration, and it was said to embody his final views on the subject of conservation.

The crowd began arriving early at the Auditorium to get a glimpse of President Taft.

Before the convention was called to order by President B. N. Baker, delegates gathered in little knots discussing reports of packed delegations made by one side or the other, and commenting on Gifford Pinchot's coup last night in forming a national commission for the purpose of systematizing the work of state commissions, and bringing them into harmony with the national congress.

Coup by Pinchot.

As many delegates as the commissions represent states which are opposed to the Roosevelt policy of national control, the path of the organization turned last night by Pinchot's adherence to the conservation movement, in the eyes of those discussing the subject, it was admitted, however, that Pinchot had made a most political move to strengthen his position.

Following is the program for today:

10 o'clock, congress called to order by President Baker.

Invocation, the Right Rev. John Ireland, bishop of St. Paul.

Address of welcome on behalf of the state of Minnesota, by Governor A. O. Peterson.

Address of welcome on behalf of the city of St. Paul, Mayor Herbert F. Keller.

Address by the president of the United States.

"Our Public Land Laws," United States Senator Knute Nelson, Minnesota, chairman committee on public lands, United States SENATOR.

Appointment of presiding officer.

Address by governors.

President Taft took occasion in his speech to praise the work of Theodore Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT TO BE IN FIGHT

He Will Use the "Big Stick" and Go to the Finish on Pinchot's Side.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—If there is a fight against the policies endorsed by Theodore Roosevelt on the subject of conservation at the Conservation congress at St. Paul, the colonel will be in the fight in support of his friends, Gifford Pinchot and James H. Garfield. He will be in the fight with the "big stick," and will fight to a finish.

Reports that have reached Col. Roosevelt here have been to the effect that the plans of Pinchot and Garfield for the conservation of national resources will be opposed by men not in sympathy with these plans, and that a strong combination has been effected to nullify the influence in the convention of Col. Roosevelt's friends. Just what Col. Roosevelt will do in this fight is not known, but it is expected that he will leave for St. Paul determined to fight vigorously any opposition to his plans is clearly understood here.

ELECTION CONTEST IS QUICKLY DISMISSED.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a recount had been made of the ballots cast in one ward in Bottineau, H. C. Gann asked that he be allowed to dismiss his action contesting the nomination of Matt Johnson for clerk of the district court. There was a difference of only three votes in this race, but Gann's recount of the one ward increased Johnson's lead by two votes. The contestant alleged illegal voting had been done.

MANY EXHIBITS ARE PROMISED

Lake County Fair Promises to Surpass All Previous Shows.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 5.—The preparations being made for the Lake county fair, to be held in the Metropolitan opera house here on Sept. 22, 23 and 24, indicate that it will be very successful in every way. The agricultural association this year sent out a representative to ascertain about what each of the farmers will bring in for exhibits. Clarence Hillman was selected to do this and he has a list of exhibits which will be more than twice the number shown at any fair heretofore. This report is encouraging to the promoters of the fair, as it indicates that the common products that are listed for exhibition, there are some rather out of the ordinary, such as cotton, peanuts, sweet potatoes, alfalfa, sugar corn, cornucopia, etc. There are also flowers, asparagus, as well as field, sweet and popcorn, fall and spring wheat, oats, barley, rye and clover. The women's department will be largely increased, and will attract much more attention, having been given this year than formerly. A specialty will be made this year of the poultry exhibit, which is expected to be large.

It has been decided that the last day of the fair, the farmers desiring to do so may bring in loads of produce, not for display, but to be offered for sale near the fair grounds. The last day articles on exhibit may be sold at any time during the fair, and the last day on exhibition can be removed from the building until 9 p. m. of the last day.

The land department of the Duluth & Iron Range, which has been in operation since the fall of 1909, has been assigned special cash prizes of last year for this fair. These prizes total $100. Special prizes have also been assigned to the Marshall-Wells Hardware company of Duluth, and number of other Duluth business firms. It is expected that several trained men from the state farm as well as experienced men from Duluth, will be present to pass upon the merits of the live stock and to give brief lectures.

TOWER TEACHER RETURNS.
Back From Vacation in New York and New Jersey.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Fanny Gray arrived in Tower Friday to resume her duties as a member of the high school faculty, after spending her vacation in New York and New Jersey. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer fell from a barn Thursday and broke his arm.

Fred Wallsten left Sunday for Hamlin to take in the state fair. George Wilson, Fred Merrill and son Ray visited with friends in Eveleth this week. The two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Martin are recovering after several days' illness.

Ned Owens of Cook, Minn., was in Tower Friday calling on friends from his way to visit Duluth and the state fair.

CONTRACTS FOR TAKING

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

McKnight Plans to "Show Up" Miller at Aitkin Labor Day Exercises—Boyle of Eveleth Makes a Hit at West Duluth Meeting—Hibbing Tribune Is Unreconstructed—John Dwan as a Candidate.

Labor day will give many candidates for office a chance to orate, and among those who will take advantage of it is Alex G. McKnight, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress.

McKnight, who will speak at today's Aitkin, which place is generally considered a stronghold of Clarence B. Miller, his opponent, is known to be a man of means to make the most sensational speech of his campaign to date at Aitkin and a good deal of interest in it is being shown by adherents of both candidates.

Saturday evening the insurgent candidate spoke at Two Harbors. He presented the case of "The People vs. Miller," and with accustomed forcefulness he made a strong case for his own case, and he did not strengthen his own case, but he did not weaken the case of the incumbent.

Congressman Miller is busy trying to establish his own reputation as an insurgent. With this object in view he has had published in the Hibbing Tribune a long editorial attack on the Hibbing Tribune. It was said later by the Hibbing Tribune that the Hibbing Tribune had not the expected effect of changing the political position on the congressional contest.

It is noticeable that the withdrawal of H. E. Premeur from the editorial of the Hibbing Tribune, which was published in the Hibbing Tribune, has not had the expected effect of changing the political position on the congressional contest. It was generally believed that the elimination of Mr. Premeur from the Hibbing Tribune would result in the Hibbing Tribune becoming an advocate of the reelection of Clarence B. Miller, but it has not done that. In a recent editorial the Hibbing Tribune said:

Clarence Miller is home from Oklahoma a badly scared individual. He dislikes that long word "indivisible," but it is impossible to say "man." Clarence finds that there is a lot of trouble brewing in the Eighth Minnesota, and he is very busy getting his support into action. He had the Hibbing Tribune print a long editorial attack on the Hibbing Tribune, but it was only one thing the matter with him. And it was a true saying that the Hibbing Tribune was thinking that an individual without manhood is not a very satisfactory representative at Washington, that Clarence is getting scared.

Mr. Premeur is now in sole control of the Hibbing Tribune. He sold out his interest Sept. 1, after a long and difficult struggle, and has been caused by his attacks on Congressman Miller, who he accused of having been a "Hibbing politician" for several years, including Mr. Premeur.

The candidacy of John Dwan of Two Harbors for the office of county attorney of Lake county, which he declared last week, Democratic nomination, is a very interesting one. Dwan is a well known and successful business man, and his candidacy is a very interesting one. He is a well known and successful business man, and his candidacy is a very interesting one.

Lake County Union, which has been a long time in the field as a candidate for the Republican ticket, and J. Gillette, who is a well known and successful business man, and his candidacy is a very interesting one. He is a well known and successful business man, and his candidacy is a very interesting one.

Mr. Boyle's speech was easily the feature of the program. He made a frank and effective appeal for support and votes, but for the most part he dealt on the issues of the campaign and the necessity for united party action. The general purposes of the Crookston and Hibbing county clubs were warmly advocated by the Eveleth men, whose arguments for re-election were forceful and convincing.

There were moments in the course of his address when he carried his hearers to the highest pitch of enthusiasm by his eloquence and he was frequently interrupted by applause. "As to my own candidacy," said Mr. Boyle, "I have been asked that I am the young man for the job. That is the chief objection that has been made against me, so far as I have heard. In the words of another man who had met with a like objection, with God's will I will outgrow it."

Another argument that has been advanced against me is that I am not on to the ropes at St. Paul. I tell you, gentlemen, that I cannot consider that fact to be against me. I don't want to be on to the ropes, as that is meant. The men who looked the state of Pennsylvania of millions of dollars, the men who sold the votes that elected Lorimer to the senate from Illinois, these men were on to the ropes. This district does not want that kind of representative in the upper house of the legislature.

All of the speakers pledged their support of the Republican ticket after the primaries and altogether the meeting was a harmonious and successful one. After adjournment Otho Halden became the center of the crowd of Republicans present and they assured him singly and in groups of their continued and unflinching support, freely predicting his triumphant re-election by a larger majority than ever.

It is noticeable that the withdrawal of H. E. Premeur from the editorial of the Hibbing Tribune, which was published in the Hibbing Tribune, has not had the expected effect of changing the political position on the congressional contest. It was generally believed that the elimination of Mr. Premeur from the Hibbing Tribune would result in the Hibbing Tribune becoming an advocate of the reelection of Clarence B. Miller, but it has not done that. In a recent editorial the Hibbing Tribune said:

Dine in Our 4th Floor Tea Rooms.

Tailored Suits and Coats
That Accord to the Mandates of Fashion

THE "lineless" form that has been agreed upon for the correct Fall mode is correctly mirrored in the splendid showing of dependable garments that are now displayed in our apparel parlors.

Plain tailored models now have preferred showing. The materials are mannish, consisting of chevots, basket weaves, ratine cloths, homespuns in various shadings. Coats are 30 to 34 inches in length to harmonize with various figures, while skirts are built along straight lines with novel side effects or deep bands.

Surpassing models offered Tuesday at $29.50, $34.50, $37.50 and $39.50.

MANY new arrivals in smart semi-fitted coats from broad-cloths, chevots, basket weaves, Scotch mixtures and other rough woven fabrics. Lengths are for the most part 34 inches—practical garments for every occasion. They are priced at $14.98, $18.50, $19.50 and up.

Continuing $4.98 Petticoat Sale
SUCH a rush for petticoats we have never seen before. All day Friday women who noticed the window display came to the second floor asking for goods, but of course they did not go on sale until Saturday. 500 is too many for one day's selling, however, so what remained over will be offered again Tuesday, at the same price.

A Word About Our Beauty Parlors and Hair Goods Dept.

OUR NEW third floor beauty parlors, hairdressing rooms and hair goods department will be ready within the next month. Already the carpenters and decorators have finished their work, fixtures are purchased and on the road to Duluth.

Miss McMahon of New York, who has for years managed one of the foremost shops in Gotham, will be in charge of the department, and her superior knowledge of the business will insure Duluth women most expert service. She is now in New York buying goods and securing operators.

LABOR DAY.
If society's efforts at self-help ever reach the point where each man's pay is proportioned to his services to society, there will be no question whatever about the place at the pay window of the men who marched in today's parade.

They are actual creators of wealth, though not all the creators of wealth march in the Labor day parades.
Today's marchers include only those creators of wealth who are enrolled in labor unions, and the scope of the man who, while they may not work with their hands so much as these men do, still are actual creators of wealth.

An ideal condition of society would be one in which each man's reward for his services to society would be in proportion to those services, and where those who gave no services would receive no reward. In such a condition there would be many, now rolling in riches, who wouldn't be recognized at the pay window at all. There are parasites upon society who some day will be rooted out or forced to go to work, and in that day there will be a larger reward for the real creators of wealth—the workers.

In the meantime, all honor to those who toil, and who band together to improve the working conditions of themselves and their fellows. Those who work to improve the living conditions of the workers, work for the largest benefit to society at large.

Those who hew and dig and spin are the real makers of wealth, and all the rest of us, disguise it as we will, must live upon their fruits of their toil. The better their toil profits them, the better it will be for those who live upon their wages; and that includes not only their wives and families, but those who serve them and provide them with the necessities of life.

The chief reason why living is hard for the workers is that they get too small a proportion of the fruits of their toil. They produce enough wealth to keep the land in peace and plenty. There is no excuse for idleness, no excuse for poverty, no excuse for conditions of work and pay that make the problem of existence a burden that often is despair. The reason it is so is simple: some get more than their share.

Too close relations between powerful property and venal politics; too much government attention to the demand for dividends and too little attention to the common man's need of a decent livelihood; too zealous consideration for the insatiable demands of congested property and too lax attention to the needs of the dis-inherited multitude: these are the causes of the unequal distribution of the fruits of toil and the land's splendid wealth that makes living a problem for millions and a discontented lolling in egregious wealth for a handful.

Society's most immediate necessity and duty is to cure these conditions. Without ceasing to encourage the production of wealth, it must look to it that wealth is more fairly distributed. Without menacing the decent rights of property, it must devote itself to the welfare of humanity. Without injuring the machinery of production, it must make that machinery grind out more comfort for the many and less corrupting luxury for the few.

This is the meaning of Labor day. This is what is behind these marching thousands of creators of wealth.
This is what underlies and keeps effervescent the unrest in American life that is growing more irrepressible every day.

JUSTICE FOR THE WORKER.
Theodore Roosevelt, in one of his speeches during his tour of the country, went squarely on record again in favor of laws that shall lift from the back of the workingman the too heavy burden of the risk of employment.

That there is no partisanship in this demand for justice for the worker, and for his release from the coil of injustice that custom and the courts have bound him with, is shown by a comparison of one plan of the platform of the Minnesota Democrats with Roosevelt's remarks on this important subject.

Said the Democracy of Minnesota in its platform: "We stand committed to the enactment of a workman's compensation act that will justly and fairly compensate without delay every person injured in industry, irrespective of whether he assumed the risk, contributed to negligence or suffered injury through the act of a fellow servant. It was the administration of the late Governor Johnson which inaugurated the movement for this kind of legislation, and we pledge our party to bring it to a successful termination, assuring both labor and capital of our desire to do each exact justice."

This plainly stated doctrine disposes in one sentence of the three court-made devices by which the employer has rid himself of the burden of risk, and placed it on the backs of his workers—the infamous doctrines of "assumption of risk" and "contributory negligence" and the "fellow servant" rule.

Said Theodore Roosevelt: "Take such questions as what is called employers' liability. I do not like that expression, because I think the term should be 'the compensation of employees for injuries.' I feel very strongly that in every industry where there is the slightest risk of life or limb, whether on railways or in any other industry, we should not leave it to lawsuits to determine what shall be done in the event of loss of life or injury, and least of all should we allow the whole weight of the burden to fall on the shoulders least able to bear it.

"If a man is killed in an industry, instead of leaving his widow and children to bear the whole burden I would have it distributed over the whole industry by making the employer pay a certain amount of compensation. It is not fair that a man working on a railway who loses his arm should pay all the penalty by being crippled all his life, while the railway pays nothing. The burden should be distributed when a working man is killed or injured in his employment. There should be no question of responsibility. He should receive compensation for the injury he has suffered, and if he is killed his family should receive such compensation."

Thus Theodore Roosevelt and the Democratic party in Minnesota, though expressing themselves in different terms, stand squarely on the same platform of justice to the worker.

Not only is it wrong, as Roosevelt says, that an injured workman should pay the full penalty, but it is doubly wrong that he should be forced to resort to the tedious processes of the courts to gain his just compensation, and to divide his award, if he wins, with a lawyer.

The amount that is consumed in personal injury litigation in this country, in court expenses, lawyers' fees, and maintenance of expensive departments by employers to defend themselves from claims for injuries, together with the sums paid out of liability insurance companies, would adequately compensate every injured workman.
The law must see to it that these funds shall be diverted to the just purpose of compensating injured workmen, and that waste shall cease.

PARTY SLAVERY IS ECONOMIC SLAVERY.
In his speech today State Labor Commissioner McEwen described very vividly how government "by and for the people" has fallen into the hands of a few who use their power for the benefit of greedy private interests.

Better still, he told how it happened. Party slavery did it. Concentration of political power in a form easily handled by the few for the few was made possible only by the blind devotion to party that afflicted the greater part of the voters up to a few years ago.

Still better, he told how to change this undemocratic, un-American situation. Self-seeking corporations are and always have been nonpartisan. They have sought party advantage only as means to an end, and that end their own profit. The way to change the situation is for the workers to be as nonpartisan as the corporations. So long as the people were partisan, they were led and defeated. Far-seeing corporation agents, controlling party machinery, took advantage of this condition to their own rich profit. When the people dropped the hoodwink of partisanship and began to see clearly and to vote for their own interests and for state and country, not for party only, the knell of Special Privilege was sounded.

"I want to see the workingman throw off the shackles of party servitude," said Mr. McEwen, "and become just as independent in politics as are the great corporations which are seeking special privileges under the law."

That is wise and good advice.

TALKING TO THE POINT.
I believe that when protection becomes not a principle but a privilege and a preference—when the American people disapprove of it, and when the cost of production here and abroad. That is, that will equalize the labor cost. I believe in such supervision of the law as will make certain that the protected industry gives that difference to the workmen—and if I find it is not giving it, I would take off the tariff duty from that particular thing—Theodore Roosevelt.

Communing with the progressive and insurgent spirit of the Middle West, Col. Roosevelt is learning to talk turkey on the tariff. No better definition of the tariff scramble has been made than that quoted above. No better test of the good faith of the Republican party's protective practices could be imagined than that suggested here. If the duty should be removed from every protected industry that is failing to give its workers a fair share of the benefits of the tariff tax, this country would be so near a free trade basis that it would be necessary to adopt an income tax immediately to provide revenue enough to run the government.

THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.
The plan of making the Duluth real estate exchange a practicable, working real estate market, described in The Herald Saturday night, is interesting. It suggests a new field of public value for this body, and it seems likely that something of benefit to property-owners, real estate dealers and the community will be worked out of it.
Under the plan as projected there would be a central exchange where every piece of property offered for sale would be listed, together with its price and description and the name of the dealer with whom it is placed for sale. This, it seems, would facilitate both sale and purchase.

Then, too, it is proposed to have a committee to examine property offered for sale, and this could be made a safeguard against fraud through illegitimate transactions. In past real estate activities frauds have been perpetrated, to the hurt of the city as well as of the purchasers, and this has been entirely due to a lack of scrutiny in the public interests.

INSURGENCY—REAL AND IMITATION.
The Duluth News Tribune is engaged in an anxious endeavor to prove that Congressman Miller has been a real insurgent, and is quoting several gentlemen, real residents of the Eighth congressional district, on the subject.

It is noteworthy that none of the real insurgents in congress have been forced to the vexatious task of proving the quality of their insurgency by argument and testimonials. Mudrock isn't doing it, Norris isn't doing it, Nelson isn't doing it, Lenroot isn't doing it, Lindbergh isn't doing it, Davis isn't doing it. In fact, in nearly all cases the record is so clear as to the real insurgents that there is no question whatever about their insurgency, and the fact is so satisfactory to the voters that there is no opposition to their re-election, either in their own party or from the Democrats.

These other congressional districts don't have to be told by outsiders whether their congressmen are real or imitation insurgents. Maybe the Eighth district is able to judge for itself, too.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 30 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though the name need not be published.
A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A TRIBUTE TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Vacation days will soon be over, and the "Recall" will again be called in line the noble line of teachers, with marching orders for the next year, and as the busy mother hunts up the "Report cards," books, school companions, pencils, and other things for the little ones, and reminds the older ones to be ready, I wonder if the full importance of what the "Teacher" is, enters into her mind.

I am an "ex-school marm," very glad to be the special teacher of one pupil, but I am a professional teacher. My

RHEUMATISM PAINFUL & DANGEROUS

Rheumatism is due to a diseased condition of the blood cells and corpuscles, brought about by an excess of uric acid in the circulation. It is not only a very painful disease but an extremely dangerous trouble. The briny, acid state of the blood gradually forms a coating over the muscles, and by depositing a cement-like substance in the joints frequently terminates fatally, or leaves its victim a hopeless cripple. It is natural to "doctor" the spot that hurts, and it is quite right to use liniments, hot applications, etc., to get temporary relief from a painful joint or swollen tendon; but Rheumatism is not a skin disease, and such things, when depended on alone make one careless, and the disease gets a firmer hold on the blood. S. S. S. cures the disease because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation, and removes every particle of the irritating uric acid, builds up the blood, makes it rich and oily, and in this way prepares it for the proper nourishment of all joints, muscles, nerves and bones. If you have Rheumatism, get the uric acid out of the blood by taking S. S. S., a purely vegetable medicine, and enjoy freedom from its misery. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

NELSON ON LAND LAWS

Senator Addresses the Big Conservation Meeting at St. Paul.

Says Legislation Is Needed
Governing the Use of Coal Lands.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the chief speakers at the opening sessions of the National Conservation congress today was Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota. Senator Nelson prefaced a careful review of public land acts by the statement that the natural resources of the country should be conserved by the individual, the state and the nation—the farmer his soil, the state its lands, its forests and its waters, and the federal government the resources of its mines, its forests and its lands with their appurtenances.

He sketched the situation at the close of the Revolution, when the money-poor, land-rich government sought to dispose of its lands. The well-meaning laws enacted, however, resulted in small gain to the country, and big profit to speculators who did not hesitate at shady methods to increase their wealth. These laws, he said, "were repealed none too soon. They had proved, as administered, to be more valuable to the land grabber and the speculator than to the actual settler and home-builder, and this to the great detriment of the public welfare. The low price of the timber land did not cheapen the price of the lumber, but enabled the lumber kings to retain their holdings indefinitely for higher stumpage and dealer lumber."

Some Acts That Failed.
He recounted the failure and repeal of the act of 1874 to encourage the growth of timber on the Western prairies.

The act passed in 1862, giving to each state 30,000 acres of land for every section of land represented in congress for the purpose of establishing and maintaining agricultural and mechanical colleges also did the country little good, the speaker said.

The small timber and stone act of 1878 he described as being "on its face fair and harmless, but in its practical operation it has led to much fraud and unscrupulous results."

This law would long ago have been repealed as soon as the fraudulent methods pursued were discovered.

Even administrative relief in the form of raised prices that checked demand, he declared, had not been entirely successful, and he urged the need of repealing the act.

The homestead law of 1862 Senator Nelson declared to have been "the most beneficial and productive of the best results" of all our public land laws. He denounced as a defect, however, the privilege of commutation which it carries. This, he said, left the way open to the speculator.

Coal Land Laws Needed.

Touching on coal lands, Senator Nelson said:

"Further legislation is urgently needed in respect to the disposal of our coal lands. Many good men, who have given the subject great consideration believe in and favor a well guarded system of leasing instead of sale. I am not prepared to take issue with this contention."

Mr. Nelson spoke of the recent executive order of President Taft withdrawing all coal lands in Alaska from location, sale and entry, and said that it afforded an opportunity for the enactment of much needed reforms in the laws governing those lands.

He favored repealing the earlier reclamation acts which put that work upon the individual, and declaring that federal reclamation work was far superior both as to certainty and effectiveness.

Alluding to forest reserves, Senator Nelson referred in words of praise to Gifford Pinchot, speaking of him as "our great forest guardian and the father of our forestry system."

"No land legislation in recent times has been productive of such beneficent and far reaching results as our forestry legislation," he said, "as to the administration of the law, there has been little, if any, valid ground for serious criticism or complaint. The conduct of a few over-zealous forest rangers and of a few over-strenuous settlers and cattlemen ought not to militate against the value and usefulness of the forestry system as a whole and in its entirety."

The speaker expressed approval of the withdrawal of water power sites from every form of disposal under land acts. Coming to the vexed point as to the legality of state or federal control he said in then vigorous terms, he held that while the federal government has all of the rights of a riparian owner, the states control the actual water.

"It seems to me," he said, "that perhaps I may say that the problem of developing and utilizing water power in such cases can only be properly solved by the co-operation of the state and federal governments. The one owning the power site and the other the water in the stream, it strikes me that co-operation in such a case is essential and furnishes the only practical solution."

Ford Campbell, a well-known Duluth boy, is nursing a deep cut over his left eye, a closed, puffed and discolored eye, and innumerable bruises about his head and body, while six or seven Superior young men stand an excellent chance of being arrested and prosecuted as the result of an assault on Mr. Campbell at the Country club at Superior during a dancing party last Friday evening.

Campbell and his friends say that several Duluth young men who have attended dances at Superior as escorts to Superior young ladies have had experiences somewhat similar to that of Campbell's, but they were not so severely injured, nor did they recognize their assailants. The gang believed to be responsible for the assault on Campbell is said to look with disfavor on Duluth young men's activities in Superior's social life to the exclusion of Superior's young people of the male persuasion, and had feeling has resulted.

According to Campbell's story of the affair, he was sitting alone on the porch of the Country club Friday evening during the sixth dance. He was suddenly set upon by six or seven young men, who, he says, were intent on giving him a severe beating. They succeeded, but he was dragged from the porch, beaten and kicked, and then left in the river, but better counsel prevailed, and his assailants returned to the club, leaving him in a dazed condition.

Campbell found himself lying on the ground some distance from the clubhouse, and he says that he was unable to get up. He was then taken back to the clubhouse, where he was found by some of his friends. He was then taken to the hospital, where he is now lying. He is expected to make a full recovery.

NO CUTTING THIS WINTER.

Important Order Made By Acting
Secretary of the Interior.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Frank Pierce, acting secretary of the interior has addressed a letter to William O'Neill of Cass Lake, superintendent of logging on the Minnesota Indian reservation, in reference to logging operations for the coming winter, and to the forthcoming sale of white and Norway pine on 22,222 acres of ceded Chippewa lands, Sept. 15, when sealed bids will be opened at Cass Lake. On Aug. 22, Sept. 5, O'Neill wrote to the interior department, stating that large numbers of burned, dead and down timber must be logged and disposed of during the coming winter, and also that, owing to the partial failure of crops in the vicinity of the Indian reservation, the timber must be cut and carried to the mill as early as possible. The superintendent therefore requested that purchasers of pine at the sale Sept. 15 be given an option of not cutting any standing timber this winter. Assistant Secretary Pierce has granted this request.

GERMANY PLANNING
DREADNOUGHT BEATERS.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—German naval designers are at work on a small type of battleship which, according to reports, is expected to put the great Dreadnought into the obsolete class. The new vessels will be lightly armored and very speedy. In general design they will be similar to the old monitors. Speaking theoretically, the designers claim that they will be able to penetrate the armor of the Dreadnought, while the new vessel would make their damage by any 12-inch guns most difficult. The Vorwaerts says also that British naval designers are working along the same line as the Germans.

Clement J. Driscoll Talks at New York Labor Dinner.

New York, Sept. 5.—Clement J. Driscoll, who has conducted a vigorous crusade against short weights as New York's commissioner of weights and measures, addressed the annual labor day dinner at the Labor Lyceum last night.

"Some of the so-called reputable merchants of the great city of New York," he said, "who at a time when labor was struggling with its employer for fair play, would be the first to denounce labor, could not stand a very searching inquiry into their business methods."

"The dishonesty of the push cart peddler and the dishonesty of the small merchant is as nothing compared with the dishonesty in short weight and measures with the large corporations of this country."

"Short weighing and short measuring, in the city of New York, has grown to be a habit, and the consequence of the great army of the merchants."

Peoria Is Scene of Three Explosions; One Man Hurt.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 5.—The Lucas Bridge & Iron company's large plant in this city was completely wrecked by dynamites last night, at 10:30 o'clock. Three terrific explosions reduced the plant to ruins and six adjacent buildings, including three saloons, were wrecked.

Robert Gebhardt, a night watchman, was seriously injured and was removed to the hospital.

The Lucas company has been operating an open shop, but can give no reason for the attempt to destroy the plant.

This is the second successful attempt to destroy structural steel works in this city in the last few weeks. Dynamites wrecking the large steel spans to be used in the new Peoria & Pekin railway bridge about ten days ago.

While labor trouble is conceded as the cause in both cases, the police have been unable to find a clue.

BIG METEOR SIGHTED.

Monster Is Believed to Have Landed in Oregon.

Portland, Or., Sept. 5.—A meteor estimated to have been at least 100 feet in diameter, sailed across the Willamette valley shortly after noon yesterday and is believed to have plunged into the earth west of McMinnville, Yamhill county.

It was seen by a number of persons in Portland and at the same time by the postmaster of Mount Angel, thirty-two miles distant, and also by several persons at Salem, over forty miles from Portland. All descriptions coincide.

It is expected the Smithsonian institution will begin a search for it.

MURDER TWO MEN, BUT FAIL TO TAKE $5,000.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE IS CONSIDERED SURE WINNER IN PRIMARIES

Willis J. Abbot Finds He Will Poll Many Democratic Votes.

Opponents Still Hope to Beat Him in the Legislature.

Expect to Form a Coalition
With the "Reactionary" Democrats.

(Copyright, 1910, by Joseph B. Bowles.)
By Willis J. Abbot.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Presumably there are some Democrats in the state of Wisconsin. In 1908 about 165,000 voted for the candidate for governor and a few more for Mr. Bryan. But just now it is difficult to find any of these thousands, for the very simple reason that the voting population of the state is no longer divided on party lines. The people are divided on the issue of La Follette, and the old terms of Republican and Democrat are seldom heard.

In La Follette the State Issue. Of course there are Democratic candidates for the nominations for governor, for congress and for the United States senate. All nominations in this state are under the system of direct primaries. But the real battle for the state is fought in the corridors of the hotels where politicians do not most congregate without hearing a word about any issue except the election or the defeat of La Follette. A man of great influence, of so high a standing that I cannot mention his name, came to me today: "La Follette will win at the primaries. His enemies will try to reverse the people's will in the caucus."

MICHIGAN BANK SAFE IS BLOWN

Burglars Get Several Thousand Dollars Out of Riga Job.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Cracksmen blew the safe of the Farmers & Merchants bank at Riga, Mich., early today, and secured several thousand dollars. The cause of the explosion was the exact amount. The robbers escaped on a handcar.

DR. CRIPPEN IS ON TRIAL

Prosecution Declares Belle Elmore Was Poisoned and Operated Upon.

Leneve Woman Accused of Being Accessory After the Fact.

London, Sept. 6.—At the opening today of the trial of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, the prosecution announced that large quantities of poison had been found in the woman's body and that there were evidences that she had been subjected to an operation. Ethel Clare Leneve, the doctor's typist, who accompanied him in his flight to Canada after the disappearance of his wife, and who has been held on the same charge, also was brought to the bar today, but the crown stated that it had been decided to confine the allegations against the girl to being an accessory after the fact. This relieves Miss Leneve of any foreknowledge of the crime and is in line with the belief of her family and friends that she did not share Crippen's confidence to the time that his wife dropped out of sight and was said by him to have died in California.

Interest Keeps Up. Interest in the Crippen case has by no means worn out, as was shown by the crowd which gathered in the vicinity of the court house for the opening address, in the public prosecutor's office, made a long and interesting case from the time that suspicions were aroused against the husband by the unsatisfactory explanation which he offered for the disappearance of his actress wife to his return to London from the Quebec jail, and the arraignment of the doctor and Miss Leneve on the joint charge of murder.

Born in United States. Both Crippen and his wife were born in the United States, he at Coldwater, Mich., and she in Brooklyn. Her maiden name was Cora Belle Makomaski. They were married in New Jersey and subsequently came to London, where Crippen was a patent medicine agent and later engaged in the dental business. Miss Leneve was employed (Continued on page 6, fourth column.)

MAY BE THE CENTER OF FIGHT AT MADISON

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE,
Senior United States Senator From Wisconsin.

WISCONSIN VOTERS OUT

Primary Election Is Held in That and Other States.

State Officers Are Being Chosen in Vermont—
Voting Is Slow.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—Voters of Wisconsin are today casting ballots to determine their choice for United States senator on the Republican and Democratic tickets, deciding the making of two state tickets in which there are contests and casting their preference or congressional candidates of the various parties.

The chief interest centers in the outcome of the vote for the nomination of United States senator on the Republican ticket—whether the primary nomination shall go to Robert M. La Follette or Madison or to Samuel A. Cook of Neenah.

Congressman Charles H. Weiss of the Sixth district and Earl Williams of Ashland are seeking the United States senatorial nomination from the Democrats.

Five Out for Governor.

Next in interest to the senatorial contest is the outcome of the race for head of the Republican ticket of five (Continued on page 4, fourth column.)

PUBLIC HEALTH SOCIETY MEETS

Three Hundred Delegates Attend First Session in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—Many papers pertaining to health will be read and discussed by the 300 delegates attending the thirty-eighth annual convention of the American Public Health association, which opened a four days' meeting in Milwaukee today. Health officials from throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico will take part in the proceedings. Routine business and the reading of several papers of a technical nature occupied the time of the opening session.

BRIQUETTING OF COAL INCREASING

Geological Survey Makes a Report on the Process.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Coal briquetting is slowly increasing in the United States. The production in 1909, according to a compilation by E. W. Parker of the geological survey, reached 123,661 short tons, valued at $152,697. The output in 1908 was 90,358 tons, worth $225,057, and in 1907, 66,524 tons, worth $258,426. The survey has an experimental briquetting plant at Pittsburg. The German press used has a capacity of 2½ to 3 tons an hour, tests having been made with lignites from California, Texas and North Dakota, which were all briquetted successfully without a binding material.

BOX FACTORY AT NEW DULUTH FALLS PREY TO FIREBUG'S MANIA

SLEEPING MEN ROBBED

Thief Slashes Pockets of Three Victims and Takes Their Rolls.

Discovered, But Gets Away
After Struggle, Flashing Revolver.

After having robbed them of $70 by slashing open the pockets of their trousers as they lay asleep in the Christopher hotel at 228 Lake avenue south at 3 o'clock this morning, a bold prowler came out victorious in a fierce hand to hand battle with three workmen who were sleeping together in the place.

The men who were robbed of their worldly wealth and who confessed to allowing the thief to get the better of them after they had him in their clutches, gave their names at the police station this morning as Isaac and Frank Maki and John Kangas. Although the robbery and fight occurred at 3 o'clock they did not notify the authorities until 5 o'clock.

They stated through an interpreter that they had gone to sleep after removing only their boots, coats and hats, leaving their cash in the pockets of their trousers. Early today the thief slit large holes in the pockets and extracted their "rolls" as they slept. Kangas was evidently the last man he tackled. As he drew his hand from Kangas' pocket the victim awoke. With a yell that aroused his two companions he leaped upon the intruder. The others came to his assistance, but the three of them could not overpower him. They claim that when they had the best of him, he succeeded in drawing a revolver from his pocket. Exerting his great strength he is claimed to have struck the man who had the strongest hold of him over the face with the barrel of the weapon and to have wrenched himself free. Covering their heads with their hands and to have forced them to put their hands over their heads and to have backed out into the hall, whence he made his escape.

Aroused and Fear Further Damage.

The W. H. Rieckhoff box factory at New Duluth was totally destroyed by fire of undoubtedly incendiary origin at 4 o'clock this morning, entailing a loss estimated at $30,000.

This morning's conflagration is the fifth in a month, all said on authentic clues to have been started by the same firebug.

The suburb is in the throes of the highest excitement. Every resident is fearful that he will be the next victim. Without adequate police or fire protection they feel that they are practically helpless and almost at the mercy of the maniac who has caused such tremendous property loss.

With the limited means available every effort is being made to run the lunatic to earth. On every side were heard threats of lynching if he were once caught. The men of the place have sent out rifles and have taken to their hands in case they catch a glimpse of the pyromaniac who is creating the havoc. The people are aroused to a high pitch and indications are that if the criminal is apprehended he will get severe treatment at the hands of his captors.

Two of the previous blazes were in the same box factory. The first destroyed the company's sawing, causing a loss estimated at $3,000. The second (Continued on page 6, fourth column.)

President Meets Business Men During Two-Hour Stay.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—President Taft arrived in Chicago at 8:30 this morning over the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, and went immediately in an automobile to the Congress hotel, where he took breakfast. One of the president's guests at the hotel was Henry S. Graves, chief forester of the United States. The president received a committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and left his hotel at 10 a. m. to make a train at the Lake Shore station. He departed for the East at 10:30 a. m.

PICK DELEGATES IN NEW MEXICO

Vote for Constitutional Convention Includes Initiative and Referendum.

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 6.—New Mexico is voting today for delegates to the constitutional convention which convenes Oct. 6. The main issue has been the initiative and referendum, the Democrats advocating the Oregon plan in the constitution and the Republicans favoring a modified plan to be submitted separately or not to be considered until the first legislature.

Behind the fight, however, is the effort of each party to show that New Mexico is either Republican or Democratic on this score the fight is a warm one.

ROOSEVELT AGAIN ATTACKS THE SPECIAL INTERESTS IN SPEECH AT BIG MEETING IN ST. PAUL

RAPID WORK ON NEW ROAD

Nearly 2,000 Men Are Employed By the Canadian Northern.

Ore Docks Will Be Located at Forty-Ninth Avenue.

Work on the Canadian Northern's big terminals in the western part of the city, is progressing rapidly. The contractors between here and Virginia report progress as well, favored by the dry season which has made work in the muds through which much of the line runs, unusually easy.

Through Fairmont park and west to the city limits the right-of-way, 100 feet in width, has been cleared and some grading has been done. Crews of men are at work excavating at the points which will be the ends of the proposed 600-foot tunnel through the hill almost directly above the steel plant location. It will be some time before the tunnel proper will be commenced, as there will be a rock cut of considerable length at each end, and some earth excavation. This tunnel is designed to cut off the projecting "bob" of the hill which would otherwise necessitate a great deal of heavy grading. It is one of the most expensive bits of work on the line as it will be the most part through solid trap rock.

Large crews of men are at work installing culverts along the right-of-way. A big culvert 100 feet in length is being built in the ravine at Eighty-second avenue west and this will be one of the biggest fills on the right-of-way.

At Fairmont park excavation is in process for the piers of the bridge which is to span the driveway. It having been decided to avoid a grade crossing in the park, if possible, this will necessitate an alteration of the road which will be borne by the railroad company.

East of the park there is very little work to be done.

MAY FLY AFTER HEIGHT RECORD

Aviators Are Doing Stunts at Atlantic—Englishman
the Star.

Boston, Sept. 6.—Promises of flights for the altitude record and Boston Light day of flying at the Boston Light house were made by several of the aviators when they came out for the third day of flying at the Boston Light house. A big crowd of people gathered to see the flights.

William M. Hillard was the first aviator out in the air today. In a Burgess-Curtiss machine Hillard made several short flights, but the record did not ascend more than a few feet.

Claude Grahame-White of England took first place in all five classes contested yesterday.

In addition White gained plaudits repeatedly when, in exhibition flights, he demonstrated the hazardous feats of the men of the air in dipping and swooping and making short turns. In one of his flights he took up Miss Mary Campbell of New York and, after twice circling the tower in an easy manner, gave her a thrill with a 200-foot slide down the wind to within ten feet of the ground, from which elevation he dropped lightly to the turf.

IS CHIEF SPEAKER
AT ST. PAUL MEETING

THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
Ex-President of the United States.

TEDDY IN THE TWIN CITIES

Ex-President Is Given Hearty Welcome on His Arrival.

Cheering Crowds Line Route
From Minneapolis to St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is Roosevelt day in the Twin Cities. Col. Roosevelt arrived in Minneapolis from Fargo at 7 o'clock this morning, and after taking breakfast, was escorted to St. Paul, where he was scheduled to make two addresses, one before the National Conservation congress in the morning and one at the state fair grounds in the afternoon.

Col. Roosevelt and party was met at the Minneapolis union station by a committee of Minneapolis and St. Paul citizens. Escorted by mounted police, he was taken in an automobile to the Radisson hotel, where he was the guest of the committee at an informal breakfast.

At 9 o'clock the former president and the members of the committee here for St. Paul in automobiles. Governor Eberhart, Frank B. Kellogg and H. A. Tuttle occupied the car with Col. Roosevelt. Arriving at the east end of the Marshall avenue bridge, the Minneapolis police escort gave way to a similar escort from St. Paul, in addition to the national guard, which gave the presidential salute of twenty-one guns when the column reached the city limits.

Greeted by Cheering Crowds. Col. Roosevelt was greeted by crowds of cheering men, women and children along the entire route from the Minneapolis hotel to the state capitol at St. Paul. Flags and national colors were displayed on stores and residences throughout the two cities and numerous large pictures of the distinguished guest were displayed in windows and on the front and sides of buildings.

Arriving at the state capitol, Col. Roosevelt was met by the original Roosevelt club and the Spanish-war veterans in uniform, who escorted him to the Saint Paul hotel, where Mr. Roosevelt held a short reception for the members of the club which bears his name. After a brief rest, Col. Roosevelt, with the same escort, proceeded to the St. Paul Auditorium to deliver his address before the conservation congress.

WILL NOT ENJOIN THE CLOSED SHOP

Judge Smith McPherson Holds Employer May Determine That Question.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—The opinion of Judge Smith McPherson, who yesterday denied the application of C. M. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., for an injunction to restrain American Federation of Labor officials and Buck Stove & Range company from entering into a closed shop agreement, was filed in the United States circuit court here today. The tentative agreement, the ratification of which Mr. Post opposed, the court says, was reached some six weeks ago.

The court says every employer of labor has the right to determine for himself whether his business shall be operated as a closed shop or an open shop, adding:

"Whether it is better to have a closed shop or an open shop, men differ."

In this particular case Judge McPherson found the board of directors of the Buck company had decided to make the settlement with union labor.

Life Underwriters Meet. Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—The National Life Underwriters' association opened its annual convention here today.

Address.

Speaker Outlines Fight With Railways Over Water Frontage.

Urges Bureau of Health—Says Politics Must Be Cleaned Up.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "special interests" were once more assailed by Theodore Roosevelt today in his speech here before the national conservation congress. He declared that they must be driven out of politics for the good of the nation at large and for that of every individual in it. He paid his respects also to those people who get into the hands of transportation interests, and declared that all the great waterway work planned would amount to nothing unless care was taken to keep the water fronts from getting into the hands of the enemies of water transportation.

While the address of Col. Roosevelt was the feature of the national conservation congress program today, delegates were greatly interested in the appointment of committees. Special attention dealt with their probable making of their complexion with reference to the control of the convention.

Gifford Pinchot, who was absent making a speech against Congressman Taft yesterday, while President Taft was here, returned today and was seated by the arrangements committee.

ENGLISH ARREST GERMAN "SPY"

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 6.—A German army officer who was arrested yesterday while engaged in sketching the fortifications here is still detained at Port Pirbright. The man's name is supposed to be Elmer and he is connected with the construction division of the German land forces.

Documents found upon the alleged spy are said to include sketches of the forts all along the hills. The papers have been despatched to the war office.

"TOO MUCH HYSTERIA"

Fairbanks Says Some National Counselors Are False Prophets.

Vice President Talks to Nextican War Veterans.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Former Vice President Fairbanks today, speaking to the survivors of the Mexican war declared "There is too much hysteria abroad in the land. There are many counselors and among them many false prophets. Fortunately the American people are bringing to bear upon the problems which face them that deliberate, rational judgment which has been their salvation in the past. Our country and our institutions have cost too much in the precious blood of her immortal sons to be given over either to time-servers—or of chance—or anarchy."

"Down With the Demagogue." The destructive and constructive forces are battling with each other in the physical world and in the world of political and social life. It has always been so and it will continue so until the end of time.

Our watchword should be: "Down with the demagogue and up with the patriot." America! The land of fair opportunity, where manhood counts against all the rest and where men, by the Constitution of the United States, are made secure in the enjoyment of all the blessings which the expression in the Declaration of Independence.

Last Such Gathering. This will be the last meeting of the followers of General Scott and Taylor, who in the days of 48 annexed a large territory of the South to the United States. Mrs. Moore Murdock, secretary of the National Association of Mexican War Veterans, said today that the survivors of the days of "Davie" Crockett were growing too infirm to travel the long distance necessary for a long national convention. State gatherings probably will be continued until the last veteran of the war in the Southwest is dead.

INDIANS WANT WHITES TO HUNT

Chief of Bois Fort Reservation Says All Are Welcome.

The Herald has received the following letter from Nott Lake from the chief of the Bois Fort reservation:

"Some time ago there was published in your paper a letter, in which it stated the whites were prohibited from hunting on the Bois Fort reservation. I and all the Chippewa Indians living in this community are anxious to have the whites visit our reservation and hunt all the ducks they desire, so long as nothing is introduced on the reservation.

"We held a council to that effect previous to the time the departmental letter was published, and not one vote was cast against it. There will be no ducks there, so long as nothing is introduced on the reservation. Financially it is a benefit in a large way, due to the fact that each individual Indian receives from $2.50 to $3.00 per day for services as guides, which helps in a large way to pay our summer debts and have some left for our winter supplies.

"This has been a banner year for wild rice. While we have plenty of that, thank God, we would also like to have flour, pork, tea and sugar to go with it. Rice is very good and ducks will be plentiful later on. One little revenue we used to have is a thing of the past as fur-bearing animals have moved to the Far North, and we hope the whites will be allowed to hunt. We are all willing to work as guides and all have canoes and paddles ready for the open season. Respectfully,

"Day-bway-wain-dung, to participate in the functions prepared for the entertainment of Col. Roosevelt.

The day's program of the conservation congress follows:
Invocation—Rev. Dr. J. S. Montgomery of Minneapolis.

Reports of state conservation commissions.

Address, "National Efficiency," by Theodore Roosevelt.

Appointment of presiding officer.

Address, Miss Mable Boardman.

Address, Francis J. Heney of San Francisco.

Address, Herbert Knox Smith, United States commissioner of corporations.

Address, Governor Hadley of Missouri.

General discussion.

Address, B. A. Fowler, president of the National Irrigation congress.

Two hours before Col. Roosevelt arrived at the Auditorium the crowd began to file into the building by doors reserved for those holding tickets. At 11:30 the doors were thrown open to the general public and within five minutes there was no standing room left. That was soon taken and the immense hall was packed.

At 12:30 President Baker called the meeting to order and called for reports on the committee on resolutions, pending the arrival of Col. Roosevelt.

In his address on the subject of water power, Herbert Knox Smith declared that the close relations of the power companies throughout the country, and the fact that the power, by means of electric transmission, can be distributed over a wide area—from one state to another—makes conservation of this great force a proper duty of the Federal government. He stated it as his personal belief that the national government has full constitutional and statutory authority to assume the task.

Cheers for Roosevelt.

Col. Roosevelt's speech on conservation delivered today at the national conservation congress was received with the wildest applause. It was several minutes after he arose to speak before he could make himself heard, so persistently did the throng cheer him.

In his speech Col. Roosevelt outlined his ideas as to conservation. Saying that the reckless and uncontrolled waste of the past must be stopped, he declared himself in favor of field steps to preserve the country's natural resources for the benefit of the whole people and to check the power of monopolistic corporations.

His compliment to the president was received with a cheer.

Praise for Minnesota.

Minnesota was efficient probably "one of the first to take hold of the conservation movement," said Col. Roosevelt. The ex-president at one point turned to the question of drainage, departing from his prepared speech. Where the land to be drained lay entirely within one state he said it might be well for the time, for the states to take control of the matter. Swamps which extend over parts of several states, he said, should be improved by the federal government, and he thought it would be better if state swamp lands should be ceded back to the general government, that it might do the drainage work.

He said:

"America's reputation for efficiency stands deservedly high throughout the world. We are efficient probably to the full limit that any nation can attain by the aid of the federal government. There is great reason to be proud of our achievements, and yet no reason to believe that we cannot excel our past."

Although a practically untrained individual, we have reached a pitch of literally unexampled material prosperity, although the distribution of this prosperity leaves much to be desired. We are proud of our achievements, and yet no reason to believe that we cannot excel our past."

He also allowed great corporations to exercise the rights of individuals, and in addition to using the vast combined power of high organization and enormous wealth, for their own advantage.

"This development of corporate action, it is true, is doubtless in large part responsible for the gigantic waste, destruction, and monopoly on an ever increasing scale."

"The reckless and uncontrolled private use and waste has done for us all the good it ever can, and it is time to turn our backs on it. It does all the evil it easily may. Henceforth we must seek national efficiency by a new and better way. These are the reasons why it is wise that we should abandon the old point of view, and why conservation has become a patriotic duty."

Use of the Waterways.

"One of the greatest of our conservation problems is the wise and prompt development and use of the waterways of this nation. The project of a trunk waterway, an arm of the sea, through the Great Lakes should not be abandoned."

"It should be pushed to completion vigorously and without delay."

"In nearly every river city from St. Paul to the Gulf the water-front is controlled by the railways. Nearly every artificial waterway in the United States is controlled by the railways, under the same control."

Under the same control, he said, the people prevent it in advance. The railways will attempt to take control of our waterways as fast as they are improved and developed, nor would I blame them. We must see to it that adequate terminals are provided in every city and town on every improved waterway, terminals open under reasonable conditions to the use of every citizen, and rigidly protected against monopoly.

and we must compel the railways to co-operate with the waterways continuously, effectively, and under reasonable conditions."

Railways and Waterways.

"Unless we do so the railway lines will refuse to deliver freight boats, either openly or by imposing prohibitory conditions, and the waterways, once improved, will do comparatively little for the benefit of the people who pay the bill."

I believe, furthermore, that the railways should be prohibited from owning, controlling or carrying any interest in the boat lines on our rivers, unless under the strictest regulation and control of the interstate commerce commission, so that the shipper's interests may be fully protected.

Work of Minnesota Women.

"The people of the United States believe in the complete and rounded development of inland waterways for the West has been won. After a campaign in which the women of Minnesota did work which should secure to them the perpetual gratitude of the nation, they will keep it; but the fight to the White Mountain forests in the East is not yet over. The bill has passed the house, but the senate has yet to vote on it. The people of the United States should stand solidly behind it, and see that their representatives do so."

Recent Forest Fires.

"If any proof were needed that forest fires are a menace to the West by the destruction of forests in the West by fire would supply the proof. The aid of the army added to that of the forest service, the loss of the Southern Appalachian forests would have been vastly greater."

Country Life Institute.

"The investigations of the country life commission have led the farmers of this country to realize that they have not been getting their fair share of progress and all that it brings. But we know that the rural life of the basic facts of rural civilization. We have studied with care, but to better living on the farm and to better business on the part of the farmer. These things have given scant attention."

CHILDREN'S FACES AWFUL WITH RASH

Ran Over Bodies, Too. Dry and Very Crusty—Used Cuticura and Did No More Scratching, Eczema Disappeared in 6 Weeks.

Now More Than Two Years Ago and No Sign of Trouble Has Returned.

"My two children suffered from an affection of the face and hands. It started first with little red spots which afterwards got bigger until they were the size of five-cent pieces. The outside became very dry and very crusty. The rash on their faces was awful and afterwards it ran over the body, too.

"I had a doctor for them but he could not help. Then I read of the Cuticura Remedies. As I am a chemist, having served my apprenticeship in Germany, I did not have much confidence in them. Yet I was soon taught something better, for after I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent the first time the children felt very well and did no more scratching. Then the eczema became dry and entirely disappeared after about six weeks' treatment. This is now more than two years ago and no sign of the trouble has returned, therefore I can recommend the Cuticura Remedies without reserve to all people who are suffering with eczema.

William Grodek, 74 Douglas St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Mar. 10, 1910."

The Little Folks' Teeth

Need attention as well as those of grown ups, even if they are succeeded by a second set. Why should they suffer unnecessary pain and sorrow the seeds of indigestion and future dyspepsia when we can right matters at such small cost? Save them pain, yourself worry and expense by bringing them around to us at first sign of tooth trouble.

EARLIER DATE FOR LABOR DAY

Duluth Labor Leaders Favor Holding Celebration in August.

Labor day may be celebrated earlier in the year hereafter, Sept. 1 generally is an unfavorable day on account of bad weather conditions. It is probable that an effort will be made to change the date. Duluth labor leaders say that in South Dakota there are two dates for Labor day, one for the lower part of the state and the other for the Black Hills region.

Most labor leaders think a day near to the first of August would be satisfactory as the weather is generally favorable in that month. The celebration yesterday was seriously interfered with on account of the cold rain.

MAKES STOMACH TROUBLE VANISH

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good cut, then take Pape's Diapiesin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapiesin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapiesin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapiesin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out-of-order and uncomfortable now you can get relief in five minutes.

PARADE ON LABOR DAY

Unions Turn Out in Force in Many Cities—Pittsburg Dedicates Temple.

Riot Follows Interference With Marchers in Portland, Ore.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—The dedication of a temple to the cause of labor was the vortex of yesterday's celebration, the most ostentatious Pittsburg has ever known. It is years since parades have marked the day in this section of the country, and as the 10,000 or more workmen marched through the center of the city to many it was reminiscent of almost a score of years ago.

It was the acquisition of the building, formerly Shriners' temple, that was responsible for the celebration. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, was the orator. He called upon his hearers to use the power of the ballot to combat the attempts of capital to impose upon the laboring men, unbearable conditions brought about by the enforcement of payments of dividends upon watered stock.

Big Parade in New York.
New York, Sept. 6.—The Labor day parade here brought out more union marchers this year than have ever been seen on Fifth avenue. Conspicuous among them were 2,000 women, most of them garment workers, wearing dark blue and yellow liberty caps and sashes. The leaders estimated there were 11,000 in line, and the route was from Fifth avenue and Central park to Washington square.

For the first time in fifteen years, the parade bore no appeal for aid in any pending strike.

Gompers Attacks Courts.
Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—Speaking to a crowd of laboring men at a park here yesterday, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, attacked the courts of the country as being far removed from the people and opposed to labor. After touching on the case wherein himself, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison received jail sentences and other cases where labor men were accused of crushing the spirit of labor. These attacks find there is a moral awakening among the working people of our country. They find that we know our rights and are determined to assert them. The working people purpose to have a voice not only in the affairs of our government, but in the industrial affairs of our people.

All these decisions have been handed down to us as the devices of men so far removed from the great hubbub of life, from the great throng of the masses, that they do not understand I cannot accuse any man on the bench of having evil motives. But as for the men occupying the positions in the great judiciary of our country, the higher up they are, the further they are removed from the people.

Riot in Portland.
Portland, Ore., Sept. 6.—A riot in which 2,000 men were involved, and as a result of which twelve arrests were made, occurred at the conclusion of the Labor day parade here. The Teamsters' union is on strike, and as the procession passed the office of a transfer company, a few men ran out and tried to overturn a drag. A score of bystanders joined in them. Policemen rushed to the scene and fought the crowd for three blocks to land their prisoners in jail. Charges of inciting a riot were placed against the ringleaders. About half of those arrested were union members.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic.
Mrs. E. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar, the whole of it, and he was cured. It cured the cough as well as the chok; and he is now as healthy as a horse. I am a mother and I have great faith in a doctor's medicine, and I have saved my child's life. I have never used it in the house." Sold by all druggists.

BEGINS ITS WINTER WORK

Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. Opens Another Year's Activities.

After being closed for two weeks to get the building in repair, the boys' department has reopened its door for its eighth season of work. Seven years ago the board of directors leased the present building, for its work for the boys of the city, and each year has seen the work grow in efficiency and popularity.

Graduates of the boys' department are to be found in Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Andover, Dartmouth and many other colleges and preparatory schools, and many more have returned from school and have taken their place in the business world.

While the club rooms are now open for this season, the regular work in the gymnasium classes will not open until Oct. 1. The next three weeks will be occupied in organizing the new committees, and getting the policies ready for the fall and winter work. The cabinet will meet Friday evening to organize for the year and to elect officers. The week following each committee will be organized and a rally and dinner of a committee will be held Friday evening, Sept. 23 at which time the new cabinet members and committee men will be formally installed. A series of receptions will be held during the week of Sept. 25, to the various groups of boys and will conclude with a reception to the mothers of Duluth.

MOVING PICTURES SHOW HUMAN ORGANS ACTING.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—A notable improvement has been made in the field of medical photography by the invention of means of taking cinematographic Roentgen ray photographs of human organs in movement.

MURDERS MAN WHOSE WORD CONVICTED HIM.

New York, Sept. 6.—Dominico Scarpa, a Bay Ridge cobbler just out of Sing Sing prison, where he had served five years for stabbing a woman, walked into a group of Bay Ridge gossipers yesterday, shoved them gently aside and shot the man he wanted, Fallo Crenetto, through the heart. Crenetto's testimony had convicted him and during the trial Scarpa had warned him that he would return from prison to kill him. Scarpa, after the shooting, walked from the terror-stricken group as leisurely as he had come.

Very Old Gun Found.
Little Fork, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—While clearing land on his homestead a short ways from Little Fork, Edward Miskela unearthed an old flint gun which gives evidence of being considerable over 100 years. The gun is old, worn and rusted, and it is believed was used in the Indian wars long before the state was settled.

TELLS TEDDY HE IS LIAR THEY LACK A LEADER

Fargo Man Makes Sensation
During Roosevelt's Visit
There.

Ex-President Says in Speech
That He Believes in Labor Unions.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—A man who fought his way to ex-President Roosevelt and called him a liar gave a sensational speech to the crowd at Island park in this city. Col. Roosevelt seized the man and helped eject him from the platform.

The man was later arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. He said his name was John W. Cummins and that he was a painter and his residence in Fargo.

The colonel had just finished his labor day address, which was delivered to one of the largest crowds which has gathered in this city in its history. A heavy rain storm which came up shortly before the colonel began to speak drenched the people, but most of them sat through the afternoon in their wet clothes to hear him.

It was a good-natured, laughing crowd and the colonel shook hands with everyone who could get near enough to him.

Pushed Through Crowd.
A small, poorly dressed man pushed his way through the mass of people, until he could make himself heard by the colonel. He wore a battered hat, and was unshaven.

"I have a question to ask you, Roosevelt," he shouted.

He raised one arm over the heads of the people, waving it to attract the colonel's attention. He advanced a step toward the speaker and shot back his answer.

Col. Roosevelt saw him and watched him closely. Fighting his way through the short flight of stairs leading to the speakers' stand. He mounted the steps and stopped when he called out once more "I have a question to ask you, Roosevelt."

The men and women on the stand grew silent. Col. Roosevelt turned and faced him. Waving one arm the man shouted:

"I want to know who is paying the expenses of this trip of yours about the country?"

Angered the ex-President.
The question angered Col. Roosevelt and his face showed it. He advanced a step toward the interrogator and shot back his answer.

"I consider that to be an impertinent question," he said. "However, I have no objection to telling you that the expenses of the party are being paid by the magazine of which I am one of the editors."

"You lie," the man shouted so loudly that hundreds of persons in the crowd could hear him.

As he spoke the words Col. Roosevelt stepped forward quickly and seized his arm just above the elbow. He commanded the man that he did not know who the man was to get his hands off his arm and that he had taken to his arm as a measure of self-protection. He pushed the man forward, turning the man half around so that he was powerless to use the arm. It was an old trick of self-defense, which he had learned years ago, the colonel said.

His vigorous action did not deter the man from finishing what he had to say. He shouted:

"Your expenses are being paid by the people of the United States."

Ejected From Platform.
Although Col. Roosevelt was the first to act, others ran quickly to his aid and even before the man had finished his remark two men seized him. The colonel did not release his grip until the stranger was moving rapidly from the platform. He was elected by the crowd and was swayed up in the excited crowd.

In telling of the incident later, the colonel said that he had no idea who the stranger was. He had been told by "Members of the labor organizations have come to me and told me that they did not know him," he said. "I have heard that he had come from out of town."

Col. Roosevelt said that he was not at all alarmed by what happened. He merely caught hold of the man to guard against the possibility of any sudden move he might make.

In his address Col. Roosevelt spoke words of warm commendation to the federal judge who was presiding and had introduced him. He said he was glad by what he had said, had shown himself to be in sympathy with the laboring men. He referred to Judge C. W. Anderson of the District of North Dakota, and his remarks were applauded vigorously by the crowd.

Believes in Labor Unions.
The colonel made it plain that he did not wish to give a blanket endorsement of every movement of the labor unions, although he said that he believed them to be a necessity of modern life and that he thoroughly approved of them.

"After any man tells you," he continued, "that a labor organization never goes wrong, you make up your mind that he is telling you what he knows to be an untruth. In the long run the most uncomfortable truth makes a better traveling companion than a falsehood."

Col. Roosevelt outlined his ideas of what should be done to improve the condition of workmen.

Col. Roosevelt left last night for St. Paul to address the Conservation congress there.

SAY GAYNOR DOES NOT WANT GOVERNORSHIP.
New York, Sept. 6.—Mayor Gaynor will not be an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of this state, the New York Times says today on the alleged authority of several of his close personal and political friends, but he is a receptive candidate.

The mayor is said to have reached a decision that if there is a strong popular call for him, he will accept the nomination. He will reverse this attitude only if his health is so enfeebled that it would be dangerous for him to undertake a contested campaign.

WOMAN AND THREE OF HER CHILDREN DROWN.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 6.—While returning from a picnic from rowboat Mrs. W. J. Deimel and her three young daughters were drowned in Licking river last night. The husband and father, with his two sons, and Jacob Fried, his wife and son.

The two families had attended a picnic several miles up Licking river. They started for the city in the rowboat late, and when within two miles of Newport, Ky., the boat ran aground and submerged and upset. All reached the bank unhurt except Mrs. Deimel and her children.

Minnesota Insurgents Rather Quiescent, Finds Indiana
Political Writer.

Many Republicans Threatening to Vote for Democratic Candidates.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—James P. Hornaday, staff correspondent of the News, writes from St. Paul: "In this state the Republican organization is conservative, and the voters of the party are progressive. Lacking an aggressive leader such as La Follette is in Wisconsin, Harkow in Kansas, and Cummins and Doolittle in Iowa, the insurgents are rather quiescent. With the exception of James A. Tawney, every member of the House of Representatives voted against the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill, and the two senators fought the bill to the end, and yet the party's state convention endorsed everything done by President Taft and congress."

Senator Nelson, who insured quite a bit down at Washington, is taking life easy, but on his farm, and does not have to worry at this time, because he is not a candidate for re-election. Senator Clapp, who is a candidate for re-election, makes insurgent speeches down in Kansas and over in Wisconsin, but the local progressives assert that they have failed to persuade him to make any insurgent speeches at home.

Here in the city of St. Paul the progressives have been holding meetings with a view of creating interest and bringing out a candidate against Representative Clapp. Clapp is a conservative. The fact seems to be that the men in the party in the state who want office are not sure of the way the cat will jump. They seem to think it is a good time "to play safe," and so they are just keeping their ears to the ground without saying anything.

Even the best informed political writers here in the Twin Cities will not attempt to say whether the party in the state is conservative or progressive. The much discussed question as to whether the state is insurgent or conservative will probably not be settled until the November election. The progressives will probably not be settled until the November election. The progressives will probably not be settled until the November election.

There are plenty of outspoken Republican insurgents here in St. Paul, Minneapolis, and in every other section of the state. They insist the party is "lean party" in trying to "make it its way through the campaign. According to their view the state platform should have commended the state's delegation in congress for voting against the tariff bill; should have named Senator Clapp on the back for opposing the administration's railroad bill; the last session and in general should have voiced the insurgent view of things."

How the Voters Feel.
How the voters feel about it remains to be seen. The Aldrich-Payne tariff has any considerable number of supporters in the state. The congressmen who voted against it received the approval of their constituents, and yet the state campaign is to ignore the tariff, if possible, "smooth things over" and "get on with it." It is the program of the state organization, under the leadership of the governor.

Rather than antagonize the state organization, Senator Clapp and the members of the house of representatives are disposed to agree to the "lean party" view of things. Senator Clapp has been in a rather ticklish position for a good while. For months he has been threatened with opposition for the senate. Up to this point he has been able to ignore the tariff, if possible, "smooth things over" and "get on with it." It is the program of the state organization, under the leadership of the governor.

Frank Kellogg, who was a "trust buster" under Roosevelt, and who has friendly relations with President Taft, may take a notion any day that Clapp will not support him. Clapp's friends say that the senator has been compelled to "work both sides of the road" here at home. He has deemed it wise to stir up a muck that will not go back on any of the things progressive far which he stood down at Washington—he has taken a sort of middle-of-the-road course here at home.

Please Democrats.
The Democrats are greatly pleased with the colorful plan of campaign the Republicans expect to make. They believe it will be a success.

Will Vote With Democrats.
If their investigations are to be depended upon, thousands of Republicans intend to vote with the Democrats, provided John Lind accepts the nomination for governor.

Outside of Tawney's district, the only congressional district in the state in which there is any special interest is in the Minneapolis district, now represented by Frank M. Nye, a brother of the late Bill Nye. All Nye's affiliations at Washington were with the Cannon crowd. The city of Minneapolis, it is asserted, is anti-Cannon, and would prefer an hold-out insurgent member of the house. Albert H. Hall, a young lawyer of good standing, is making the race against Nye for the nomination. He is a forceful speaker and has already stirred up things in the district. Minneapolis business men say that if Hall had the full confidence of the people he would defeat Nye. They hardly think he can win out.

PARALYZING DISEASE BREAKS OUT IN MONTANA.
Helena, Mont., Sept. 6.—A disease that recently broke out at Radersburg, resulting in two deaths, the illness of several, and the paralysis of all those afflicted, is believed by Helena physicians to be a hitherto unknown disease. It is known this is the first outbreak of the disease in the Northwest. Complete recovery is effected in only about 10 per cent of the cases, the mortality being 50 per cent. The last big epidemic in this country was in New York city in 1907-08, when 2,600 cases occurred.

LAURIER FAVORS NEW RECIPROCITY TREATY.
Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 6.—At the conclusion yesterday of a two-day tour, Premier Wilfrid Laurier stated that he believed in the necessity for a new reciprocity treaty with the United States has been greatly strengthened by the representations made by the farmers of whom he confers. He also said that the terminal elevator systems at lake ports controlled by Minneapolis and Chicago interests should be changed.

CHICAGOAN HELD AS A BLUEBEARD
Death of Second Wife and Effort to Collect Insurance the Cause.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Carl A. Badsting was arrested last night following an attempt to collect $5,000 insurance on the life of his wife, a bride of two months. He will be held while an investigation is made as to the cause of her death and of the death of his first wife in 1905.

The second wife died Aug. 15, 1910, of what was said to be pneumonia poisoning. This was after she had been ill with the same trouble for in the same week, but pursued back to health by her mother. She was buried the day after the death, but following a complaint of the wife's uncle, the body was exhumed.

After an examination, the coroner's physician declared death had not resulted from natural causes, and the stomach has been sent to Rush medical college for analysis.

Badsting is 29 years old and his wife was 22.

GAYNOR WALKS SIX MILES.
Retrurns Apparently Fresh Despite Heat and Humidity.

St. James, L. I., Sept. 6.—Mayor Gaynor walked six miles yesterday in a rolling sun, with the thermometer at 75 and the humidity at the same mark. He returned home dusty and heated, but seemingly fresh. Neighbors with whom he talked think that it will be only a matter of a few weeks before he is fully recovered from the heat and humidity.

GIBBONS TALKS ABOUT UNIONS AND ECONOMICS.
Baltimore, Md., Sept. 6.—Cardinal Gibbons, in an interview, said yesterday that while there was continuous unrest between the employed and the employer in the United States, the people "have nothing to fear from law-abiding unions and from law-abiding corporations."

"In union there is strength in the physical, moral and social world," said the cardinal. "Just as the power and majesty of our republic are derived from the political union of the several states, so do men clearly perceive that the healthy combination of human forces in the economic world can accomplish results which could not be effected by any individual efforts."

Unpleasant Skin Affections Which Cause Embarrassment Are Quickly Cured by Posium.

"To tell the truth, I was ashamed to go out," says Mr. John Rogers of Atlanta, Ga. "My trouble was eczema on each side of my nose and caused lots of trouble and expense. I used every preparation I could get hold of but they all seemed to make it worse until I tried posium. I can truly say every trace of it has disappeared and does not seem to return. Posium is a wonderful remedy. I keep some at hand all the time."

The success of posium is not at all surprising when it is considered that even a small quantity stops itching immediately and proceeds to heal at once. The very worst cases of eczema, as well as acne, herpes, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, crusted humors, scaly scalp and every form of itchy skin, yield to it readily. Eczemata such as pimples, red noses, muddy or inflamed skin disappear, the complexion being cleared over night.

A special 50-cent package of posium is prepared for minor uses and this, as well as the regular $2 jar is on sale by all druggists, particularly the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbott's in Duluth, and the A. E. Holmberg Drug Co. in Superior.

A sample of posium, which will afford a convincing test, will be sent by mail, free of charge, to any one who will write to the Posium Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

CLOQUET BOY SHOT IN HEAD

Elmer Amell Badly Hurt By Accidental Discharge of Gun.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday afternoon Elmer Amell, a lad about 16 years old, accidentally shot himself in the jaw with a twelve gauge shot gun, blowing open one side of his head. Amell had started out hunting and had gotten as far as the east end of Dunlap island when in some manner the gun discharged. The bullet struck Amell in the company's mill yard and they found Amell and took him to the hospital. The accident occurred at the same spot along the shore where a young brother of Amell's fell into the water about a year ago and was drowned. The boy's father, John Amell of this city, and he also has a brother in Duluth, Hugh Amell, who is a teacher.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

McKnight Holds a Meeting at Aitkin, a Miller Stronghold—Boyle-Vail Contest and Its Progress—Senatorial Row in Rice County.

Alexander G. McKnight of Duluth, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, addressed a meeting in the opera house at Aitkin last night. He made a strong, earnest talk and put the issue right up to the voters of the district, warning them to decide what the verdict shall be in the case of Congressman Miller and his pledges. Mr. McKnight is said to have been on the whole pleased with the day's work in a Miller stronghold, where he did not expect to get many votes before his trip into the enemy's country.

From Aitkin Mr. McKnight went to Anoka and St. Paul. He will return to Duluth probably tomorrow, but may stay over to attend the insurgent banquet to be given under the auspices of the Fourth Congressional District Progressive association at the home of Hugh T. Halbert, insurgent candidate for congress against Fred C. Stevens of St. Paul.

Mr. McKnight's program for the next ten days has not been announced but it is believed every date will be devoted to campaigning in different districts until the night preceding the primaries, when he will be heard in the Duluth Armory. This is expected to be the climax of his campaign for the nomination.

"Wagers are being freely made at 2 to 1 over the district that Boyle will win over Vail. It is the best bet on the market, at that," says the bvelth district, which also says:

"Will someone kindly produce that evidence on which Senator Vail stands? Just what legislation is Mr. Vail responsible for, anyway? These pertinent queries seem to be graphically illustrative of the senatorial situation in the Forty-ninth district where many reasons, good and attractive, are being advanced why James P. Boyle should be elected, and no real reasons for the reelection of the incumbent have been put forward."

Mr. Boyle has been in Duluth since Friday, and Saturday night he addressed the West Duluth Republican club, whose territory is included in the legislative district. COMEDY HITS AT THE BIJOU Fun Predominates in New Bill at Popular Play House.

Three times yesterday the capacity of the Bijou was taxed to the limit. The Sullivan-Considine circuit is providing good entertainment, and the bill for the present week is an excellent one. There is a troupe of trained baboons and monkeys, a laughing number entitled "Married a Year," a polished down comedy with only the rare laughs left, an original sketch, some entertaining motion pictures, a troupe of Russian dancers in dizzy whirl of native dances, and an illustrated song, "Honey When It's Sunny."

ENTERED VAUDEVILLE TO WIN A WAGER.

Irene Howley, who is appearing this week at the Orpheum, went into vaudeville on a bet. Miss Howley was formerly a popular artist's model in New York, and posed for the famous painter, J. M. W. Turner, who made her appearance this year. Last July she was in the music room of Harry von Tilzer, the song publisher, trict, who say they see in him a sure winner. However, the district is a Democratic one, and it is unlikely that enough bitter feeling will be engendered at the primaries to make the election of a Republican probable.

Fairmont park yesterday was a happy hunting ground for politicians, who improved each shining hour, shaking hands and being just as pleasant as possible, which is some. The candidates were especially in evidence, the three Republican aspirants and the lone Democratic back trail. A dozen others were seen in the crowds. They were on parade, simply. Such an occasion is not an ideal one for campaigning, as the labor union men were intent upon their own distinctive day and did not readily turn to political speculation, except those naturally inclined that way.

William E. McEwen was the most interesting individual in the throng. His remarkably strong address riveted attention upon him and he was enthusiastically complimented on the effort. "Billy's" stock went up, if that is possible, for it always has been pretty high in Duluth. It was freely predicted that his speech will attract much attention in the state at large, and that as a result Democratic leaders will keep their eyes peeled for him. Ewen's direction when a strong man is needed for some big task.

The striking points of the address made a deep impression on the audience, as was shown by the frequency with which quotations from it were heard.

Rice county has an interesting senatorial row on its hands as a result of the failure of Senator George B. Glotzbach to secure the Democratic ticket. At the eleventh hour J. P. Moran of Parkville, Mo., has been named as the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Moran, who had already filed for the house, withdrew from the race and filed for the senate as a Republican. Just what this mixup will mean is not apparent, but it seems that Moran has the better chance.

It is alleged that Orne represents outside interests and that he virtually attempted to buy off Moran. As a result of the circulation of this story, Rise county is being thrilled with daily regularity, as charges and counter charges are flying the air.

So far, it seems that Mr. Moran is standing clear of the muck of battle, free from any befuddling of the vision with a clear track trail blazed for him to the senate.

Mr. Glotzbach has served one term in the senate. He is a former mayor of Fairbault and has been prominent in Democratic affairs in his district.

Always of interest to politicians, the commission form of municipal government now holds the boards at St. Cloud, where a new charter embodying the new principles will be voted upon at the primaries.

Both the daily papers of the city are doing good work in making the voters acquainted with the provisions of the charter, which is said to be built on advanced lines. Or, in essence, it is providing three elected commissioners shall select from among themselves the man who is to serve as mayor. The commission shall have no hand in the selection of a judge of the municipal court created by the charter. The latter feature comes under the terms of a separate amendment, defining the powers and jurisdiction of the court, that is to be appointed by the governor of the state. It is distinct from the commission plan submitted.

On the spot she picked out half a dozen songs, which she had been trying, and took a taxi cab to an uptown vaudeville house. She appeared before the manager and asked for a trial, and got it. She appeared that week at three shows a day, and was re-engaged for another week at another house controlled by the same manager. The following week she went to Atlantic City for her vacation, and filled in a vaudeville at a vaudeville theater during the illness of one of the other performers. She then booked with the Orpheum circuit, and opened in Des Moines, three weeks ago. Her vaudeville experience is therefore limited to six weeks, although she has been in theatrical work for three years, appearing with Montenegro & Stone and with James Powers.

"Down in Minneapolis they thought the story about being the Harrison Plesier girl was a press agent yarn, and they mucked it up," said Miss Howley, "but I showed them the proofs, not that it is anything to be particularly boastful about, but I hate to be called that short and ugly word."

MOST SUCCESSFUL OF MUSIC COMPOSERS.

Joseph E. Howard, Mort H. Singer's star in "The Goddess of Liberty," which comes to the Lyceum theater, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 11 and 12, is probably one of the most successful music-composers in the United States. If not the world. In the last few years he has written the musical scores for such successes as "The District Landlady," "The Stubborn Cinderella," "The Flower of the Ranch," "The Land of Nod," "The Isle of Bong Bong," "A Prince of Tonight," "The Prince of the Palace," "The Girl Question," "The Golden Girl," "The Nobody Prim Starling," "The Goddess of Liberty," and several others. In the same length of time Mr. Howard has written over 500 songs, among which are "I wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," "All the Moons Were Honey Moons," "Lolly, It's Just the Same Old Moon a-Shining," and "What's the Use of Dreaming."

"The Cow and the Moon." Musical extravaganzas, rapid change of scenery, gorgeous costumes and plenty of them, riotous fun and color, music and mirth seem to be what the theater-going public want. Charles A. Sellen, who has appeared here in the musical extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle," has tried to gauge the public taste, and this season is presenting a brand new entertainment of this sort. It will be seen at the Lyceum tomorrow and Thursday nights. It has the title of "The Cow and the Moon." It deals with earth beings and immortals from the moon and Molly, the vaulting cow who nimbly leaps over the moon. The conclusion will be seen as "Happy" a continuation of the character he played in "The Cat and the Fiddle." He will be surrounded by

At considerable inconvenience I went all the way to Melbourne because I was told that Admiral Sperry would be at the theater one night and I wanted to get a good look at him because all my friends had told me that I looked like him, and he never showed up." "What was the play?" gasped the chagrined actress. "I'm sorry, I know, I was bored stiff and I wanted an entire evening," was the gallant's reply.

SAVE MILLIONS IN MILITARY EXPENSE

President Has Approved Estimates for the War Department.

Washington, Sept. 6.—A reduction of several millions of dollars in the total estimates of appropriations for the military establishment, including rivers and harbors expenditures, as compared with the estimates of last year, has been determined upon finally by the war department. President Taft has approved of the estimates, with a few changes.

One feature of the estimates calls for the construction of permanent buildings in the Philippines for the use of the army.

GIVEN WARM WELCOME.

Bishop Corbett Makes His First Official Visit to Akeley.

Akeley, Minn., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop Corbett of the Crookston diocese, made his first official visit to this city yesterday and was given a hearty welcome by the citizens of Akeley. Irrespective of church affiliations, there were several hundred people at the train to aid in his welcome. He was met by the church committee and escorted to a beautiful new parsonage, where a banquet was tendered him by the parish. The invited guests at the banquet table with the bishop were leading business and church men of the city. A. J. McConville was the toastmaster. Postmaster Sanders delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Akeley, and incidentally paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the late Rev. Father O'Meara. Bishop Corbett's address was an eloquent plea in behalf of religion, without which true patriotism was impossible. Rev. Father Feehley, parish priest, welcomed the bishop on behalf of the church and turned over all church property to the official. During the banquet the church chorus rendered several selections. Bishop Corbett was taken to Nevis from here, by the reception committee in an automobile, where work on a splendid new church edifice is in progress. The bishop was very favorably impressed with the city of Akeley and prophesied a great future for it.

Since landing in England Moissant has been delayed by repeated breakdowns and adverse weather.

on the part of the government to prosecute labor leaders under the anti-trust law. At the same time, the president said he did not believe labor organizations should be exempted from such prosecution by specific statute. He declared that such a provision of law would smack of class legislation. He did not believe labor unions desired or needed class legislation, and said he counted on their help in preventing such legislation.

soon as indictments are returned against them. This saves the county much expense and enables the prisoners to begin their sentence at the earliest possible moment.

There are a great number of continued civil cases. This is due to the fact that the attorneys would rather continue them than try them during what is known about the courthouse as the "hot weather term."

The grand jury will meet, organize and go into session tomorrow morning. It is expected that their work will not take longer than one day. The grand jurors for the coming term are: Fred Knowlton, Charles Neimyer, John M. McDonald, William F. Richter, Arthur J. Knapman, William P. Kirkwood, Charles A. Purker, Oscar Kincaid, J. T. Armistead, Frank J. Knox, John E. Jensen, Herbert W. Pearson, Emanuel Richard, Louis W. Kloppe, Louis King, A. C. Pearson, E. J. Ketchum, Wilfred Kilchli and Herbert Koling.

NEW PRINCIPAL IS WELCOMED

Principal Leonard Young, formerly of Evansville, Ind., spoke for the first time to the high school students this morning during the first chapel exercises.

Supt. Denfeld introduced Mr. Young with a few remarks. After thanking Mr. Denfeld, Mr. Young expressed his heartfelt wishes to the student body of which he called himself a member. Mr. Young used as the basis of his talk a quotation "Don't get late early." He urged the students to get an early start in their school work this year, stating that the most failures comes from a late beginning.

A large number of the alumni and many relatives and friends of the high school pupils were present and all joined with the students in welcoming Mr. Young.

It will be several days before school will be in good running order, but many of the teachers have stated their intentions of assigning lessons for Thursday.

COURT TERM TO BE SHORT

September Calendar Will Be Taken Up By District Court Wednesday.

Only One Month Before Opening of the October Term.

The September term of the district court will open tomorrow. The term will be short owing to the fact that there is an October term, which begins the first of the coming month.

Judge William A. Cant will be the presiding judge at the September term. He will call the calendar Wednesday morning and will also hear most of the divorce and criminal cases.

There are twenty-four divorce cases to be heard and they will occupy the attention of the court for the first two days at least. The criminal calendar is light. Some of those confined at the county jail have already signified their willingness to plead guilty as

ALL OPTIONS LIQUIDATED

Decline in Wheat Makes Export Business Possible at the Close.

Cash Markets Dull and Stocks Increase--Foreign News Bearish.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 6.—Wheat declined today after a firm opening. Toward the close liquidation was general. The decline made export business possible for Manitoba wheat, durum and No. 1 hard, Chicago, were worked in this market. The market for wheat 1c, December 1 1/2c and May 1 1/2c. Cash was on a fairly tight and barley, oats, rye and corn were unchanged and durum 1/2c. September advanced, October 1/2c, November 1/2c and December 1/2c.

Wheat opened strong and advanced but in a fairly moderate market. The buying was not of a good quality and seemed to be in the nature of short covering which had the effect of weakening the technical position of the market. The buying was confined to the current crop, which led some people to believe that milling interests were trying to pick up the prevailing option but investigation showed this supposition to be without basis of fact. The cash market was dull, although the elevators bought a little. Cash markets on spring wheat, durum, winter wheat, 2c, 2 1/2c, 2 3/4c, 3c, 3 1/2c, 3 3/4c, 4c, 4 1/2c, 4 3/4c, 5c, 5 1/2c, 5 3/4c, 6c, 6 1/2c, 6 3/4c, 7c, 7 1/2c, 7 3/4c, 8c, 8 1/2c, 8 3/4c, 9c, 9 LA FOLLETTE AND HIS TICKET SWEEP STATE IN BADGER PRIMARIES

McGovern Is Named for Governor on Republican Ticket.

Cochems, Insurgent, Defeats Stafford for Renomination.

Senator Much Pleased at Results—Tickets of Other Parties.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—United States Senator Robert M. La Follette carried Wisconsin at yesterday's primary election by an overwhelming majority over Samuel A. Cook of Neenah. Figures are incomplete, even in Milwaukee county, and will not be known perhaps for a day or two throughout the state. In this county the senator's plurality will easily reach beyond 8,000 and estimates are given of his nomination over his opponent by a vote of 5 to 1.

Ahead of His Ticket.
Returns received by the Evening Wisconsin up to 11 o'clock this forenoon indicate United States Senator La Follette's plurality at 40,000 votes. La Follette ran at least 20,000 votes ahead of the state ticket, which is accounted for by reason of the several candidates running for the gubernatorial nomination.

The pluralities of McGovern and the other members of the La Follette state ticket, with the exception of Tucker, the lead man, are estimated at 20,000. Tucker's plurality, presumably because of his demise, was cut to 10,000.

There is no doubt that La Follette will have control of the candidates' platform convention at Madison and that he will have the most legislative back of him. So big was his vote that it carried with it a large majority of the legislative nominees.

The La Follette ticket, headed by Francis E. McGovern, also is nominated by a safe majority. Thomas Morris of La Crosse, the La Follette supporter, was nominated for lieutenant-governor.

One More Insurgent.
The insurgent congressmen were renominated and added to their strength by the nomination of Henry C. Cochems, the former Wisconsin university football star. Cochems defeated Stafford for renomination in the fifth district. Cochems is the man who placed La Follette in nomination for president at the last Republican national convention.

When Senator La Follette was notified of his triumph he made the following statement:

"It shows that the people are awake to their interests; determined to restore representative government; and that victory is nothing personal. It is the command of the people and will not be longer suffered to be dominated by stock interests."

Congressman Charles H. Wayne, Democrat, easily defeated Burt Will.

SEIZE MEN AND AMMUNITION

New York Police Think They Headed Off Filibuster.

New York, Sept. 7.—What the police suspect to have been an attempt to contribute to a filibustering expedition was frustrated today by the seizure of a launch in the upper harbor. A police launch testing a new searchlight in the early hours discovered a suspicious craft, and overhauled it. The captured craft contained two men and packages containing 19,000 rounds of ammunition.

The men told the police they had been given the ammunition by a man in the Erie basin, who paid them to deliver it to a vessel at a Brooklyn pier. They were unable to give either the name of the man or the vessel, they said. The police seized the cargo and locked the men up pending investigation.

BANK EXAMINERS ARE TRANSFERRED

Action Is Taken as Forecast of Stricter Law Enforcement.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Twenty national bank examiners, about one-fifth of the force employed by the government, were transferred to new fields today by an order from Lawrence O. Murray, comptroller of the currency. Following closely on the sudden call for the condition of national banks which was made on Sept. 2 and the announcement of the new law that he would in the future personally pass upon the applications of banks which wished to hold reserves, the shakeup among the examiners is taken as another indication of the determination to enforce the provisions of the national bank act. The call for condition was precisely issued to meet the assertion that the calls had been made at such regular intervals that bankers knew about when to expect them and managed to arrange their affairs accordingly. The transfer of the examiners may be the forerunner of others.

YANKEE ON HARD FLIGHT

Weyman Is First to Essay Trip to Top of Mountain.

Aviator Is After $20,000 Prize Offered By M. Michelin.

Paris, Sept. 7.—Weymann, the American aviator, started just before noon today in an attempt to win the special Michelin prize of $20,000 offered for the first aviator who, with a passenger, flies in six hours from Paris to the top of Puy-de-Dôme, after circling the steeple of the cathedral at Clermont-Ferrand.

The conditions of the prize demand a feat considered the most difficult yet cut out for the aviator. When M. Michelin offered the prize (which must not be confused with the Michelin aviation trophy offered for the longest annual flight in an enclosure), it was thought by some that he was joking. However, the premium stood and subsequently Louis Paulhan announced he would undertake the journey.

To Weymann falls the honor of the first try. He ascended at 11:35 o'clock this morning and at 11:55 o'clock crossed the starting line above St. Cloud. He used a Farman biplane and carried a passenger as required.

The rules provide that the aviator may start anywhere in the department of the Seine or Seine-et-Oise, and must circle the spires of the cathedral and make a landing on the summit of the Puy-de-Dôme. The trip must be made with two persons in the machine and within six hours.

Puy-de-Dôme is a mountain 4,500 feet high near Clermont-Ferrand. The distance to be covered is 217 miles as the crow flies.

CUT DOWN THE G. O. P. PLURALITY

Vermont Voters Make Dr. Mead Governor By About 17,000.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 7.—Dr. J. A. Mead, a retired physician and prominent business man, was elected governor by the Republicans in the state election yesterday by a plurality of about 17,000 over Charles J. Watson, a lawyer, of St. Albans, his Democratic opponent. Watson declared that the main storm was the principal cause of the drop of 12,000 in the party plurality in two years.

The Republican plurality was the smallest, with two exceptions, since 1876, but the party leader and chairman C. E. Williams of the state committee declared that the main storm was the principal cause of the drop of 12,000 in the party plurality in two years.

Chairman Harris of the Democratic state committee expressed satisfaction with the results, and the Democrats throughout the state are inclined to jubilate. Mr. Watson carried his city and Montpelier, the state capital, as well as a feature heretofore unheard of.

Murder at a Dance.
Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 7.—While ejecting an offensive stranger from the Labor day picnic at Whitewood, Jack Hanley, a well-known union man of Lead, was fatally shot Monday night. Three suspects are under arrest. The shooting was done in the dark and no one knows the assailants.

Milwaukee's Socialist Mayor Arraigns City's Guest in Writing.

Refuses to Take Part in Welcoming the Ex-President.

Roosevelt Says Legislature Should Abide By Vote in Primaries.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Shortly after Col. Roosevelt arrived here today, and before he sat down to breakfast at the Pfister hotel, he found himself involved in a controversy with Emil Seidel, the Socialist mayor, who had declined to act upon the reception committee which welcomed the colonel to Milwaukee.

In a contribution to the "Big Stick," a newspaper published by the Milwaukee Press club for this occasion, Mayor Seidel stated that "if Mr. Roosevelt comes to Milwaukee holding the same ideas which he expressed in his article in the Outlook Magazine of March 20, 1909, it is clear that he cannot serve the cause of honesty and decency in American political life."

"It is possible that I have misunderstood the article," stated Mayor Seidel, but inasmuch as I am a Socialist and as he has designated Socialism as a thing which is against morals and religion, I cannot but feel that it would replace the family and home."

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE SAYS BALLINGER SHOULD BE FIRED

BRITISH WIN MAIN POINT

Century-Old Dispute Over Newfoundland Fisheries Is Ended.

United States Is Awarded Five of Seven Claims at the Hague.

The Hague, Sept. 7.—The century-old fisheries dispute, the source of constant diplomatic friction between the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Canada and Newfoundland, was finally closed today with the award of the international court of arbitration, largely in favor of the United States.

The American government is sustained on points 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 out of the total of the seven points in which the issue was framed. Great Britain wins on questions 1 and 5.

While the United States triumphs on five of the seven points, point 5, decided in favor of Great Britain, has been held by Englishmen as the most important of those submitted. The fifth point was stated in the form of this question:

"From where must be measured the three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, harbors or harbors referred to in Article 1 of the American-British treaty of 1818?"

The United States fishermen claimed the right to take the measure from any part of the British North American shore, and therefore the liberty to fish in the middle of any Canadian bay having a radius of more than three miles.

The British contention was that the limit should be measured from an imaginary line connecting the headlands. The peace court sustained the British contention.

The Newfoundland fisheries case is one of the most important that has come before the august tribunal at The Hague. The decision is of most concern to New England, whose immense fisheries are affected.

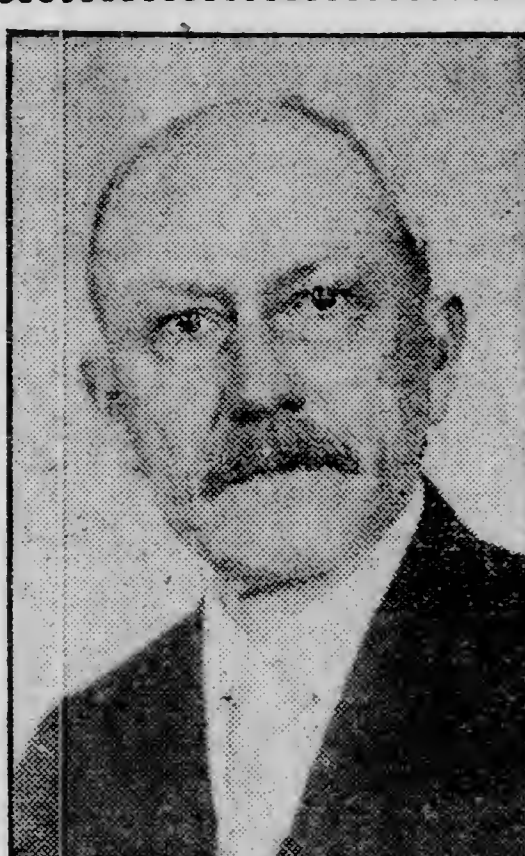

JOHN LIND IS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Democratic Nominee Says He Will Tell Position to Frank A. Day.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Lind, Democratic nominee for governor, is home. He arrived in Minneapolis this morning.

"My first official statement with regard to my position on the nomination of myself for governor by the Democrats of Minnesota," said Mr. Lind, "will be made to Governor Frank A. Day of the state central committee. I have no other statement to make to the press at this time."

Townsend Nominated for the Senate in Michigan Primary.

Gardner Loses to Insurgent—Loud and Young Are Hard Pressed.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—In yesterday's primary elections in Michigan, Congressman Charles E. Townsend is conceded by supporters of Senator Burrows to have swept the state in the fight for the Republican endorsement for United States senator. Townsend's plurality is admitted today to be better than 17,000.

Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie has a lead almost equally good in the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Returns from two-thirds of the precincts in the state give these figures: Senatorial—Townsend, 48,622; Burrows, 31,066.

Gubernatorial—Osborn, 39,962; Lieutenant Governor Kelly, 24,014; Amos S. Muselman, 24,311.

INSURGENT WINS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Bass Is Nominated Governor—Standpat Congressmen Win.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 7.—Returns from the primary election in 273 out of 289 election districts in the state today give for governor:

Bass, progressive Republican, 19,041; Ellis, regular Republican, 9,912; Carl, Democrat, 6,832.

In the congressional fight the progressive party won by a wide margin the Republican nomination for congress in the First district, despite the stirring campaign waged by Sherman F. Burroughs, Manchester, a progressive. Congressman Frank D. Currier had no party opposition for a renomination in the second district.

At an executive meeting of the investigation committee today Senator Duncan E. Fletcher of Florida, a Democrat, introduced a resolution holding that the secretary of the interior was an unfaithful public officer and should be removed. Representative Madison, the Republican insurgent from Kansas, offered an amendment declaring that the charges which have been made by Gifford Pinchot and Louis R. NELSON SAYS "NO QUORUM"

Two Republicans Leave the Room After Resolution Is Adopted.

Democratic Members Insistent That Decision Be Published.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee today voted favorably on a resolution declaring that the charges made by Gifford Pinchot and others against Secretary of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger had been sustained, and that the secretary ought to be removed from office.

Two other members of the committee—Senator Sutherland of Utah, Republican, and Representative McCall of Massachusetts, also Republican—bolted the meeting of the committee after the vote was begun. Senator Nelson of Minnesota, chairman of the committee, remained to take the vote, and voted "present," and subsequently declared that there was no quorum present.

MOVING PICTURE SHOW IN COURT AT BRAINERD.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday evening, Chief of Police Quinn and Officer J. P. Barney entered the moving picture show in progress at 620 Front street and stopped the exhibition of a set of moving pictures which had been announced as advertising posters being the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures. The police seized the films and took them to today C. F. Rogers, the ticket seller, of Minneapolis, and Charles Germaine of Brainerd, the operator.

They were arraigned yesterday on a charge of running a theater not conforming to the building ordinance. The case was continued.

Later—the case was dismissed today on motion of the county attorney.

Factions on Question of State and National Control Meet.

Pinchot Is Given Rousing Ovation at St. Paul Meeting.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two opposing ideas of conserving natural resources met fairly and squarely today when Senator Beveridge, in an eloquent address, declared for national control, while James J. Hill argued the contrary.

Gifford Pinchot received an ovation that furnished the most dramatic moment of the congress. The former forester, the object of a wild demonstration by the audience, stood with tears streaming from his eyes until the outburst of cheers had subsided and the spectators were again in their seats.

Just what Senator Beveridge was trying to say complimentary to Mr. Pinchot was drowned in the roar that rose the moment the trend of his remarks became apparent.

Outburst Over Pinchot.
"Gifford Pinchot," said the speaker, and the outburst started.

"I grew until everyone was yelling and the whole house was on its feet waving hands and handkerchiefs."

Senator Beveridge had no sooner retired than cries of "Pinchot, Pinchot" rang through the house. He was dragged forward by President Baker. His voice shook as he spoke. "It is magnificent," he said, "to hear the sound policies of conservation acknowledged as has been done here today. Conservation has won out. I thank you."

life by a glorious state of free lunch counter and a state founding asylum and a state founding asylum and a state founding asylum.

No Right to Preach. Charging the colonel "with a cunning and deliberate purpose to create a false impression," he declared that the visitor "could lay no claim to the right of preaching either religious or political or civic righteousness."

In the speaking tour of Mr. Roosevelt through the West, said Mayor Seidel, "I fail to see anything of importance beyond the political plans and designs. As such, of course, it is of no special service to the present city administration. The problems that now confront our city are of much the same nature as those the nation faces."

Reply by Roosevelt. Upon being shown this statement, Col. Roosevelt promptly said: "On this trip I have made no partisan political speeches, and of course shall not break through the rule now by discussing either the state party matters or the municipal party matters, and at present, of course, the dominant municipal party in Milwaukee is the Socialist party. If anyone wishes to know my views on what is usually called Socialism, they will find them set out in such fashion that it is impossible to misinterpret or misunderstand them in the Outlook articles to which I advise them to read the articles themselves and not what the mayor says of them."

The Press club's special publication, saying that "Mr. Roosevelt will understand that Milwaukee's welcome is none the less wholehearted—hardly the less unanimous—because the mayor has seen fit to voice a Socialistic dislike for the former head of the nation."

Changed the Program. In spite of the failure of the mayor to join in welcoming Col. Roosevelt, the Press club here had prepared a most strenuous program, including half a dozen speeches between breakfast and lunch time. Realizing that this program was impossible of execution, they cut it down shortly after the colonel's arrival so that the morning hours included only visits to the boys' and girls' trade schools, four hours will be the plain before he started to inspect them. His visit would be purely one of inspection for himself and not to teach the people conducting the schools anything about their work.

It has been stated to me since my arrival here," said Col. Roosevelt today, "that in spite of Senator La Follette's having carried the primaries in fair and open contest, an effort will be made to beat him in the legislature."

Primaries and Legislature. "I do not for one moment believe this, because any such conduct would be from every point of view an outrage and would be a deliberate violation of good faith. When, in Oregon, the Democratic party carried the primaries, Chamberlain, carried the primaries and it was proposed that the Republican legislature should turn him down, I very strongly and publicly took the position that such an act would be one of bad faith by the legislature toward the people, and I take the same position here in regard to Senator La Follette."

Nearly Whole Day. Col. Roosevelt arrived from St. Paul about 2 o'clock this morning, and for nearly two days he will be the guest of the Milwaukee Press club on the occasion of its silver jubilee celebration. He was greeted by 2,000 persons.

Following breakfast at the Hotel Pfister, Col. Roosevelt was taken on an automobile trip, and during the forenoon visited the boys' and girls' trade schools, and later took luncheon with a number of newspaper publishers and managing editors.

John Newspaper Men. Late this afternoon Mr. Roosevelt will join with the newspapermen at the Press club in a Bohemian luncheon, and following this will address a big meeting at the Auditorium and

KOSKI MET FOUL PLAY

Cloquet Man Supposed to Have Been Drowned Was Killed.

Struck on Head By Napoleon Caza With a Boat Oar.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A charge of murder is hanging over Napoleon Caza, a young married man of Cloquet, only 21 years old, and he is in the county jail at Carlton. With him is Leonard Wons, held as a witness to the crime and possible accessory. The body of Joseph Koski was found floating in the St. Louis river Monday afternoon and it was supposed that he was accidentally drowned, as he had been drinking, and his boat with numerous beer and whiskey bottles in it and a coat, was found Sunday afternoon. Some children were playing along the river bank. But the coat was not Koski's. It was known that he had gone fishing with some other men, and when the coat was taken to his wife, his wife said the coat was not his.

Chief of Police John McSwenney took the coat to local merchants until he found the place where it was identified as having been purchased some time ago. Koski was wearing a blue shirt, and the latter looked at the garment and said, "Yes, that's my coat." The shirt was immediately sworn out for by the police, and the man who had been fishing with Leonard Wons, a lad about 16 years old, Wons was named and told the story of Koski's death, which Caza at first denied, and then acknowledged. Caza finally confessed to the chief in writing.

Koski had started out fishing in a boat and had on his companions for the back of Dunlap Island, when Caza and Wons passed along the shore and he asked them to join him. They got into the boat and Koski then entered the boat and Caza and Wons were holding the boat steady. Caza then struck Koski on the head with the boat oar, and Koski fell overboard.

He started to make a landing and when ten feet from the shore he was struck on the head by the boat oar, and he fell overboard. Caza then entered the boat and Wons was holding the boat steady. Caza then struck Koski on the head with the boat oar, and Koski fell overboard.

When Koski was picked up Monday he was bleeding at the mouth and he was born in Cloquet and is known to everyone here. He has never been in jail before, and he has a regret that he should have gotten into such trouble while under the influence of liquor is generally expressed by friends of his family.

TRYING TO FLY TO TOP OF MOUNTAIN

It is surely a ridiculous thing to pour drugs into or to cut out the effect to relieve the cause!

And yet that's what is being done every day by men of scientific skill who ought to know better!

The cause of nearly every kind of disease can be found in the interference with the proper working of the vast network of nerves—interfere anywhere along its course with a nerve having its seat in the muscles of the arm and the sensation of disease will be felt in the arm, and can never be removed by treating the arm.

Every nerve in the human body passes directly down the spinal column except the pneumogastric, and even that receives many ramifications down the spine from the sympathetic; these nerves pass through holes (called foramen) in the bony part of the spine, where it is held apart by the cartilages.

A shrinking of the cartilage between any two bones of the spine would bring the two bones nearer together and automatically reduce the size of the foramen, or hole through which a bundle of nerves passes.

Garment Thoughts!

SUITS are like people—they vary: If all suits were "standardized" there would be no suit problem. You could simply designate the material that pleased you most—and never mind the "store."

But each and every woman wants Garments with Personality plus—peculiar, particular garments—and any store's outerwear will not do. To try on and then let the salesperson talk you into a poorly tailored, ill-fitting suit for instance is a sin against common sense.

And to wear coats that bunch just the least little bit, or pull or make you feel uncomfortable is to make every moment miserable.

There can be no annoyance to a well-bred woman equal to a shoddy garment.

Trifles make perfection, but Perfection itself is no trifle. All the little niceties that go to make superior garments are "trifles"—to stores that consider them so.

The S. & B. Co. Garments are correct. The fulness where fulness is needed, and snugness where snugness helps. They are friendly. If your clothes worries, get on your nerves—or if you are hard to fit—you need Silberstein garments.

'Tis one thing to be the carry-all store handling indiscriminate nameless, fly-by-night tailored outerwear; and 'tis quite another thing to have a name, 40 years long as expert in the women's wear business as it is correct.

Mr. Hines. The latter had just flatly refused the Illinois delegation's demand that he withdraw. He said he would fight it out on the floor of the convention.

In the Twelfth, the upper peninsula district, manager returns indicate that Representative H. O. Young is running close race with Angus K. Kerr of Laurium, an avowed anti-Cannon man, Congressman J. J. Leskinen, who has announced his candidacy as a successor to Speaker Cannon, was renominated by a small majority. These are the only districts in which there are contests.

President Baker introduced Mr. Condra as chairman of the credentials committee. Mr. Condra stated that he understood there were a number of delegates in the city who have not formally registered. These were not counted. He gave the number of delegates formally registered as 1,257, of whom 852 are from Minnesota. The committee was then discharged from further duty.

It was learned that Mr. Condra acted only after a personal conference with the arm.

The cause of nearly every kind of disease can be found in the interference with the proper working of the vast network of nerves—interfere anywhere along its course with a nerve having its seat in the muscles of the arm and the sensation of disease will be felt in the arm, and can never be removed by treating the arm.

Every nerve in the human body passes directly down the spinal column except the pneumogastric, and even that receives many ramifications down the spine from the sympathetic; these nerves pass through holes (called foramen) in the bony part of the spine, where it is held apart by the cartilages.

A shrinking of the cartilage between any two bones of the spine would bring the two bones nearer together and automatically reduce the size of the foramen, or hole through which a bundle of nerves passes.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Still it is John Lind, Very Still—Taylor of Aitkin and What He Wants—Mayor Stokke, of Floodwood, in the City—Miss McGarry and Her Candidate for Congress—Converse, of Otter Tail, a Spectacular Legislative Candidate—Sageng Wants Joint Debates.

Where's John Lind?

Not so long ago men interested in politics were asking what John Lind will do. Now they are satisfied to ask where he may be. Which seems to indicate that they believe they know what he will do. The opinion that Mr. Lind will accept the Democratic nomination for governor is generally almost any man one asks gives it as his opinion that Lind will be at the head of the ticket—willingly and indeed with a high resolve to fight a good fight in the cause of good government. Two weeks ago these same men held a totally different opinion.

The change is one of those strange things encountered at time in public sentiment. When it became a certainty that John Lind was to be the nominee of the Democratic party, it was realized he was the popular choice. After the convention, and when it seemed probable he would refuse to run, announcement was the prevailing feeling. Then came a period of quiescence on the part of a large section of the public, followed by the present re-awakening of interest.

That the great mass of people in the state want John Lind to run for governor is an assurance that they want him to be governor, say political observers here in Duluth. And that means he will be elected they say. It is supposed that Mr. Lind is in Minneapolis today, or will be there tomorrow. The fact of his return home gives ground for hope that within a few days he will speak out.

Mayor John Stokke of Floodwood is in the city today, meeting friends and talking some politics. Mr. Stokke is a Republican of the progressive school and takes a deep and abiding interest in the politics of the day. He is a Miller man, and with a saving respect for Judge Jacques, and he is of the optimistic mold of man that really expects the man he believes in to be elected. There's a reason for this faith, too, for Mr. Stokke doesn't let his faith in men stagnate in inaction; he goes out and works for them.

At the St. Louis today he said that nowhere can he find any real reason why C. B. Miller should be at all nervous about being re-nominated. Of course, it may be that Mr. Stokke's liking for Mr. Miller blinds him to what may be the true situation, but as he sees it, Mr. Miller has a walk away for the nomination.

As to the contest that is to follow the primaries, Mayor Stokke apparently is less confident, which is a condition common to the friends of Mr. Miller.

From the headquarters of Carl E. Taylor, candidate for congress, which is in Aitkin, comes an report to the Republican voters of the Eighth congressional district. Mr. Taylor, who would fill an for is an earnest Aitkin man, and he really wants to go to congress. As a matter of fact, some of his friends say he does not expect to be torn away from the charming environs of Aitkin as a result of his becoming a candidate; but he'd like to have just that happen to him. But to the point:

I wish to say that, while I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for member of congress, I shall not make a personal canvass of the district, for the reason that I am not possessed of any more of this world's goods than the law allows, and to make a canvass of this kind would be to keep within the legal limits would be useless, as the legal limit would "last quick" like Indian's pork.

I am not in the field to buy an office, and have nothing to say, and influence of any kind. I have no position to give away or any promises to make, except that, if elected, I will represent the Eighth Minnesota district and at all times be subject to the will of a majority of the voters of my district.

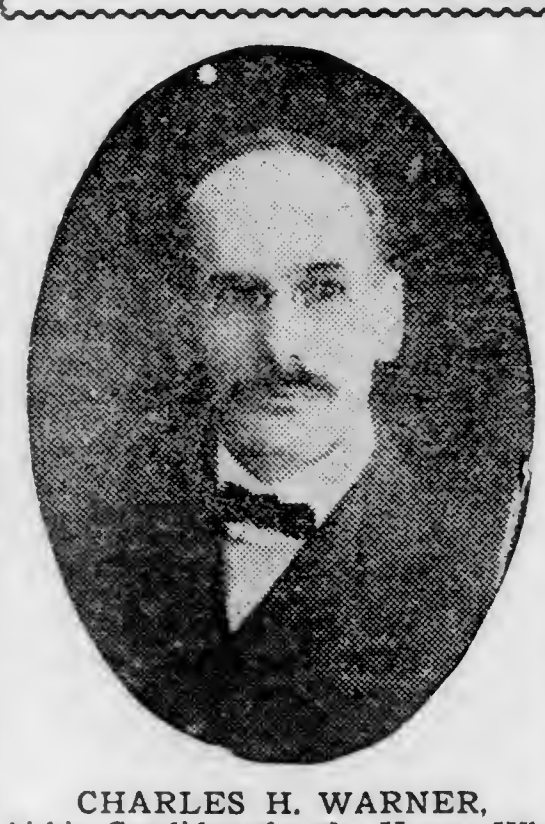

I hold that a person who is full of promise is seldom found fulfilling his promises, but if you think the other candidate can or will represent your interests better than I will, it is your duty to support him, whoever he may be. And if you cast your vote according to your honest convictions, you will do right, and you will have my sincere approval.

As far as my opponents are concerned, I have nothing to say, and I ask you to give this case due consideration and not to cross the ballot that looks best to you. Once there was a candidate for a Republican nomination for congress who was believed to have no chance at all, and his friend went to him and said:

"Say, Cull, what's the use? You can't get enough votes to choke a canary, and you know it."

"Well, maybe so," said the candidate, "but suppose my opponent dies?"

before the primaries. Then I'll be the nominee, won't I? Can't run an actually dead man for congress, can you?"

But in this case there are three candidates, all of them in miserably good health. The secret is out! When P. H. McGarry of Walker started out on his speechless quest for the nomination for the Republican congress in Lindbergh, many people shook their heads in wonder and almost pity. They said "Pat" had no chance at all. Just lately, though, politicians and political writers all over the state have begun to sit up and take notice, saying that maybe, after all, McGarry of Glen-garry knew what he was about. It has been puzzling many to discover the why of this sudden altered front.

But now the secret is out. Not only is the genial "Pat" working steadily, pleasantly and persistently, but his hands are being held up by Miss Edna McGarry, his daughter, who has charge of McGarry headquarters at Glen-garry. "Of course I think Dad is going to win," said Miss McGarry the other day, "and it is a sure thing that he will win if I have my way about it." Although the summer season for Glen-garry is ended, she remains at headquarters, saying: "There is so much hard work to be done during father's campaign that we shall keep it open, not for tourists, but to continue our work of enlightening the voters of the Sixth district. We want to make that winning vote a record breaker!"

Miss McGarry has had charge of the preparation, to a large extent, of her father's campaign literature, and of the distribution of it, and in this work she has displayed a cleverness and efficiency that is causing the present congressman to suffer from insomnia.

Miss McGarry's work at her father's headquarters has been extremely important, as she prepared much of the campaign literature sent out. She did most of the work of distribution, and she sent it to spots where it did the most good, say her father's friends.

Philip S. Converse of Prazee, Becker county, candidate for the house from the Sixth district, is making a spectacular canvass of the district.

Presented Politics presenting his address to the people through the medium of display advertising. His "ads" are well written, to the point and startlingly like Tom Lawson's style. Presenting politics is the object of attack and legislation for the people the goal of this candidate, according to his declared views on political questions.

First, he advocates the enactment of the recall law, applicable to legislative members. He thinks the principle should be extended to include congressmen.

Second, he points with pride to the establishment of twin and harvesters plants at the Stillwater prison as a monument to the efforts of the farmers to protect themselves against the trusts.

Under the head of miscellaneous Mr. Converse sets forth these planks of his platform: Physical valuation of railroads in Minnesota. Legislative reform of express rates. Repeal of the mortgage registration tax.

"In conclusion, gentlemen," says Mr. Converse, "I believe that the man who takes his young bride and infant child and goes up into the unbroken wilderness of Northern Minnesota, and there by honest toil and by the sweat of his brow carves out a home for himself, is entitled to legislation for his protection as the man who sits in a back room in Wall street and corners up the wealth of the world."

Not Mr. Wright, but Chairman C. J. Sawbridge of the Otter Tail county Republican candidates committee replied to Senator Sageng's challenge to the effect that it must be disposed of by the two aspirants to senatorial honors. Mr. Sawbridge replied to the challenge because it was a remark made by himself that induced Sageng to issue his fiery challenge. Both are able men and good talkers and positive views are held by both on almost every subject.

It would be interesting to have a series of joint debates between Senator Sageng and Mr. Wright. Both are able men and good talkers and positive views are held by both on almost every subject.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

The weather man this morning turned loose a sample of the weather for which Duluth is noted in September. The sun is shining brightly, there is a light wind with a touch of fall in its caress, but the cool air is investigating and Duluthians are looking forward to a welcome change from the disagreeable weather of the past few days, despite the fact that the weather man says showers will probably fall tonight.

Fair, warm weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:35 and it will set at 8:37, giving thirteen hours and two minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much cooler weather prevails in the extreme Northwest in connection with a strong high pressure area that has developed over Alberta. Low pressure areas centered over Utah, the Red River valley and extreme Eastern Canada caused showers over Oregon, Washington, Canada, North Atlantic and Gulf states, Missouri and Oklahoma during the last twenty-four hours. A heavy rain fell in Montreal. An area of high pressure that extends from the Lake region southward to East Gulf states has brought somewhat cooler weather to the Lake region and Ohio valley. Warmer temperatures prevail in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas and the Southwest. The easterly movement of the Red River valley disturbance will probably be attended by occasional showers at the Head of the Lakes during the twenty-four hours ending 7 p. m. Thursday.

General Forecasts.
Chicago, Sept. 7.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:
Upper Michigan—Increasing cloudiness with showers late tonight or Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Thursday.
Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday.
Minnesota—Partly cloudy with probably showers in north portion tonight or Thursday; cooler tonight in west portion.
Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; cooler.
North Dakota—Showers tonight or Thursday; cooler.
South Dakota—Unsettled with showers tonight or Thursday; cooler.
Montana—Local rains tonight or Thursday; cooler tonight.
Upper Lakes—Increasing south winds shifting to southwest Thursday on Michigan and Superior, becoming brisk. Partly cloudy with showers tonight or Thursday.

Slit Girl Kills Self.
Lead, S. D., Sept. 7.—Telling her mother that life without the man she loved was empty, Fannie Miljan, a 15-year-old Austrian girl, killed herself in her room and fired a bullet into her heart. She was dead when her parents broke into her room. The girl claimed that her sweetheart had forsaken her for another woman.

Stone May Be Meteorite.
Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 7.—A number of persons living in Hutchinson county saw the falling of a shooting star or meteor, which struck the ground on the farm of John M. Benner, a well known farmer of that county. Going to the spot where the meteor struck they found a piece of stone that has a strong sulphur odor.

WAR ON NORTHWEST ANGLE.

Captain Towner and Enemy Both Appeal to Game Warden.
Crookston, Minn., Sept. 7.—There is blood on the moon near the Canadian boundary, not far from Warroad, and the sheriff of Knappton county and Game Warden Cook of Rouseau now are working on the cause of the shooting of conflict in the northwest angle, the little three-cornered piece of Minnesota that sticks over in Canada.

On the angle, Capt. Towner resides. Capt. Towner struck they found a piece of stone that has a strong sulphur odor.

ENROLLMENT OF BOYS DOUBLED

There are twice as many boys at the Duluth normal school this year as there was last. Last year there was one boy.

The enrollment of girls was the largest in the history of the school, there being in all 170 girls signifying their desire to attend the institution during the coming year. It is expected that the number will be increased to near the 200 mark before the end of the week.

All was busy about the schoolrooms and dormitory yesterday. The girls from outside the city were busy getting their rooms in order and greeting their friends.

It will be several days before things at the school are in running order, but it is expected that by the first of next week the work will be going on smoothly.

DRESS GOODS ARE STOLEN

What is characterized as the smoothest burglary which has been perpetrated in Duluth for many months was reported to the police yesterday when they were informed that the new dressmaking establishment which is being opened by Madam La Ferte in the new Oak Hall building at Second avenue and Superior street was completely rifled.

The place was stripped of the new stock, valued at approximately $1,500, which Madam La Ferte was on a visit in the East with her sister. Scarcely a ribbon of the numerous boxes of fancy goods which she had laid in, was left. As she was gone three weeks, it is impossible to determine the time of the theft with any certainty.

So clever were the thieves that when Madam La Ferte turned the key in the door and stepped inside she did not even suspect that she had been robbed.
Were it not for an old slouch hat and coat thrown in one corner she would not have thought that a stranger had been inside.

The goods were all neatly packed away in boxes of a special make, as she had not yet opened the establishment for business in the new location.
The thieves had carefully taken the tops of every one of the boxes, removed the contents and then replaced them almost exactly in the same position in which they had been left. Not until she lifted one of the boxes to open it did Madam La Ferte know that her goods had been stolen during her absence. A hasty examination disclosed that all of the boxes were empty.

The police do not believe that the job was done by burglars or ordinary thieves, but by men who knew their business. The tops of the boxes and of special make and could not have been refastened in such a manner by one who knows nothing of their use.
The conclusion is that the goods were taken by some one at least somewhat familiar with the business, who knew of the goods being stored in the build-
goods included considerable quantities of fancy silks, laces, satins and other fabrics which form part of the stock of a dressmaking establishment. The stock was evidently removed through a window leading to the roof of the courtyard. Thence it is believed that it was lowered into a wagon waiting below in the alley. The city detectives have the case in hand and are making every effort to get some trace of the stolen property.

Woman Is Arrested.
Mary Demasse was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of attempting to rob Gust Norman of his purse in the Interstate saloon in the West end. The police state that after he had grabbed the pocketbook Miller had the audacity to attempt to run away, despite his wound in the leg. People in the saloon saw the attempt and after a short chase caught him and turned him over to the police. Norman is 77 years old and was also arrested, being charged with drunkenness.

Plains Guilty to Theft.
James I. Case, arrested yesterday for petit larceny, got 30 days and sixty days on pleading guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He stole some tools from buildings under construction the same day he was struck down, which was last Saturday. He was caught when he tried to sell them in a second hand store.

Cripple Is Arrested.
Steve Miller, a cripple with a wooden leg, was arrested this morning on the charge of attempting to rob Gust Norman of his purse in the Interstate saloon in the West end. The police state that after he had grabbed the pocketbook Miller had the audacity to attempt to run away, despite his wound in the leg. People in the saloon saw the attempt and after a short chase caught him and turned him over to the police.
Norman is 77 years old and was also arrested, being charged with drunkenness.

Fire Chief Returns.
Chief Joseph Randall, who was fire department, returned yesterday from Syracuse, N. Y., where he attended the annual national convention of fire chiefs.

County Board Meeting.
The county board will hold its regular meeting in the board room at the courthouse, Sept. 9. There are some school matters to be decided and also a resolution to be passed regarding the proposed to be legalized but nothing further than the usual routine business.

Fifth Ward Club Will Meet.
There will be a meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican club this evening at club headquarters, 202 Palisade building, and there will be speakers to entertain the session.

Judge Palmer Recovering.
Word has been received that Judge
L. G. Palmer, brother of Register of Deaths M. C. Palmer, who is reported to be seriously ill at his home in Big Rapids, Mich., is now improving.

Court Calendar Heavy.
There were thirty-eight cases in all heard by Judge Middlecott of the probate court yesterday. The calendar was the largest in some time. The Virginia term which was to have opened Wednesday has been postponed until Friday.

Gets Another Chance.
Emil Schrandt, who pleaded guilty to larceny in the second district court yesterday before Judge D'Heilly of the district court, was paroled. Schrandt is claimed to have embezzled $117 from the Longshoremen's union. He has a wife and a large family, who live at West Duluth.

Fruit Dealer Arrested.
Charles Mars of the Olympia candy kitchen, Lake avenue and Superior street, was arrested yesterday for failing to cover the fruit on the stands on Superior street. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried tomorrow afternoon.

Gets Sixty Days in Jail.
Frederick W. Brandes was brought back from Minneapolis last evening by Detective Toewe, to answer a charge of petty larceny. He is accused of defrauding a Fourth street hardware man of $25 by means of a check without sufficient funds in the bank. He was arrested on leaving the Minnapo-lis warehouse, where he admitted that he served thirty days in jail for the same thing. Judge Windom gave him 60 days and costs of sixty days. He went over the hill.

Not So Poor As They Thought.
Mike Maki, arrested on the charge of attempting to use a knife on a New Duluth bartender, wasn't so poor as he pretended to be. He pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was bestowed for larceny on the grounds that he had as yet to get his share of the world's wealth. The court was rather easy on him, assessing a fine of $35.12 or thirty days. To everybody's surprise Maki came across with the cash.

Handbag Stolen.
The police were notified this morning that a stole that cost $100 and a handbag containing a small amount of money and some trinkets from the office of Dr. F. H. Burnett, 518 College street, had been stolen. The handbag was the property of Miss Jean Cochrane of 100
East Superior street.

Guest at Roosevelt Luncheon.
A. W. Haman returned today from St. Paul, where he was the only Du-luthian among the 100 guests who attended a luncheon given at the Minnesota club for Theodore Roosevelt.

of "Insurgent" Miller, who hasn't seen fit to say a good word for Congressman Lindbergh and Davis, the only real insurgents in Minnesota. Nevertheless Tawney should be retired from congress. He has gained his place of power by trucking to the strong and bowing before the seats of the mighty, and the price he has paid has been the betrayal of the people's interests. No man can serve two masters, and Tawney has at least the merit of having chosen deliberately to serve the few who have favors to bestow rather than the many who can bestow only gratitude and confidence upon those who serve them.

It is important that Cannon should be dethroned, but it is more important still that the machine that is his source of power shall be broken up. The way to do that is to defeat such men as Tawney, who will per petuate the machine if the people give them the chance. Gifford Pinchot told the truth when he said to the people of Tawney's district Monday: "Cannon's chief lieutenant is James A. Tawney. I do not know what he has told you in this district, but in Washington we know that Tawney takes his orders from Cannon and does his will. If Cannonism is bad for this country, Tawney has helped to fasten it upon us. Cannon's chief defender in the fight to maintain the old rule and to keep Cannon in power was Tawney. If this district stands against Theodore Roosevelt and his policies, then by all means it should re-elect Tawney. But if it stands for Roosevelt and all that Roosevelt stands for, it should retire Tawney from public life."

The people of the First congressional district of Minnesota have two chances to undermine Cannonism by retiring one of its chief lieutenants. They will have a chance at the primary election by nominating Sidney A. Anderson, and they will have another chance at the general election by electing Judge H. L. Buck. It is not so important which one of these chances the people take, as it is that they take one of them.

TWO "PROGRESSIVES."
Minnesota has just been entertaining the two chief figures in American public life, aside from J. Pierpont Morgan, Nelson W. Aldrich and—until lately—Joseph G. Cannon.

These eminent men are Theodore Roosevelt, ex-president of the United States, and William H. Taft, president of the United States.

Both of these men spoke at large upon public questions, and thereby made their characters clear that he who runs may read.

Both profess to be "progressives," but neither is correct in his assumption of the title.

Roosevelt is not a progressive so much as he is an insurgent.

Taft is not so much a progressive as he is, by temperament, environment and inheritance, a reactionary.

Both of these men are moving forward, but in very different ways.

Roosevelt is pushing forward with all his strenuous energy. He moves so rapidly that one looks to see him make a false step in his hurry, but so far such looking has been in vain; he has made no false step.

Taft is moving forward, too, but he is being dragged. His mighty bulk clings tightly to yesterday. A fatal inertia is upon him, that only the irresistible force of a public opinion which refuses to be denied can serve to overcome.

He moves ahead, but his protesting heels dig vast gulches in the earth as he holds back against the force that is pulling him on.

These two men typify the two forces in humanity that make for stable progress. Humanity needs the radical to pull it ahead, to lead and point the way. Humanity, too, needs the conservative to hold back against a too precipitous advance; to pick the way and sound the footing, to hold fast to that which served it yesterday until that which is to serve it tomorrow is ready.

The trouble is that Taft and his conservatism are untimely and misplaced. His fear of moving ahead into play at a time when, if it were left to itself, it would play the nation to turn tail and gallop up the back track. This is a time when the forward impulse is too new to be assured, too timid to be persistent, and too susceptible to alarms to be left to the leadership of the timid. If it were not for Roosevelt and the public demand for progress, by this time Taft might have dragged the nation in a panic back to the place on the back track where McKinley and Hanna were the guides.

Men are born radicals or reactionaries. Roosevelt was born a radical, Taft a reactionary. Being born so, neither will ever get over it. Being so emphatically what they are, the two never can agree. One or the other must triumph in the end, and that means that one of the forces they stand for must gain ascendancy. May be it would help if we could have two presidents at the same time: one radical, the other reactionary; one to pull ahead, the other to steady the going. But that is impossible, though the country is as close to having two presidents now as it ever was in its history.

At any rate, they are very interesting studies, these men. The forces they typify, and the outcome of the struggle between these forces, are more interesting studies still. Progress doesn't depend on the outcome of that struggle, for progress is a law as inevitable as the law of gravitation. The speed of progress, however, depends very much on whether Courage, as represented by Roosevelt, or Timidity, as represented by Taft, is the leader.

SENATOR NELSON AS A DEFENDER.
Senator Nelson, who is insurgent or progressive only on the tariff question, is giving testimony as to the quality of Congressman Miller's insurgency.

Sensor Nelson, who has yet to win a reputation as an advocate of the Roosevelt policy of conservation, is also undertaking to defend Congressman Tawney from ex-President Roosevelt's charge that he defected appropriations for conservation work.

Sensor Nelson, who is about to bring in a committee report whitewashing Ballinger, arch-enemy of conservation, would do well to look to his own standing as a progressive and as a conservationist. He should take note that the people are in no mood to approve half-way statesmen or facing-both-ways policies.

PUBLICITY FOR DULUTH.
The Duluth real estate exchange has thought to good effect when it proposes the employment of a skilled publicity agent to tell the world how good a place Duluth is to prosper in and to live in. When the proposal was first made The Herald suggested that it would be better if the work were done by co-operation between the exchange and the Commercial club. The exchange goes this suggestion one better by proposing the formation of a publicity committee made up of representatives of all the public bodies of Duluth. The suggestion that a publicity agent be secured from outside, however, should be followed out only after it is made clear that there is no one in Duluth qualified for the work.

THE MARKET GARDENERS AND A DULUTH FAIR.

To the Editor of The Herald: Might I make a suggestion to the Commercial club through The Herald's "Open Court" column.

Down on Superior street you will find one of the finest exhibitions of farm produce that can be grown anywhere in the state. There are two exhibitions, in fact, one from Woodland and one from the Lakeview. The owners of gardens in these places have enough interest in their own gardens to make them take the trouble to exhibit, and secure a place for the exhibition. The Lakeview gardeners, however, are not so interested, and they are not so well equipped to exhibit as the Woodland gardeners.

It is a good plan to rent a room for two or three weeks each fall, and have a little fair of our own. The exhibitors will be glad to exhibit, and the public will be glad to see the exhibits. The fair will be a good thing for the city, and it will be a good thing for the gardeners.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ARE FOUND NOT GUILTY

Mountrail County, N. D., Board Exonerated By State Bank Examiner.

Charges Grew Out of Fight for Removal of County Seat.

Stanley N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charges of irregularities made against the members of the Mountrail county board of commissioners have been found to be unfounded by Joseph M. Fahy, state bank examiner. In a report just made to Governor Burke, charges were filed some time ago with the governor and he instructed that the examination of the situation by Mr. Fahy be completed.

The charges made to farmers supplied with seed grain under the new state law was one of the subjects in which illegal and irregular action was alleged. It was claimed that the commissioners had promised a refund of a certain percentage of the purchase price on grain, but that such refund had not been made. There was an issue of $15,000 in bonds to pay for the seed wheat, and the examiner says that it would be impossible for the commissioners to make any refund until all collections had been made and all warrants retired.

Charges that Commissioner Schulenberg has collected mileage from the county when traveling on federal business are shown up as being untrue. The charge that the highest bid for metal culverts and for the transferring of records had been accepted by the board is also shown up as untrue. It was also found to be untrue, with the exception of one instance, where a high bid for metal culverts was accepted.

There was also a charge that the county commissioners had been tendered the free use of a building at Palermo for a courthouse, but that instead of accepting it the board is paying $200 a month rent in standing for quarters for the county officers.

The charges grew out of the fight for the removal of the county seat.

FALLS UNDER WHEELS OF WAGON AND IS INJURED.

Lawton, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fourteen stiches were required to close a scalp wound sustained by J. Harlin, when he fell under the wheels of a heavily loaded wagon. He was just about to return to his home, some distance from the city, when the accident occurred.

CYCLONE STRIKES NEAR PINE RIVER

Ruscoe School House Destroyed and Fences and Gates Scattered.

Pine River, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first cyclone in the history of this section arrived Monday night after the general rains which lasted for two days and completely destroyed the Ruscoe schoolhouse. Panels of farmers' fences and front gates were strewn about promiscuously, but no other damage besides the loss of the schoolhouse was done. A large barn standing forty feet from the building was left untouched.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Henton of Elk River Are Principals.

Elk River, Minn., Sept. 7.—A golden wedding celebration was held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Henton. This is Mr. and Mrs. Henton's fifty-first anniversary. The day was not celebrated last year because all members of the family could not be present.

Mr. Henton was born near Erie, Pa., in 1838. Mrs. Henton, formerly Miss Mary Walker, was born in Dundee, New York state, in 1840. They were married in Wisconsin in 1859. Mr. Henton enlisted in the Seventh Wisconsin, one of the regiments of the famous "Old Iron Brigade." He also has the distinction of being one of six brothers who were in the army at the same time.

Immediately after the war, Mr. and Mrs. Henton came to Minnesota and engaged in farming. They came to Elk River in 1903. Four children were born to them, and they now have three great grandchildren.

NOTICE TO CORPORATIONS

In North Dakota to Send in Their Annual Reports.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 7.—The office of the secretary of state is busy at the present time sending out second notices to corporations doing business in the state that have not turned in their annual reports. There are about 2,000 corporations which have to make these reports and only about 1,800 have come to the front up to the present time. The second notices are sent out as registered mail and if reports are not received within sixty days after second notice is sent out the corporation articles are cancelled and the company cannot longer continue in business in the state. The fee is $2.50 to go into the general fund after the expenses of sending out notices is deducted. The report calls for the name of the corporation, the place of business in North Dakota, nature of the business carried on, whether the corporation is engaged in active business, the amount of capital stock, the names of the four leading officers, their postoffice address and when their term of office expires.

APPORTIONMENT FOR N. D. MILITIA

Total of $15,643 Received From the National Government.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 7.—The office of the adjutant general of the North Dakota National Guard has just received orders from the war department and among them is the apportionment made to the various states. North Dakota is allowed $17,326.71 for arms, equipment and camp purposes and $3,912.24 for the promotion of rifle practice, a total of $21,238.95. The apportionment is made according to the number of representatives in congress. The largest apportionment is of course given to New York, which draws down $152,577.25, while Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming are the smallest amounts with $11,536.71.

In addition to the above apportionment there is allowed $9,589.84 for supplies. When the state of North Dakota is redistributed there will be a considerable increase in the apportionment, the amount depending on whether there are three or four congressmen.

GOVERNOR BURKE TO HOLD MEETINGS

Will Open His Campaign in Cass County on Sept. 19.

Cassleton, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor John Burke's active campaign for re-election to the governorship of North Dakota will be opened in Cass county on Monday, Sept. 19, when, with Col. M. A. Hildreth, Democratic candidate for congress, and the members of the county Democratic ticket, he commences an automobile speaking tour. Four days will be occupied in Cass county and during that time the governor will make twenty-eight speeches. His time is divided as follows, the first address each day being given at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and the last at 8:30 o'clock in the evening: Monday, Sept. 19—Harwood, Augustus, Gardner, Grandin, Hunter, Erie, Arthur.

Tuesday, Sept. 20—Amenia, Wheatland, Alsabra, Apr. Page, Tower City, Buffalo.

Wednesday, Sept. 21—Emblem, Alice, Chaffee, Davenport, Leonard and Kin.

Thursday, Sept. 22—Hickson, Wapiti, Endicott, Warden, Durbin, Napleton and Cassleton.

SUICIDE AT FLOODWOOD.

Frank S. Terrill Shoots Himself Through the Heart.

Floodwood, Minn., Sept. 7.—Frank S. Terrill, an old resident of this place, was found dead in his room yesterday. Shot through the heart with a 44-caliber Colt revolver. Roomers in an adjoining room heard a sound as if a door had been opened, but after looking through other parts of the building discontinued their investigation until morning when, after breaking into the room, they found his lifeless body lying on the floor in a pool of blood.

His cause is known for his act except that he has been suffering for some time with dyspepsia and has been confined to his room for several days, which probably has discouraged him. He is a 70-year-old man, married, and is survived by his mother and two sisters, who reside in Minneapolis.

SAVED HER LIFE.

Lakota Woman Exhibits Presence of Mind in Fire.

Lakota, N. D., Sept. 7.—Because she had presence of mind enough to secure a heavy overcoat which she wrapped tightly about herself, Mrs. Frank Harkness was saved from death by fire. While engaged in working about the kitchen, she accidentally set fire to a can of lard. Endeavoring to save the house from damage, she carried the can out of doors, but in doing so her own clothing became ablaze and she was very badly burned about the arms and her face before she was able to extinguish the flames.

LITTLE GIRL'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM LIGHTNING.

Fairmount, N. D., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The only complaint that Ethel, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Nelson of this city, had to make when lightning almost entirely wrecked the room in which she was sleeping, was that she was getting wet. Rain was pouring in through a hole in the ceiling that had been made by the lightning. Although almost every piece of furniture in the room, with the exception of her crib, was badly smashed up.

DISTRICT COURT SPECIAL SESSION AT CARLTON.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Ensign held a special term of district court here yesterday and granted citizenship papers to thirty-eight applicants. Michael Hurley, who pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted suicide, was reprimanded by the judge, who suspended sentence.

TRAGEDY ON FARM.

Lillian Chisholm, 4 Years Old, Killed By Her Sister.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 7.—Lillian Chisholm, aged only 4 years, was instantly killed Sunday morning at 8 o'clock by her 7-year-old sister, Jennie, at the farm home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Chisholm, two and a half miles northwest of Grand Forks. A 22-caliber rifle which their brothers had left loaded was the weapon used in the terrible accident which happened when the two little girls were alone in the house. The bullet entered the child's head just below the left eye and lodged in the base of the brain, death being instantaneous.

The girls were playing with the rifle at the time, the young girl, Lillian, having first taken possession of it. Later Jennie secured it, pointed it at her little sister, pulled the trigger and the terrible tragedy was enacted.

SKULL IS FRACTURED IN A CYCLE ACCIDENT.

Balfour, N. D., Sept. 7.—A fracture of the skull was received by Otto Ash of this place when he was thrown from a motor cycle several miles west of the city. He was driving a few feet behind his companion, also on a motor cycle, when a dog ran out from a farm yard at the first machine. The canine missed the first cycle but got directly in the way of Ash's machine, pitching him into the ditch, where he struck a rock with his head.

LABORER SLEEPS ON RAIL AND IS KILLED BY TRAIN.

Wittenberg, Wis., Sept. 7.—The body of an unknown man was found upon the track two miles south of this station. He had apparently been sitting along the track beside a pile of ties which he had fired to give warmth and had fallen asleep with his head pillowed upon the rail. A day or two since, however, this record was put in the shade when he heard county commissioners bought three-quarters of an acre in Grant township for $450 for the fraction. The purchase in Grant township was for a right-of-way, and established the price of $600 an acre.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIA

Malaria is a species of blood poverty known as Anaemia; it is a condition in which the circulation is so weak and impure that it is unable to supply the system with sufficient nourishment and strength to preserve ordinary health.

The real source of malarial infection is a question about which medical authorities differ. Some take the position that it is an atmospheric poison, the germs of which are breathed into the lungs and thus transmitted to the circulation. Others advance the theory that persons become inoculated with the poison through the bites of mosquitos. While the profession differ about the actual method of malarial infection, they all agree that Malaria is a BLOOD DISEASE, and any treatment to successfully overcome its effects must PURIFY THE BLOOD.

When the germs of Malaria get into the circulation, the nutritive properties of the blood are weakened, the rich red corpuscles being gradually destroyed by the malarial poison. Then the symptoms of the disease begin to be manifest. In the first stages of Malaria the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the appetite is affected, the system grows bilious, and there is a general feeling of lassitude and weakness.

Malaria can only be cured by removing the germs from the blood. Purging the liver and bowels with strong, nauseating cathartics can never reach the real seat of the trouble, because such things do not affect the circulation. S. S. S. searches out and destroys every particle of malarial infection and builds up the blood to a healthy, nourishing condition. Then the system receives its required amount of nutriment, the bright red corpuscles begin to multiply in the circulation, sallow complexions grow ruddy and healthful, the liver and digestion are righted, the appetite improved, and the system vitalized and refreshed in every way. S. S. S. is a safe and pleasant remedy as well as an efficient one. Write for free book on the blood and any medical advice desired, no charge for either.

POISONED BY THE GERMS OF MALARIA.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good at that time that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. Recently one of my children was troubled with large, painful boils on the back of his neck, after suffering with these for several months, we tried S. S. S., and are glad to state that a few bottles cured him entirely. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and sure cure for Malaria. C. C. HEMINGWAY, Arkansas City, Ark.

NO RELIEF UNTIL S. S. S. WAS TAKEN.

I had a horrible attack of boils that broke out all over my body, from Malaria, and from which I could get no possible relief until I began taking your medicine, and from my experience I can safely say that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier in the world.

ONE SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

Tony Pavinski was arrested at New Duluth last night by Patrolman Brouillette on suspicion of being the firebug who has been setting the costly conflagrations in that suburb recently. He was found by the officer in the vicinity of the steel plant location and was kept at New Duluth over night. This morning he was taken to police headquarters.

Pavinski answers the description of the man who is said to have been hanging around New Duluth. He is rather short, with a swarthy face, dark clothes and a stubby growth of beard.

Five incendiary fires have caused much loss of property in that vicinity in the last month. The last caused the destruction of the W. H. Blockhoff box factory, a loss of about $30,000, early yesterday morning. The same company had two other fires which caused losses of about $5,000. The Thompson furniture company and the New Duluth Lumber company also suffered. The residents are fearful that they will be the next victims of the maniac who has been infesting the neighborhood.

SAYS JUDGES DO NOT MAKE PURCHASES.

Judge Windom of the municipal court states that a wrong impression has been created in the council by its request to ask to have the city attorney decide whether or not the municipal court judges have the right to make purchases for the courtrooms without the consent of the council. He states that at no time has either of the judges made any purchases, but that the clerk has always made them.

The opinion of the attorney last night was to the effect that the judges have no power to make purchases, and they agree that this is correct. The attorney said that the authority to make purchases for the courtroom is vested in the clerk of the court, and that he is bound by the same charter requirements as any other official of the city. Judge Windom says that these requirements have always been observed.

DOES STATE OWN LAKE?

Who owns the bottom of Longyear lake, Chisholm?

For the purpose of finding out not only about the bottom of this lake but, of others, and determining just what rights are held by the state, State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson, Attorney General George T. Simpson and his assistants, George W. Peterson and C. Lewis Weeks are in Duluth today in attendance at the trial entitled: "State of Minnesota, against Eliza Kortner, et al."

The action began this afternoon before Judge William G. East of the district court. Attorney General Simpson and his assistants appear for the state, and for the many defendants, Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Craswell & Craswell, and John Drennen appear for the many defendants. The question as to whether individuals, mining concerns, or the state, owns the bottom of navigable waters is one that has long been under discussion.

The state is simply bringing the case to trial as a test case. If decided favorably there are many lakes in Minnesota said to be much more valuable than Longyear lake, which the state will claim.

The Lake of a Thousand
Would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Osgood, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me (till I used Dr. King's Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now."

Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, is grippe, asthma, hemorrhages, croup, whooping cough, or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never hurts. A trial convinces. 50c, $1.00, guaranteed by all druggists.

CAR LINE ROUTE MAY BE CHANGED

The council last night asked the city engineer to determine whether or not a change in the route of the proposed hillside car line would be feasible. Under the present plans the line would run on Sixth avenue east between Sixth and Seventh streets and on Seventh street to the sidewalk while being removed from its position by watermen.

The council for the change is that the construction work between Sixth and Seventh streets would be expensive while several thousand dollars could be saved by using the other route.

The council last night also approved the plan of Chamber's division, which lies generally between Sixth and Ninth avenues east and between Eleventh street and the boulevard.

HIT BY FALLING SIGN.

Frank Paulins, a farmer who lives near Proctor, was rendered senseless yesterday afternoon when struck by a large sign in front of the building formerly occupied by the Suflet company at 131 West Superior street. The sign was dropped to the sidewalk while being removed from its position by workmen.

Fortunately the blow was but a glancing one. Paulins' chief injury was a deep gash on the right cheek just below the eye. His sister, Miss Paulins, who was walking with him, was badly frightened.

The sign is a very large one, and as it was old and rotten it suddenly broke in two while being taken from its position. It fell about twenty feet.

SECOND ONLY TO NEW YORK

Duluth Stands Next to Top in August Building Figures.

Little old New York, with its 4,766,832 people, managed to discount the bid of Duluth for fame and a place at the head of the cities in the United States in August building, by turning in something over $13,000,000 worth of building work for that month, while Duluth could only show $10,131,000, standing second in the list.

However, according to a dispatch from Chicago today, the $10,000,000 per cent for the steel plant gave Duluth the greatest gain of all cities over the figures for August, 1909, and gave the city second place in the total amount of building for the month, a distinction not to be held too lightly.

Duluthians were fondly hoping that the city would be at the head of the list both in the total and in the gain, but growing New York is a pretty hard proposition for little Duluth to go

ARRESTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Boleslaw Karbowski, 24 years old and a bartender at 709 West Superior street, was arrested in the saloon this morning on a charge of highway robbery. The police are looking for another man believed to have been implicated in the same affair.

Complaint was made by Frank Adams, who claimed that he was held up by Karbowski and another man on Mesaba avenue between Superior and First streets at 11 o'clock last night.

He said that he had formerly worked with Karbowski and had recognized him when he was attacked. Adams told the police that Karbowski held him while another man went through his pockets and took $7.50.

Charged With Forgery.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—James H. Miller was arraigned yesterday in the municipal court on the charge of forgery. The complaint alleges that on May 23, 1910, he indorsed the name of Herman Hildebrandt to a $100 check drawn by William F. Hildebrandt on the First National Bank of Duluth, payable to Herman Hildebrandt. The defendant had no attorney. He waived examination and was ordered to be held to await the action of the grand jury.

WHEAT YIELDS AND FARMERS' ATTITUDE

Special dispatches received by The Herald concerning wheat yields and the attitude of the farmers toward the market is running about 3 bu an acre, flaxseed 15 bu an acre, barley 15 bu, durum wheat 7 bu. The flax crop will be fair, but it is far from being first-class. Farmers near here don't seed much flax.

Flaxton, N. D.—Wheat is yielding about 8 bu an acre. Farmers are disposed to sell their wheat.

Bismarck, N. D.—Wheat has yield from 2 bu to 17 bu an acre. Farmers probably will hold their wheat.

Ashley, N. D.—The wheat yield in this county will average between 5 and 6 bu an acre.

Valley City, N. D.—Wheat yielding an average of 9 to 12 bu an acre, some fields going as high as 15 bu and some as low as 3 bu. Think farmers will hold for higher prices.

Rugby, N. D.—Farmers will hold to their wheat. Thrashers just started. Farmers will need most of yield for seed.

Larimore, N. D.—Wheat running 6 to 11 bu an acre. Farmers will not sell freely.

Wimbledon, N. D.—Think farmers will dispose of wheat freely if prices are satisfactory.

Leeds, N. D.—Much wheat land plowed up. Think very little wheat will be sold and most here will be required for seed.

Minot, N. D.—Yields of wheat erratic and an unable to strike an average. Some fields as high as 20 and 24 bu an acre and others as low as 3 bu. Wheat will be disposed of liberally as prices appear satisfactory and farmers think the trend of values will be upward. They do not seem disposed to hold grain, however.

Harvey, N. D.—Think wheat will average about 8 bu an acre here.

Edmunds, N. D.—Farmers will not sell much wheat most will be held for seedling purposes, anyway.

Aneta, N. D.—Wheat is making from 5 to 7 bu an acre. Farmers will not sell unless prices advance.

Sancti Spiritus, N. D.—Farmers seem disposed to sell wheat freely, but thrashing yields are not in and their attitude may be changed.

New Salem, N. D.—Wheat almost a total failure. Averaging between 3 and 5 bu an acre. If farmers have any to sell they will hold for higher prices.

La Motte, N. D.—Wheat may average 5 to 10 bu an acre. Highest yields are around 10 to 12 bu. Wheat will be held by those farmers able to do so.

Underwood, N. D.—Wheat a failure. May average 4 bu an acre, but don't think yield will be that high. Will be very little wheat to sell.

Gakes, N. D.—Wheat making 7 to 9 bu an acre, with prospects favoring former figure. Farmers will hold every bushel possible.

Kennett, N. D.—Farmers are disposed to hold their wheat. Some early sales were made to meet debts and thrashing expenses.

Park River, N. D.—Wheat averaging 7 to 9 bu an acre. Some yields as high as 15 bu. Others are as low as 3 bu. Farmers will hold their wheat.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Wheat near here may average 6 to 7 bu an acre, but the latter figure is not likely. Believe farmers will be disposed to seek higher prices.

Forman, N. D.—Wheat averages between 6 and 7 bu an acre. All farmers who can will hold wheat.

Hope, N. D.—Wheat may make 5 bu an acre on the average. Farmers will have very little to sell and it is likely that they will let go of what supplies they will need for seed as prices seem attractive.

Hettinger, N. D.—Wheat yield fair. Fields showing an average of 12 bu an acre and some are doing considerably better. Think wheat will be sold freely.

Cavalier, N. D.—Wheat probably will be held by most farmers although others who need the money will sell freely. Thrashing yields, when known, will have considerable influence with farmers.

Towner, N. D.—The tendency to sell wheat will not be pronounced. Believe farmers will be disposed to hold until prices work higher.

Alton, N. D.—Wheat averages 5 bu an acre. Farmers will probably hold wheat they will not need for seed.

Carrollton, N. D.—Farmers near here will not have much wheat to sell.

Emfurst, N. D.—Think wheat will be sold fairly freely.

Grafton, N. D.—Yield moderate to small. Farmers seem disposed to sell wheat at present prices but will tighten up on any decline.

Redfield, S. D.—Wheat is making from 15 to 18 bu an acre. Farmers will sell freely.

Castleton, S. D.—No thrashing returns. Farmers will sell freely, but will hold on any decline.

Webster, S. D.—Wheat will make between 14 and 15 bu. At current prices farmers will sell. At cheaper prices sales will be light.

Huron, S. D.—Spring wheat averaging about 18 to 20 bu an acre. Some fields as high as 25 bu. Winter wheat average slightly more than 30 bu. Wheat will be sold early.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Wheat averages between 8 and 10 bu and farmers will sell liberally as prices are attractive.

Clear Lake, S. D.—Yields of wheat spotted. They run from 26 bu an acre. Think wheat will be sold freely.

Schuy, S. D.—Wheat averages 6 to 10 bu an acre. Farmers will sell freely.

Milband, S. D.—Wheat makes from 14 to 17 bu an acre. Farmers will not sell freely except at higher prices.

Clark, S. D.—Wheat averaging 14 to 15 bu an acre. Staff will be sold freely, neither will there be a disposition on the part of farmers to hold for higher prices. Think run will be slightly under normal.

Groton, S. D.—Wheat yields are from 10 to 15 bu. Farmers disposed to hold for higher prices.

De Smet, S. D.—Wheat may average 18 or 19 bu an acre. Some yields as high as 30 bu. Farmers will sell for immediate needs and will then be disposed to hold supplies.

North, S. D.—Wheat running 18 to 20 bu an acre. Think wheat will be sold freely.

Murdoch, Minn.—Wheat yields averaging 17 to 18 bu. Some fields as low as 7 and 9 bu, however.

Cannon Falls, Minn.—Wheat running an average of 24 to 26 bu. Think farmers will sell if prices are right.

Mankato, Minn.—Yields of wheat showing an average of 20 to 22 bu. May hold their wheat if prices sag.

Lyle, Minn.—Wheat running an average of 18 bu. Not much raised but yield is bigger than ever before in this neighborhood. Wheat will be sold early.

St. Cloud, Minn.—Wheat averaging 18 to 20 bu an acre near here. In other parts of the county yields averaging 10 to 14 bu. Farmers disposed to hold wheat.

Hitchcock, Minn.—Wheat making 25 bu an acre. Believe farmers will be slow about selling it.

Freston, Minn.—Wheat may average 20 bu an acre. Little thrashing done. Not much wheat will be offered for early shipment.

Red Lake Falls, Minn.—Wheat yield under average. Farmers will not sell freely except at higher prices.

Crookston, Minn.—Wheat will average from 8 to 10 bu an acre. Renters will sell freely. Farmers financially well fixed will hold supplies.

Faribault, Minn.—Wheat averages 20 bu an acre. Farmers look for higher prices.

Staples, Minn.—Wheat making 6 to 7 bu an acre. Not much stuff raised here. Wheat will be sold freely.

Winona, Minn.—Wheat yielding an average of 30 bu an acre. Winter wheat running slightly higher. Farmers look for higher prices.

Pelland Rapids, Minn.—Wheat may average 12 to 15 bu an acre. Think movement from this neighborhood will be slow.

Jess, Minn.—Wheat averages 25 to 26 bu an acre. Average larger than last year. Farmers think present prices attractive.

Detroit, Minn.—Wheat running from 8 to 20 bu. Early 20 bu. Farmers think small as farmers think prices will work higher.

Wheaton, Minn.—Wheat averages 12 to 14 bu an acre. Farmers inclined to hold. Most of crop being stored. Farmers look for higher prices.

St. Hilaire, Minn.—Thrashing just getting started.—Farmers will probably hold wheat a short while longer.

Benson, Minn.—Wheat averaging 15 to 19 bu an acre. Highest yields 25 bu. Wheat will be sold freely.

Anamok, N. D.—Flax will average 6 bu an acre, spring wheat 5 bu, durum wheat 1 bu.

Awatere, Minn.—Wheat making 14 to 15 bu. Farmers will sell freely.

Pinestone, Minn.—Thrashing returns so few that average cannot be estimated. Think farmers will hold wheat.

Waverly, Minn.—Wheat yields spotted, running from 20 to 23 bu an acre. Not enough returns to make an average. Farmers well off and can hold wheat if prices work lower.

Hancock, Minn.—Wheat averaging 15 bu an acre. Farmers will not sell freely.

Rochester, Minn.—Wheat averages 24 to 27 bu an acre. It will be sold liberally.

Knott, Minn.—Wheat running 8 to 20 bu an acre. Can't estimate an average. Farmers will sell moderately.

Albert Lea, Minn.—Very little stuff thrashed; all in stack. Some returns show average 12 bu an acre. Wheat will not be sold freely.

Zumbrota, Minn.—Average yield of wheat is 18 bu an acre. Wheat will be held on any weakness in prices.

Worthington, Minn.—Wheat averaging 23 to 30 bu. Farmers will not sell if prices decline. Values look attractive to many farmers. Most of them bulls.

Wassica, Minn.—Very little thrashing; most wheat in stack. Average this far 22 bu.

Way, Minn.—Wheat will be sold freely. Yields averaging 25 bu an acre.

Ortonville, Minn.—Wheat making an average of about 15 bu. Farmers will sell liberally.

Minnetonka, Minn.—Wheat averages 24 to 26 bu an acre. Staff will be sold freely.

Glencoe, Minn.—Wheat running from 22 to 40 bu. Average may be around 26 bu. Too early to tell. Think farmers will hold their wheat.

Sherburn, Minn.—Wheat running about 24 to 27 bu an acre. An average. Farmers will be disposed to hold unless prices work higher.

Caladonia, Minn.—Wheat will be sold freely, but movement probably will be slow. Yields running from 23 to 26 bu an acre.

Waterbury, Minn.—Wheat averaging 24 to 28 bu an acre. Some yields as high as 30 bu. If prices hold, farmers will sell.

ORPHEUM—Advanced vaudeville.

MANY CELEBRITIES FROM

DENVER NEIGHBORHOOD.

"Out in Denver there is one little neighborhood that has probably turned out more celebrities in the amusement business than any other I know of."

It is the little district called the "Orpheum" which has made a big hit at the Orpheum this week in a snappy act.

"From this one little district came Maudie Peely, Fred Stone of Montgomery & Stone, Joe Howard who has been more popular music than anybody with the possible exception of George Cohan, and Young Corbett the former pugilist. Incidentally we also came from this neighborhood, although we don't pose as celebrities. We used to go to school with those people and play baseball on the corner lots with them."

"We really are brothers, so I know that the great thing about the 'Orpheum' act, in which the actors are not related, but we are brothers in the same way."

"The first time we were together in the same act was in the little town of Kansas City in the music business, and the first time we were together in the same act was in the little town of Kansas City in the music business, and the first time we were together in the same act was in the little town of Kansas City in the music business."

SAYS AMERICAN RAILROADS LEAD

Franklin K. Lane Talks on Return From Berne Conference.

New York, Sept. 7.—"I return from the international railway conference at Berne, Switzerland, with much greater enthusiasm over the American railway system than I have ever had before."

This statement was made by Franklin K. Lane, a member of the interstate commerce commission, who was one of the representatives of the United States to the international railway conference.

"The conference establishes beyond question, I think, the supremacy of the American railway from the standpoint of efficiency," continued Mr. Lane. "One of the questions that is left in my mind is as to how the European railways manage to pay 4, 5 and 6 percent in dividends with the small volume of traffic that they have compared with the volume we have. I have seen more freight moving in a single hour at Chicago, Pittsburg and Jersey City, than I saw in an entire month in Europe."

"Difference in Countries." "Our railway system is without parallel in the world because we are living as a nation and in Europe they live as communities. I doubt very much if you could throw all the railway systems of Europe together and have the Iowa and Kansas corn crop within the year."

"The United States, in an economic sense, is a railroad-made country. That is not true of any European country, therefore our problems are different and bigger."

"Europe is just as much disturbed over the high cost of living as the United States, and I think that in the near future, we shall have an international agitation for the regulation of monetary systems."

ON THE IRON RANGES

LABORER KILLED AT CROSBY MINE

Fell Under Motor, Body Badly Mangled and Skull Crushed.

Nashauk, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Blazo Peakovich, a Montenegrin laborer, was instantly killed at the Crosby mine Monday night at 5 o'clock. He was employed as a brakeman on one of the motors underground. By accident he fell, and the motorman did not notice what had happened until the wheels of the car had passed. He was badly mangled, the car running over the body and crushing his skull. Peakovich was unmarried and about 25 years of age. He has two brothers working at the same mine and has made this country his home for the past four years. Interment was made from here Tuesday to the cemetery at Hibbing.

COUNTY FAIR DATES CHANGED

Will Be Held at Hibbing
Three Days, Starting
Sept. 16.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—It has been decided to postpone the opening of the St. Louis county fair for one week. The dates now selected are Sept. 16, 17 and 18, and it is expected that the show will be the best record here on record. Special trains will be run from all over the county and a big crowd is expected.

That the exhibits and attractions will be the best in the history of the association is evidenced by the number of entries and some of the classiest exhibits that were sent to the state fair. The premiums offered by the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company have stimulated the younger class of gardeners to produce some excellent specimens of vegetables and fruit. The list probably be the greatest ever shown. The livestock show will be of great interest, as Northern Minnesota has just practically entered the class of farming some good workers and deer and cattle being owned by some of the prominent stockmen.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE MINES

Water Mains and Sewers to Be Laid at Schley Location.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many improvements are still being made at the mines on the range despite the recent slight falling off in the ore shipments. At the Schley mine many improvements will be commenced next week among which will be the installation of mains and sewers in the location, by the Republic Iron & Steel company, which will provide the residents in the vicinity with an adequate water supply. The location is beyond the city limits, but nevertheless will be connected with the city water tank, which should mean an increase in the city's funds from the water revenue. The new improvements are being supplied with water from the plant at the Pettit mine. The Schley mine is now well provided with water, as many tons have been installed underground. The new improvement at the Schley location will be completed in about a week, and the first part of next week. At the Schley and Pettit mines over 500 men are being employed and prospects for much work this fall are bright. Shipping operations at many of the mines on the range are slackened up a bit, but heavy shipments will soon be resumed.

Much work is being done at the Virginia mine stripping and two shafts are being opened up. Many men are being employed on the surface and shipping indications point to a big fall season at the new striping.

George Martinson and members of the Pickands-Mathers engineering force, who have been employed at the Virginia mine stripping, under his direction, have left for Marble, where they will commence surveying on a new striping that the mining company intends to open soon. The men will be kept busy surveying until winter starts.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Jacobsen, a resident of this city for the past three years, who has been conducting a confectionery store on Broadway for a month, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, on seeing his wife enter the store, drew a glass supposed to contain poison, and saying, "I am going, good-bye," drank its contents. He had been drinking and the supposed poison, instead of having a deadly effect upon him, made him vomit. Dr. Barrett was immediately called and took Mr. Jacobsen to his home, where he is now being treated. The attending physician believes that Jacobsen will be well in a few days. The cause of Mr. Jacobsen's supposed

TROUT LAKE HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Three Thousand Acres of Cut Over and Swamp Land Burned.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire has been in the town of Trout Lake, section 36, and in 5, 6 and 7 of Feeley 12 of Blackberry and in a part of 55-23, burned over some 3,000 acres of cut over and swamp land. No great damage was done, though much hard work had to be done to fight the fire. It was away from the houses of some of the settlers. Trout Lake had some fifty men out fighting the fire from Sunday to Monday night when it was gotten under.

A light rain, which came between Monday and Tuesday, finished putting out the fire. The fire was blowing, and if the fire fighters had not gotten the fire under control the whole of Trout Lake town would doubtless have been devastated.

MINE SHAFT BOSS IS BADLY STABBED

Louie Revoir Is Seriously Wounded at Pineville By Ignatz Kasteitz.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louie Revoir, a shift boss at the Bangor mine, lies in a sick bed at the Aurora hospital, in a condition as the result of being stabbed Monday night by Ignatz Kasteitz.

It has not been definitely learned by the authorities what the trouble was between Revoir and Kasteitz, but it is believed that Kasteitz was carrying a grudge against Revoir for some time.

The trouble occurred at Pineville, where Kasteitz drew a knife and stabbed Revoir twice, once in the back and once in the neck. His condition was critical for some time, but he is now thought that he will recover.

A posse was formed immediately after the stabbing and a diligent search was made for Kasteitz, who had made his escape. It is thought that he will be apprehended before long.

COULD NOT PAY FINE.

Hibbing Man Who Flourished a Revolver Goes to Jail.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Piero Rysvick was arrested Monday evening in a Pineville street saloon charged with carrying concealed weapons. Rysvick entered the saloon in an intoxicated condition and immediately started an argument with other customers during the course of which he drew a revolver. He could use the weapon he was overpowered and taken to jail. He was released Tuesday before Judge Thomas Brady and fined $100 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. Rysvick had not the money with him to pay the fine and was taken to Duluth this morning.

Considerable excitement was caused Tuesday afternoon on Third avenue when a horse bolted from a funeral parlor and dashed head up the alley at the side of the Road building. The occupants were thrown on the ground and suffered serious injuries. The horse was uninjured and is being kept in a stable.

DULUTH FIRM GETS CONTRACT

Eveleth Council Lets Contract for Laying Additional Water Pipes.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contract for laying new water pipes in Central Division No. 2, which was recently added to the city limits, was last night awarded by the city council to the Pastoret & Lawrence. The contract calls for a bond of $15,000 from Pastoret & Lawrence, will give practically every resident between Garfield and Hayes streets and Adams and Roosevelt avenues a good opportunity to get ample water connections, and the contract will amount to about $2,000. Work will be commenced very soon.

Alderman Charles Jesmore was authorized to secure a contract for the city council to the Pastoret & Lawrence. The contract calls for a bond of $15,000 from Pastoret & Lawrence, will give practically every resident between Garfield and Hayes streets and Adams and Roosevelt avenues a good opportunity to get ample water connections, and the contract will amount to about $2,000. Work will be commenced very soon.

The bid of Pastoret & Lawrence for removing the old water tank from Pier street to the Adams location, for $250 was read and the firm awarded the contract. The purchasing committee was authorized to secure wire for the completion of the new waterworks fence around St. Mary's lake.

The report of the city clerk for the third quarter ending Aug. 30, showing receipts of $2,200 and disbursements of $2,010.20, was approved as was the report of the chief of police, showing a number of seventy-eight arrests for August and $481.55 in fines. The report of Chief Nelson, showing $1,000 in Huntington, stating that the Rudolph S. Home company had completed the work on Grant avenue from Fayal road to the north city limits, with a final estimate of $10,318.20 was on motion referred to the city engineer as was the question of properly grading the road from Grant avenue to Fayal road on Adams avenue.

A resolution offered by Alderman Sullivan that $2,000 be levied by the city for the purpose of accepting Andrew Johnson's offer of a building for a $25,000 library here was defeated. Alderman Jesmore dissenting, he stating that no strings attached to the offer.

Sept. 27 was set as the date for the hearing of complaints by property owners of any effects to their land by the new thoroughfare. The appointments by Temporary Acting Chief Nelson of Andrew Anderson and H. R. Gordon as drivers of the police and license committee.

The Northern Plumbing & Heating company which has completed its work on Douglas avenue was instructed to place the thoroughfare in the city condition as found. The Home Heating & Plumbing company was granted permission to lay steam mains on Jones street.

John Clendenning, an engineer of Brockville, in charge of the boat, rescued the two women.

REPORT MAY BE BEARISH

Traders Look for Favorable Estimate of Spring Wheat Crop Tomorrow.

Professionals Covered at Opening and Values Then Sagged—Prices Lower.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 7.—Wheat declined in a moderately active market today. September wheat, center 3/4 and May 3/4. Cash wheat was on a parity with September; wheat lost 1/4; rye and barley were unchanged and held to a narrow range. September gained 1/4, October was unchanged; November gained 1/4 and December lost 1/4.

Wheat opened nervously, but when buyers began to cover in order to open up their trades in anticipation of the bearing government report on the spring wheat crop tomorrow, values firmed and advanced sharply.

The buying movement soon subsided and support was withdrawn. Values declined slowly to the opening level and after noon the market was weak and listless. Inactivity in May gave that option a firmer appearance because it pegged at early quotations while the September and the current options were falling.

The effect of bearish news became evident after the short covering was over. Then the market felt the influence of lower cables and Bradstreet's estimated increase of 75,000 bu in the world's visible supply. There was not much news to influence the market. What factors appeared were expected and the news consisted chiefly of reports of conditions already accepted or previously communicated to the trade.

There were few responses to export bids today, but a very small business in scattered lots was done. The local market, consisting of No. 2 hard at Chicago and No. 1 hard at Duluth, was not very active. The market at Chicago had been worked yesterday. The staff worked for export was No. 2 hard.

Wheat values probably will be influenced to some extent in the near future by corn prices. The corn crop apparently has not shown much improvement since the government's report as of Aug. 1, but the market for corn tomorrow may be bullish. With a bearish report on spring wheat and a bullish report on corn, the market for wheat probably will be somewhat unsettled. The significance of the latter would become more pronounced in the event of unfavorable weather conditions, yet out of danger and would be liable for weather.

Russia continues to ship heavily but foreign markets retain much strength. The foreigner has been backward about sending full reports on the Russian crop, but the Russian government has been slow to indicate that it is confident of the harvest. The Russian crop and that he believes the heavy Russian shipments will not hold up. The Russian export, which is large, but evidently the foreigner is skeptical of the ability of the Russian district to maintain its heavy shipments.

Some export business in flour was reported over night by a Northwest-milling interest. The flour trade continues dull in the Northwest and has fallen off in the Southwest. Some interior winter wheat is being sold at a large business on account of the relatively cheap prices of the winter wheat product, compared with the spring wheat product. The spring wheat product is so far as the immediate future is concerned, but indications and conditions seem to point to higher prices for the spring wheat product in the near future. The movement of spring wheat is large yet there is reason to believe that it is larger than it will be later in the season. The spring wheat crop is about 100,000 bushels short of the demands of the mills and any kind of four business will cause an increase in the price of the spring wheat. The condition would have a bullish effect on the cash market, but the spring wheat movement fell to low proportions. When the high prices that buyers have paid for the spring wheat movement has not been remarkable for its large volume.

There was not much activity in cash markets today, the full tone continuing.
